Red Cross War Relief Fund

With the screeching of falling bombs and the immediate explosions there follows in its wake the wail of human misery with torn, bleeding and dying bodies and destroyed homes and belongings. We hear these wails of suffering these days in radio and newspaper reports. As in every human catastrophe, the Red Cross is there with its ministry of mercy. The Red Cross Roll Call was recently completed in the village and community with a fine response.

On December 7, when this country was treacherously attacked, the Red Cross was again called upon to serve our nation at war both nationally and locally. There are not only the responsibilities to our armed forces but relief to distressed civilians. The Red Cross is conducting a campaign to raise 50 million dollars in America for the War Relief Fund. The President of the United States has recently issued a proclamation supporting this appeal. We are living in an area far removed from possibilities of war's destruction. Perhaps as well located as any other habitable place in the world. This should not make us complacent in the matter of places exposed to the horrors of war and the terror and suffering it brings. This should make us willing to share a little for the distressed brethren. Let us not be too surprised if some morning we wake up to hear the reports of death and destruction on some coast cities. If that should happen, let us bear in mind that we would be there with our donations through the medium of the Red Cross. We are in this war to a finish. What can we do? Fight at home by contributing financially to the Red Cross War Relief Fund. The village of Holt will be solicited the first part of next week. Please have your contributions ready when the girls call on you; thereby saving the effort of making two or more calls. Rev. T. C. L. Hanson is again serving as chairman for the village chapter. The Marshall county quota has been set at $1800 by the Area Office in St. Louis. Again the Red Cross, the symbol of mercy, help, kindness and relief calls you! We must not and shall not fail in this crisis!

Old Army Documents

Crookston — Two interesting old documents, one in the family for more than 100 years, are in the possession of Mrs. Hagen, Scandia township. Oldest of the two is an honorable discharge from the Norwegian army dated July 31, 1816, issued to her great great grandfather, Ole Abachsen. The discharge is from the Telemarke Infantry regiment, Third West Fjeloske Co. No. 72.

The second paper is the honorable discharge of Mrs. Hagen's grandfather, Aslak Olson, who served in the Norwegian Army from 1841 to 1845. This discharge is dated December 31, 1841, and is a certificate of fulfillment of enlistment. Mr. Olsen served with the 47th musketeers in the Westjelde campaign of Tellemarjke, the certificate indicates.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Ness and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Peterson and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Peterson and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Orris Johnson were Christmas Day dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson. On Tuesday evening the group spent the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orris Johnson at Thief River Falls.

GREETINGS

We wish you all a
Happy New Year

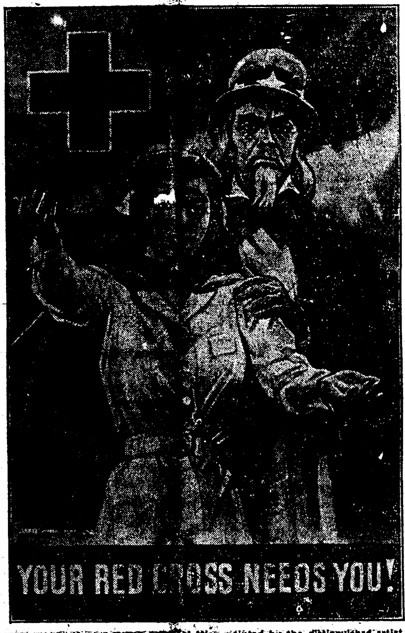
America's War Victims Appeal for Your Help



YOUR RED CROSS NEEDS YOU!

First war poster of the New World War, painted by the distinguished artist James Montgomery Flagg, carries an appeal for a $50,000,000 war fund to aid the victims of aggression upon the United States and its island possessions.

To aid the victims of warfare being waged upon America and her island possessions, the American Red Cross has issued an appeal for a $50,000,000 war fund, Chairman Norman H. Davis announced from the national headquarters in Washington.

Mr. Davis urged men, women and children to give to this mercy fund through their local Red Cross Chapters. These funds will support the Chapter's war work with the families of men in the military services, as well as the broad relief program of the national Red Cross.

President Roosevelt, who is president of the American Red Cross, issued a proclamation urging all citizens to give to the Red Cross war fund.

In launching the appeal, Chairman Davis said:

"There are millions of our citizens who desire today to demonstrate their will to victory over the enemy. Not all can be in the armed forces, and not all can volunteer their services for humanitarian work, but all can volunteer their dollars to arm the Red Cross to be their representative at the scene of battle and distress.

"Today is the day to demonstrate our high morale, our unity, our determination not alone to support our President and our fighting men at the front, but also to insure to our wounded, homeless and suffering fellow citizens in our Pacific Islands that we stand one hundred per cent ready to aid them through the Red Cross."

Mr. and Mrs. Rangvald Olson and family were Christmas Day dinner guests at the Cook home near Radium.

Dorothy Olson of Fargo came Monday to spend a few days at the home of her mother Mrs. Paul Olson.

Tuberculosis Warning

Warning that spread of tuberculosis is one of the serious dangers of our war situation, the Minnesota Public Health Association this week announced continuation of the Christmas Seal fund-raising campaign.

In a special bulletin to Christmas Seal leaders in every community the Association urges special effort in order that the work of tuberculosis prevention and early discovery may be extended in 1942.

"Danger signals of a flare-up in tuberculosis are already appearing throughout the United States", the bulletin states. "Alarming reports of the disease comes from all war - torn countries. The gains made in the past 35 years in controlling tuberculosis are threatened, and only redoubled effort can hold them."

James Alden, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dovre was baptized at the Lutheran parsonage on Sunday afternoon with Rev. Hanson officiating. He was born Aug. 21, 1941 and his sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Dovre and Mrs. Ole Chaistenson.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

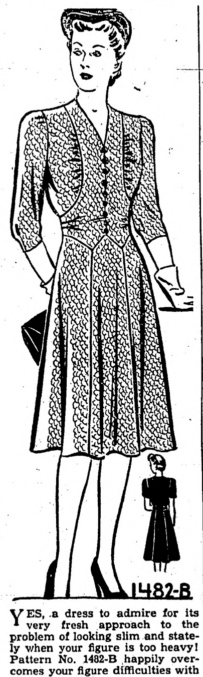
SEWING CIRCLE



YES, a dress to admire for its very fresh approach to the problem of looking slim and stately when your figure is too heavy! Pattern No. 1482-B happily overcomes your figure difficulties with a vestee effect through the top, extending as a slim waist treatment. The softly gathered side pieces permit easy roominess through the bodice, the low pointed neckline is youthful and flattering to the face.

The skirt attached at a low waistline takes pounds away from your hipline because of its adroit piecing — and weight-minimizing smoothness at the sides and in back. The dress may be finished with short sleeves or sleeves of the new "below-the-elbow" drape. The style is suitable for silk, rayon or wool crepes, for satin, faille or romaine.

A Career in U. S. Civil Service

IF YOU'RE planning a career, you may find that U. S. Civil Service gives the opportunities you want. For Uncle Sam offers many chances to get ahead.

In some office jobs you progress through six grades. A Junior Stenographer, starting at $1,400, may become a Senior, then a Principal.

If you have training in a profession you may start at $2,000 and progress to $9,000. Medicine and law are two of the fields.

You may start in the mechanical trades as a Helper-Trainee, earning while you learn.

In the Postal Service you may start without special experience as letter carrier ($1,700) and advance by competitive steps to postmaster.

Drive carefully at all times, but more carefully than ever in wintertime. Be sure you have effective brakes—it takes from three to eleven times the normal distance to stop an automobile on snow and ice. Make it a practice to start a little earlier, thus giving more time for driving, because speed is cause of most accidents. Be careful that you have clear vision. Don't crowd the car ahead of you, approach ice curves slowly, never take a chance on a curve or a hill, don't be ashamed to "crawl along" for safety's sake. Slow down in gear, don't let wheels locks completely on icy surfaces. Chains will not save the careless driver, but they do help the careful one control his car.

The Weather

The weather held out nice over Christmas. We have very little snow. Tuesday was colder and Wednesday we had below zero weather.

Farm Machinery Meeting

The farm machinery emergency and how to meet it—a critical problem facing every farmer in 1942 and "for the duration"—will be the subject of a county-wide Farm Machinery Day at Argyle, Thursday, January 22, which is expected to bring out one of the largest gatherings of farmers in the history of this county.

Plans for the meeting are being handled by a group called together by County Agent R. A. Reierson. The county USDA defense board, the AAA, county farm organizations, local implement dealers and county editors are all included. Speakers will be furnished through the state Agricultural Extension Service at University Farm, including tractor and machinery experts from leading manufactures and northwest distributers.

Convinced that the farm machinery situation may become extremely serious, those planning the Machinery Day program urge every farmer to attend. Owing to war demands for steel, new machinery will be very scarce this year and even repair parts may be impossible to get unless farmers act early instead of waiting until a few days before their machinery is needed.

But the special reason farmers are urged to come out for the Machinery Day, says the county agent is to learn how to check their farm equipment for repairs, how to operate and maintain their tractors and implements to prevent breakdowns and prolong usefulness, and how to take other steps that may be necessary to make equipment now available "carry on" while agriculture increases food production on the one hand and copes with a farm labor shortage on the other.

Complete details regarding the program will be announced later.

Angeline Johnson, who is employed at the Eddie Henning home, spent Christmas Day at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson.

Red Cross War Relief Fund

The Red Cross Drive for War Relief Funds conducted in the village was a success far beyond expectations. The amount raised was $45.05 which is 50 per cent more than the enrollment last fall. The Red Cross workers soliciting the village were: Irene Ness, Dorothy Hanson, Geraldine Larson, Marian Backlund, Betty Lou Lorentson and Sylvia Sandberg. Rev. T. C. L. Hanson served as chairman for the local chapter. There may be others in the village and community who have not as yet donated nor been solicited but desire to help out in this worthwhile cause of helping suffering humanity in the horrors of war. If so, money can be left at the various places of business in Holt and it will be collected by the chapter chairman and sent immediately to its destination of work of mercy. The following responded to the War Relief Drive:

Marshall Co. State Bank	$5.00
A. W. Carlson	2.00
Thief River Falls Production Credit Association	2.50

Those giving $1.00 each were: A. P. Thompson, Leo Horien, Hjalmer Peterson, Eddy Henning L. M. Miller, Sam Lorentson, A. Hjelle, Mrs. R. M. Save The Waste Paper Now

OPM's administrator, Leon Henderson, is calling upon the mothers and children of the United States to aid their country's war effort by saving every scrap of paper.

"Make your son or your daughter responsible for saving all the newspapers, magazines, wrapping paper and other usable waste that goes into the incinerator or ash can. Give your child a job on the home front by making him a soldier in the battle against waste," urges Mr. Henderson.

Fifty pounds of waste paper a month from every family in America is the quota which Mr. Henderson hopes will be collected for war needs. Waste paper is the raw material of corrugated paper boxes. These containers are needed in such large numbers for war shipments that an all-time record collection of 14 billion pounds of waste paper will be necessary in 1942. American homes can salvage that much waste paper if every family saves at least 50 pounds a month —two newspapers a day plus a few magazines for the monthly bundle.

"The boxes that carry bullets to the front are made of last Sunday's newspapers," Mr. Henderson says. "Now they are necessary material for the arsenal of freedom." He urges families to get in touch with a waste paper dealer, or a local charity, or boy scout organization to assist in collecting the paper.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Ness and family entertained the following at a turkey dinner on Saturday evening: Mr. and Mrs. O. Johnson and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Peterson and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Peterson and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson.

Commodity Allocation Board Named

Members of the local commodity allocation board who are to pass on allocation of automobile tires and other articles whose sales may be restricted in the interest of national defense were appointed this past week and now are busy studying instructions and completing their organization for the big war-time task before them.

Detailed regulations and instructions, laid down by the federal office of price administration, have been furnished the local board, and its course is charted out along rather definite lines. Bearing out advance notices, the instructions offer little or no opportunity for the average car owner to get new tires and limits their purchase to persons in certain specified services regarded as essential.

Two men and one woman were named on the commodity allocation board for this county. Selected to serve as chairman of the board was Mr. Fritz Larson of Warren.

The other two members appointed were Mr. H. G. Ostbye, Stephen and Mrs. Elizabeth Haugen, Newfolden.

Rationing of tires under the new plan was supposed to start Monday, but it could not get under way at that time because needed forms did not arrive from Washington. Until the forms arrive, no tires can be sold, Ted G. Driscoll, state director of commodity allocation, said. The forms were expected momentarily, however, and sale of tires under the new plan was expected to get underway during the week.

Appointment of the local commodity allocation boards was made by Governor Stassen from names supplied by the chairman of the local councils of defense, judges of probate and county attorneys.

Instructions forwarded the local board by Mr. Driscoll asked that arrangements be made at once for a headquarters. One of the first tasks given the board is to make arrangements with approved tire dealers and garages who will make the inspection required. First step of the car owner seeking authority to purchase a new tire will be to take his tire to one of these dealers for inspection. If the dealer reports that the tire cannot be repaired, the car owner then will be required to file an application with the allocation board. If his request is approved, the board will issue a certificate allowing the car owner to buy from his usual dealer.

Purchase of new tires will be limited in general to vehicles used by doctors and nurses, ambulances, fire fighting and police service, law enforcement, mail service, garbage disposal, buses transporting passengers, school buses, farm tractors and trucks transporting materials and equipment for utilities and various commercial industrial and defense purposes.

Sales of new automobiles have been stopped, and it was expected plans would be announced for allocation of sales as are permitted similar to the tire rationing. The local commodity allocation boards, it is contemplated, will handle this and allocation of other articles that may later be placed on the restricted list.

Fight Infantile Paralysis

With the nation now actively engaged in war for the preservation of the American way of life, President Roosevelt has decreed that the fight on the home front against the ravages of infantile paralysis must be intensified to protect the health of every citizen during the all-out Emergency.

This was the declaration this week of Arthur D. Reynolds, state chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday' which launches its annual campaign Sunday for funds to finance the fight against the dread disease in Minnesota and throughout the nation. Mr. Reynolds pointed out that half of all the funds raised in each of Minnesota's 87 counties remain in that county to combat poliomyelitis locally, the remaining half going to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to finance research and help prevent epidemics.

Importance of the war against disease on the "home front" was emphasized by Keith Morgan, national chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday, when he quoted President Roosevelt as having told him:

"Strong children make a strong community. Strong communities make a strong nation."

"We've got to preserve this strength and this fibre at all costs," said Morgan, who made a swing thru Minnesota last week. "We've got to fight more against anything that threatens it with all the earnestness and determination that we bring to our war against the foreign aggressors."

Because of the increase in the number of infantile paralysis cases in Minnesota in the past year, the state's quota for the 1944 drive has been increased by 50 per cent—from $40,000 to $60,000. Money will be raised thru the distribution of President's Birthday banks—the "March of Dimes" — and the President's Birthday balls, to be held in every Minnesota county.

The hardest impact of war is upon the home, because it is there that the individual makes most of his adjustments. Being sure he has a place among those he loves is a foundation for courage, and healthy family life provides a cushion that softens the shock of war. It is the background of morale.

We must think especially of our children. The small ones need not know much about the war because they cannot understand it. The only part of the daily papers that interest them are the funnies. Put the rest out of sight. There are radio programs that are better for them than the news broadcasts. We can practice a certain serenity in our homes, calmly going about our regular duties, keeping poise and calmness in our conversations, and avoiding vehement expressions of our fears and disapprovals. It will be a test of our own emotional maturity if we can be serene and have faith in the ultimate goodness of life, and faith in others and ourselves.

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of worldwide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

FDR Pledge to Philippine Islands: U. S., Britain, Dutch, China Resources Will Aid in Defeat of Jap War Lords; Manila Hard Hit by Bombing Attacks

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

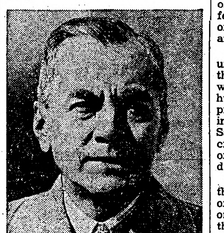
PHILIPPINES:

Full Scale

While the United States anxiously scanned bulletins from Manila, and frowned at the increasing seriousness of the situation, there were reasons for a general belief that the army and navy high commands were not blind to the situation, but had agreed on counter measures of some sort.

Obviously these had not been made public, as to do so would be to "tip our hand" to Japan. But the meeting of Churchill and Roosevelt in Washington, and the presence in the United States of the now-famous party of 80, which included all the British military and naval, as well as economic leaders, was assurance enough that something was in the wind.

A message from President Roosevelt to the people of the Philippines pledged the aid of "the resources of the United States, of the British empire, of the Netherlands East Indies, and of the Chinese Republic have been dedicated to the . . . utter and complete defeat of the Japanese war lords . . . We are engaged in a great common cause . . . I count on every Philippine man, woman and child to do his duty. We will do ours."



MANUEL QUEZON

Everybody 'assured' him.

The navy at the same time announced that the fleet was already in action "following an intensive and well-planned campaign against the Japanese forces which will result in positive assistance to the defense of the Philippine islands."

Another reason for increased American confidence as to the outcome of the war with Japan was a message from Secretary of War Stimson to President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines in which he assured him that as soon as American forces were organized, the Japanese invader would be driven from the islands.

That sounded like reinforcements by sea, land and air, reinforcements much needed by the little army of Americans plus a fair-sized army of Filipinos who were giving a good account of themselves against considerable odds.

Further Plans

A further bit of news which contributed to the feeling in many quarters that some definite plan was in progress was the statement by the Australian premier that he was now intending to go to Washington. He said he had been assured by the United States of complete co-operation in the war effort.

There were signs, however, that the West coast feared that Churchill might have persuaded the United States to regard the Pacific war as a minor affair and to concentrate on the battle of the Atlantic.

Churchill indeed did say the latter, but the former he did not say, nor did he hint at any but an all-out effort on the part of the British to save Singapore, keep the Burma road open, and do all in their power to defeat the Japs.

Those whose homes, families and properties rested on the Pacific slope were becoming nervous over the smashing attack on Pearl Harbor, the loss of Pacific island strongholds, the nearness of Jap submarines, and the unchecked landings of Japanese on the Philippines.

And the Churchill statements about the battle of the Atlantic being the most vital of the whole war, together with his prediction of reverses in prospect for 1942, and the turning of the tide in 1943, did not allay the Pacific coast nerves at all.

VICHY:

And Washington

The Vichy-Washington talks concerning the St. Pierre-Miquelon episode showed that there was much confusion about the whole situation, and while the "man in the street" wanted De Gaulle's forces to have the islands with American co-operation, and while Canada seemed much in this frame of mind also, there was much in the situation which the same man in the street did not know anything about.

MANILA:

Jap Frightfulness

Close observers of the war in China had brought back horror stories concerning the brutality of the Japanese war machine, the bombings and machine-gunnings of helpless civilians; attacks on Chinese women, rapine and pilage of towns.

Any desire the Philippines population might have had to disbelieve the general tenor of these reports had been rudely dispelled by the bombing of Manila just as General MacArthur had officially declared it an undefended city, had moved the government and the military away.

Japan's answer was (first) to carry out their heaviest unscathed bombing of the metropolis (second) to inform the world that it was "unthinkable" that Manila should be considered undefended.

This was tantamount to calling the Americans liars, and then killing off a few helpless ones with well-directed bombs.

Newspaper men at the principal offices of the large services stood fearlessly and watched while scores of Japanese bombers rained death and destruction about them.

Fortunately they lived to write unforgettable reports of the raid, the damage it caused, the mint watchman slain and buried under huge heaps of silver coins, the priceless Catholic rosary destroyed in the direct hit on the Church of Santo Domingo, the flames, the crunch of the bombs, the thunder of the planes, the explosions, the death and disaster.

They also were able to describe the spirit of the people, digging out of the bomb horror as though from one of the frequent earthquakes that have visited the city, and of the defiant mood which resolved them to die to the last man rather than surrender the islands to the little brown invaders.

NEW YEAR:

Predictions

While President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill were setting 1943 for the "turning of the tide" in favor of the Allies, New Year's greetings were being handed back and forth between Rome, Berlin and Tokyo.

Von Ribbentrop said:

"The tri-partite Powers approach the decisive battles of 1942 convinced that it will bring final victory over their adversaries.

JOACHIM VON RIBBENTROP

He didn't recall Hitler's statement.

"Then they will work in common for a new order in Europe and East Asia."

He did not recall that on January 1, 1941, Hitler had said, in an "order of the day":

"Soldiers, the year 1941 will bring consummation of the greatest victory of our history."

Ribbontrop blamed President Roosevelt for "aggression" which brought Japan into the war.

CHURCHILL:

And Roosevelt

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in his dramatic address, tinged with his famous humor and flashing with his matchless oratory, had completely captured the senate and house.

After a week of solid conferences, from early morning until nightfall, the President climaxed the visiting prime minister's speech with a statement. He said:

"We have advanced far along the road toward achievement of the ultimate objective, the crushing defeat of those forces which have attacked and made war upon us."

It was his first full communique, and followed almost immediately after a conference which included representatives of the 33 nations and British dominions aligned in the fight on the Axis.

"Much has been accomplished," the President said, "through the medium of many conferences held in the meetings of supply and production officials, military and naval leaders, and in discussions . . .

"I know the position of the United States and of all nations aligned with us has been strengthened immeasurably."

Farm Machinery Meeting

The farm machinery emergency and how to meet it—a critical problem facing every farmer in 1942 and "for the duration"—will be the subject of a county-wide Farm Machinery Day at Argyle, Thursday, January 22, which is expected to bring out one of the largest gatherings of farmers in the history of this county.

Plans for the meeting are being handled by a group called together by County Agent R. A. Reierson. The county USDA defense board, the AAA, county farm organizations, local implement dealers and county editors are all included. Speakers will be furnished through the state Agricultural Extension Service at University Farm, including tractor and machinery experts from leading manufactures and northwest distributers.

Convinced that the farm machinery situation may become extremely serious, those planning the Machinery Day program urge every farmer to attend. Owing to war demands for steel, new machinery will be very scarce this year and even repair parts may be impossible to get unless farmers act early instead of waiting until a few days before their machinery is needed.

Fight Infantile Paralysis

Plans are underway to top all former records in raising funds for the Minnesota victims of Infantile Paralysis, it was announced today by Arthur D. Reynolds Minnesota Chairman for the celebration of the President's Birthday.

In launching the 1942 campaign, Mr. Reynolds asked for men, women and children to aid in the campaign under the slogan, "Help the Youngsters Around Your Corner". Volunteers are asked to report to their county chairman or to the State Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday, 312 New York Bldg., St. Paul.

The net receipts from the 1941 campaign, the largest so far, Mr. Reynolds said, showed that Minnesotans contributed $36,849.25 of which $18,188.87 was used to aid polio victims in the counties where the funds were raised, The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, devoted to research into causes and cures for the disease, received $18,024.47. Expenses for the statewide campaign were only 1.7 per cent.

Dr. O. M. DcDaniel, director of the Division of Preventable Diseases, Minnesota Department of Health, reports that 285 cases of Infantile Paralysis were reported to the department in 1941. Total number of polio victims in 1940 was 258.

"These figures reveal the need for aiding in the battle against polio. In the past five years, 1505 Minnesota children and adults were stricken with the disease," Mr. Reynolds said.

Farm Machinery Meeting

Three speakers who will headline the Farm Machinery Day program at Arygyle, January 22, 1942 have been announced by County Agent R. A. Reierson, who says preparations have been completed. The event will be staged at the City Hall, beginning at 10:00 o'clock a. m.

Representing the State Agricultural Extension Service at University Farm will be C. M. Kelehan, while Ralph Stirrott, machinery expert, and Ray Peach, tractor expert, will represent the Northwest Farm Equipment association of machinery manufacturers and distributors who have joined with the state agricultural extension service and county machinery day sponsors to help farmers deal with the shortage situation in equipment and parts brought on by war demands for steel and iron.

C. N. Kranz, chairman of the county USDA defense board, will make the opening statement. Mr. Kelehan will discuss the farm equipment situation, its effect on farmers and what they can do. On the afternoon program. Mr. Kelehan will also speak on safety in the use of farm equipment, a topic of special timeliness because women and children may have to operate machinery to offset labor shortage.

During the morning session repairing and adjusting farm machinery will be discussed by Mr. Stirrot and Mr. Peach with special attention to plows, cultivators, grain binders and other implements most used in this area. During the afternoon a similar talk dealing with farm taactors will be given, stressing care and operation to prevent common troubles, make the tractor last longer and give better service. Both these talks will be illustrated by lantern slides and the speakers will answer questions.

Ways and means farmers can use to solve machine shortages which may occur on some farms will be discussed by Mr. Kelehan including such matters as exchange of machinery, joint ownership, custom hiring and the like. Several local speakers will make brief statements regarding the local situation and plans for meeting it. The county agent will preside. The program will be entirely free and every farmer is urgently invited to come.

Those heading arrangements for Farm Machinery Day expect a record turnout. The meeting has the backing of the county extension service, the local USDA defense board, the AAA, implement dealers, local editors, local farm organizations, the state agricultural extension service and U. S. Department of Agriculture. The situation is one which not only vitally affects every farmer individually, but is a patriotic challenge as well, since agriculture must keep production at full capacity to feed this country's allies as well as its own fighting men and civilian population. Steel must be released for tanks, planes and guns, but meanwhile farming must "carry on" with even less labor than usual.

Three Draft Registration Days

Minnesota will have three draft registration days - including a Sunday - for men 20 to 44 years old, not previously registered, Lt. Col. J. E. Nelson, state selective service director, announced today.

Dates of the registration will be Feb. 14, 15 and 16 (Saturday, Sunday and Monday.)

The three-day registration period is planned in Minnesota to conserve the time of men who are employed on vital defense jobs and to eliminate the necessity for such men to take time off from their work to register," Colonel Nelson explained.

Registration hours are expected to be 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. each of the three days.

Colonel Nelson also announced he is working on plans to establish special registration centers in cities and villages which are distant from the 137 draft board officers.

Pearl Knudson, leader of the Warrenton 4H Club for 1942, has been singly honored by A. J. Kittleson, who has recently announced that she is the winner of the all expense trip to Farm and Home Week at University farm. No doubt an important point considered in selecting a leader of the Warrenton Club by Mr. Kittleson was their outstanding record in 1941.

Although Miss Knudson was not a leader last year she has been in six years as voluntary worker in the Warrenton Club as well as ten years as a 4H member. This is the first time that an award of this kind has been made to a Marshall County Leader.

Minnesota's rural motorists pay a higher tax for each mile traveled than do those of the city, according to the highway planning survey. It costs autoists of rural areas with a population of 1,000 or less $7.37 in taxes for each 1,000 miles of travel; those of towns up to 25,000 a tax of $6.89, and of cities over 100,000 an average of $5.66.

Rev. T. C. L. Hanson conducted the funeral services for the late Mrs. John T. Shager, age 81, at Gatzko on Saturday.

Annual Cemetery Meeting

Notice is bereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Officers and Lot Holders of "Sandridge Cemetery Incorporation" and Holt Cemetery Association, Holt, Minnesota, will be held at the Holt School House on Monday evening, January 19, 1942, at 8 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing a full board of directors and transact business in the matter of these organizations to the extent of clearing up titles and deeds.

Farms Acquire Conveniences

Conveniences in farm homes have been steadily increasing in recent years, according to a seven-year study of 1,262 Centre county farms made at the Pennsylvania State college by J. E. McCord, professor of farm management and agricultural economics. The number of furnaces doubled during the seven years. Radios increased 20 per cent and running water increased 5 per cent. The number of farms equipped with electricity increased from 41 per cent to 55 per cent.

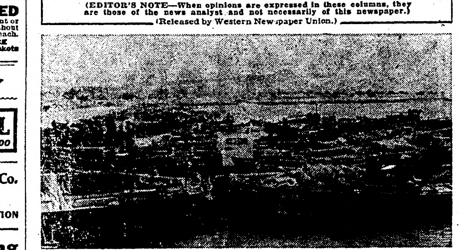
WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

U. S. Forces Will Go to British Isles; Unified High Command in Pacific, Headed by British Veteran, Wavell, Plans Strategy of War Against Axis

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)



Here is a group of Jap fishing boats seized by the United States in Honolulu after the outbreak of the war. These fishing boats may be converted for use by the U. S. navy as many of them are large Diesel boats well equipped. Diamond Head shows in the picture's background.

BATTLE STATIONS:
In Britain

As the new session of congress opened President Roosevelt in delivering his message on the state of the nation outlined extensive plans for the prosecution of the war and declared that U. S. "land, air and sea" forces would take up battle stations in the British Isles.

In addition, said the President, "Powerful and offensive actions must and will be taken at many points in the Far East . . . on all the oceans."

In the coming fiscal year the war against Hitlerism would cost the United States $56,000,000,000, according to the President.

UNIFIED:
High Command

Of primary importance, far outshadowing the loss of Manila or the Philippines, was the fact (1) that Churchill and Roosevelt had pledged a first-class effort in the southwest Pacific area, and (2) the formation of a group of 26 nations to prosecute the war to a successful conclusion and (3) the selection of a high command comprising British, Americans, Dutch and Chinese to carry on the southwest Pacific war against the Japs.

Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell was put in supreme command of the armies, navies and air forces. Admiral Thomas C. Hart was subcommander of the navies; Gen. George H. Brett of the air forces, and Gen. Sir Henry Pownall of the land armies.

This was the high command. Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's ability was recognized and part of the strategy revealed when he was asked to command an army that might at some time be placed in the field at the rear of the Japanese in Burma, Siam or Indo-China.

A glance at the map of the area showed one "life-line" well open to the Allied forces, and this included a line from Darwin in North Australia, along the coast of Sumatra and Java to the Strait of Malacca and thence to Singapore.

This left a fleet action the wide South Pacific on one flank, and not the island-dotted and treacherous waters of the China sea to navigate.

PHILIPPINES:
Battle

General MacArthur's army of close to 100,000, mostly Filipinos and ill-equipped with air protection or striking force, finally had been forced back along prearranged lines to make their last stand in the hills and to fall back slowly on their best defensive fortresses to the north of Manila bay.

Few believed that it would produce anything but a delaying action, but many hoped that the final and apparently inevitable surrender might be delayed until the complexion of the war in the Far East might take a more favorable turn for the Allies.

It was conceded by most authorities, including the British, the Dutch, and observers in Washington, "armchair" generals for the most part, that there was scarcely a hope of the American-Filipino army triumphing.

But if the Japanese should find a heavy naval engagement on their hands, or if the battle in Malaya should turn against them, or if they found their supply-lines cut by an attack on their rear in Thailand or Indo-China, it was at least conceivable that the Philippine battle would turn the other way.

Sen. Connally of Texas had said, when Manila fell, "this is what military men have been telling us for 15 years would happen if we went to war with Japan. We don't like it, but it was bound to happen."

If there was any expedition for the relief or reinforcement of the Philippines, it was a closely guarded secret.

That there was activity was certain. That the navy was busy and hard at work also was certain.

But by the rules of wartime necessity the nature of that activity had not been revealed.

SINGAPORE:
Delaying Action

The British forces in Malaya, though hurled back a long distance from the opening of the Japanese onslaught, were slowing down the enemy advance, and were fighting a delaying action of growing severity.

Though the general movement was southward toward Singapore, though Penang had been lost and Kuantan was tottering, there were certain hopeful indications that the tide might shortly be turned.

One of these was the increasing severity of Royal Air force attacks on the Japanese lines, especially on several southerly landing attempts that had been made. Another was the fact that the British artillery, as their positions began to draw closer to Singapore, began to find something to shoot at.

Weird descriptive stories had been told of Japanese swinging from tree to tree like undersized apes, getting behind the British lines and causing the fighting to become confused at times. There was less of this as the battle lines became better marked.

Late reports had told of one Japanese landing effort being balked by artillery fire alone, with one transport and four barges sunk and the others withdrawing.

Many felt that the arrival of a sizeable Allied fleet, and perhaps 100,000 first-class troops, together with a few hundred planes could easily turn the tide of battle in Malaya.

RUSSIANS:
New Objective

The Russians, perhaps flushed with repeated victories after long defeats, perhaps in the calm realization that they had the Germans on the run, were setting a new and seemingly grandiloquent objective for the rest of the winter.

They would not be satisfied, they said, until the fighting was taking place on German soil before spring.

They had a long way to go, but even with Hitler reported in personal command at Smolensk, only 90 miles from the nearest Russian troops, there were many evidences that large portions of the German army were in extremely precarious positions.

The recapture of Maloyaroslavets, a key point, the loss of which had been keenly felt by the Russians in the first place, was reported by them to have trapped in giant pincers 150,000 of the first-class Nazi fighters.

"Surrender or die" was the grim command of the Russians.

So much of an impression were the Russians making on England that many sources in London expressed the sober belief that a "third front" would be created on the continent in the spring if the Germans attempted a new offensive againt Russia.

London had been studying the Russian technique of using to the fullest extent the disgruntled peoples in the conquered territories through which the Germans had been passing in their far flung drive toward Moscow and through the Crimea.

Back of the Germans were millions of murderously angry Russians, Poles, Czechs, Greeks. Every one of them, half-starved, beaten down, were only too ready to conduct guerrilla tactics against communication lines.

The British now pointed out that this same formula existed in much of western Europe. And they were planning to use it soon.

LIBYA:

Although delayed from time to time by bad weather, the British forces in Libya, under command of General Auchinleck, were keeping well abreast of the enemy, constantly in contact with him.

Prisoners piled up after the final completion of the conquest of Bardia, coastal town close to the Egyptian border, which had promised to become a "pocket of resistance" of as much trouble to the British as their Tobruk garrison had been to the German-Italian forces.

Red Cross Helps Solve Problems Of Our Recruits

Through Its Directors in Camps Red Cross Links Men With Home

Washington, D. C.—On the home and military fronts the American Red Cross is turning its focus on the man in uniform. In his behalf, more than 10,000 nurses are being recruited. Volunteers are donating their blood for a huge plasma bank. Red Cross women in chapters throughout the country are making 40,000,000 surgical dressings, and knitting sweaters for men in outlying posts and sailors on patrol.

But these are just fragments of the story. In military and naval stations, the Red Cross is concerning itself with the personal problems of the service man, helping him adjust himself to military life. For the disabled, the Red Cross is on the job in service hospitals, helping to speed recovery of the sick through a morale-building program.

In mobilizing a 2,000,000-man fighting force, the personal problems of the able-bodied man in uniform have in turn become problems of the morale divisions. Red Cross field directors stationed in all camps and reservations have been entrusted with the task of helping to solve these problems.

Speaking in a nation-wide broadcast recently, Chief of Staff Marshall, of the Army, addressed the following words to Red Cross field directors:

"When you help straighten out any of the great variety of tangles that human beings seem unable to avoid, you are helping to maintain morale on the home front and on the military front; you are helping us in training for defense."

The disabled man in a service hospital also can look to the Red Cross for help in speeding recovery. Medical-social workers, trained for their specialized assignment, are on duty at Army general and Navy hospitals to aid service physicians, to act as a medium of communication with the families of hospitalized men and to conduct recreational programs for convalescents.

The Red Cross provides recreational service for patients in all Army and Navy hospitals. Sixty-five new hospitals are under construction by the Army, and their recreation buildings are being equipped and staffed by the Red Cross as each one opens.

As part of the Army and Navy safety programs, members of the national Red Cross staff are qualifying instructors in First Aid and Water Safety among the ranks of the enlisted man. Instructors taught by the Red Cross in turn conduct classes on the reservations.

The number of Army and Navy cases assisted by Red Cross field directors has increased in volume 140 per cent since Selective Service has been in operation. During the past year 126,515 cases involving active service men have been handled in the camps.

The Red Cross recently made available $1,000,000 to meet an emergency need for athletic equipment for the Army and Navy. This need arose when Government appropriations for the purpose became exhausted.

In addition to providing the Army and Navy with an official reservoir of nurses, the Red Cross is cataloging the nation's medical technologists. Through this program, in which approximately 3,000 technicians have registered, the Army and Navy will select such professional personnel as laboratory workers, dietitians, dental technicians, pharmacists and other categories of trained technologists.

Issued Weekly From The Home Of The Biggest Co-operative Creamery In Marshall County

H. O. Hanson, Publisher; Mrs. Mabel Hanson, Editor | Holt, Marshall County, Minnesota, Friday, Jan. 23, 1942. | Volume 31, Number 39

Treat Your Seed Grain

Now is the time for Marshall County farmers to start making plans for treating their wheat, barley, and oat seed for spring planting. Seed treatment of all our seed grain is a standard recommended practice but in 1942 it should prove more necessary than in many past years according to information received from the extension office. The reason for more treatment in 1942 arises from the fact that the past fall was very wet and much of the grain to be used for seed this spring was either in the shock or in the swathe during at least a part of the wet weather. Under these conditions seed-born bacterial diseases of wheat, barley, and oats produce rapidly and contaminate much of the grain. Unless seed of this type is treated before planting the loss due to seedling blight and root rot may run extremely high in 1942.

Seed treatment provides good insurance against losses from certain diseases, such as the smuts, bunt and barley stripe and unless the farmer is sure his seed is not contaminated all grains should be treated.

Those who haven't treated previous to this year may like to make a seed treater of their own or may be able to cooperate with their neighbor and use his. Treatment can even be done without special equipment, but it is a more tedious process. One should always avoid inhaling the dust regardlees of method of treatment. Wear a dry cloth or dust mask over the nose and mouth.

The most used seed treatment is the new improved ceresan at the rate of one-half ounce per bushel. This will reduce seedling blight and root rot.

Holt Has High Tax Rate

Tax rates in Marshall County will show a general increase this year in Comparison to last year, a comparison of rate sheets for 1940 and 1941, prepared by P. D. Kvikstad, county treasurer, reveals.

The comparison of rate sheets for 1941 and 1940 shows that rates will be higher in 85 school district classifications, including rates on agricultural lands and village properties while rates also were increased in 27 townships and four villages. Decreases were noted in 42 school district classifications, 17 townships and six villages, while 38 school districts, four townships and one village rates remained the same. In seven school districts, no tax levy was made for 1941.

As announced in a previous isrue of the Sheaf, the state tax rate on non-homesteads and the personal property was set at nine mills, a decrease of one mill from 1940 and homestead rates were cut to .24 mill, also a decrease of one mill from 1940 when the rate was 1.24 mills The county rate was reduced from 47.71 mills to 44.44 mills.

The combined rate of 156.54 mills for the Village of Oslo is the lowest rate of any municipality in the county in which a high school is maintained. This figure includes city, school district on platted property, state and county rates.

The highest rate remains in the Village of Holt with a combined rate of 265.89.

22 Killed In Plane Crash

Carole Lombard, wife of the old logger, Clark Gable, was one of the victims of a plane crash in the mountains southwest of Las Vegas late last Friday evening. 21 others on the plane were also found dead in the wreckage. Of these 15 were expert army pilots.

The others were the crew of the plane, Lombards mother, the stewardess and a lady passenger from Detroit, Mich. Too much headlines were given Lombard and Gable and very little mention made of the others killed in the wreck. There were many heroes in that bunch of 15 army pilots who had all at times staked their lives to further protect our freedom and liberty. Lets have them honored above the rest.

The plane crashed in a ravine about 600 feet below the peak of Table Rock mountan 35 miles out from Las Vegas and only 275 miles from its destination, Los Angeles.

H. F. Hedquist, Argyle, will head the Marshall county battle against infantile paralysis, it was announced today by Arthur D. Reynolds, state chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday.

The campaign, now underway throughout the state, will emphasize the "March of Dimes" and parties in honor of the President's birthday Jan. 30. Mr. Hedquist, as chairman of the county committee, will direct the raising of funds for the battle against polio which last year struck 285 victims in the state.

Throughout the nation, funds are rolling in to combat the disease. One half of the funds raised in each county will be used for the benefit of local polio victims. The other half goes to the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis to be used for research into causes and cures for the malady.

Loans For Crop Production

Mr. Oscar T. Johnson at Warren, Minnesota, field supervisor for the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office of the Farm Credit Administration, Department of Agriculture, has just received word from Mr. L. C. Streater, Regional Manager at St. Paul, Minnesota, that funds are now available to all eligible farmers for crop production purposes including the purchase of seed, gas and oil, feed for workstock and all necessary repairs to farm machinery.

In issuing his release announcing the 1942 loan for crop production purposes which includes the necessary funds required for the purchase of repairs for farm machinery. Mr. Streater in his eagerness to fully cooperate with the Food for Defsnse Program, urges all farmers to check over their farm machinery at this time so that they may be able to order their repairs at the earliest moment possible.

Such loans will bear interest at the rate of 4 percent per annum from the date of disbursement.

Any farmer who derires to take advantage of the loans offered by the above agency is requested to direct inquiries or make application to the County Agent in the county in which he resides, or directly with Mr. O. T. Johnson, Field Supervisor, at Court House in Warren. It is also urged that anticipated needs be early arrived at so as to facilitate early delivery of the loan check.

It is emphasized that wives must also sign all related papers incident to the application.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Ring and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Johnson and Gloria. Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Peterson and Donny, Mr. and Mrs. L. Sagstuen and Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sagstuen, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Three Draft Registration Days

Minnesota will have three draft registration days - including a Sunday - for men 20 to 44 years old, not previously registered, Lt. Col. J. E. Nelson, state selective service director, announced today.

Dates of the registration will be Feb. 14, 15 and 16 (Saturday, Sunday and Monday.)

The three-day registration period is planned in Minnesota to conserve the time of men who are employed on vital defense jobs and to eliminate the necessity for such men to take time off from their work to register," Colonel Nelson explained.

Registration hours are expected to be 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. each of the three days.

Colonel Nelson also announced he is working on plans to establish special registration centers in cities and villages which are distant from the 137 draft board officers.

Those from here who attended the Newfolden School Dedication exercises held there on Tuesday evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fricker, Mr. and Mrs. G. Sanoden and Russel, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Karvonen, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lorentson and Betty Lou, Lois and Dorothy Hanson, Miss Sandberg, Miss Lee and Miss Otis. Russel sang "The White Cliffs of Dover" as one of the numbers on the program.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT'S dressing room has been doing a bit of traveling, to the amazement of inhabitants of Los Angeles who saw the one-room bungalow riding along on a truck one evening. It was made for Miss Colbert at the Paramount studios, when she was working in "Skylark." She was so proud of it that she had it taken to Twentieth Century-Fox when she began "Remember the Day." Back she went to Paramount, then, for the new Preston Sturgess picture—and back, too, went the bungalow.

Supplying Tungsten

Tungsten is a strategic metal, vital to the defense of America. Although this country produces a considerable percentage of the world's supply, China leads the world in the production of tungsten, thus the United States has accepted tungsten as backing for loans to China. In the past year over 60 per cent of our total imports of tungsten have come from China. This metal is needed to harden steel and make it less susceptible to high temperatures. The United States is increasing its own production of tungsten, particularly in the leading tungsten-producing states, Nevada, California, Washington, and Colorado.

"Swan Song"

The term, "swan song," is familiar to all for a farewell performance, or the last creative effort of an artist. The allusion is to the song popularly believed to be sung by a swan when dying. The origin of the metaphor is found in the "Epigrams" of the famous Latin "Martial," probably Marcus Valerius Martialis, who is believed to have lived from the year 40 to 102 A. D. And a well-known use of it is in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

LAST CALL For Rural Credit Farms

Since 1939 we have sold 3964 of these farms. By July 1st practically all of our remaining farms will be sold. In six months it will be too late to get one of these good farms.

Our prices are reasonable and our terms are fair—4% interest—20 years to pay. Possession may still be had for the 1942 season.

Don't put off buying your farm home any longer. Establish your future security now.

In Marshall County, since 1939, 237 have been sold. We have only 66 farms remaining in the county. The farms in this neighborhood are listed below.

Volume 31, Number 40

You're In The Army Now

If your son came home on furlough from camp at Christmas, were you surprised at his extra "poundage"? Many mothers have told me that their boys could not get into the clothes they had worn when they left home a few months ago. The boys are taller and broader, harder and heavier.

One mother said, "I was worried because of malaria in the south. My boy had been sick, but in spite of this he came home looking better than I have ever seen him. When he told me about the meals in camp I realized he was better fed than we have ever been able to be at home."

Dietitians have carefully worked out the food rations for the army and planned menus to meet the new recommendations of the food committee of the national research council. The boys at camps get their full share of vitamins, minerals, proteins, fats and carbohydrates. In addition, regular schedules and medical care contribute to their good health.

Just as fine a program of food and care is needed in our homes to make the family strong, well and vigorous enough to meet the demands of this emergency. Let's ask ourselves. Is the food supply adequate? Are we preparing foods in such a way that they retain all the valuable food materials possible? Are we serving it attractively? Is mealtime a happy time at your table? —Inez Hobart, nutrition specialist.

The Weather

Farewell Party

All are invited to a farewell party for Orris and Murnet Johnson in the Church Parlors Friday evening January 30th at 8 p. m. Please bring something for lunch

Many farmers in the Crookston and Beltrami area who were unable to take the crops off their fields last fall because of the heavy rain, have been doing a great job the past two weeks in salvaging their grains. Some have combined flax that run 5 to 10 bushels to the acre and barley running up to 15 bushels. The grain has been of good quality.

Mrs. T. C. L. Hanson was given a shower on Friday afternoon at the church parlors. A good program was given consisting of Scripture reading by Mrs. Sanoden; solo, Mrs. O. Nohre; reading, Mrs. J. Ness; reading, Mrs. Fricker and musical reading Mrs. A. Carlson. Mrs. Hanson was presented with a cash purse. Mrs. Henry Nohre and Mrs. C. A. Larson were in charge of arrangements.

Bonita Doreen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wegge was baptised in the Nazareth Lutheran Church on Sunday morning. She was born on December 20, 1941, and her sponsors were Mrs. Harley Stebelton, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wendt and Mr. Lloyd Johnson.

Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wegge were: Mrs. and Mrs. Arthur Timm and children of Minot, N. D., Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wagner and children, Mrs. Mike Timm, Mrs. Harley Stebleton all of Egeland, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson and children of Thief River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Wendt.

Card of Thanks

Words fail to express my sincere appreciation and gratitude to my many friends and relatives for the fine party given me at Carsten Sagstuen home the evening of Jan. 22. Especially do I thank C. Sagstuen and family. Also for the cash purse given me, I thank you kindly, one and all.

Vern D. Wilson.

Ole Westman of Radium who recently bought the old hotel here has also purchased the old Axel Nelson house and will soon move it onto a farm at Radium.

We have just received a card from Bernard Larson of Mount Angel, Oregon in which he states that he is working all the time and enjoys the west coast very much.

Mrs. Louis Wegge returned home Monday evening from Thief River Falls where she had had spent several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wegge.

Mrs. Jesse Sorum of Grand Forks spent a few days here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wegge and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Timm visited at the Edgar Wegge home Monday afternoon and at the Lloyd Johnson home at Thief River in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baker and Joel of Middle River visited at the Hj. Johnson home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Erickson made a business trip to Warren Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Erickson trucked a load of hogs to Fargo last week.

Carl Johnson returned home on Thursday of last week from the west coast where he had spent several weeks visiting with relatives. Mr. Johnson stated that he liked some parts of the coast well and other parts not so well.

Waste Must Be Salvaged

Stressing the necessity of salvaging all the waste materials possible to aid in the nation's defense, Governor Harold E. Stassen this past week asked for the formation of a local salvage committee here and in other communities throughout the state and urged all citizens to help get the additional materials needed.

Chairmen of the local civilian defense councils were asked to appoint the local salvage committees.

Function of the local salvage committee, it was pointed out, will be to increase the flow of waste materials from homes, farms, stores municipal departments. No new agencies will be set up to process the materials. Existing channels will be used to get the increased supplies back into production, it was pointed out.

Designating the effort as the "Minnesota Salvage for Victory Program," Governor Stassen said great resources in waste materials must be utilized immediately to help meet production needs of the war program. "Approximately 20 percent to 30 percent of the materials that go into the armament program normally comes from the salvage of waste materials," the Governor said. "Millions of tons of waste materials now lie idle and useless in attics, cellars, backyards, stores and on farms. More of this materials must be salvaged than ever before. Every citizen can help secure the materials needed for the weapons that will insure victory."

Items needed include:

Iron, steel, brass, copper, aluminum and other metal articles, except tin cans.

Newspapers, magazines, wrapping paper, cardboard boxes and other waste paper.

Discarded automobile tires, rubbers, overshoes and other rubber articles.

Cast-off clothing, burlap bags, drapperies and other articles made of cloth.

Citizens were urged, where possible, to take their collections of waste materials to the yards of the nearest waste materials dealer or waste paper shipper or give them to the charities, and schools or other organizations that make a practice of collecting such materials.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wegge and baby visited at the W. Wendt home Thursday.

Hilmer Moberg accompanied the Stordahl truck of Roseau to St. Paul with a load of cattle on Sunday.

Mrs. Hans Ness was taken suddenly ill on Friday and had to call a doctor.

Jerome Henning, son of Mr. and Eddie Henning was taken ill on Sunday and was rushed to a Thief River Falls hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Moberg visited at the Ole Moberg home near Gatzke on Sunday.

Minnesota "Wheat King"

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 21 — Peter Schirrick, prominent farmer of Red Lake Falls, was today named wheat king of Minnesota and presented with the newly established Philip W. Pillsbury award to encourage wheat improvement for his exhibit at the state seed show, held in connection with Farm and Home Week at University Farm.

Schirrick, who has for years made crop improvement his hobby as well as his business, won the crown with a sample of reward wheat which tested 64.6.

Pillsbury, head of the Minneapolis flour milling company which bears his name, presented the state wheat award at a luncheon today, at which President W. C. Coffey of the University of Minnnesota spoke on the importance of crop improvement in the national nutrition program.

The award, which consists of handsome trophy and a cash prize, was won by Schirrick in competition with representative Minnesota wheat growers, many of whom had exhibited their samples of 1931 grain at the International Grain and Hay Show held in Chicago last December.

The winning wheat was chosen by the judges of the state seed show, H. O. Putnam, executive secretary of the Northwest Crop Improvement Association; Dr. E. R. Ausemus of the United States Department of Agriculture; and H. F. Skyberg, of Fisher, Minn., president, Minnesota Crop Improvement Association.

Asked his formula for raising prize wheat, Schirrick said: "Select the seed carefully and be sure it is an approved variety. Seed as early as you can. Get your work done on time, but don't buy on time."

Schirrick hopes sometime to win the Pillsbury prize for the best wheat in the United States for the state of Minnesota.

Mrs. Clara Linstad and children who have made their home here for the past few years have this week moved to Rosewood.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith on Jan. 11, a girl.

Ole Tveit made a business trip to Grand Forks on Monday and bought a wheat land plow for his farm.

Purebred Livestock Sale

The largest sale of purebred livestock in many years will be sponsored by the Red River Livestock Association February 5-6 in connection with the Winter Shows at Crookston. In spite of the brisk demand during recent months for superior breeding stock, Valley breeders are saving many of their best animals for the Winter Shows sale.

Last year's two-day sale turned 120 animals for a gross of $8,800 dollars. Spreading the sale over the two days permits handling more stock and gives buyers a better chance to look over the offerinsg.

More than a hundred head of purebred cattle, hogs, and sheep have already been consigned to the sale. In going over and approving applications, the committee made selections based on type, quality, and condition of animals to be sold. Steps have also been taken to protect buyers in the matter of registration papers and transfers.

Chief Auctioneers will be Fred Reppert and Fred Chandler of Decatur, Indiana.

County Agent R. A. Reierson, pointed out today that the auction in connection with the Red River Valley Shows will provide an excellent opportunity for the farmers in this county to pick up purebred sires they will need.

For Pan-American Solidarity Against Axis

Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, center, and U. S. ambassador to Brazil, Jefferson Caffery, are shown talking to Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil's foreign minister, who was also administrator of the Pan-American conference held in Rio de Janeiro. The photo was made just before the third conference of foreign ministers in the interest of lining up all the American republics in a solid 100 per cent Western hemisphere front against the Axis, with a complete rupture of diplomatic relations. Leaders described Aranha as a "tower of strength."

Auto Use Stamps Available Here At Post Office

Federal use tax stamps which motorists are required to display on their automobiles if the car is in use, were received last week at the Warren postoffice and are on sale at $2.09. The stamps are also on sale at all other post offices in the county. The use tax stamps, which must be purchased by February 1, are good until July 1 of this year when a new annual stamp must be purchased at a fee of $5.

Motorists who are not driving their cars are not required to purchase the stamp until such time as the car is again put in use. The charge for the stamp is scaled down monthly.

Rural Credit Indebtedness Is Cut $9,795,000

Conservator George Jones Reports 3,964 Farms Have Been Sold and State's Financial Position Improved.

Setting forth in definite steps the progress made in the liquidation of Minnesota's rural credit assets during the last three years, George C. Jones, conservator of rural credits, reported to Governor Harold E. Stassen this past week that the department has effected a net reduction of $9,795,000 in its outstanding funded debt since January 1, 1939.

Indicating that the business-like methods applied to the problem of liquidating these assets are getting results, Mr. Jones cited the following totals covering the outstanding funded debt of the department:

January 1, 1939 ....$60,990,000
January 1, 1942 ....$51,195,000

Collections from the sale of state-owned farms and improvements in collections on interest-bearing paper of the department have been big factors in making possible the outstanding debt reduction. Mr. Jones began an energetic sales campaign soon after he was appointed conservator by Governor Stassen in 1939. The department has sold 3,964 farms during the three years, and now has on hand available for sale only 778, including all acquired during the three years.

Fully 90% of the farms sold went to local residents who intend to use them for their homes, Jones said, and few will fail to make good, he believes. Sale of the remaining 778 farms owned by the department virtually will be completed by July 1st, he said.

Sale of the 3,964 farms has placed 500,234 acres of land back on tax rolls of the state, Jones' report showed, or enough to increase tax revenues of the various taxing units fully $345,861 a year.

The price of the farms sold totaled $10,805,549, and 42% of this, or $4,557,356, came in in cash.

The big cash return on land sales and the decrease in delinquencies resulting from new collection policies have contributed materially to the debt reduction. Number of delinquencies has been cut two-thirds in the last two years.

Funds for reduction of the debt also came from the new financial program adopted by the legislature at the last session. Taking official cognizance of the big loss of $40,000,000 or so which the state will suffer in its rural credit venture, the legislature in 1942 adopted a plan under which the state for the first time will begin paying off this loss. Taxes are to be collected under this program at the rate of $1,500,000 a year to pay off gradually the state's loss. Tax by certificates amounting to $4,050,000 recently have been issued under this program with interest at 1.14%, and they will be paid off from the tax receipts.

Total deficit of the department from 1923 to the end of 1941, Jones reported, amounts to $33,318,453. Of this, fully a half came from interest loss, the interest paid on bonds exceeding interest received on loans by $16,883,569. The remainder of the loss came from administrative costs, loss on loan settlements and loss on land sales.

Job Insurance Change Boosts Average Check

As a result of changes in the job insurance program, authorized by the 1941 legislature and approved by Governor Harold E. Stassen, the buying power of unemployed workers in Minnesota who qualified for unemployment compensation benefits averaged $1.38 more per week during the last quarter of the year.

The average weekly benefit check during this period amounted to $11.93, compared to $10.55 in the corresponding quarter of 1940.

These figures are for total unemployment. Including the payments to part-time workers who were qualified for benefits, the average for the entire year of 1941 was $10.33, or 27 cents higher than the average of $10.06.

While the average individual check was larger, total job insurance payments dropped sharply from $9,745,765 in 1940 to $7,082,326 in 1941, a reduction of 27 per cent.

These figures were announced at the office of Victor Christgau, director of the state Employment-Security division, which administers the job insurance program and issues the weekly checks.

The 1941 amendments changed the weekly benefit amount for total unemployment from a minimum of $5.00 and a maximum of $15.00 to its present range of from $7.00 to $16.00 a week. Benefits are paid for periods ranging from one to sixteen weeks, if the worker remains unemployed and is otherwise qualified for benefits. A waiting period of two weeks is required before compensation becomes payable.

The increase is also partially attributed to higher earnings in 1940, since the individual's benefit amounts are based on the wages previously earned in covered employment.

The decline in total payments reflects a gain in employment, resulting from defense activities and other factors.

Seed Treatment Necessary For County Lands

Treatment of Seed Is Good Insurance Against Losses By Diseases

Now is the time for Marshall county farmers to start making plans for treating their wheat, barley, and oat seed for spring planting. Seed treatment of all our seed grain is a standard recommended practice but in 1942 it should prove more necessary than in many past years according to information received from the extension office. The reason for more treatment in 1942 arises from the fact that the past fall was very wet and much of the grain to be used for seed this spring was either in the shock or in the swathe during at least a part of the wet weather. Under these conditions seed-borne bacterial diseases of wheat, barley, and oats produce rapidly and contaminate much of the grain. Unless seed of this type is treated before planting the loss due to seedling blight and root rot may run extremely high in 1942.

Seed treatment provides good insurance against losses from certain disease, such as the smuts, bunt and barley stripe and unless the farmer is sure his seed is not contaminated all grains should be treated.

Those who haven't treated previous to this year may like to make a seed treater of their own or may be able to cooperate with their neighbor and use his. Treatment can even be done without special equipment, but it is a more tedious process. One should always avoid inhaling the dust regardless of method of treatment. Wear a dry cloth or a dust mask over the nose and mouth.

The most used seed treatment is the new improved ceresan at the rate of one-half ounce per bushel. This will reduce seedling blight and root rot.

Enemy Aliens Get Deferment In U. S. Draft

New Revisions of Selective Service Laws Are Announced Here

Revision of Selective Service Regulations regarding classification of aliens was made public today by Lt. Col. J. E. Nelson, State Director of Selective Service.

Until receipt of further orders, all enemy aliens will be deferred in Class IV-C. The enemy alien classification applies to all enemy aliens, whether declarant— those who have declared their intention of becoming citizens or nondeclarant.

In addition, all nondeclarant aliens—aliens who have not taken the first step toward becoming citizens—will be placed in Class IV-C. This includes nondeclarant aliens who are citizens of a neutral country.

It was also announced that registrants who are citizens or subjects of neutral countries may obtain relief from military service by filing Form 301, Application by Alien for relief from Military Service. However, it was emphasized, any alien who files this application will forever be barred from becoming a citizen of the United States. After the registrant has satisfactorily proved his citizenship of a neutral country and has filed the form, he will be deferred in Class IV-C.

No enemy alien may file Form 301, it was stated.

Registrants who are citizens of the Philippine Commonwealth are considered nationals and will be classified in the same manner as citizens of the United States. Heretofore citizens of the Philippine Commonwealth were classified as aliens.

Minnesota Farmers "Future Payment Fund," $78,000

Farmers now are laying aside part of the increased income they are getting for their products at the average rate of more than $32,000 a month to safeguard their farm homes, according to a report on the "future payment fund" prepared for officials of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul as of Dec. 31, 1941. This is a sharp increase over the previous 3-months period, and the fund is being stepped up month by month at an ever increasing rate.

Minnesota leads the other 3 states of the district with a total of $78,325 sent in by farmers in 35 out of the 48 national farm loan associations in the state. Amounts aside by individual farmers run from a few dollars up to several hundred dollars in some cases. Similar reserves are being built up in North Dakota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The "future payment fund" was established by the bank last spring to afford all members of the associations, who have federal land bank loans, and farmers who have bought land bank farms on contract, the opportunity to save up funds to meet any future installment when they might not otherwise be able to make payment at the time it falls due. Interest is allowed the borrower at the same rate he pays on his loan. By continuing to make payments regularly whenever he can, the fund is thus held in reserve, and is increased by the interest earned, which is compounded semi-annually. Funds are applied on installments as the farmer directs.

The "future payment fund" held by the bank for association members, and farmers who have bought farms from the bank on contract, amounted to $194,543 at the end of December. It had climbed to this point from less than $4,000 in 9 months.

TALKS SCHEDULED ON DEFENSE PLAN

Arrangements have been made for a series of radio broadcasts to report to the people plans developed by the state government to aid in the nation's defense program. Opening talk in the series, at 6:45 p. m. Wednesday (tonight), was scheduled to give an account of plans that have been made for use of air raid wardens.

The next talk in the series will be given at 6:45 p. m. next Wednesday, January 28. It will be devoted to the work of the Victory Aides, now being organized. The talks are being broadcast over KSTP, WCCO and many of the other stations, under auspices of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Rural Spelling Contests Are Set In County

Sectional Contests Friday—County Event In Warren On January 30

Marshall county's rural school spellers are giving special attention to their spelling this week in preparation for sectional, county and district spelling contests which will be held during the next three Fridays, according to Miss Thora Skomedal, county superintendent of schools.

Sectional contests will take place throughout the county on Friday with two representatives from each of the rural schools participating. Each of the 15 sections will select two winners to participate in the county contest at the court house in Warren on Friday, January 30, while the district event will take place at Crookston during the Red River Valley Shows on Friday, February 6.

Pupils who have participated in previous state contests, winter shows or eighth grade graduates are ineligible to take part in the present series of contests, the rules announced by Miss Skomedal, provide. Other major rules follow:

The written contest shall consist of the fololwing:

a. An indivirual list of 20 words to be given to each contestant in the presence of the moderator and the judges. These words shall be spelled orally. Value 20 points.

b. A written list of 50 words to be given to all contestants. Value 50 points.

c. A dictation exercise in which 10 words have been selected. No credit shall be given for composition. Value 10 points.

d. A miscellaneous written exercise to consist of 3 synonyms, 3 pair of homonyms, 3 antonyms, 3 abbreviations, 3 plurals, 2 possessives, and 3 contractions. Value 20 points.

The spell-down has been eliminated from the Sectional and County Contests but it will be given at the District Contest in Crookston.

The oral spelling shall be conducted as follows:

a. The moderator pronounces the word.

b. The contestant shall then pronounce the word and spell it.

c. After spelling the word, the contestant shall again pronounce the word. The pupil may change his spelling or spell the word over again if he does so before pronouncing it the second time. The last spelling before he pronounces it the second time shall be understood as his intended correction.

d. Each of the contestants shall be tested individually on each of the 20 words and shall not communicate with any of the other contestants until this part of the contest has been fully completed.

Later County Fair Dates Are Set At Meet

1942 Exposition Will Be Held In Warren on July 16, 17 and 18

Will Stress Agricultural Displays—Greatest Stage Production Is Booked

Endeavoring to encourage greater displays of Marshall and Northern Polk county agricultural products and livestock, later dates were arranged for the Marshall County Agricultural association's 1942 Fair which will be held at Warren July 16, 17 and 18.

Dates for the fair were set at St. Paul last week at meetings of the Red River Valley Better Fairs circuit and Minnesota Federation of County Fairs. William Forsberg, director, and O. M. Mattson, secretary, represented the Marshall County Fair during the sessions.

The Red River Fair circuit will operate as a three fair group in 1942 with the Polk County Fair at Fertile, July 13, 14 and 15, and Clay County Fair at Barnesville, July 9, 10 and 11, joining with Marshall county in continuing the organization. The Kittson county fair at Hallock dropped out of the circuit to join the Norman county fair at Ada to stage Fourth of July week fairs.

Numerous suggestions from exhibitors, farm leaders and 4-H club organizations throughout the county, prompted Marshall county fair officials in their attempts to secure later dates for the annual exposition. This being a War year during which food production will be on an "all-out" basis, the part Marshall and Northern Polk county agriculture plays in food production will be primarily stressed during the fair, said O. M. Mattson, secretary.

The Red River circuit was fortunate during the convention sessions to arrange a greater and entirely different grandstand attraction program through the Northwestern Amusement Co., of St. Paul. The night shows will feature "Wings of Mirth", produced by Miss Jule Miller. This production will come direct to the Red River circuit from the North Dakota State Fair at Minot where it will appear during the week including July 4. A group of from eight to ten professional circus acts will also be included in the programs during the three days. Directors of the Marshall County Fair are also considering other entertainment numbers which will, if they materialize, feature a large amount of home talent. These additional features will be discussed at future meetings of the Fair Board.

Frisk Greater Shows which organization provided the midway attractions at the 1941 fair, were booked for a return engagement for 1942. The Frisk Shows is a Minnesota concern with headquarters in Minneapolis. The shows are being completely rebuilt at winter quarters in Hot Springs, Ark., during the winter and will be even finer in 1942 than they were last year, Mrs. Grace Frisk, owner-manager, stated last week. The midway will include 10 or more of the newest type riding devices together with a complement of 10 shows and the usual number of concessions. No games for more than 10 cents will be tolerated in the operations of the various concessions.

Officers of the circuit include Mr. Mattson as president; P. O. Solum of Barnesville, vice-president and Jos. W. Reseland, Bertile, secretary.

Crop Production Loans Available At FCA In City

1942 Loan Program Is Announced By O. T. Johnson, Supervisor

Oscar T. Johnson, at Warren, field supervisor for the Emergency Crop and Field Loan Office of the Farm Credit Administration, Department of Agriculture, has just received word from L. C. Streater, Regional Manager at St. Paul, that funds are now available to all eligible farmers for crop production purposes including the purchase of seed, gas and oil, feed for workstock and all necessary repairs to farm machinery.

In issuing his release announcing the 1942 loan for crop production purposes which includes the necessary funds required for the purchase of repairs for farm machinery, Mr. Streater in his eagerness to fully cooperate with the Food for Defense Program, urges all farmers to check over their farm machinery at this time so that they may be able to order their repairs at the earliest moment possible. Such loans will bear interest at the rate of 4 percent per annum from the date of disbursement.

Any farmer who desires to take advantage of the loans offered by the above agency is requested to direct inquiries or make application to the County Agent in the county in which he resides, or directly with O. T. Johnson, Field Supervisor, Court House Bldg, Warren. It is also urged that anticipated needs be early arrived at so as to facilitate early delivery of loan check.

It is emphasized that wives must also sign all related papers incident to the application.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Submarine Activity Highlights Action Of United States and Enemy Navies; Russian Troops Use Nazi Technique In Important Victory Over Germans

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

U. S. NAVY:
A Hint or Two

Nothing in the form of detailed communiques about naval activities was coming out of the Pacific, but occasionally there was a hint or two which showed that Uncle Sam's Union Jack was not waving aimlessly about in those waters.

One of these was a dispatch from a correspondent aboard one of the battlewagons, who wrote to the press that the navy was active, was sinking Jap submarines, was on the lookout for unwary Jap ships and dropping them to the bottom of the sea, but was not allowing itself to be trapped.

He also stated categorically that among the objectives of the navy was to prevent a repetition of Jap attacks on Midway and Johnson's islands, or on Pearl Harbor.

A further hint that showed the Japanese might have cause for the jitters concerning the ocean situation came from an official communique that three Japanese vessels had been sent to the bottom of the Bay of Tokyo, uncomfortably close to vulnerable Japanese cities as the two American vessels torpedoed off Long Island, not by the Japanese, but presumably by U-boats.

RUSSIANS:
Cut Off Nazis

Using the favorite Nazi technique of parachutists behind the lines, the Russians had struck a vital blow in the Mozhaisk sector and believed they had trapped a force of about 100,000 Germans who had no recourse but to surrender or face annihilation.

Clouds of parachutists were dropped behind a fairly stable German position, one which the Russians had been hammering with artillery fire for more than a week.

This is a recent photo of Field Marshal Walther von Reichenau, who, according to Berlin reports, died after an attack of apoplexy. He was given a large share of credit for the sweeping Nazi victories in the West and was regarded as the general closest to Hitler.

These forces consolidated, allegedly destroyed seven Nazi battalions of infantry and burned a railroad train containing 23 cars of war material. The Germans, their supply lines cut, were trapped.

It was believed by Red headquarters that the surrender would follow as a matter of course, without serious further resistance.

Field Marshal Von Reichenau, famous leader of the Germans' Ukrainian army, responsible for the successful southern drive against the Russians last summer, dropped dead of apoplexy, and a state funeral was decreed for him.

Thus Hitler had lost by death another famed commander, after relieving Von Brauchitsch of command not long before.

MAC ARTHUR:
Spirited

Although MacArthur's men on the island of Luzon had continued to put up a spirited resistance to overwhelming numbers of Japanese invaders, there were certain aspects of late communiques which had pointed to the fact that the battle must be entering its decisive stages.

And Washington was holding out to the American public no hope that there could be any outcome but final defeat, though temporary, in that theater of the war.

The Japs had evidently turned MacArthur's right flank somewhat, if not completely, and reports of a landing on the Bataan peninsula were highly disquieting.

The brave little army was putting up a terrific defensive fight, but Washington observers pointed out that much of its success depended on maintaining communications with Corregidor, and it was up to the right flank to maintain this connection.

Tokyo communiques had shown that MacArthur's army was fighting bitterly to maintain this.

MALAYA:
Resistance

For some time it had been evident that a supreme battle for air mastery over Malaya had been in progress, perhaps spreading to the whole southwest Pacific area; now it had become plain that British resistance was steadily growing, and that the final and desperate battle to save Singapore was in the offing.

It seemed likely that this would take place at a point about 50 miles from Singapore, perhaps closer, somewhere on a line south of the Maur river.

It was with considerable surprise and no little concern that the British announced the Japs had crossed the Maur and had established a bridgehead on the southeast bank.

Previous gains which had shoved the Japanese 350 miles down the Malayan peninsula had caused no such battle as did the attempt to wipe out the Maur river bridgehead.

Final picture of the Malaya front would be a line about 100 miles wide running generally from east to west, with some inevitable salients caused by irregularities of the terrain.

Against this wall, said Major General Bennett, the Japs were expected to hurl their full force of artillery, tanks and planes.

The counter picture, however, was more encouraging to the Allies. Australian transports loaded with men and machines were arriving at Singapore at long last, and plane reinforcement, particularly fast Buffalo (American made) fighter planes were appearing on the front and were doing terrific execution.

This had been the sort of thing the Australian government had been crying out for during several weeks. The "singing Aussies" were going into combat, were reported to have hurled at least one section of attacking Japs back into confusion.

There was no disposition on the part of the Malaya defenders to become cocky, indeed Major General Bennett was rather on the pessimistic side, and said it was likely that the Japs before long would be knocking at the doors of Singapore.

But in general things were a little more on the upturn side, and many believed the tide of the Singapore battle might be turning.

Certain it was that it had been a heterogeneous army which had faced the Japs up to this point. From now on it looked as though the Aussies were taking over, planes and men, and that the Japs might have found, as they did in the Chinese battlefields, foemen more than worthy of their steel.

TRAGEDIES:
Sabotage?

Either saboteurs were responsible or the nation was beset by another of those unexplained series of airplane tragedies, one of them killing a darling of the movies, Carole Lombard, her mother, 15 air pilots, presumably those engaged in ferrying planes from factories to airfields, and five others.

Carole Lombard is shown accepting defense bond applications and stuffing them into the case of the first shell fired in World War I. This photo was made in Indianapolis, where she assisted in launching a bond sale drive. It was while returning to Hollywood from this mission that she lost her life.

There had been no immediate data on sabotage, but the average observer was wondering when there were more than 50 lives lost in 48 hours in six crashes, five of them army planes (three bombers and two fighters) and one of a huge transport plane with 15 pilots among the passengers.

The transport plane crashed into the side of an 8,500-foot mountain at night, thirty-five miles out of Las Vegas, shortly after the pilot had reported good weather.

Army secrecy shrouded the military plane crashes, but the sudden wave sent uncomfortable tinglings along the public spine, wondering whether the ships had been tampered with.

In the case of the crash in which Miss Lombard lost her life, she was returning from having personally sold more than $2,000,000 in defense bonds in Indiana, her birthplace.

Chocolate and Cocoa

Chocolate is richer and more nutritious as a beverage than cocoa, although both originate from the seeds of the tropical Theobroma cacao tree. In chocolate the cocoa beans have been ground and caked together, with all the fat content retained. In cocoa, the beans have had much of the fat pressed out of them before they are ground and powdered.

The railroads have met every requirement of the Nation's defense effort smoothly and efficiently, and without interference with normal traffic. More than two-thirds of all of the Nation's freight moves by rail.

Steel on Steel

The war, day by day, comes closer to the lives of all of us. Yesterday's vague outlines of a far-off cataclysm are rapidly emerging as stark realities.

Unfolding events are necessitating quick and drastic adjustments—sacrifices not contemplated a few months ago—changes in defense efforts, in our ways of doing business, and in our ways of living.

The family automobile, so convenient and often so necessary, has had its days numbered—depending on the life of its tires.

Affected in the same way by the regulations adopted to conserve the Nation's rubber supplies, is travel by automobile for business purposes, and all delivery services from retail establishments.

Unemployment and other hardships resulting from these drastic restrictions must, of course, be endured because the war in the Pacific has threatened America's access to the principal sources of raw rubber.

But the vital transportation needs of the Nation's defense efforts and most of the essential transportation needs of the American people are not in jeopardy because railroad transportation is not dependent upon rubber.

The continuance of adequate and efficient railway transportation does not depend on imports from foreign lands. Its needs flow mainly from America's own forests, iron mines, coal mines and oil fields.

Rubber can be further conserved for the Nation's all-out defense effort by using rail transportation —freight and passenger—whenever and wherever possible.

Trains ride on steel—an All-American product.

Farmers Loaning Program

The Farm Security Administration's loaning program is being directed toward the immediate expansion of dairy, hog, poultry, feed crop, and garden enterprises to aid FSA borrowers and other farmers in meeting increased war production quotas, Mr. H. W. Thelander, county FSA supervisor, said today.

The supervisor stated that some months ago changes were made in our agricultural policy and increased production was asked. Since our country has entered the war, it will undoubtedly become necessary to set new and larger goals for many agricultural products. FSA is working closely with the AAA and county War Boards on increased production plans.

"In line with this policy," Mr. Thelander added, "every effort will be made to finance farmers who are unable to secure credit from other sources. Loan funds will be made available for the purchase of cows, hogs, poultry, seed, feed, and any equipment or supplies necessary to place their farms on this higher production basis. In certain cases, FSA will help provide suitable shelter for poultry, dairy cattle, or hogs through use of temporary shelters and remodeling of present structures. These loans can be made for a period of one to five years at low interest rate.

"Children of any family who are members of 4-H, FFA, or similar clubs may obtain loans for the purchase of livestock, feed, garden fences, and the various other needs of their project work."

An expanded home food production program is receiving added attention this year in order that all families will provide for themselves and thus prevent a need for their buying from commercial supplies. Mr. Thelander expects some borrowers to have garden products to sell. Present borrower families, in cooperation with FSA supervisors, are now revising both their farm and garden plans upward for the coming year, considering the production of needed food --- the most important contribution they can make to victory.

Mr. Thelander explained that loans are also available for needs other than those given. The purpose however, must be one that will enable the borrower to improve his own condition and contribute to the nation's "Food for Victory" program. Interested farm families in this county should contact Mr. Thelander in the Farm Security Office which is located at Thief River Falls.

Blue Stamp Foods for Feb.

The following Agricultural commodities and products are hereby designated as Blue Stamp Foods and, subject to applicable regulations and conditions, may be exchanged for Blue Food Order Stamps in any eligible retail food store participating in the food stamp program for the month of February:

Butter, fresh pork (except that cooked or packed in metal or glass containers), fresh grapefruit, pears, apples, oranges, and fresh vegetables (including potatoes), corn meal, shell eggs, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self rising flour, and whole wheat (graham) flour.

Arvid Carlson Named Chairman

The State of Minnesota, Office of Civilian Defense, this week announced selection of Marshall County Committee in the Salvage For Victory Program. The following Marshall County residents to serve on this committee:

Chairman, Arvid Carlson, Middle River.
Reuben Sandberg, Grygla.
Emery Johnson, Warren.
Ed Stienbauer, Argyle.
Anton Enge, Oslo.
Ray Coloumb, Warren.
A. E. Gustman, Warren.
Mrs. Ted Skatrud, Argyle.
H. C. Swanson, Stephen.

The purpose of this Salvage for Victory Committee will be to aid in and promote the salvage of valuable scrap and waste material needed in our war production. America has a rich source of waste materials which must be used immediately to help meet the production needs of the war program. Approximately twenty to thirty percent of our raw materials normally come from the salvage of waste materials. Millions of tons of waste materials now lie idle and useless on dumps in cellars, attics, back yards, stores, and on the farms. More of this material must be salvaged now than ever before to insure adequate production for victory. This program provides an opportunity for every citizen in the community and State of Minnesota to help directly in securing the materials needed to manufacture defense weapons that will ultimately lead this country to final victory. America must win this war.

Scrap metals such as iron, steel, brass, copper, aluminum, lead, discarded tools, metal beds, stoves, railings, tire chains, pots and pans, picture frames, hangers, toothpaste containers, pipe and hardware, batteries, and anything else made of metal except tin cans are needed. Waste paper, waste rags, old rubber such as discarded auto tires and tubes, rubbers and overshoes are all needed for vital defense production.

The committee named above will work out a program for aiding schools, churches, charitable organizations, in collecting the above salvage. The committee itself will do no collecting but will aid in the promotion of this work. Details on collecting will be published in the near future.

How Is Your Health?

Victory in this war will depend upon the vigor, energy and enthusiasm of the people at home as much or more than upon the strength and fitness of the fighting forces. All of the authorities, medical and military, have said so. The truth of it is obvious.

It is not enough, therefore, for patriotic Americans to be just "not sick". It's not enough just to be able to drag yourself out of bed and waver through the lowest possible minimum of your alloted day's work.

This time the race is to the fleet and sturdy - and no fooling. And fortunately, here in America most people will be able to throw off that "just-not-sick" business with ease and find energy and to do a generous day's work with some left over.

The first step, of course, is a check-up to see if there is any organic reason why you aren't up to snuff.

Having set their minds at rest about that, a lot of people are going to find that there is nothing much wrong but their diets- too few eggs, too little milk and lean meat, vegetables, fruit and brown bread and far, far too much pie and cake and cocktails, not to speak of too little sleep and no exercise.

Its a little bit ridiculous to go around half alive in the piping times of peace. It's a little short of treason to do it in time of war.

Court of Honor Feb. 12

The Men's Club of the Nazareth Lutheran Church, the sponsoring group of the local Boy Scout Troop, will entertain the district Court of Honor at their next monthly meeting. This will be on Thursday evening, February 12th. The Court of Honor will consist of ceremonies for the advancement of local boys and boys from neighboring towns. The general public is invited to attend and it is hoped that the turn out will be as fine as was true at the last Court of Honor held at Holt. Several indivduals well know in scout work will be present to take part in the program.

There Is Iron In The Holes

Cedric Adams in the Minneapolis Star Journal had this to say: Tip to the governmental department that some day will be checking up on scrap iron. A few years back the WPA created a new park in the Lake Bronson area. They used three old-style army caterpillar tractors of the World War I vintage in the work. When the project was completed, rather than go to the expense of shipping the worn-out machines to another location, the workers were ordered to dig three large holes into which the tractors were hauled and then buried. They're still there and the Lake Bronson residents say each one weighed six or seven tons.

Farewell Party

A very large crowd attended the party in honor of Murnett and Orris Johnson on Friday evening at the Nazareth Lutheran Church parlors. The Johnson boys left this week for the Army.

Three Draft Registration Days

Minnesota will have three draft registration days - including a Sunday - for men 20 to 44 years old, not previously registered, Lt. Col. J. E. Nelson, state selective service director, announced today.

Dates of the registration will be Feb. 14, 15 and 16 (Saturday, Sunday and Monday.)

The three-day registration period is planned in Minnesota to conserve the time of men who are employed on vital defense jobs and to eliminate the necessity for such men to take time off from their work to register," Colonel Nelson explained.

Registration hours are expected to be 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. each of the three days.

Colonel Nelson also announced he is working on plans to establish special registration centers in cities and villages which are distant from the 137 draft board officers.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

A.E.F. Takes Over Northern Ireland Base As U. S. and British Form Supply Pool; Jap Convoy Blasted in Macassar Strait; Hawaii Report Blames U. S. Commanders

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Justice Owen J. Roberts is shown (left) talking to newsmen after laying before President Roosevelt the report on the Pearl Harbor attack. Made public in its entirety by the President, the report fixed responsibility on Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short for "dereliction of duty." Justice Roberts was chairman of the commission of six that visited Hawaii.

OVER THERE:
New A.E.F. in Erin

When Uncle Sam landed an infantry force of several thousand men at an undisclosed port in Northern Ireland, it marked the first arrival of American troops in a European port since World War No. 1. Commanded by Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle, the Yank army of brawny, clean-limbed farm lads from the Middle West proceeded to camps prepared months before.

Few doubted that this detachment was but the advance guard of many more to come. It was believed, too, that the base they occupied might be the springboard from which an invasion of Hitler's Europe would be made.

This view was voiced in the address of welcome by Sir Archibald Sinclair, British air secretary, who said:

"This is a coming portent for Mr. Hitler, nor will its significance be lost on General Tojo.

"From here, assuredly you will sally forth with us to carry the war to the enemy's territory and free oppressed peoples of Europe . . . . You are the vanguard of American arms."

SUPPLY COMMAND:
U. S.-British Pool

The creation of a supreme allied supply command that will speed and co-ordinate the production and flow of vital munitions and supplies to the fighting fronts was seen in the announcement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill that the United States and Great Britain will pool all munitions, shipping and war materials to "further co-ordination of the United Nation's war effort."

Three joint boards have been set up to merge the combined war resources of the two nations and make them partners in vital fields of supply in addition to joint military and naval commands. These new agencies will include a combined war materials board, munitions assignment board and combined shipping adjustment board.

Board members, it was announced, will confer with representatives of the Soviet Union, China and such others of the 26 United Nations as necessary "to attain common purposes."

SHIPS:
Japan Losing Them

The British, Dutch and American bombers and ships of war were not formally coming to grips with large bodies of Japanese naval ships, but they were whittling away at them, and Japan's losses were assuming important proportions.

A count of Japanese ships reported sent to the bottom in the first seven weeks of the war totaled 100, not counting those damaged and probably sunk.

This, it was pointed out, has been an average of better than two a day, despite the fact that when the war started Japan had the jump on the other nations by virtue of the surprise, and that opening successes had weakened the allied hitting power.

A continuation of this rate, observers said, would cost Japan more than 700 vessels of all types, and that no navy in the world, except the United States, could stand replacing such losses.

Latest exploit was an attack by air and sea forces of the United Nations against Jap war ships and troop convoys in the Straits of Macassar. Reported as the greatest demonstration of combined Allied might since the war's beginning, this force was revealed to have sunk or damaged at least 26 Japanese ships in a running battle.

GUILTY:
Verdict on Hawaii

The stunning news that an admiral and a lieutenant general, the naval and military commanders responsible for the defense of Hawaii, had showed such a lack of competence that they had failed even to talk over with each other deliberate war warnings handed them by their superior officers on November 24 and 27, in ample time to have circumvented the Japanese surprise attack fell sickeningly on American ears.

The immediate removal of both Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short from their commands after the Pearl Harbor debacle was fully justified by the investigating commission headed by Justice Roberts of the Supreme court.

The report had been utterly frank, comprehensive, and left little unsaid. President Roosevelt, to whom it was handed, ordered that it be given to the public without alteration or censorship.

The words that condemned the commanders were "dereliction of duty." But the astounding revelations were twofold—that the commanders had shown a lack of interest in performing their duty—that they had failed to talk over with each other the measures that each was taking for the defense in the face of a war threat.

The army man had "assumed" that the navy man was sending out offshore patrols to find where the enemy might be. The navy man assumed that the army airforce was on the alert. Neither actually was.

Demands for court martials to mete out punishment to those responsible for the Pearl Harbor disaster were heard from members of congress. Demands were likewise made for the expulsion of any "incompetents" holding responsible positions in the war effort.

Many senators and representatives asserted that the commission's conclusions pointed to a pressing need for a supercommand with control over the operations of both armed services.

LUZON:
Critical Stage

That the battle of Luzon had reached critical final stages was apparent. General MacArthur reported that not only were his troops being subjected to an all-out Japanese land attack by forces of at least ten to one superior strength, but that Japanese warships in Subic bay were able to fire their guns into his positions.

Constant Japanese reinforcements were being landed in Subic bay on MacArthur's left flank, where the heaviest Japanese attacks were being launched, and he reported that the numerical odds were rising constantly.

Commentators, while declaring the battle of the Philippines was a losing fight from the start, placed the highest importance on the long and brave resistance of the American-Filipino army.

ECONOMICS:

America's first foodstuff rationing came from the office of Leon Henderson—sugar. After controversial statements about supplies, and after considerable buying up of sugar by panicky housewives, a ration was set at about one pound per person per week, as against a normal consumption of about a pound and a half.

The shortage, said Henderson, would be about a third. He said measures would be taken to recover sugar from hoarders.

WRITE A LAST LINE TO THIS JINGLE

HERE'S WHAT YOU DO

It's simple. It's fun. Just think up a last line to this jingle. Make sure it rhymes with the word "now." Write your last line of the jingle on the reverse side of a Raleigh package wrapper (or a facsimile thereof), sign it with your full name and address, and mail it to Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., P. O. Box 1799, Louisville, Kentucky, postmarked not later than midnight, February 14, 1942.

You may enter as many last lines as you wish, if they are all written on separate Raleigh package wrappers (or facsimiles). Prizes will be awarded on the originality and aptness of the line you write. Judges' decisions must be accepted as final. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded. Winners will be notified by mail.

Anyone may enter (except employees of Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., their advertising agents, or their families). All entries and ideas therein become the property of Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corporation.

Goodness Survives

It has become a settled principle that nothing which is good and true can be destroyed by persecution, but that the effect ultimately is to establish more firmly, and to spread more widely, that which it was designed to overthrow. It has long since passed into a proverb that "the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the Church."—Albert Barnes.

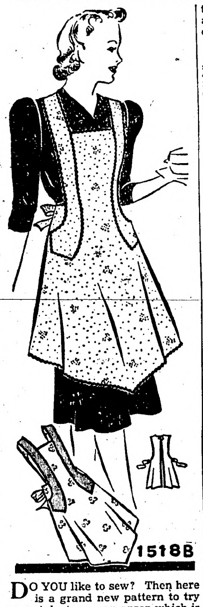
PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE



DO YOU like to sew? Then here is a grand new pattern to try your talents on—an apron which is as simple to make as ABC! Pattern No. 1518-B shows too, an apron which is different, slenderizing, unusually becoming and as efficient as a modern kitchen! The shoulder straps continue as side panels and end as good sized, properly placed pockets—and the side panels are so shaped that they give a wonderfully slenderizing effect right where you want it most—at the waistline!

Side sashes hold the apron firm across the front, tie smartly in back. The straps stay up because they are fastened directly in back and the wide side pieces give your dress full protection.

The railroads have met every requirement of the Nation's defense effort smoothly and efficiently, and without interference with normal traffic. More than two-thirds of all of the Nation's freight moves by rail.

Steel on Steel

The war, day by day, comes closer to the lives of all of us. Yesterday's vague outlines of a far-off cataclysm are rapidly emerging as stark realities.

Unfolding events are necessitating quick and drastic adjustments—sacrifices not contemplated a few months ago—changes in defense efforts, in our ways of doing business, and in our ways of living.

The family automobile, so convenient and often so necessary, has had its days numbered—depending on the life of its tires.

Affected in the same way by the regulations adopted to conserve the Nation's rubber supplies, is travel by automobile for business purposes, and all delivery services from retail establishments.

Unemployment and other hardships resulting from these drastic restrictions must, of course, be endured because the war in the Pacific has threatened America's access to the principal sources of raw rubber.

But the vital transportation needs of the Nation's defense efforts and most of the essential transportation needs of the American people are not in jeopardy because railroad transportation is not dependent upon rubber.

The continuance of adequate and efficient railway transportation does not depend on imports from foreign lands. Its needs flow mainly from America's own forests, iron mines, coal mines and oil fields.

Rubber can be further conserved for the Nation's all-out defense effort by using rail transportation—freight and passenger—whenever and wherever possible.

Trains ride on steel—an All-American product.

More Workers For Defense

Planning to make avilable more workers for defense industries at the present time and also to find permanent employment for unemployed persons, the WPA has begun a defense training project which is expected soon to begin operating in this area, according to information received today by the Marshall County Welfare officials.

The local welfare office is also offering its cooperation in supplying help for farmers and housewives who can make use of partially employable persons.

According to the WPA defense training setup, workers who desire training may apply to be admitted to the training schools. They will be paid a WPA minimum wage and may work in the training job up to 160 hours, it is stated. Furthermore, workers who must live away from their homes to attend the school will be allowed some expenses for travel to the project and also a per diem allowance for living expenses. The period of training is expected to be from six to twelve weeks in duration. After the conclusion of the training, it is expected that the bulk of the workers will be placed in defense industries.

The exact location of training schools has not yet been reported but it is expected that there will be at least one to serve this section of Minnesota.

As quickly as possible it appears that WPA is trying to convert its program into a defense training project. It is planned to keep the schools running to full capacity even to the extent of offering workers an assignment to these schools which must be accepted if the worker is to continue on WPA.

A recent order of the Works Projects Administration also states, "All certified workers who refuse to accept assignments to vocational schools, in-plant preemployment training, airport ground servicemen training, or other vocational training, who are considered qualified for such assignment on the basis of an interview by a competent occupasional classifier, shall be terminated from WPA for a period of ninety days."

At the same time; the local wellfare officials have stated that they are anxious to place a so-called unemployable person in the jobs in Marshall County if possible. The Wellfare Board stated that there are quite a number of persons who are not able to accept every kind of employment but who possibly can be useful in doing chores and operate machinery, driving tractors, horses for farmers. Even though these persons are not able to do the heaviest kind of work, it is possible that they can be of considerable value on the farm in 1942. The same may also be said to be true of certain unemployable women who possibly can do some type of domestic work. If any persons in the county are interested in securing such labor, they should immediately write or call the Wellfare office. It is suggested that they specify just what work is expected and what the pay comes to.

Joe Jarland	$3.00
Geo. Gusa	1.00

Mrs. Hilmer Moberg	1.00

This makes a grand total of $55.06 sent in by the local chapter.

Vogen Spoke At Buffalo Dinner

Warren Gun Club members and visiting friends learned more about the size, operations and services of the Mud Lake Wild Life refuge following their big Buffalo dinner Thursday night when Carl B. Vogen, sperintendent of the refuge, gave an interesting word discription of the project at a club meeting at the Strand theatre.

Nearly 150 club members and their guests attended the Buffalo dinner which was prepared and served by the First Methodist Ladies Aid in the church parlors. Practically all who participated in the dinner stated that the meat was especially palatable and was similar in taste to good beef.

After reviewing the historical background of the formation of the Mud Lake refuge, Mr. Vogen stated that the refuge consisted of 66,000 acres, 40,000 acres being converted into marsh and water. It is 65 miles around the refuge, all of this being fenced with 5 strands of barbed wire. There have been 85 miles of graveled roads constructed, a telephone line from Holt to the headquarters buildings and the secondary residences. Two 100 foot towers and three 30 foot towers have been built, permitting observation of practically the entire refuge.

During the spring many acres of acquatic foods are seeded and also more than 200 acres of wild millet. Studies are made of the wild life habitats, nesting, etc. Counts are also made of wild life in the refuge. The refuge produced at least 150,000 ducks last year, making it one of the three leading refuges in the entire nation. With the Thief Lake refuge operated by the state, the two refuges as a unit makes it the most important refuge in the entire nation, said Mr. Vogen.

Mr. Vogen also explained the methods employed in leasing out portions of the refuge for hay and other crop production to the farmers of that section. The leases are made on a share basis, with the government's share being used entirely for game bird feeding operations. He also pointed out how the pheasant population in the refuge is increasing each year. The refuge also has 30 Canada geese, which he expects will serve as decoys to attract some of the Northern flight to stay over and use the refuge as nesting grounds. Records show that in the early days Mud Lake was a natural breeding place for Canada geese.

Luxury Liner Damaged By Fire

On Monday a five-alarm fire swept over the former French liner Normandie as she lay in her berth in New York harbor.

The fire started from a torch used by one of the 2500 workmen on board who were changing the huge ship into a navy transport. The Normandie which had been renamed the Lafayette was taken over from the French Dec. 12 after it had lain idle at the New York dock since the start of the war in Europe. Damage to the three top decks by the fire was estimated at $5,000,000 and will be rebuilt at once.

This grand luxury liner cost $60,000,000 when brought here brand new in 1939. It weighed 80,000 tons and was a beauty.

Mrs. Melvin Pederson and daughter Adelyn of Thief River Falls visited friends here Monday

This Week For Victory

The Home Front—This war is going to be won on the "home front" - take it from government officials. "We Americans are all-out for victory on this front. We're all determined to keep raw materials for victory flowing into our industrial plants and the finished weapons of war streaming from those plants to the fighting zone until Adolf is in the ashcan, Japan is in the junkheap and the poor, misguided Italians are ready to dunk Il Duce in the Tiber," the officials agree.

Price of Victory — Of course, victory has its price. Victory is going to cost some manufacturers their business for the duration as metals are diverted from new pots and pans, for example to guns and tanks. Victory is going to mean virtual conscription of hundreds of industries, grief to management and distress to workers as they shift from the uses of peace to uses of war.

The Home Itself—In the home the price of victory will include increasingly drastic rationing. Sugar and tires are just starters. "We can look forward to a time when a new radio may be just as hard to get as a new car. The needs of the army and navy are going to affect the styling of our clothes, as well as our diet," the war production chiefs say.

Tin Cans— Already WPB has halved the amount of tin which may be used in cans for baking powder, beer, biscuits, candy, cereals, flour, chocolate and cocoa dog, food, spices, condiments, petroleum products and tobacco. This will mean a huge saving. In 1941 beer cans consumed 1,600 tons of tin - more than was used to can any vegetable except tomatoes.

Sugar—Sales of sugar may be limited the three-quarters of a pound per person per week. One of the important reasons is the increasing military demand for ethyl alcohol for explosives and plastics. Sugar will be distributed through the use of rationing cards with a quota of about 50 pounds a year set aside for each individual. However, it is explained that the amount per week will be less than a pound to allocate sugar for persons eating in hotels, hospitals, institutions.

Mrs. V. E. Oakey and Mrs. H. O. Hanson visited Mrs. Robert Forder on Monday afternoon.

Seed More And Better Flax

Seed of the recommended flax varieties, Buda, Red Wing, and Bison, will be in great demand this spring says County Agent R. A. Reierson, who urges all farmers, elevators or others having high-quality flax to hold it off the market so that it may be available for seeding the increased acreage wanted by the government in 1942.

To meet war needs, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has urged farmersto step up flax production by at least one third, and to support prices, has announced a loan value of $2.10 per bushel, farm basis, on No. 1 grade.

With millions of acres of land suitable for flax available in Minnesota and farmers generally familiar with successful production practices, a very large increase is anticipated. In recent years Minnesota has produced half of the nation's flax crop, the state's 1941 acreage being about 1,441,000 acres. The increase asked for 1942 is 12 per cent for a state goal of 1,610,000 acres. Unless a seed shortage prevents, this goal appears likely to be reached.

W. W. Brookins, extension flax specialist, University Farm says farmers should grow Red Wing, Buda, and Bison, the letter two being preferred for the Red River Valley. Farmers intending to grow flax, particularly those undertaking it for the first time, are strongly urged to give particular attention to three points: (1) arrange immediately to obtain seed of good germination and at least 99 per cent free of weed seeds: (2) plant flax on the cleanest ground available; and (3) get the crop in early which means the same time wheat is planted. The usual seed requirment is three-fourths of a bushel per acre.

County agent R. A. Reierson would like to hear immediately from anyone wanting to sell or buy flax seed.

The annual series of Lenten meditations will be held again this year in Nazareth Lutheran Church. The first Services will be on Ash Wednesday evening Feb. 18, at 8:00. The General theme this year will be "Passion Portraits of the Lord." The first topic will be "Jesus in the Upper Chamber."

County-wide Mantoux Test Coming

The Marshall County Public Health Association and the Marshall County Red Cross Chapter recently discussed and agreed upon the second County-wide Tuberculin testing program for Marshall County, the cost of the program is to be jointly met by these two organizations.

The program is being organized and will be carried out by Dr. Baldwin Borreson, Superintendent of Oakland Park Sanitorium and Margaret Hessburg, field nurse for the Sanitorium.

The Mantoux tests will be given and read in the towns through out the County. Bus transportation will be provided to take the reactors to Oakland Park Sanitorium for their X-Rays.

The Tuberculin test, simple and harmless, will detect the first presence of tuberculosis germs in the body. A slight, red reaction two days after the test has been given, indicates that the germs are present and the disease could develop, but it does not mean that the disease has developed or necessarily will.

The X-Ray should follow every positive reaction to the test and will show if the disease has developed, and treatment may be instituted at once long before the victim realizes he is sick.

Early discovery means Early recovery. It means halting the spread of the disease to family and friends, to fellow schoolmates or workers, and it means the end of needless tradgedy; loss of health, happiness and life.

Because there is no pain with Tuberculosis, because it is often far advanced before symptoms appear; because the huskiest looking persons may have it, tradgedy and Tuberculosis walk Hand in Hand-Needlessly.

The test will be available to all who wish to take it, but the main purpose is to check on possible tuberculor infections in students, teachers, bus drivers, and janitors.

Kindly watch this paper for the schedule of the program.

Send In The Dimes Now

Stragglers in the "March of Dimes" were reminded today to close up the ranks and send in their coin cards in the fight against infantile paralysis.

Arthur D. Reynolds, state chairman of the committee for the celebration of the Presidents Birthday asked that all funds raised through "birthday banks" house parties and by individual donations be forwarded to W. H. Honebrink, treasurer, First National Bank, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Throughout the state 253 communities staged President's Birthday parties to raise funds to fight polio. Although complete reports on receipts are not yet available, early returns indicate the campaign was by far the most successful thus far conducted.

Approximately 85,000 coin cards have been distributed througnout the state. The early returns have been most gratifying, but it is necessary to remind many that the coin cards should be mailed immediately to the treasurer, Mr. Honebrink.

"To close our books and to place Minnesota in the front rank of states in the fight against infantile paralysis, it is urgent that everyone cooperate. One half of the funds raised in each county remains in that county to aid local victims of the disease. The other half goes to the National Foundatioa for Infantile Paralysis to be used for research into causes and cures."

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of worldwide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions. These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

U. S.-British Forces Fight Grimly In Resisting Heavy Jap Pressure; 'Joker' Found in Price Control Bill Has Power to Check Farm Prices

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, shown conferring in Washington, D. C., with naval officers and John W. Studebaker, on a plan to have high school youth of America participate in a vital part of the U. S. navy's training program, plane model making. Looking over some of the models are (left to right) Artemus Gates, assistant secretary of the navy for air; Secretary Knox and Mr. Studebaker. In the rear is Adm. John H. Towers, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics. About 26,000 American youths in the high schools throughout the country are being asked to build 500,000 aircraft models—10,000 each of 50 different types of fighting planes—for training personnel in aircraft recognition and range estimation in gunnery practice. The models likewise will be important in the training of civilians in aircraft recognition.

MIRACLE:
Man on Luzon

The continued holding out of General MacArthur's "smoke-begrimed army in its foxholes on Bataan peninsula" to use his own words, challenged and won the admiration of all Americans.

It was felt that his long stand in the face of more than 10 to 1 odds, his ability to maneuver his men into a position where only a fraction of the Japanese power could be used against him, and the fact that he was still immobilizing a vastly superior force, entitled him to the title of "miracle man" of warfare.

If the Japanese attempted to infiltrate his lines, as often as not he checkmated them with counter-attacks. If they succeeded, either by a skillful withdrawal or by vigorous counter-measures at hand-to-hand, the following day would find the MacArthur army still intact, still fighting, still able to resist all efforts to drive him into the sea.

Though the communiques from Luzon never had given hope of a successful outcome, there was no tinge of heroics, save the tribute of the general to men who, without relief and subjected to almost constant attack by fresh troops in rotation, continued a defense that seemed to grow from day to day in strength rather than to be collapsing under pressure.

General Homma, Japanese commander, sent over a "leaflet raid" in which he strongly suggested surrender, paying tribute to the magnificent defense of MacArthur's army. It was not rejected—the army simply paid no attention to it whatever.

SINGAPORE:
Siege

The Japanese, having increased their pressure on the narrow and difficult Malayan peninsula, had finally induced the British defenders to make a sudden, dramatic withdrawal from the mainland, starting the long-expected siege of Singapore.

This, a battle expected to go down into history as one of the bitterest and bloodiest in the history of warfare, started with the 750,000 population of Singapore largely added to by civilian refugees from the mainland.

It was the first test in battle of a fortress and stronghold called by British tradition the "Gibraltar of the Far East" and now, after 118 years of building and rebuilding its defenses with more and more modern armament, the time had come for its testing.

Singapore stood buttressed on the north by a mile-wide strip of land from which the British had attempted to strip all obstructions which might offer refuge and cover to enemy soldiers or batteries; by another mile-wide strip of water which had become the "moat" of Singapore following the destruction of the granite causeway which connected the potato-shaped island with the peninsula.

CHECKMATE:
On Farm Prices

The administration in Washington, having apparently lost an important point in the Price Control bill, seemingly discovered that "all was well" when a joker was found in the measure.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard said that the government power to buy and sell commodities in case inflation threatened, probably would give the administration powerful curbs to keep farm prices down to parity.

The senate agriculture committee questioned Wickard for four hours, left his office somewhat ruefully admitting that his claims were probably true.

Some were quoted as saying that they felt their legislative victory over the administration had been nullified by a power the bill itself conferred on the government.

Wickard was frank about the whole thing. He told the senators that cotton, wheat, tobacco, will be stabilized at parity.

He said that corn and other feed crops will be stabilized at around 85 per cent of parity, probably to keep stock prices from going sky high, also to encourage farmers to stock, dairying and poultry-raising.

Livestock, dairy and poultry prices will be permitted to go above parity—on the same basis of reasoning.

Farmers who grow corn, however, will be given benefit payments by the government to permit their return to be up to parity.

PINCERS:
In Island Empires

Little by little a study of the maps of the island empires of the ABDA forces in the East Indies began to show the picture of the Japanese effort, and demonstrated that a giant pincers movement was being carried out with three major objectives.

On the extreme west, the two prongs of the Japanese pincers were working on Rangoon and Singapore. The former, if the Japs could crack it, they felt, would put an effective stopper on the Burma road. The latter would jettison British hopes of defending the west half of the island empire, and leave the Japanese fleet in command of the India-Australia supply lines.

In the center lay Borneo, and with invasion forces going both to left and right of this island, it was evident that the Japs were seeking to wipe out the advance defenses of Java and Sumatra.

On the east was the Bismark archipelago, and the drive here, while not so well established, apparently was seeking an invasion of Cape York, Australia, and a sweep down the east coast of the continent "down under," the only rich and populous section of the whole huge island.

As Singapore rocked under bombings, and held grimly in the face of actual siege at last, the Japanese began an all-out assault on Amboina, tiny island naval stronghold of the Dutch south of the larger island of Ceram.

PILOTS:
By Thousands

Secretary Knox electrified the nation when he announced that four large American universities would "join the navy" and serve as training centers for a huge army of combat pilots for the new navy air force, to be created with a 25 billion dollar appropriation.

Keeping the identities of the universities a secret, Knox revealed that the plan will be put into operation so swiftly that by May 1 it will be in full swing—perhaps sooner.

Briefly, the plan was this. Each school is to become an Annapolis of the air. The entire facilities of the universities will be rented by the navy for the duration of the war.

A rigorous routine will be adopted for the students, future combat pilots. They will handle 2,500 naval flying cadets monthly.

A three-month preliminary training will be started, with men digging ditches, marching up to 40 miles from sunup to sundown. They will chop wood, clear land, will learn jiu-jitsu, boxing, rough-and-tumble fighting.

The whole course is expected to take a year, from the time the student starts until he has his navy wings. But when the first class gets through, the navy's supply of pilots will grow at the rate of 2,500 a month, according to the plan.

SOVIET:
Continued

Groundhog day came and went, but regardless of shadows, King Winter reigned in Soviet Russia, freezing into motionless hulks the majority of Hitler's mechanical war-fighters, and giving the Russians continued strength to hurl the Nazis back along the entire long front.

A 93-mile gain in the Ukraine had brought the Reds to within easy striking distance of the lower bend of the Dnieper river, brought within the realm of possibility the capture of Dnieperopetrovsk, where the $100,000,000 dam had been blown up by the Russians in their retreat.

Most remarkable dispatch was the announcement of the capture of a town named Berestovoya, 115 miles west of German-held Taganrog, a serious blow to the German rear, and forming a possible trap for thousands of Nazi troops.

CHINESE:
Drive Japs Back

What a major disaster the closing of the Burma road would be had been convincingly demonstrated by the Chinese in their latest victory, an important defeat of the Japanese east of Canton.

The fight was in the Waichow area, only 60 miles from the city, and the Japs were reported in disordered flight, with the Chinese armies in close pursuit.

Of tremendous interest in this dispatch was the report that one entire division of Chinese troops of the Nanking government, armed and equipped by the Japanese, had deserted to Chiang Kai-shek's banner.

If this fight should develop with continued favor to the Chinese, they would place the Japanese holding forces on Hong Kong with a tough job to retain their tenure of the island.

Canton is only 60 miles from Hong Kong, and the Chinese said they had possession of the Canton-Kowloon railroad.

The Chinese are driving to liberate Canton, and then move on Hong Kong itself.

TEMPEST:

Arrival of a large number of apparently well-equipped U. S. troops in Northern Ireland, seemingly from the Middle West, provided the first reinforcement story of land forces sent to combat areas by this country and started an Irish tempest.

DeValera, in southern Ireland, objected strenuously to the arrival of American troops, and criticized it most sharply for being what he called "a British attempt to make more sharp the breach between northern and southern Ireland."

"Swan Song"

The term, "swan song," is familiar to all for a farewell performance, or the last creative effort of an artist. The allusion is to the song popularly believed to be sung by a swan when dying. The origin of the metaphor is found in the "Epigrams" of the famous Latin "Martial," probably Marcus Valerius Martialis, who is believed to have lived from the year 40 to 102 A. D. And a well-known use of it is in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

"WON'T YOU BE MY - - - - ?"

TWO hearts, one dart—they have come down the ages to say Won't-You-Be-My-Valentine and to remind us that in an age which bristles with dollar-signs and flaunts sophistication, Romance is not dead.

Then why not give a Valentine party with all of the fol-de-rols which are supposed to be old-fashioned and which your guests will gloat over? Herald the event with a lacey valentine. If your shops are too modern to carry them, make the invitations by pasting paper lace on the edge of a red cardboard heart with two hearts and a dart drawn in the center. Place your initials in one heart and the initial of your guest in the other heart, and write underneath.

Guess Who Is Inviting You
To a Valentine Supper

For a contest game, give the guests bows and arrows to shoot at a heart target. The winner should be presented with a heart-shaped box filled with heart-shaped nut cookies, and each loser who failed to hit the target might be consoled by being allowed to kiss one person for each arrow that went astray.

A Supper That's a "Honey"

Set the Valentine supper table with a lace cloth, red candles and a red heart-shaped box of candy at each place. And here is the supper menu with tested recipes:

Chicken and Ham Shortcake
Cranberry Jelly cut in Heart Shapes
Grapefruit Cream Sherbet with Cherry Garnish
Cocoanut Kisses Coffee
Fairy Gingerbread

Chicken and Ham Shortcake: Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups milk and the contents of two 6-ounce cans of evaporated milk. Add one slightly-beaten egg yolk. Then add the contents of one 12-ounce can of chicken which has been diced, one cup of diced cold boiled ham and two tablespoons diced pimiento. Add two tablespoons cooking sherry and season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve between and on top of split, hot baking powder biscuits which have been buttered. This serves eight persons.

Grapefruit Cream Sherbet: Soften one tablespoon gelatin in two tablespoons of cold water. Dissolve in grapefruit juice from a No. 2 can which has been brought to boiling. Add one and one-third cups sugar. Dissolve and cool. Add three tablespoons lemon juice and one well-beaten egg. Pour the cold fruit juice mixture slowly into one cup cream and freeze at once in refrigerator trays or in an ice-cream freezer. Stir often if you use the refrigerator. Serve garnished with chopped cherries. This serves eight persons.*

Three-Draft Registration Days

Minnesota will have three draft registration days - including a Sunday - for men 20 to 44 years old, not previously registered, Lt. Col. J. E. Nelson, state selective service director, announced today.

Dates of the registration will be Feb. 14, 15 and 16 (Saturday, Sunday and Monday.)

The three-day registration period is planned in Minnesota to conserve the time of men who are employed on vital defense jobs and to eliminate the necessity for such men to take time off from their work to register," Colonel Nelson explained.

Registration hours are expected to be 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. each of the three days.

Colonel Nelson also announced he is working on plans to establish special registration centers in cities and villages which are distant from the 137 draft board officers.

Nornwest Farmers Vote May 2

Northwest wheat farmers will vote May 2 on whether or not they want a continuance of the marketing quota provision of the A A A permitting orderly marketing of huge wheat supplies, Charles W. Stickney, Minnesota chairman, announced last Saturday.

"We are urgently in need of record supplies of milk, eggs, pork, certain vegetables and vegetable oils to win the war, but we do not need more wheat,' Stickney said.

"The marketing quota provision voted favorably last year has resulted in near parity wheat prices despite a record supply of wheat and all-time low prices in other large wheat producing countries," he said.

"If farmers vote down marketing quotas and take the lid off wheat acreage, I don't know where we will store the wheat produced from the excess acres" he warned.

"Storage and trasportation will be one big headach to farmers without further burdening the situation with production of a product that is not needed at this time in the food production program.

"Railroad rolling stock will be tied up in moving troops and military equipment and supplies. Terminals and local elevators will be filled to capacity. In other words, increased production of wheat will impede the all out drive to win this war.

"Farmers who use land to produce food supplies that are not needed when they could use the land to produce foods that are needed, are not working for the best interests of their country," Mr. Stickney stated.

Supplies of wheat in the United States are large enough to supply this country for one year if not another bushel was raised in 1942. Supplies of wheat in the world are at all-time high levels.

Last spring, Minnesota farmers voted in favor of marketing quotas by an 87 percent margin.

Crop Production Program

Mr. Oscar T. Johnson, Warren Field Supervison of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office called at Marshall county this past week to explain to war board officials the things his office can do to aid all-out produbtion for this crop year. Mr. Johnson states his office has funds to loan to eligible farmers at 4 per cent interest to finance crop production which includes seed, feed, gas and oil, twine, and necessary expenses for repair of farm machinery. Johnson also made arrangements with the County Agent located at Warren, to take applications for this loan from those desiring this service.

As in former years his office requires as security for such loans a first lien on the crops to be financed.

Mr. Johnson urges all interested in the service offered to contact the County Agent's office at as early a date as possible to complete necessary papers and further suggests that wives accompany husbands as their signature is likewise required.

Clarence Hall, Ingvald Dahl and Clifford Johnson left last Thursday by car for Seattle, Washington to bring home Burton Johnson who took suddenly ill while working in the navy yards at Bremerton.

Wheat Insurance Applications

"Farmers who want to assure themselves a wheat income in 1942 must act promptly", Chas. W. Stickney, chairman of the Minnesota Agricultural Conservation Committee, stated today in pointing out February 28 as the final day for returning spring wheat crop insurance applications to county AAA offices.

"More than 15,000 Minnesota wheat farmers have already taken advantage of the crop insurance plans for 1942, and while most Minnesota wheat growers desire the protection and security offered through crop insurance, many of them are not fully aware that February 28 has been selected as the closing date for 1942 applications," Stickney said.

Federal crop insurance guarantees the wheat grower up to 75 per cent of his farm's normal yield and protects the crop against all natural hazards which might damage it, such as winter-kill, hail, flood and insects.

Crop insurance applications will be accepted at county AAA offices through February 28 and Triple-A representatives are prepared to explain the program in detail to any farmer interested.

"In these times we cannot afford to gamble with the future," Stickney concluded, adding that "Crop Insurance permits the farmer to buy security of wheat income on the installment plan, and putting something away as protection against crop failure should be just as much of the farm operation as planting."

"March of Faith" Program

In the initial broadcast March 1 of the new "March of Faith" programs over WCAL at Northfield, Minnesota, Dr. O. S. Reigstad, pastor, Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Minneapolis, will speak on the topic, "A Lesson for Today."

Broadcasting over their home station, the St. Olaf college choir will be heard in the new series from 3:30 to 4 p. m. Sundays under the direction of F. Melius Christianson, noted composer-director. This is the first time that the St. Olaf college choir has launched a series of musical programs over its own station, WCAL.

Dr. Reigstad is scheduled to appear on the "March of Faith,' programs during the five Sundays in March. Additional personalities of state, school and church will be featured in the series.

This Week For Victory

Sugar — Sugar rationing may have an ominous sound to a nation that has had few restrictions placed upon it. So far as the three and four lump user is concerned, the fourthcoming rationing may seem like the last straw, but he will not lack for the sweets he needs for food and energy. Sugar today is more than just food for energy; it is a war weapon. From sugar is made industrial alcohol for the production of smokeless powder. Hence, every lump saved is a potential shot at the enemy. The U. S. Bureau of Home Economics has some suggestions on how civilians can use less sugar and still get good diets:

Try less sugar in your coffee and tea.

Use fewer deserts that require sweetening with sugar. Fresh fruit salad is one desert that has plenty natural sugar.

Dried fruits --raisins, peaches, dates, figs, prunes apricots and others are rich in sugar and should be eaten with breakfast cereals in lieu of sugar.

Don't forget the ice cream and candy you eat contains sugar.

Mantoux Test Here March 16

The Mantoux test will be given to anyone wishing to take it. We urge every teacher, bus driver and janitor to take the test, and may we ask full cooperation from parents and teachers in having students take advantage of the test. Pre school and school children who have Positive reactions will be X-Rayed at the Oakland Park Sanitorium free of charge, but any adult who has a Positive reaction and wishes to have an X-Ray, will have to pay the usual fee of $2.00.

Following is the schedule for Holt. The test will be given at the Holt School on March 16 at 1 o'clock p. m. for the following School Districts: 35-20-159-59-58-61-68-30. The reading of the test will be on March 18 and the X-Ray on March 21.

Herman Peterson had the misfortune to split the thumb on his left hand on Monday while splitting wood. He was taken to a doctor at Thief River Falls and it required several stitches to close the wound.

Money To Loan To Farmers

The Farm Security Administration will lend money to pay for repairing and conditioning farm machinery belonging to its borrowers or to other farmers who meet the requirements for FSA loans, Mr. H. W. Thelander, county FSA supervisor, announced today.

"These loans are to insure that production of needed food by families cooperating with the FSA will not be curtailed next year because of farm machinery that is in bad shape," Thelander said. "The 'Food for Victory' program must not fail because it is just as essential to defense as is the industrial program of our factories.

Farmers must bear in mind too that with farm prices higher than they have been in years, they must make the most of their opportunity to produce in abundance. Machinery will become scarcer, and, no doubt, prices of new machinery and parts will be higher, so it will pay each farmer to check his equipment now and make the necessary repairs. Machinery should be put in good condition now, even though it might last anonther season."

Mr. Thelander said that eligible borrowers also will be loaned money for the purchase of machinery if necessary, although joint purchase and use of new equipment by several families is being urged to meet anticipated shortages and price increases in new machinery next spring.

The following letter was received by the Editor of the News from former Holt people who appriciate getting the paper.

Bettendorf, Iowa
Feb. 12, 1942

Dear Sir:

We have received the Holt Weekly News and we wish to give our most sincere thanks to you for sending it to us here in Iowa, and to my mother, Mrs. Lena Ring who subscribed for it as gift for us. There could be no nicer gift to receive than my old home town paper. Its just like living right there to read about old friends.

Best greetings to our many friends and thanks again to my mother for the home paper.

Yours truly,
Mr. and Mrs. Axel Ring

County-wide Mantoux Test Coming

The Marshall County Public Health Association and the Marshall County Red Cross Chapter recently discussed and agreed upon the second County-wide Tuberculin testing program for Marshall County, the cost of the program is to be jointly met by these two organizations.

The program is being organized and will be carried out by Dr. Baldwin Borreson, Superintendent of Oakland Park Sanitorium and Margaret Hessburg, field nurse for the Sanitorium.

The Mantoux tests will be given and read in the towns through out the County. Bus transportation will be provided to take the reactors to Oakland Park Sanitorium for their X-Rays.

The Tuberculin test, simple and harmless, will detect the first presence of tuberculosis germs in the body. A slight, red reaction two days after the test has been given, indicates that the germs are present and the disease could develop, but it does not mean that the disease has developed or necessarily will.

The X-Ray should follow every positive reaction to the test and will show if the disease has developed, and treatment may be instituted at once long before the victim realizes he is sick.

Early discovery means Early recovery. It means halting the spread of the disease to family and friends, to fellow schoolmates or workers, and it means the end of needless tradgedy; loss of health, happiness and life.

Because there is no pain with Tuberculosis, because it is often far advanced before symptoms appear; because the huskiest looking persons may have it, tradgedy and Tuberculosis walk Hand in Hand-Needlessly.

The test will be available to all who wish to take it, but the main purpose is to check on possible tuberculor infections in students, teachers, bus drivers, and janitors.

Test schedule is printed elsewhere in this issue for Holt.

Seed Dealers Meeting Feb. 23

Marshall County seed dealers will meet in Argyle, Minnesota on February 23, 1942 to plan ways and means of improving their service to farmers of this area. Chief purpose of the conference, arranged by County Agent R. A. Reierson, will be to discuss latest state and federal clean seed regulations.

Seed laws are intended to assure farmers of seeds that are both free of noxious weeds and properly adapted to the locality in which they are sold. Full cooperation of seed dealers in seeing that these regulations are followed both as to letter and spirit is one of the most important steps toward a better agriculture for this county says Mr. Reierson.

Present at the meeting will be seed experts from the State Department of Agriculture, Dairy and Food, and the Extension Service at University Farm, who will explain this year's additions to the state laws and also discuss with dealers the relation of clean seed to a prosperous agriculture.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

- In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.
- It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.
- When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Jap 'Culture Offensive' Is Assisting Aggressor in Continuing Their Attacks; Heroic Stories Arrive From Luzon; Nazi's Subs Add More Ships to Toll

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

MENACE:
Of 'Jap Culture'

As the tentacles of the huge Japanese advance throughout the southwest Pacific stretched themselves across the map, it was evident that the "culture offensive" of the Nipponese throughout Asia was a most grandiose scheme that might yet cause the United Nations all their utmost power to circumvent.

Observers found it obvious that Japan was playing on the anti-Christian tendencies of the entire Moslem world in the hope that some day all these millions might be bowing to the Mikado, from the brown races of eastern Asia all the way to the tribes of North Africa.

The vital battles of this war found Britain menaced not only by the necessity of keeping far-flung forces organized and supplied, but by the unrest of India, as evidenced by the fact that the house of lords was considering giving the Hindus all they had been asking for, and what, in many instances, they had been jailed for demanding.

GENERAL WAVELL
A very busy man . . .

Burma, for instance, where one of these vital struggles was taking place, was a hotbed of anti-British sentiment among the higherups, this attitude making the defense of the shores of the Irawaddy river between Rangoon and Manadalay doubly difficult.

Yet China's miracle-working coolies were hard at labor creating two, perhaps three new "Burma roads" which would have outlets at points other than Rangoon, besides the fact that China was sending strong military forces southward to protect the present road.

Many realized, however, that between the Hindus, the British and the Chinese were many gaps in understanding, the latter tending to wonder whether the British understood the important nature of the Far East war, and whether the Hindus were anxious to take any part in it other than to surrender.

Chief benefit to United Nations unity, however, was the fact that the Japanese, instead of fighting with propaganda, were coming in as the hated military invader. This, it was hoped, might finally result in their downfall.

Certain it was that America, perhaps as overconfident on the Pacific situation as the British, were rapidly waking up to the seriousness of the conditions in the battlefield, and joined by the Australians were making ready to do something drastic about it.

Two things stood out—Wavell's calm promise that Singapore must hold out for "great reinforcements" were on the way; and second, that General Percival, in charge of Singapore's defenders, said "of course" Singapore would be held.

Evacuation of at least a part of Britain's naval forces from the naval base had been deemed a military expediency, a sort of "clearing the decks" for the siege, and it was obvious that the British were not going to be cleared from the Pacific stronghold without a bitterest kind of fight..

Shortly after the siege had begun, Japanese troops, crossing at low-tide the narrow channel between the mainland and the island, began their attack. Slowly they pushed back the beleaguered British troops who contested each foot of ground that they were forced to relinquish.

The Japanese showed the same brand of fight here as they displayed against MacArthur's men. (See "Luzon.")

LUZON:
Epic of Defense

Eyewitness stories of MacArthur's men in action began to filter in from the Luzon front, and though they were delayed, the spirit they showed bore out the feeling of the "man in the street" that the Battle of Bataan was a heroic struggle in the extreme.

These stories pictured the Japanese as fanatical fighters, battling to the death, trembling and moaning, perhaps, when cornered, trapped and about to die, but hurling themselves into the fray, and forcing the American-Filipino troops to shoot them down rather than surrender.

One correspondent told of seeing an American captain, waving a bloody-bandaged arm, shouting "surrender, you ——s, we have you surrounded"—and getting the reply from the trapped Japs, in perfect English, "Nerts to you, Joe!"

The American tank crews were forced to run down and trample into their foxholes small bands of a Jap "suicide battalion" that had tried to land behind MacArthur's lines.

Yet, outside of these repelling skirmishes between bands of 100 to 300 of the enemy, and of frontal attacks in greater force, it was evident that MacArthur's position was ever-narrowing, ever-shrinking.

The Japanese land batteries had Forts Drum and Hughes and Mills under fire, and the duels between the huge guns of the forts and the more numerous field guns of the invaders continued with indecisive result.

Meantime, the average American, glowing with pride over the achievement of the men on Luzon, worried because no reinforcements had arrived, and prayed that help might come before the gallant defenders were hurled back on Corregidor and to ultimate surrender or perhaps evacuation in another "Dunkirk."

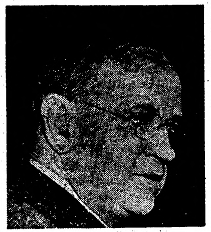
ATLANTIC:
Sinkings Grow

The torpedoing of the Swedish steamship Amerikaland, 15,355 tons, sent to the bottom, only 200 miles off New York harbor, one of the biggest freighters plying the seven seas, and raised the total of tonnage lost in the Atlantic to a high figure.

Yet the navy department assured Americans that many German subs were making it a "one-way" trip in their fight in the Atlantic, and that the Nazi navy was finding it an expensive war on the eastern ocean.

Tragic was the loss of the submarine S-26 off the coast of Panama.

The captain and three companions were on deck when the accident happened, and, helpless to aid the men trapped inside the submersible, had to watch their craft take a dive under the water, leaving them to swim. Three were picked up—one drowned. The rest of the crew died below at their stations, in 301 feet of water.



SECRETARY ICKES
Ready for an oil shortage . . .

It did not seem that the American plan of keeping the sealanes open was like the British, to run ships in heavy convoys, for most of the sinkings reported were of "single birds" rather than groups of ships, as had been the record of British losses.

But they were, nevertheless, severe, and seemed to show that the Nazis were sending large numbers of submarines, some of them of the largest type, far across the ocean to attack coastwise vessels.

They also seemed to be aiming particularly at tankers, and so many had been sunk that Petroleum Administrator Ickes began preparing the eastern states again for a likely shortage of gasoline and fuel oil.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

New York: Radio men on ships of one large coastwise concern had been given a salary boost of $21.50 a month, and war risk bonuses. The action closely followed the sinking of one of the company's ships.

Valetta, Malta: There had been 13 raids by Italian-German planes on Malta in a single day. Reinforcements continued to arrive for the beleaguered Mediterranean port.

Chicago: Reviewing the municipal bond market for the past 12 months, Barcus, Kindred & Co., Chicago financial house, found a decrease of $236,969,369 in the amount of state and municipal financing last year. The 1941 total was $1,389,302,154, compared with $1,626,271,523 in 1940. A factor in the decrease was the smaller volume of federal grants for municipal improvements last year.

OCD ROW:
Sweeps U. S.

MELVYN DOUGLAS
An extra $8,000 a year . . .

As the congress made ready the first $100,000,000 for civilian defense, the spotlight of publicity was turned on various appointees who would serve on Mrs. Roosevelt's section of the nation-wide OCD.

As a matter of fact, congressmen themselves were leaders in the criticism of the appointees at the very same time that they, themselves, were being lampooned and laughed at from coast to coast for taking action on a bill to put congressmen who had been defeated into the pension plan for civil service workers.

One group on the Pacific coast started a "bundles for congressmen" movement in an effort to laugh the bill into defeat.

But the OCD row not only involved the representatives themselves, but caused a mountain of mail to fall on Washington.

Mayris Chaney, a vaudeville dancer and protege and friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, named to a $4,600 job as children's activities director for physical fitness; and Melvyn Douglas, film-star named to an $8,000 job (while working) to direct the arts division of the setup, were the central figures of most of the criticism.

But some newspapers, leading the fight against Mrs. Roosevelt's group, began publishing lists and backgrounds, and one paper ran a cartoon which said, quoting Representative Faddis, "When the Dies committee exposes someone, that individual immediately is given a job."

The word "boondoggling," which had not been bandied about on editorial pages for some years, made its appearance again, and congressmen leaders of the opposition declared their desks flooded with congratulatory mail.

ANZACS:
Grim, Hustling

Australia and New Zealand, anxious over the trend of events as Japanese tentacles reached ever southward toward the great continent "down under," were grimly and seriously readying themselves for the most determined war effort in their history.

Another evidence that first-class and large American support was arriving in the area was seen in the announcement that an American, Vice Admiral H. F. Leary, had been appointed head of the naval forces operating in the Australia-New Zealand area.

A new American naval command, officially titled "United States Naval Forces, Southwest Pacific," also was created. Vice Admiral William A. Glassford, it had been announced, had been placed in command of this force.

Both are in their fifties, Glassford a native of San Francisco and Leary of Washington. Both will serve under the general command of Admiral Hart, head of the naval portion of the Batavia headquarters, who in turn is under Admiral Nimitz, at least technically.

JAP SPIES:
Caught in Net

That the FBI had not been sleeping on its guns since December 7 has become evident in the announcement of a series of widespread raids on the Pacific coast.

One hundred agents of the FBI swooped down on a Japanese colony overlooking the upper army reservation of Fort MacArthur, near Los Angeles and took into custody a number of Japanese.

They also seized quantities of Axis propaganda, firearms, cameras, radios and other contraband.

They found a revolver, 50 rounds of ammunition, Axis propaganda and other material hidden away in a secret place on one farm.

At the same time a group of four Japs was arrested near Portland, Ore., in the Bonneville dam area, and a considerable quantity of dynamite was found in their possession.

Six more Japanese were arrested at Portuguese Bend in southern California, and revolvers, rifles, motion picture cameras, radio equipment, flashlights and a large camera were seized.

RETIRE?
Short, Kimmel

Just when the nation was wondering whether or not a court-martial would be held to try General Short and Admiral Kimmel for their dereliction to duty in Hawaii, both officers simultaneously asked the army and navy for retirement.

Whether this would be the outcome of "Pearl Harbor" as far as the two men blamed for the disaster would be concerned remained problematical.

8100

THE season's biggest hit in tailored fashions! Here's the famous "dress which looks like a suit." In this two piece model, the top is a smart four button jacket of the longer cut—with attractive wide shoulders, a neat collar and lapels over which you may wear, most effectively, a snowy white dickey—it is dart fitted to maintain a slim line through the torso and has four big patch pockets. The skirt has front pleats—and, is wide at the hem.

'Jingoism'

Jingoism is a term applied to anyone who favors an aggressive or bellicose policy in foreign affairs, says Pathfinder. In this sense, it was first used in England, where "jingo" became a nickname for any advocate of Lord Beaconsfield's action in sending a fleet to Turkish waters to stay Russia's advance in 1878.

The word was lifted from the chorus of a music-hall favorite of the day, which ran as follows:

"We don't want to fight, but by jingo if we do,
We've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money too."

Safe Tankers

Unlike other ships, a tanker, while loaded with gasoline or light oil, will not sink if it is punctured or springs a leak except when the accident occurs in the engine room or living quarters, says Collier's. As the cargo is carried in numerous large tanks, several may be damaged at one time, the result being that the oil leaks down to the level of the sea and lightens the load of the vessel.

Tenor Offered a Chance To Reach the Top Note

It was after the opera. The expensively dressed woman approached the broad-shouldered and faultlessly attired man.

"If I am not mistaken," she gushed, "I have the honor of speaking to the renowned tenor, have I not?"

The celebrated singer felt flattered and beamed upon her, and with a nod of his head, he asked, "Is there something I can do for you, madam?"

"I can't find my car," she answered pleasantly. "Would you be so kind as to call out 'Charlie' at the top of your voice? I am sure he will hear you!"

"Swan Song"

The term, "swan song," is familiar to all for a farewell performance, or the last creative effort of an artist. The allusion is to the song popularly believed to be sung by a swan when dying. The origin of the metaphor is found in the "Epigrams" of the famous Latin "Martial," probably Marcus Valerius Martialis, who is believed to have lived from the year 40 to 102 A. D. And a well-known use of it is in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

THE CHERRY CLIMAX COMES IN FEBRUARY

CHERRIES are eaten all year round in this country, including February, but the peak of their consumption probably comes in this famous month not only because it is the month of George Washington's birthday and we are reminded of the story of his truthfulness about the cherry tree, but because "red" is a pretty color to put in party foods for St. Valentine's Day and Lincoln's birthday. A National Cherry Week is held annually, from February fifteenth to February twenty-second, this year, at a time when housewives are interested, too, in putting some fruit into the diet to offset the effects of the necessarily heavier winter foods.

A Thrift Opportunity

With the current sales of canned cherries it is a good time for the thrifty housewife to stock up on a variety of them. There are two principal types of canned cherries—sweet and sour. There are both black and white sweet cherries. Sour cherries are red. The most abundant black sweet cherries are the Bing and Windsor, and the most famous white ones are the Royal Annes. Sour cherries are usually either Richmond or Montmorency. Sweet cherries are canned unpitted. Sour cherries are always canned with the pits removed.

This is a good season, too, to check up on your cherry recipes, and make sure they include some of the best ways of serving these fruits. The sweet cherries are delicious and decorative for use in salads, and the sour are grand for making cherry puddings and also for serving with meats when their tart flavor is needed.

Here are two new cherry recipes which you will be glad to add to your repertoire:

Baked Cherry Pudding: Cream together four tablespoons butter and one cup sugar, add three-fourths cup of milk alternately with the following sifted dry ingredients: one and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons of baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Meanwhile boil together for five minutes the contents of one No. 2 can of pitted red cherries, one-half cup sugar and two teaspoons grated orange rind. Pour this on top of the batter, and bake for about thirty minutes in a medium oven—350 degrees. The dough will rise to the top, the cherries and syrup sink to the bottom forming a sort of sauce. Turn out upside down and serve warm with plenty of cream. This serves eight persons.

Cherry Queen of Puddings: Pour two cups of hot milk over one cup of dry bread crumbs which are fairly fine. Add one-half cup of sugar and two tablespoons butter. Let soak for five minutes. Then add the lightly-beaten yolks of three eggs. and pour into a buttered pudding dish. Bake in a slow oven—275 to 300 degrees—for from forty to fifty minutes, or until a knife, inserted, comes out clean. Meanwhile cook the contents of one No. 2 can of pitted red cherries with three-fourths cup of sugar until the syrup is thick, then cool slightly. When the pudding is done, spread this cherry mixture on top, cover with a meringue made of three egg whites and six tablespoons of sugar. Return to the oven for about fifteen minutes or until the meringue is firm and a delicate brown. Serve cold. This serves eight persons.

Beaver-Trapping Season

A 15-day state-wide beaver trapping season has been set by Conservation Commissioner W. L. Strunk, to begin at 8 a. m. on March 1 and end at 6 p. m. on March 15. Not more than eight beaver may be taken by one licensee.

State parks, game refuges and public hunting grounds are all closed to trapping.

The order provides further that all beaver taken shall be submitted to game warden for sealing in accordance with provisions of the law, not later than five days after the close of the season. The beaver pelt must have attached thereto such portions of the beaver as shall be designated in an order to be issued three days before the season opens.

The 15-day season was ordered by Commissioner Strunk following surveys by the research bureau of the Division of Game and Fish which showed the beaver population now is higher than it was a year ago, despite the fact that more than 7,600 beaver were harvested in a 13-day season in the spring of 1941.

This year's season was set more than four weeks earlier than in 1941, when the spring break-up rendered roads impassable in some sections, and made trapping difficult in others because of the fluctuating levels of flooded streams.

Establishing the opening date March 1 also enables Minnesota trappers to market their furs simultaneously with Wisconsin, Michigan and New York. The 1941 beaver harvest was worth approximately $203,000 to the trappers.

The importance of Minnesota's beaver resource is apparent in a comparison of the trapping take in other states. Michigan and Pennsylvania, with 15-day seasons in 1941, had total catches of 6,824 and 1,195, respectively, compared with Minnesota's harvest of 7,668 in a 13-day season. New York, with a 17-day season and Wisconsin, with a 31-day season, had takes of 3,055 and 5,992 respectively.

Mantoux Test Here March 16

The Mantoux test will be given to anyone wishing to take it. We urge every teacher, bus driver and janitor to take the test, and may we ask full cooperation from parents and teachers in having students take advantage of the test. Pre school and school children who have Positive reactions will be X-Rayed at the Oakland Park Sanitorium free of charge, but any adult who has a Positive reaction and wishes to have an X-Ray, will have to pay the usual fee of $2.00.

Following is the schedule for Holt. The test will be given at the Holt School on March 16 at 1 o'clock p. m. for the following School Districts: 35-20-159-59-58-61-68-30. The reading of the test will be on March 18 and the X-Ray on March 21.

According to word received here, Mernet and Orris Johnson who recently left for the army, are together in a camp in Washington south of Seattle. A cousin of theirs, a Birkeland boy from Seattle and a son of Mr. and Mrs Bill Werner from Michigan are together with the Johnson boys out there in the camp. When they have time off they can go to the home of their aunt, Mrs. Birkeland.

Health, Morale and Victory

Feeding the farm family for health, morale and victory is the goal of a program which will reach into every Marshall County community during the next few months. Plans were drawn up February 12 at a conference of organization leaders, called by County Agent R. A. Reierson, to enlist hundreds of men and women from this county as leaders in the victory drive to have every Marshall County family properly fed.

It was decided that the county agent should arrange for three county-wide training sessions in which specialists from the Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service will present to local leaders practical teaching in choice of foods, utilization of home-grown foods, and preparation of foods for best family health.

Any group of people now organized or who wish to organize for this service, may select their own two leaders and notify the county extension office of names and addresses. Men as well as women will serve as leaders. Whenever it is desirable, the county committee will appoint in each township four to six leaders.

The first county-wide training session will be held in March after groups have designated their leaders. Two additional sessions will be held at monthly intervals to complete the schedule.

Many groups with membership among rural people have already rallied to the support of the health, morale, and victory program, and will take an active part in carrying this war service into every home. The state Civilian Defense Council, acting thru the state nutrition committee and cooperating in this program, is urging all its working groups to make nutritions one of the vital war efforts. Among the other organizationgs who have pledged support in this county are: Farm Bureau, Superintendents of School Systems, County Commissioners, Grocers, Associations, Medical and Dental Professions, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Marshall County Bankers Association, Ladies Aids, Parent Teachers association and a score of other clubs, societies, and big organizations.

This Week For Victory

Spices—Handle the spices in your cupboard with care. Only two of them -- peper and mustard -- are plentiful. But the others -- nutmeg for your custards and spice cake, cloves for your hams and pickles, cinnamon for your breakfast toast, vanilla for your cakes and cookies -- these and many other are likely to present a problem. They are still available. But remember, they come from faraway places—Zanzibar, the West Indies and other distant points on the globe. So be careful with that spoonful of cinnamon. The ship that brought it to you probably is carrying war supplies now and may not carry cinnamon or any other spice for a long time.

Another suggestion: Better save those nice cans with sprinkles tops. Next year's supply may not come to you in such convenient form.

Trees For Spring Planting

St. Paul, Minn.- - Every Minnesota community is eligible to receive shipments of trees for spring planting from the state Division of Forestry.

As a result of legislative action last year, the Division may now furnish native coniferous trees "to any political subdivision of the state for use upon lands set aside and dedicated to forestry or conservation purposes for a period of not less than 25 years."

This change in the nursery laws permits the distribution of coniferous trees, without cost, for use as windbreaks on school grounds, for community forests or woodlots, parks, roadside forests and similar projects.

Eight species of trees are available for allotment late in the spring. They are white, Norway and jack pine; white and black spruce; white cedar (arbor vitae) tamarack and red cedar. The trees average three years of age and measure nine to 15 inches high.

Any community desiring to receive shipment of trees should have one of its officers write to the Division of Forestry, State Office Building, St. Paul, requesting an application for "Forest Tree Planting Stock." Such requests should be sent to the Division as soon as possible, since most of the trees will be distributed during the month of May.

Basket Ball Tournament

The Central Sub-District Basket Ball Tournament will be held at Newfolden on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, March 4th and 5th, and Saturday evening, March 7th. The tournament will be held at the Auditorium of the new Newfolden High School.

Basket ball is fine entertainment and with this tournament being played at so close a point, many from here should attend the games each night.

The admission will be Student single ticket 25c. Student Season 50c. Adult single 35c and Adult season 75.

A group of friends and relatives gathered at the L. Sagstuen home Friday evening and helped Raymond celebrate his birthday.

Other Mild Minnesota Winters

This winter's unseasonable mildness calls to mind other mild winters which Minnesota has experienced. Old newspaper files at the Minnesota Historical Society reveal that no winter carnival was held in St. Paul in 1889 because "the weather vetoed the whole thing." The sunny skies and mild airs of November lasted until the middle of January, so that there was no ice with which to build a palace and no snow for winter sports.

The editor of the "Northwest Magazine" believed that the winter carnival gave "the country at large an erroneous idea of the character of our winter climate" and hoped that "we shall never again see an ice Palace in St. Paul." With this idea in mind, he published a picture of the St. Paul ice palace of 1886, "the palace we did not build," with this valedictory:

This is the Palace we didn't build,
For the ice didn't freeze, and the air wasn't chilled,
And our great city with sadness is filled.

Despite the editor's plea, St. Paul continued to present its winter carnivals and to build ice palaces. The palace of 1896, however, was never built because there was no ice and no snow. "Our regal will dominates all but the elements" stated King Borealis in a proclamation that "the season pass not unimproved." Emphasis was placed on sports and the carnival, with fireworks and the storming of "Fort Karnival" on February 8.

Mild winters were utilized by early publicists to convince Eastern folk that Minnesota's climate was not as severe as they supposed. In 1866, according to a local newspaper, a Red Wing woman "gathered pansies in her yard on the 31st day of December, and sent them as New Year mementoes to friends," while her husban ran an excursion to the Wisconsin side of the Mississippi river.

Crop Insurance Deadline

Mark a red ring around February 28 on your calendar.

That's the final day that you can protect income from your 1942 spring wheat crop by taking out a policy with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

We have received applications for crop insurance on the 1942 crop from 666 farmers in the county to date, "Mr. Kranz, Chairman of the local AAA committee, said today, in pointing out that a Federal Crop Insurance Policy insures the farmer up to 75 percent of the normal production of his farm in the case of crop failure from any natural hazard. It is so much better than insuring a crop against just one risk, and for only a limited length of time. Federal crop insurance protects the grain from the time it's seeded until it's in the bin. We cannot gamble with our future, especially during these times. We can take the gamble out of farming by taking out time to insure our 1942 spring wheat crop.

No policies will be issued after February 28.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

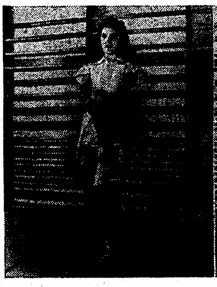
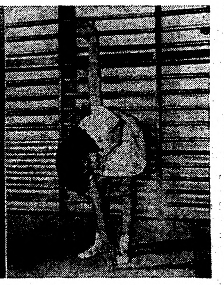
No 'Priorities on Pep' Wanted As America Girds for War

While factories throughout the land hum with production of armament, heads of the defense program in Washington are hard at work on a physical fitness campaign to build a sturdier nation. Schools, industrial plants and community groups alike are joining in the movement to bring back mass calisthenics and body-building exercises which were in vogue at the turn of the century.

John B. Kelly, U. S. director of physical training, and Alice Marble (center), head of the women's program, present awards at a Camden, N. J., plant.



"Here's how," as demonstrated by a co-ed at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., long noted for its functional curriculum. "Knees up, chin in, eyes bright."



A slow start, with gradual increases, is suggested by Director Alice Marble. Above, old fashioned bending over exercises limber up the muscles.

Foot strength is developed by walking on a curved board. This throws the foot into the proper position to strengthen the arches, and strong arches are important.

Lax muscles are toned with exercises such as these suggested in the Office of Civilian Defense's program.

"Alley Oop" as Miss America stretches every muscle to develop physical fitness aimed toward a "Hale America."

Daily programs in factories help America become physically fit.

Anyway, Jonah Had Been Taken In by the Whale!

The nervous curate had arranged to preach on Jonah and the whale.

"And for three days and three nights," he began, "Jonah was in the—"

He blushed, stammered, stopped, and then started again:

"For three days and three nights Jonah was in the—"

Once more he was covered with confusion, and once more he stopped, and mopped his face.

Then he gathered his courage in both hands, and with a mighty effort he finished triumphantly: "And for three days and three nights Jonah was in the society of the whale."

Dr. Goose

The prefix "Dr." would be appropriate before the name of a Canada goose. He is an astonishing surgeon. One of these birds was recently seen in a refuge with a broken leg. He straightened out the leg with his beak and then held it in position for hours at a time. When he had to move, he used his wings in hopping along the ground. In a few weeks the broken leg was completely healed!

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Who Wouldn't Come to a Dinner Like This?
(See Recipes Below)

Accent on Dinner

Dinner is the master meal of the day and as such requires the most masterful stroke the homemaker can apply. With time unlimited, this master stroke is not so hard to bring into play, but with days like these which are filled to the utmost with activity of all kinds, time-saving hints and ideas for dinner are important.

Planning a meal which can all be baked is both time and money saving. If you're pinched for silver and aluminum for cooking and serving, you can use glasswares for both the cooking and serving.

Today I'm discussing a dinner that is equally adaptable for either a family or company dinner. It's one of those meals that you won't forget because it's always bound to be successful from the point of view of appetite appeal, ease in serving and ease in cooking. Tuck these ideas where they won't gather dust, for they'll gather fame more easily.

Lamb Roast.
(Serves 8 to 10)

5 to 6 pound leg of lamb
Garlic clove or slice of onion
Salt and pepper

Have a leg of lamb boned and tied. Wipe with a damp cloth but do not remove fell, the parchment-like covering over the meat. Rub garlic or onion (or onion salt, if you have neither of those) over the meat, then rub salt and pepper. Bake in a slow (300-degree) oven, allowing 30 to 35 minutes to the pound. If a heat resistant glass platter is used, the lamb may be served from that.

Franconia Potatoes.
(Serves 8 to 10)

8 to 10 medium-sized potatoes
4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cook potatoes in boiling salted water for 15 minutes. Drain and place in the oven around the meat to finish roasting, about 40 minutes. Pour melted butter and chopped parsley over potatoes when done. Arrange with whole, cooked carrots on platter and serve.

A hot bread on a cool evening adds plenty of staccato to the menu, and I would advise serving it often. This one is especially appropriate for the menu today because your oven will be hot and you can bake it before you put in the meat.

Lynn Says:

Trying to tackle the winter vegetable problem? Here's a parade of suggestions that will prop up your meals:

Baked squash with small white onions baked in the hollow. A bit of cream sauce added just before serving to the onions will also perk up this dish. Sprinkle with paprika for color.

Carrots: glaze these with brown sugar and butter when baking. For cooked carrots add a bit of tartness with lemon juice.

Serve canned or cooked lima beans with this smart mustard sauce: 4 tablespoons butter mixed with ½ teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon ground mustard and 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Beets like to be teamed up with a Harvard sauce. Thicken the beet liquid with cornstarch and add a bit of grated orange rind and juice for delightful variation.

Sprinkle cooked asparagus with grated Swiss cheese and brown under the broiler.

Parsnips: parboil these, then dip in egg and bread crumbs. Fry until a golden brown.

Turnips: cook and mash. Season with butter, salt and pepper and a dash of nutmeg.

This Week's Menu

Mixed Fruit Juices
*Lamb Roast
*Franconia Potatoes
Carrots
Fruit Salad
*Spice Bread Butter
*Caramel Crumb Custard
*Recipe Given.

Spice Bread.
(Makes 1 quart loaf pan)

2½ cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 cup currants
2 eggs
1 cup milk
¼ cup shortening

Sift flour before measuring. Then sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and ginger. Wash and drain currants; mix into dry ingredients. Add well beaten eggs, milk and melted shortening to dry ingredients. Stir only until just well combined. Pour into a greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for about one hour.

Caramel flavoring flirts with custard in this dessert idea. But what's especially nice about this one is that you can bake it along with the bread since both require the same oven temperature. Custard's best baked in individual cups and the custard unmolded onto the dessert plates when ready to serve:

Caramel Crumb Custard.
(Serves 8)

½ cup sugar
⅓ cup boiling water
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup coarse dry bread crumbs (crusts removed)
¼ cup caramel syrup

Make a caramel syrup by melting ½ cup sugar in a skillet, very slowly, and allowing to cook until a golden brown. Remove from heat and add boiling water slowly. Return to heat for 10 minutes or until completely dissolved. Separate eggs and beat yolks until lemon colored. Gradually beat in 1 cup sugar, salt, syrup, milk and butter. Add bread crumbs and fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour into eight glass custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350-degree) about 40 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream.

Speaking of planning menus that seem to fit both company and family dinner occasions I thought you might like a few suggestions. Here are foods that fit each other because of their flavors blending together so smoothly, because of their balance and contrast in texture and flavor. They're easy to keep in mind and fix at a few hours' notice:

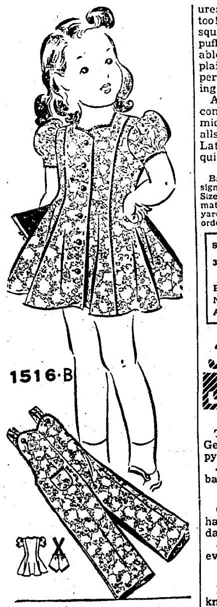
PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE



1516-B

GRAND for January sewing right now, and good to repeat again this summer is the princess frock for little girls offered in Pattern No. 1516-B. The same pattern also shows you how to make overalls, rompers and a bonnet!

As all mothers know, little girls look their very best in a princess frock, the silhouette of which is flattering to chubby and slim figures alike. And so easy to make too! The neckline here is cut square, the sleeves are short and puffed. The frock will be adorable in a gay flower printed or plain color cotton trimmed with perky ric-rac and a set of matching buttons.

Another garment you'll rush to complete for your little daughter's midwinter wardrobe are the overalls—cunning and practical too. Later this season you will add the quickly made rompers.

Rather Explicit

"Do you really love me, Alfred?" asked the girl.

"Ethel, I refer you to my last letter," replied the young man. "'Devotedly' is on the first page, 'madly' on page three, 'passionately' on pages four and five, and 'till death do us part' in the postscript. How else could I say it?"

When little Willie was asked why he got such low marks in history, he replied: "Aw, teacher's always asking me about something that happened before I was born."

In Conversation

Mr. McPherson gave some advice to his wife when they were expecting friends to tea.

"Just mind, Jeannie," he said, "to put the sugar-tongs in the basin, an' not a spoon."

"But we have no lump sugar in the house," she expostulated. "We've only granulated."

"I was mindin' that!" said McPherson.

Mr. and Mrs. Rangvald Olson and family of Newfolden visited at the Nils Ness home Sunday.

While driving home from town on Saturday evening, Ole Dangerud and his neighbor, Mr. Tanberg, drove into the deep ditch on the ridge in front of the Walter Wegge home. Several fellows from the village went out there to assist Herman Severts in pulling their pickup out of the ditch. No one was hurt and no damage was done.

A small army of local sportsmen had a high old time on Sunday when they all ganged up to go fox hunting. After a lot of chasing the fox hound got one of the wiry little fellows out on the running stretch and the bombardment began. It was not determined who fired the killing shot but a nice fox was brought home.

Some time ago several local sportsmen got together and bought a nice young fox hound from a kennel in Wisconsin. Since then they have had a lot of nice hunts, most of which have been in getting the dog used to hunting in this kind of country. There is more fox around here this year than ever have been seen before.

Some of the local boys are going to Fort Snelling this week to have their pre-induction examination for the army.

REMAKING THE HOME

By JANNETT ALLEN

An extra room or guest room is waiting for you in your own home: in that unfinished attic of yours.

All very well, you say, to have that extra space, but can you afford it? Oddly enough, you not only can afford it, but actually can save money by doing it in the proper way.

There is no mystery about the process. If your attic is properly refinished with a board that insulates as it builds, you will save about 50 per cent of the heat loss through your roof. Too many houses apparently are trying to heat the great outdoors by allowing their heat to leak out. The roof area of the house is the main culprit in this respect.

By turning the attic into a finished room with insulation board walls, you thus obtain an extra room which will pay its own way and provide an annual dividend in fuel economy. The heat leakage which, with cold weather, takes big bites out of the family purse, will be reduced.

The extra room which will so cleverly add living space and cut fuel bills may take many forms, according to the needs and tastes of the family. I know one that was turned into a game room, another into a children's library, a third into a photography dark room.

The simpler the wall finish of the extra room, the better. Large sheets of cane fiber board lend themselves especially well to the attic finishing job, since they cover a lot of surface with little carpentry. Left in the natural tannish color the walls will make pleasing background for any sort of furnishings. If color is desired, paint may be used. Calcimines and water paints should be applied directly to unsized cane fiber board though calcimine may be applied to the board over a varnish size to facilitate removal by washing. It should be sized before oil or varnish paints are applied.

Following is the schedule for Holt. The test will be given at the Holt School on March 16 at 1 o'clock p. m. for the following School Districts: 35-20-159-59-58-61-68-30. The reading of the test will be on March 18 and the X-Ray on March 21.

War Crop Production

In an effort to insure production of vital war crops, the 20 per cent conserving acerage requirement of the Agricultural Adjustment program in the north central region, including Minnesota, has been adjusted, according to a recent announcement from Charles W. Stickney, Minnesota AAA Chairman.

In explaining the adjustment Charles N. Kranz, Marshall county AAA chairman points out that regulations require a farmer to have 20 per cent of his cropland in conserving crops in order to receive maximum benefits. Up to this time only old seedings of grasses and legumes and new seedings alone qualified for the 20 per cent requirement.

Under the revised plan, new seedings of perennial grasses and legumes or biennial legumes, seeded in accordance with good farming practices with flax or small grains as a nurse crop may qualify as part of the required 20 per cent of crop land in conserving acreage.

The maximum acreage which may quaify under this item will be limited however, to 40 per cent of the total 1942 acreage of the war crops on the farm.

Included in the list of war crops which will qualify for the 40 percent are soybeans for beans flax, hemp, sugar beets, dry field peas, dry beans, canning peas, and canning tomatoes.

"The adjustment will aid considerably in bringing about the needed increase of these products, which have become grim necessities since our entry into the war." Mr. Kranz said.

This Week For Victory

Save that anti-freeze when you drain your car radiator this spring.

That's advice from the War Production Board because there may be none of it available next winter, or at best, a limited amount.

Chemicals used in anti-freeze are needed for explosives and for Army and Navy tank and airplane operations. Car owners, the WPB said, can help the war effort, protect their cars and help their pocketbooks by draining and saving anti-freeze this spring.

There will be no more deliveries of 12-guage shot guns to civilians.

Manufacturers were ordered today by the War Production Board to limit all deliveries of this familiar duck pass and cornfield weapon to officers of federal state and local governments and to governments of Lend-Lease countries for official use only.

Purpose of the order is to make the guns available for protection of war plants or other local guard duties. Another provision of the order prohibits manufacturers from using machinery for 12-guage guns for turning out shot guns of other guages. No order was issued relative to 12 guage shells.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Sanoden and son Russel, Misses Lois Hanson and Marguerite Lee and Rev. Hanson attended a Dramatic Contest at Newfolden on Wednesday evening of last week. Russel was one of the participants in the Original Oratorical Division and was rated first place in that group. He will compete in Karlstad on March 1[illegible].

Farmers May See Land Boom

Farmers may face another land boom during World War II, says A. A. Dowell, University Farm economist, who points to increased foreign and domestic demand for farm products as one of the factors leading to higher land values. The present low level of land values and farm mortgage interest rates and the favorable price relationships are other factors which appear to favor an upward trend.

On the other hand, says Dowell, there are several factor that suggest a land boom may be avoided or at least kept from repeating World War I experience. Many people now on farms still recall the disastrous results of the last boom when Minnesota farm land values more than doubled between 1914 and 1920. They may help to keep land prices from reaching the dizzy heights of the previous boom, Dowell says.

Other factors which may help to avoid another boom hinge on the possibility of drawing off surplus farm income through higher taxes and purchase of defense bonds. Dowell cited the possibility of withdrawing or reducing government subsidies to agriculture during the war as another factor in curbing inflation in land values.

Whether war time prices for farm products will cause farmers and others to bid up the price of land will depend upon the length of the war and the measures taken to draw off surplus farm earnings. Dowell pointed out that the attitude of buyers and sellers of farm properties will play an important part in determining whether land values will follow the World War I pattern.

Use of surplus farm earnings to pay existing debts and to set aside reserves were urged by Dowell to serve as a cushion in the post-war period. Increased farm income might be used to improve farm living standards rather than of a means of acquiring additional debts.

Nybakken Is In New York

From the Concordian, the school paper of Concordia College, Moorhead, we note this item: "Ernest O. Nybakken who for the past several years has been a principal in the schools at Iowa City, Iowa, is now working for a Doctor of Education degree at Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City." Mr. Nybakken will be remembered as a former Superintendent in the local school system. He has been granted a leave of absence from his Iowa City position.

Rev. T. C. L. Hanson spent Tuesday in Moorhead in the interests of Concordia College. He was accompanied by Rev. C. B. Nervig of Roseau.

Melvin Leiran, who has been ill the past weeks, was taken to the Veterans hospital at Fargo on Friday. John Gilchrist and Sam Lorentson took him there.

Annual Town Meeting

The Annual Town Meeting of Town of Holt will be held at the School House Dist. 61. (Pioneer School) on Tuesday March 10th, 1942 between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 5 P. M.

T. B. Folden, Town Clerk.

The Weather

The month of February was a very nice month with the exception of a few days that we had a little blustery weather. March came in like a little lamb so we can expect it to go out roaring say the old timers.

But regardless of how nice the recent weather has been there has been none to compare with the fine January weather we had. It broke all records for over a quarter century. Here are some of the things that were done in this warm January: Tulips bloomed in the Twin Cities Farmers in the west end of Marshall County who were unable to take their crops off the fields last fall due to the wet conditions combined several thousand acres of wheat and the grain was of good quality; Mrs. Johnnie Nelson had pansies blooming in her garden; Chicks hatched in the straw pile on one central Minnesota farm; It took very little fuel to keep the homes warm, thats a hot one; All auto factories shut down the manufacturing of automobiles and went into defense work; The County Printing was bid in for what the Scotchman calls a song and the taxpayers get no service on the publicity of what the county is doing this year - - like financial statement and delinquent tax list; The United States went all out to win the war.

Rats Bring $1,500,000

Minnesota muskrat trappers took more than a million "rats" during last December's 21-day season, with net returns of more than $1,500,000.

This was reported by Paul R. Highby, Pittman-Robertson biologist in the Department of Conservation, on the basis of priliminary reports from the trappers.

The harvest of more than 1,000,000 muskrats in the first December season in many years compares with a total of 850,000 taken in the spring of 1940, the last time the entire state was open to trapping. Thus last fall's season produced 150,000 more muskrats, even though nine counties were closed and eight other were open for only eight days.

Reports from the trappers indicated their sucess per trap per day was 10 per cent higher during December than in the 1941 spring season.

With a good brood stock wintering now, and a normal increase during the summer, prospects will be good for a statewide open season next fall, Highby said. Because of the increased catch in last fall's season, the research bureau of the Division of Game and Fish is recommeding that there shall not be an open season this spring.

It is difficult to predict the effect on the muskrat population of the spring trapping, because of the varying weather conditions. Such information, however, is vital to intelligent management, and the season in the fall, when conditions can be anticipated with fair accuracy from year to year, gives promise of better control.

Permanents $2.50 -- $10.00. Special rates to family groups until March 21st. Your patronage appreciated. Phone 17, Alice Ohlquist, Beauty Shop, Newfolden, Minnesota.

Rural Forum Of The Air

The Rural Forum of the Air Tuesday night will bring to the people of this county a discussion of war questions that are very close to us these days, says County Agent R. A. Reierson. These broadcasts are being sponsored by the Apricultural Extedsion Service and Rural Youth groups of the state in co-operation with WCCO. The topic for Tuesday, March 10, at 8:30 to 9:00 p. m., is "Our Part in This War". The panel discussion will be led by C. H. Bailey, dean and director of the University Department of Agriculture; Paul E. Miller, state extension director; Dr. Wm. A. O'Brien, radio health commentator and university professor of medecine and Ruby Christenson, state Rural Youth agent.

The discussion Tuesday will treat subjects such as what farm people can do in the production of food and fiber for war supplies, the relation of personal and family health to the present crisis, and the need for both united action and community understanding and tollerance.

Evangelist Julius Lee will speak at the Evengelical Free Church, Thief River Falls from Tnesday March 10th to Snnday the 15th. Every evening except Saturday. Scandinavian service on Saturday at 2:30.

By RICHARD HILL WILQINSON

DELLA KEITH pursed her lips in indecision. It was Saturday and on Saturdays Gordon Black, whom she had known for years, and who was her next door neighbor, displayed considerable annoyance when anyone had the indecency to disturb him from indulging his hobby, which was taking apart and putting together broken-down automobiles.

Still, this was important.

"Hello," she said, stepping through the gate and standing near Gordon's legs. The legs wriggled. Six feet and two inches of male youth emerged from beneath the car. A grease-besmeared and annoyed countenance stared at Della.

"Lo, Del," said the youth, and waited.

"Got something to talk over with you," Della said. "It's about us. Father wants us to get married."

Gordon grunted. "Mine does too," he said unhappily.

"You got it too, eh? Well, what are you going to do, let your father tell you whom you're going to marry?"

"Not by a jugful, I'm not!" The youth sat upright. "What does he think I am? Telling me whom I'm to marry!"

"I thought you'd feel that way about it. I don't like the idea, either. Father said a lot of things about family friendship, and how he agreed with your father when we were kids to marry us off when we'd grown."

Gordon's eyes blazed. "Well, he's a little late for that stuff! You can't get away with it in these modern times. I'm going to pick my own wife. Just because we've seen a lot of each other since we got out of college is no sign we're in love."

"And now," said Della, "now that we've won, Gordon, I suppose it's all right to tell?"

"Of course not. Fact is, I was lonesome and you were the only man available."

"Same here. They've certainly got a nerve. Dad said he'd give me a week to decide. That's a laugh!" The youth's head disappeared beneath the car again. "See you tonight," he called. "Dance at the country club."

Della nodded indifferently and went back through the gate. A week later she and Gordon confronted their parents in the library of the Black home. The conference had been called for eight sharp. It was now 8:45.

The elder Keith looked up and glowered as they entered. The elder Black silently indicated chairs.

"You young folks," began the latter, "probably can surmise why we asked you to come here." He paused. Della and Gordon stared innocently.

"Both of you," the elder Black went on, "have reached the marriageable age. And as you probably know, it has long been the wish of Mr. Keith and myself that his daughter and my son should one day be joined in matrimony. Nothing would give us more pleasure than thus to have the families united. We have watched you closely. We find that you are happy in each other's company. You are congenial, helpful, kind. In short, we are convinced we are making no mistake in demanding—requesting—that our wishes be fulfilled."

The elder Black took a long breath and sat down. The elder Keith nodded in silent approval and stared at the victims. "Well, what have you to say, Gordon?"

Gordon crossed and uncrossed his legs, glanced at Della, winked and regarded his father ludicrously. "I say, father, that you two old cod—er—gentlemen are acting quite ridiculous."

The elder Black glowered. "Take care, young man! This is a serious business."

"Serious for you, perhaps, but decidedly absurd to me. Father or no father, no one is going to tell me who I'm to marry."

"And you, Della?"

"Absolutely preposterous! It's silly and—old-fashioned. Why you'd think we were living in China or somewhere!"

"Then neither of you will respect our wishes?"

"Your commands. Your wishes don't enter into it."

The elder Black stood up and impressively removed his spectacles. "Children, you have no idea what this means to Mr. Keith and myself. It has been our dream for more than 20 years. And, I warn you, we'll do everything in our power to bring the union about. We believe we're within our rights. I ask you again to reconsider."

"I'm sorry, Father, but I feel that such things should be left entirely to Della and me, without outside interference."

"In that case, son, the firm of Black & Son, attorneys, is no longer in existence. You are discharged, ousted! You will also be cut from my will!"

Gordon grinned. "Cut away. You have the final say-so there."

"And you, Della," said Mr. Keith severely, "will receive similar treatment. Of course, for the time being you may remain in our home. But you need expect no inheritance from me; your weekly allowance will also be discontinued."

Della stood up and her face was grave. "Very well, Father. My answer is the same as Gordon's. I'll not submit to any such tyranny!"

She turned and started toward the door, Gordon close to her heels. They were part way out when Mr. Black spoke.

"Gordon!" The youth turned and waited. "Come back in here. Both of you. This thing has gone far enough. Mr. Keith and I thought—hoped you two would fall in love. We wanted you to. And we got tired of waiting. We tried to force you into this thing—by threats. I can see now we were wrong. After all, every one must choose for himself in such matters."

Gordon came across the room quickly and placed his arm about his father's shoulder. "I'm sorry, Dad. I didn't mean to hurt your feelings—but, well, I'm glad you see it our way."

Near by Della was clinging to the neck of old Mr. Keith. The old men looked at each other and grinned sheepishly. The two young people looked at each other and smiled happily.

"And now," said Della, "now that we've won, Gordon, I suppose it's all right to tell?"

Gordon nodded. "Of course. No good to keep it a secret."

Mr. Black and Mr. Keith looked puzzled. And Della said happily, "It isn't that Gordon and I don't love each other. We do, very much. It's simply that we're like our old dads — stubborn and independent. Nobody was going to tell us what to do. Not even our pops. And so when we first got wind of this thing last week and were told about this proposed conference tonight, we just slipped away and got married that very day, without anyone telling us we could or couldn't."

Four-Eyed Fish Look Above, Below Same Time

Fish do not have eyelids, and for a simple reason—they live in the water and the water keeps their eyes moist.

Most kinds of land animals have eyelids. The main purpose of the lids is to guard the eyes from dust, or anything else which may come into them. One way the eyes are guarded is by blinking the lids; this spreads a bit of moisture over the surface. You and I blink our eyes more than we might think, unless we stop to take note of it.

Ordinary fish go into the air so seldom that they do not need lids to guard their eyes. Even the four-eyed fish has water close by; it dips its head often enough to clear the eyes which are kept in the open air.

Four-eyed fish? Yes, that's what they are called.

Four-eyed fish are from six to eight inches long. They live chiefly in salt water, but sometimes go into rivers. One place where they are found is Surinam, or Dutch Guiana, the home of the Surniam toad and other strange forms of life.

In markets of Brazil, four-eyed fish are sold to housewives who take them home to cook. It may be that most of those housewives give little thought to the amazing kind of fish they buy. No other kind in the world has four eyes.

From one point of view, we might say this fish has only one pair of eyes, with each one "double." Yet a band of color cuts through on each side, and gives the eye the work of two. One looks downward, the other upward.

So the eyes on each side are separate, and the name of "four-eyed fish" can hardly be called a mistake. We may wonder why, in this special case, Nature made the eyes that way.

The answer is to be found in a certain fact: The fish has the habit of swimming and floating at the surface of the water. It needs to be able to look up and down at the same time.

To see insects above the water, it needs eyes which look upward. These insects supply much of its food.

There are little "bugs" and other game to be obtained just under the surface of the water, and to see these the fish needs down-looking eyes.

Your Yank

IF YOU want a composite picture of "Your Yank," i.e. the average young man starting service in the United States army to defend his flag and his country, here it is, according to a recent compilation of official figures by the war department:

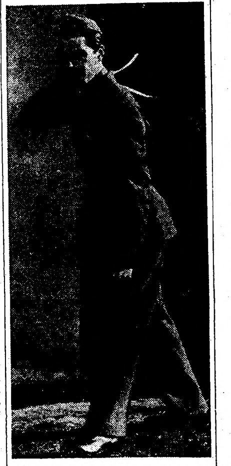
Your Yank is five feet, eight inches tall, weighs 144 pounds, has a chest measurement of 33½ inches, wears a 9½-D shoe and a size 7 hat.

After a few months in the army, however, the recruit has gained in weight on army food, wears shoes one-half size larger and has an expanded chest measurement. This is indicated by tests of average recruits, although complete examination comparable to that given upon the individual's entrance into the service is not routine.

To keep this average soldier in fighting trim for the first year, the Quartermaster corps spends $404.65, of which $175.20 is for his food; $162.05 for clothing; $15.79 for individual equipment; and $51.61 for barracks equipment. Weapons, ammunition, pay and other expenses incurred during his training are not included in these estimates.

The army spends about 48 cents a day, or $175.20 a year, to feed him.

The American soldier eats at the finest army mess in the world. On a weekly basis his garrison, or peacetime ration consists of the following average quantities of basic foods: 4 pounds, 6 ounces of fresh beef; 14 ounces of chicken; 1 pound, 12 ounces of fresh pork; 7 eggs; 9 pounds, 3 ounces of fresh and canned vegetables; a little over 1 pound of cereals and dry vegetables; about 2 pounds of fresh and canned fruits; 14 ounces of coffee; 4 pounds, 6 ounces of potatoes; and 4 pounds of fresh and evaporated milk.



To Private John E. Lawton, 21-year-old lad from Everett, Mass., fell the distinction on November 19, 1940, of being the first in the nation to be accepted in the army under the Selective Service law. He is pictured above in full army uniform and carrying away his duffle bag at Fort Devens, Mass.

Clothing needed to outfit the enlisted man when he begins duty costs the government $107.89. Maintenance cost of clothing for a year is $54.16, making a total clothing cost for his year in the army of $162.05.

Clothing issued to the soldier includes 8 pairs of shorts (either cotton or woolen), 8 undershirts (usually cotton, but 2 may be woolen), 9 pairs of socks, 3 pairs of shoes—2 pairs high brown service and 1 pair low dress oxfords; 6 pairs of trousers—4 cotton khaki and 2 woolen; 6 shirts—4 khaki and 2 flannel, woolen, or O.D., 1 woolen overcoat; 1 cotton field jacket with woolen lining; 3 herringbone cotton twill jackets (to soldiers not issued one-piece work suits), 3 pairs of herringbone twill trousers to go with jackets; 2 pairs of canvas leggings (when not issued boots), 4 neckties—2 black woolen and 2 cotton khaki, 1 herringbone twill hat to go with suit of similar material 2 caps—1 woolen, 1 cotton khaki (except in tropics), 1 woolen or serge coat, 1 cotton khaki web waist belt, 1 pair of woolen, O.D. gloves; 6 white cotton handkerchiefs, and 1 steel helmet.

When he enters the service the enlisted man receives 1 toilet set containing shaving brush, tooth brush, comb, safety razor with 5 blades; 1 pair of suspenders; 2 identification discs with 1 yard of tape, 2 hand towels 1 bath towel, 2 barrack bags, 1 canvas field bag; 1 cartridge belt (if armed with rifle); 1 pistol belt (if armed with pistol); 1 mess kit; 1 canteen and cover, 1 pack carrier, 1 cup; 1 fork; 1 spoon; 1 knife, 1 haversack (if not issued field bag), 1 web pocket (if armed with pistol); 1 first aid pouch; 1 strap for carrying field bag.

Household Hints

Salt meat requires longer boiling than fresh. Put it into cold water, quickly bring it to a boil, then let it simmer.

* * *

Always keep perfume in a dark place. Daylight will affect every odor differently, according to its formula. In extreme cases perfume turns bright red as soon as it has been exposed to the sun.

* * *

Leftover stock from cooked vegetables contains valuable minerals and vitamins. Save it to use in soups, stews, and sauces.

* * *

To bring out the full flavor of raisins, dates, currants or figs, soak them in a little boiling water for five minutes. Two tablespoons of boiling water for each half cup of fruit will be satisfactory.

* * *

A tablespoon of granulated sugar mixed with the fat or meat drippings of a pot roast gives the roast a brown color and adds flavor to the stock and gravy.

* * *

Keep your furnace, flues and chimney clean. Dirt and soot cut down furnace efficiency. Cleaning once a year should be enough, but if you burn a high-soot coal, your furnace may need cleaning twice a season.

* * *

When using a double boiler, the food will cook more quickly if the water in the outer vessel is salted in the proportion of a fourth of a cup of salt to one quart of water.

* * *

Dampness often comes up through cracks in cement floors. To stop the cracks, chisel them to between a quarter and one-half inch wide, then fill them with hot tar. Specially prepared commercial cement can also be used.

Swore in 9 Presidents

Roger Brooke Taney, chief justice of the United States Supreme court from 1836 to 1864, administered the oath of office to more Presidents than any other man, says Collier's. He swore in Martin Van Buren, William Henry Harrison, John Tyler, James K. Polk, Zachary Taylor, Millard Fillmore, Franklin Pierce, James Buchanan and Abraham Lincoln.

HIGH PRICES Do Not Go WITH ADVERTISING

Advertising and high prices do not go together at all. They are extremely incompatible to each other. It is only the product which is unadvertised, which has no established market, that costs more than you can afford to pay.

Whenever you go into a store and buy an item of advertised merchandise, it doesn't make any difference what, you are getting more for your money—more in quality and service—than you would get if you spent the same amount for something which was not advertised.

Sailor Discovers That Appearances Deceive

The naval recruit was getting on very well with the blue-eyed and sweetly fragile damsel at the dance. Naturally he suggested having a bite to eat. She readily accepted, and they strolled into the dining room.

Presently, the sailor noticed that one waiter was staring at his partner rather too intently. At last he tackled the man.

"Don't you know it's very rude to stare at ladies?" he snapped.

"Sorry, sir," was the meek reply, "but it ain't rudeness—it's admiration, sir. This is the sixth time she's been down to supper tonight!"

Sharpening the Eyes of the Army and Navy With Lenses

Listen, my children, and you shall hear of a little cog in this great defense program machinery of ours that plays an unspectacular, but vital, role in the whole defense setup. It is the manufacture of optical instruments for our armed forces. It was thought that the U. S. would be up against it when the supply of German optical glass was cut off, but American glass manufacturers came through with a product every bit as good. The optical division at Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia, where some of these photos were taken, now has a staff of 200 persons.

DOESN'T this picture of our two attractive aprons inspire you to start a sewing bee at once? Both are so pleasing in style and so easy to make! And either of them will add decided charm to your home attire.

One pattern, No. 1538-B gives complete directions, for making both styles. You'll like the pinafore for day-long duty. Slip it on over your head, tie it in back—and there it is, firmly adjusted, neatly in place no matter how active you may be. The wide gracefully shaped belt actually slims your figure at the waistline. The full skirt is generously cut to give your dress complete protection.

You'll certainly want several versions of the smaller apron! They can be so decorative in bright checked ginghams, striped chambrays and plain broadcloth.

Belled the Amazons

The most ferocious female warriors in history were the 5,000 Amazons who formed a part of the army of Behanzin, the Negro king of Dahomey, West Africa, in the 1880s, says Collier's. Eventually, they grew to be so tough and quarrelsome that the king had to make them wear bells so that civilians would be warned of their approach.

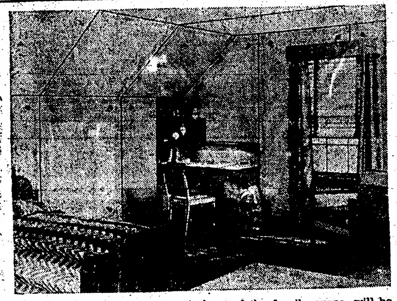
REMAKING THE HOME

By JANNETT ALLEN



An extra room or guest room is waiting for you in your own home: in that unfinished attic of yours.

All very well, you say, to have that extra space, but can you afford it? Oddly enough, you not only can afford it, but actually can save money by doing it in the proper way.

There is no mystery about the process. If your attic is properly refinished with a board that insulates as it builds, you will save about 50 per cent of the heat loss through your roof. Too many houses apparently are trying to heat the great outdoors by allowing their heat to leak out. The roof area of the house is the main culprit in this respect.

By turning the attic into a finished room with insulation board walls, you thus obtain an extra room which will pay its own way and provide an annual dividend in fuel economy. The heat leakage which, with cold weather, takes big bites out of the family purse, will be reduced.

The extra room which will so cleverly add living space and cut fuel bills may take many forms, according to the needs and tastes of the family. I know one that was turned into a game room, another into a children's library, a third into a photography dark room.

The simpler the wall finish of the extra room, the better. Large sheets of cane fiber board lend themselves especially well to the attic finishing job, since they cover a lot of surface with little carpentry. Left in the natural tannish color the walls will make pleasing background for any sort of furnishings. If color is desired, paint may be used. Calcimines and water paints should be applied directly to unsized cane fiber board though calcimine may be applied to the board over a varnish size to facilitate removal by washing. It should be sized before oil or varnish paints are applied.

Notice Of Annual Meeting

To the Stockholders of the FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY ASSOCIATION.

Notice is hereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association of Holt, Minnesota, will be held at the Village Hall in Holt, Minnesota, on Thursday, the 19th day of March, 1942, at One o'clock P. M., for the purpose of electing 3 members of the Board of Directors, hearing reports, and transacting such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

The directors whose terms expire are Elling Waagedahl, Howard Inman and J. P. Augustine.

And to consider and act upon the resolution adopted by the board of directors at a meeting held February 16th, 1942 which reads as follows:

RESOVED, that failure to fully comply with certain legal requirements, the action taken in 1926 was not valid and therefore invalidated the action taken in 1941 to amend certain Articles of Incorporation, it is now deemed necessary to ratify these two previous actions pursuant to law:

Therefore Be It Resolved, that the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association, of Holt, Minnesota, hereby elects to be brought under and be bound by the provisions of Chapter 326, Laws of Minnesota for 1923, and amendments thereto and that the Articles of Incorporation be amended to conform thereto as follows:

THAT ARTICLE I BE AMENDED TO READ:

"Section 1. The name of this association shall be the FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY COMPANY OF HOLT.

Farmers Must Produce More

With the United States engaged in total war, it is necessary for us to use every effort available to preserve our democracy and way of living.

We must adapt ourselves rapidly and efficiently to meet the every changing conditions. This means we must do something about the scrap iron situation and all out food production goals set by Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture.

To determine what progress has been made to reach these goals and to gather information relative to the sale of useless scrap iron. Meetings have been scheduled throughout the county commencing this week, according to Chas. N. Kranz, Charman of the Marshall Crunty AAA and the U. S. D. A. War Board. A notice of the meetings has been sent to each cooperator.

Shortage of vital metals are rising daily and farmers having irom should by all means attend the meeting scheduled for his township, so that a complete survey may be made of the available scrap iron accumalated on our farms.

According to the OPM there is enough scrap metal on farms which if used, together with other metals could make more than twice as many battleships as there are in the entire world today and with this scrap iron on our farms we don't want it to be said Marshall County farmers aren't doing their part toward winning the war.

Coupled with the scrap iron and food production survey, new amendments to the AAA program will be explained. Due to changing war conditions it has become necessary that our Secretary amend certain programs for the support of war crops and potato production, and special emphasis has been placed on oil bearing crops, with step-ups all along the way except for wheat, cotton and tobacco.

Some of the goals will be difficult to reach, Mr. Kranz said, but if each farmer thoroughly understands the program, with its new amendments, we believe it can be done despite shortages of labor and possible machinery.

It has now been definitely established that a wheat marketing quota referendum will be held May 2, 1942, to determide whether or not wheat growers want a continuance of the marketing provision of the AAA.

The provision, voted favorably last year, has resulted in near parity wheat prices, despite a record supply of wheat and all-time low prices in other wheat producing countries.

If the marketing quota provision is defeated, so is the wheat loan program. Last spring 87 per cent of the Minnesota farmers voted in favor of the quota and 87 per cent of the voters can't be wrong, said Mr. Kranz.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hanson of Warren spent Sunday afternoon at the H. O. Hanson home. They arrived there a week ago from Portland, Oregon, where they have lived the past year. They are now visiting with Mrs. Hanson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Andeen.

Mrs. C. Hagglund and son Irvin who have made their home in Thief River Falls the past winter have now moved here to the old Oscar Hanson farm that Oscar Hagglund purchased a year ago.

Opportunity To Plant Trees

This year, Marshall county farmers are offered an opportunity to have their young windbreak trees planted and thus get a grove started in spite of the labor shortade, announced County Agent R. A. Reierson.

Nurserymen in the county have agreed to plant broad-leaf trees such as elm, oak, cottonwood, and Russian olive at the rate of 400 trees per acre for a price of $12. For this purpose, seeding trees from 12 to 13 inches high will be nsed and the price per acre includes the cost of the trees as well as the labor of actual planting.

The trees will be planted so there will be a two-row snowcatch and four rows in the main windbreak with a 50 foot space between the two parts for a snow trap. The rows will be planted 12 feet apart in order that the trees may be cultivated with large tractor-drawn implements. For one acre of trees in such an arrangement, a plot of ground 114 feet wide and 390 feet long is needed.

Farmers taking advantage of this offer must prepare the soil thoroughly before the trees are planted and cultivate the trees after they have been set out.

This is an unusual opportunity to start a farmstead windbreak at a very low cost, since a $7.50 per acre AAA payment can be earned by planting trees.

Mr. Reierson urges that anyone interested should see him very soon in order that final arrangements can be made with the nurserymen before the planting season starts.

Sheep Killed By Dogs

During the heavy snow storm on Thursday of last week, some sheep killing dogs invaded the sheep yard at the Ralph Ness farm and chased the sheep out in the open pasture where they killed several sheep and tore up and wounded about nine head.

Owners of dogs should be very careful to know at all times the whereabouts of their dog. If a dog is caught chasing sheep or trailed as the killer, the owner of the dog is liable for damages.

The loss to Mr. Ness is not all in the sheep killed as the wounded ones may lose their lambs and then it is never good for the flock of lamb heavy ewes to be chased and strained so hard so close up to lambing time.

Watch your dogs closely.

Holt Township Election

The township elections held on Tuesday were rather quiet due to the snow storm. The following men were reelected at the Holt Township election: Willie Larson, supervisor for three years and T. B. Folden clerk for years.

The officers holding over are: E. O. Waagedahl and Ludvig F. Larson, supervisors and Carl Johnson, treasurer.

Mr. Folden has held the job as town clerk for a good many years, being first elected to that office in 1912 and has held it ever since. Before that he was town treasurer from 1907 to 1912. So for this makes 36 years that Mr. Folden has given his services as a public official in this community and it is a record which not very many can beat.

Phyllis Green of Newfolden spent Monday night with Lois Hanson.

Flax May Go To $3.00

There is no ceiling on flax prices at the present time and officials say that $3.00 per bushel is not unpredictable if the oil situation becomes much more acute in the United States.

Every effort is being made by the Department of Agriculture to raise oil bearing seed acreages to levels more in line with the war needs of the country.

Secretary Wickard has made personal appeals to producers for their cooperation in attaining the goals set by the Department and relaxation of soil conservation rulings has been made to allow 40 per cent of the planted acreage to be put into "war crops."

According to triple A officials in Minnesota, and in other northwest states, wheat allotments can be planted to war crops, such as flaxseed, without impairing the future allotment of a grower.

A very attractive situation now exists with a possibility of flaxseed moving to high levels enjoyed in 1929 when prices reached the $3.00 mark. Officials pointed out that such a price on the basis of yields in the northwest states such as Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin, would bring the cash return from an acre of flaxseed to $75.00.

Agronomists and leading seeds men say that there is plenty of good flaxseed available in the northwest area and that this seed, planted early and under the right conditions, will produce a patriotic as well as money producing crop.

The Department of Agriculture's goal at 4,000,000 acres could very well be expanded to 5,500,000 as far as the consumption needs of the country are concerned. The mere fact that acres have been planted does not mean, however, that bushels will be produced,

Contrast the yields in western areas at 4 bushels per acre with those of eastern sections of 12 to 13 bushels. According to government figures these averages do not truly represent the production of flaxseed planted under the proper conditions, in areas for instance, where yields run as high as 25-28 bushels per acre.

New Highway To Alaska

The Alaska highway project has been approved by Canada and the United States as a defense measure, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King told parliament on Friday.

King said the war committee of his cabinet approved the road in hurried session.

The United States will construct the highway, which, the prime minister said, will be "based on purely military consideration."

American engineers are now in northwest Canada making preliminary surveys of this new route to run from Chicago up to Fairbanks, Alaska.

Mrs. Wm. Holst underwent a major operation at St. Lukes hospital at Thief River Falls on Wednesday last week.

Mrs. Walmer Risberg and Mrs. P. A. Risberg of International Falls are visiting relatives here.

The Weather

Last week we really bragged of the fine weather we had had so far and were quite sure that we were going to continue with the same good luck in March as we had in January and February. To the contrary, as the weatherman read our item during the night, last Thursday he opened up and let us know what a real snowfall was like. Friday it came down in large chunks. Saturday Sunday and Monday were nice and on Tueseay it started right up again at noon and by night we dad a real snow storm that tied up everything. So far most roads are still blocked.

No school was held here on Wednesday due to blocked roads.

Luther Clifford, the infant son of Rev. and Mrs. T. C. L. Hanson was baptised at the morning services in the Nazareth Lutheran church on Sunday. He was born on Feb. 17th and his sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fosholm, Miss Geraldine Larson and Mr. Marlan Augustine. In the evening, the officiating parties and Miss Doris Larson were entertained at the parsonage at a six o'clock dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson spent Saturday at Gatzke where they attended the funeral of A. P. Nelson, pioneer merchant and farmer of that community.

A Negro called upon an old friend, who received him in a rocking-chair. The visitor noticed not only that his host did not rise, but that he continued to rock himself to and fro in a curious way.

"Yo' ain't ill, is you, Joe?" he asked, anxiously.

"No, I ain't ill, Mose."

There was a moment's silence during which the caller gazed wide-eyed at the rocking figure.

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of worldwide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

Wavell Is Removed as Commander In New Southwest Pacific Shakeup; Pincers Movement of Russian Army Closing on 96,000 German Troops

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BAD NEWS:

From Pacific

The warnings given the American and British public by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill that more reverses could be expected in the South Pacific were borne out when the Japanese, in the face of determined naval opposition, made three simultaneous landings on Java.

There were signs, immediately, that the fall of this island of 40,000,000 people was expected, though the shore garrisons were apparently ready to put up a determined fight.

Admiral Helfrich's combined Dutch, American, British and Australian squadrons had sailed out to meet the invaders, and first reports were that, though terrifically outnumbered, the defending vessels had forced the invaders to scatter.

Later news, however, showed that the Japs had managed to evade the ring of steel about the island, and had landed on the east, in the west and on the north central front of the island.

The attack was costly to the Japanese, as they lost a large cruiser and three destroyers. But they got ashore, and in force, the landing on the central portion being described in Batavia dispatches as "extensive."

The disturbing news was accompanied by word that the American consulate in Batavia was destroying its files, preparatory to leaving, and that newspaper correspondents and other American civilians had been told to leave.

Removal of Sir Archibald P. Wavell, the British general, as commander-in-chief of the United Nations' fighting forces in the southwest Pacific paved the way to full Dutch command of land, sea and air forces in the Netherlands East Indies. Wavell has resumed his appointment as commander-in-chief of India, which includes responsibility for operations in Burma and close co-operation with China.

It was understood that the British were giving similar advice to their nationals. How these non-combatants were to get away was the question: They had had a hard enough time getting away from Singapore.

That the Japanese would not conquer Java easily was a foregone conclusion, but the very populous character of the island was going to make it hard for the defenders. Once more they were largely numbered, as in Malaya, among the non-combatants.

COURT-MARTIAL:

For Kimmel, Short

The Roberts report on the disaster at Pearl Harbor was finally to emerge as a court-martial for Admiral Kimmel and General Short, the two officers on whose shoulders the Roberts committee squarely placed the blame.

Both officers asked retirement. This was granted, but in the granting they were informed that this retirement was subject to no "wiping out" of any sins they had committed while on active duty.

That the officers would be tried by military and naval authorities was simultaneously but separately announced by Secretaries Stimson and Knox.

General Short Admiral Kimmel

Subject to whatever verdicts the courts may return, both officers, under the retirement, would receive $6,000 life salaries, 75 per cent of their base pay of $8,000.

The army and navy authorities were silent when asked by newsmen whether Admiral Kimmel and General Short had requested that they be tried.

There was to be no hurry about the trials, both secretaries stating that the trials will not be held "until the public interest and safety will permit."

U. S. JAPS:

Who Wants Them?

As the spy-chasers redoubled their efforts to round up fifth columnists and active espionage agents, and were arresting hundreds weekly, the problem of what to do with California's 93,000 Japs, 33,000 of them aliens, was vexing.

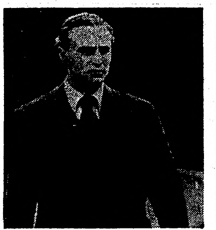
Midwestern states didn't want them. Some western states also objected.

Utah invited the federal government to send 3,000 of them there

PINCERS:

British Variety

Something brand new in warfare had been developed by the British who went across the channel, knocked out an important German radio location post 12 miles from LeHavre, France, got back to Britain again with only two men slightly wounded, inflicted "heavy casualties" on the enemy and accomplished fully their objective.



SIR ARCHIBALD SINCLAIR
"Perfect timing, courage, surprise."

It was a pincers movement, British style. It was a combination of parachute troops and commandos. The commandos rode across the channel on naval vessels, blacked their faces, loaded their arms into small shallow-draft boats, and rushed ashore.

At the same time the paratroops, their faces also blacked, were shooting across the channel in big bombers. In squads of seven they shot earthward, their supplies, ammunition and weapons parachuting at the same instant from the bomb-racks.

The station's equipment was smashed, prisoners were taken, and the two groups now one, dashed again to the beaches. There they met determined opposition. There was a sharp fight, the Nazis suffered heavy casualties and more prisoners were taken.

Just as the boats shoved off into the blackness, headlights of heavy German motorized reinforcements were seen dashing to the spot, too late.

Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair said this type of offensive against occupied countries would be used again and again. Necessary ingredients were light winds, good visibility, and moonlight. Not to mention perfect timing, courage, and surprise.

RUSSIANS:

Close Trap

The indomitable Red army, pursuing its constant offensive against the retiring Germans, was closing its trap in which it claimed a German army of 96,000 men were hopelessly surrounded.

The spot was the Staraya Russa sector, which had been converted into an important base by the Germans.

Repeated Russian demands for surrender had been ignored by the Nazis, who were being methodically wiped out, in a series of smaller actions within the circle.

One of the latest German moves to attempt to break through was heralded, the Russians said, by the sending into the territory of huge supply and troop transport planes.

Thirty-eight such craft were destroyed in one day, the Reds asserted, 15 in air combats with Stormovik fighters, and 20 on the ground.

The Russians also said that after the transports landed and were destroyed, some of the occupants were taken prisoner. They said they were new troops which had been in training for the spring offensive.

MISCELLANY:

Tokyo: The newspaper Nichi Nichi warned that the U. S. is about to attack Japan from the Aleutian islands. The Japs claimed a similar attempt from the south had been beaten off.

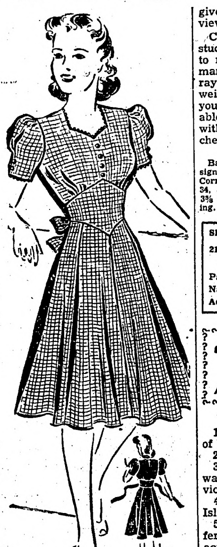
Washington: Science has developed a marvelous process by which pure tin can be recovered from discarded tin cans. The by-product, also highly valuable, would be scrap metal.

Long Beach, Calif.: "Wrong Way" Corrigan is flying airplanes the right way now. He had joined the ferry command.

Stockholm: Probability that Sweden might soon enter the war was seen in vastly stepped-up military exercises. Many observers felt that if the U. S. and Britain invade Norway this spring, Sweden will have to come in.

Miami: The duke of Windsor had returned to the Bahamas after what he said was a "satisfactory" conference regarding American aid for the defense of the islands.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE



1502-B

WHEN you wear this charming frock your best friends will query you, "my aren't you getting slim?"—for your waistline will just melt away under the slenderizing influence of this smartly shaped girdle. It is the feature of Pattern No. 1502-B which makes it one every size 12 to 40 should want!

The frock has youth and femininity, too, expressed in an attractive open neckline, a full shapely bodice, which fits smoothly over the bustline, a skirt which flares to a wide hem and perky, puffed sleeves. The big bow which ties the girdle firmly in place gives special interest to the back view of this frock!

Correct for any occasion—work, study or fun, this dress is simple to make and can be effective in many fabrics — challis, printed rayon crepes, bengaline, or light weight wools. Later, for spring, you'll repeat the frock in washable cottons and linens! Finish it with lace, braid or ric-rac and a cheerful row of tiny buttons.

Essay on Cow Leaves Little to the Imagination

The cow is a mammal. It has six sides, right, left, an upper and below. At the end it has a tail on which hangs a brush. With this it sends the flies away.

The head is for the purpose of growing horns and so that the mouth can be somewhere.

Under the cow hangs the milk. It is arranged for milking.

The cow has a fine sense of smell, one can smell it far away. This is the reason for the fresh air in the country.

The cow does not eat much, but what it eats it eats twice so that it gets enough. When it is hungry it moos, and when it says nothing it is because all its inside is full up.—Schoolboy's essay on a cow.

More Raleigh Jingles

Raleigh Cigarettes are again offering liberal prizes in a big jingle contest running in this paper. One hundred and thirty-three prizes will be awarded each week. —Adv.

'Seaworthiness'

"Seaworthiness" covers not only a ship's condition but many other factors, including the quality of officers and crew. Seamen have won judgments for injuries received on "unseaworthy" ships, in one case because the mate was brutal and in another because the Chinese crew could not understand orders without an interpreter.

Notice Of Annual Meeting

To the Stockholders of the FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY ASSOCIATION.

Notice is hereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association of Holt, Minnesota, will be held at the Village Hall in Holt, Minnesota, on Thursday, the 19th day of March, 1942, at One o'clock P. M., for the purpose of electing 3 members of the Board of Directors, hearing reports, and transacting such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

The directors whose terms expire are Elling Waagedahl, Howard Inman and J. P. Augustine.

And to consider and act upon the resolution adopted by the board of directors at a meeting held February 16th, 1942 which reads as follows:

RESOVED, that failure to fully comply with certain legal requirements, the action taken in 1926 was not valid and therefore invalidated the action taken in 1941 to amend certain Articles of Incorporation, it is now deemed necessary to ratify these two previous actions pursuant to law:

Therefore Be It Resolved, that the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association, of Holt, Minnesota, hereby elects to be brought under and be bound by the provisions of Chapter 326, Laws of Minnesota for 1923, and amendments thereto and that the Articles of Incorporation be amended to conform thereto as follows:

THAT ARTICLE I BE AMENDED TO READ:

"Section 1: The name of this association shall be the FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY COMPANY OF HOLT.

"Section 2. The purpose of this association shall be to engage in a dairy, manufacturing and marketing business upon the co-operative plan. The nature of its business shall be the operating of a creamery, the receiving and buying of milk, cream and other products of the farm, and the manufacture, marketing and selling of butter, cheese, ice cream and other dairy and farm products and the handling and sale of dairy and supplies, equipment, feed, seed and accessories.

For such purpose it shall have the power and authority to own such creamery and other facilities as may be required in the usual conduct of its business and for the accomplishment of the purposes set forth therein or permitted by the act under which this association is incoporated.

"Section 3. The principal place where the business of said association shall be transacted is in the village of Holt, in the county of Marshall, and State of Minnesota."

THAT ARTICLE III BE AMENDED TO READ:

"Section 1. The amount of the capital stock of this association shall be five thousand dollars ($5,000.00), which shall be divided into two hundred (200) shares of the par value of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) each and the same shall be paid for at such times and in such manner as the board of directors may direct, but no share shall be issued for less than its par value nor until the same has been paid for in cash or its equivalent and such payment has been deposited with the treasurer of the association. The association may commence business whenever 20 per cent of the authorized capital stock has been subscribed and paid in, and the amount of the capital stock outstanding shall at no time be diminished below 20 per cent of the amount of the authorized capital.

"Section 2. The ownership of capital stock in this association by any individual stockholder shall not exceed the par value of one thousand dollars; stockholders shall be restricted to only one vote in the affairs of the association; shares of stock shall not be transferable except with the approval and consent of the governing board of the association; interest (dividends) shall not be paid on outstanding or paid up capital stock of the association in excess of six per cent (6%) per annum which shall be non-cumulative; the net income of the association, except such amounts as are required to be set aside as a reserve fund or permanent surplus, or may be set aside by the vote of the stockholders, available for distribution among the members, or both, as the case may be, and as may be prescribed by the by-laws, shall be distributed only on the basis of patronage; voting by proxy shall not be permitted."

THAT ARTICLE IV BE AMENDED TO READ:

"The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this association shall at any time be subject shall not exceed Twenty Thousand ($20,000.00) Dollars."

THAT ARTICLE VI BE AMENDED TO READ:

"Section 1. The government of this association and the management of its affairs shall be vested in the board of managers, consisting of the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer and not less than three (3) nor more than (5) of the stockholders, which board shall be elected by ballot by the stockholders for such terms as the by-laws may prescribe, at the annual meetings of the stockholders.

"Section 2. The annual meeting of the association shall be held at its principal place of business on the 3rd Thursday of March of each year, the exact place and hour to be determined by the board of directors.

"Section 3. Vacancies in the board of directors may be filled by the remaining members of the board, the person or persons so appointed shall hold office until the next annual meeting of the stockholders and until thier successors have been elected and qualified."

THAT A NEW ARTICLE BE ADDED TO BE KNOWN AS ARTICLE VII AND TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

"The fiscal year of this association shall begin on the first day of January and close on the last day of December of each year."

That the by-laws be ammended so as to conform with these amendments.

The POWER to WIN!

Dynamos in your electric company's plants hum a hymn for Victory. About one-fourth of the electric power they generate operates the machinery that turns out parts for warships, airplanes, guns, tanks, and also prepares food for our fighting forces. This is the Power to Win.

In this war-time emergency it is necessary that your electric company, its employees, and its customers make sacrifices in behalf of our country. Because materials used by the electrical industry are needed for defense purposes it will be exceedingly difficult to make new service extensions . . . therefore, if you are planning any changes in your electric service, contact us before you start the work. This company, and its employees, will do everything possible to continue to give you good, friendly electric service . . . and also furnish defense industries with the Power to Win.

Eat Garden Health Foods

Nutritionists tell us that greens always deserve top billing as garden health foods. When grandmother made her first spring excursion for wild greens for a dish to pep up the family, she was a good practicing nutritionist. Usually it is in the spring of the year that our diet is lowest in the important vitamins and minerals which are so richly supplied by the greens.

Greens come to the rescue early in the spring when they are most needed, and the wise gardner will plan to get new greens on the table just as soon as possible. Try these this year. Plant cabbage indoors and set them out April 15. Eat them young. The green leaves are more nourishing than the heads that develop later. Plant beet greens and leaf lettuce just as early as possible and serve them generously. Beet greens are better than beets. For later greens, plan on chard, broccoli, and green peppers.

Good food goes a long way toward insuring health, but it isn't everything. We need, in addition sunshine, fresh air, good posture exercise, good emotional habits, sleep and rest. Look over that list and note how many of these you can get by growing a garden in addition to good food.

If you want the plants started in the hotbed or indoor flat to be able to "take it" when they are set out, put them through a training period. Weak plants that have grown lank in crowded conditions get an awful shock when set out in the cold world, with no companion plants nearer than two feet to lean on. As soon as the first leaves appear, the seedlings should be transplanted, in the hotbed or flat, so that plants are 2 inches apart. Cabbage, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower and celery will then be ready when the weather warms up. However, eggplants, peppers and tomatoes should be transplanted a second time with an eye to giving them more room. Such transplants will be much stronger when the time comes to go out into the world.

Don't be stingy on fertilizer in the garden. Hoticulturists recommend plenty of manure, preferably applied in the fall. Of course if you neglected to do it last fall you can still get the job done by using well rotted manure well disced into the soil. Manure is peferred to commercial fertilizer but if a formula fertilizer, is to be used, a 4-8-6 mixture is desirable for most soils.

Arvid Carlson Is Busy Man

Mr. Arvid Carlson of Middle River, General Chairman of the Marshall County Salvage Committee was in Holt on Tuesday to make arrangements with the local Commercial Club for staging a "Scrap Iron" Day here on Friday, April 10.

A progam will be lined up for the day with Mr. Carlson giving a talk and he also stated that he will have another speaker here. Musical numbers will be provided thru arrangements of the committees in charge.

Mr. Carlson stated that these kind of Victory Programs are held all over the county and that on that day the people of the community will bring in all their old scrap iron, rubber, metal and rags to sell.

Welfare Granted $20,000

A special $20,000 grant was made to Marshall County for Welfare purposes by the Minnesota Legislative Advisory committee in session in St. Paul on Friday, March 6 according to information received by Paul T. Steen, executive secretary of the county welfare board.

The large grant was made to the county by the state in order that the county might be able to clear the deficit in the Welfare Fund, which on December 31st totaled $70,000 said Mr. Steen.

It is expected that the Welfare Fund can be thus brought out of the red with this aid if at the same time the levy for Welfare is increased $10,000 or $15,000 a year for the next two years. The county officials are making plans to keep Welfare on a pay-as-you-go basis and they also expect lessened need in the future to help them in this program.

A delegation from the county presented the request to the LAC. The members of the delegation were Representative Emil Morberg of Oslo, Senator Eric Friberg of Roseau, County Commissioner Arthur Anderson of Newfolden, County Commissioner J. J. Pagnac of Stephen and Mr. Steen.

The delegation pointed out that Marshall county has one of the heaviest burdens of bonded debt in the state and that a great deal of county property has been tax forfieted in late years. They siressed the point that acreage amounting to almost 18 townships in area has been removed from the tax rolls in the past few years.

Other matters emphasized by the delegation included the fact that Marshall County has a high percentage of persons over 65 in need of Old Age Assistance and that costs for medical care from Welfare are high. The LAC was interested to learn that Marshall county had adopted the Grubstake Plan by which all possible stimulation is given to Welfare clients to meet their own needs from raising good gardens and providing their own milk, meat and fuel.

The LAC commended the delegation on its work and took a sympathetic interest in the county's Welfare financing problem. The members of the LAC are Governor Stassen, Senator Rockne, Senator Neumeier, Represenrative Allen and Representative Rollin G. Johnson.

Wayne Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Larson was taken to the Mercy hospital at Thief River Falls on Sunday morning to be treated for blood poison in one arm caused from a small blister on his hand. He returned home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Ness were honored on Sunday when relatives and friends gathered at the Kunte Nelson home for their 40th wedding anniversary. The honor guests received many nice gifts and a delicious lunch was served.

Free Movies At Newfolden

Two full length natural color movies, packed with human interest, drama, and action, are coming to Newfolden, Minnesota on Saturday evening March 28th at 7:30 p. m.

The two films, "In Our Own American Way" and "Thunderheads Over the Pacific", were produced by Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement Company, and will be sponsored by Stokke and Harstad local dealers for this pioneer implement firm.

"In Our Own American Way" shows in natural color such points of historical interest as Plymouth Rock, the Alamo, and Lincoln's New Salem; such natural wonders as the Grand Canyon Old Faithful Geyser, and Carlsbad Caverns; and our beautiful national parks, forests, and waterfalls. It shows our nation gearing for defense, shows how our boys in the army and navy live and how they are being trained. It shows also the part being played by agriculture in defense and by modern MM tractors and machines in producing more at lower cost and with fewer hands.

"Thunderheads Over the Pacific" is an interesting and exciting travelogue of the Far East, most of its scenes having been made in China, Singapore, the Dutch East Indies, and Australia It provides an excellent insight into the life and manners of the people of these countries, together with many exclusive scenes, among them the Dutch East Indies army, the great fortresses of Singapore, and others.

Both films are entirely in natural color Kodachrome. Both have musical and full sound background to add to their entertainment and interest. Both recommend themselves to every farm family in this vicinity. Showing will be at Newfolden High School Auditorium.

According to an announcement reaching us, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kobes, who have made their home on the Mud Lake refuge have been transferred to the Wild Rice refuge at McGreggor Minn.

This has been a busy week in Holt with all the schools in this community coming here to take the Mantoux test on Monday and the reading of the test on Wednesday.

Elected Dist. President L. O'L.

E. M. Evans, Middle River farmer-lawyer, was elected president of District 17, Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., at the annual district convention held at Roseau on March 4th.

Mr. Evans succeeds Stuart McLeod of Thief River Falls as the district Land O'Lakes head and representative on the Land O'Lakes board. Mr. McLeod has headed the district since its organization. The new president has long been recognized as a leader in farm organization work and is secretary of the Middle River City Cooperative creamery association.

Other officers of the district include: F. S. Erdman of Red Lake Falls, reelected vice-chairman; Elis Grahn, Roseau, 2nd vice chairman; Elmer B. Lee, Fosston, secretary and Lars Larson, Oklee, elected vice-president, replacing Mr. Rydeen of Clearbrook.

A total of 6,822,054 pounds of butter were shipped to Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., during the past year, John Lager, Thief River Falls, district field man, revealed in his annual report. Of this amount, 4,414,090 pounds or 64.70 per cent was Land O'Lakes grade, 1,834,828 were A grade, 558,,274 pounds were B grade, 13,575 pounds C grade and 1,286 pounds undergrade.

The report listed the total business in amount of goods handled in other lines, as follows: Eggs, 297,587 dozen; flour feed, seed and twine, 11,950,319 pounds; poultry, 498,005 pounds; turkeys, 1,285,126 pounds; paint, 5,012 gallons; cheese, 207,896 pounds; ice cream mix, 14,127 gallons; chicks - poults 312,021.

The next annual convention will be held at Warren in 1943.

Several ladies gave Mrs. H. O. Hanson a birthday party on Monday afternoon. Those present were: Mrs. Iver Larson, Mrs. W. Peterson, Mrs. Hartley Peterson and Donny, Mrs. G. Fricker and Larue, Mrs. G. Sanoden, Mrs. A. W. Carlson, Mrs. O. Fosholm Mrs. C. Sandberg, Mrs. L. Wegge, Mrs. Gust Peterson, Mrs. O. B. Johnson, Mrs. C. Hagglund, Mrs. S. Lorentson, Mrs. Hj. Peterson, Caroline Aspelin. A delicious lunch was served by the self invited guests and a cash purse presented to the honor guest.

Haul In Your Scrap Iron Now

Marshall County farmers are urged this week by Arvid Carlson, chairman of the Marshall County Salvage for Victory Committee, to back their government with more scrap iron; to bring it in to their junk dealer and sell it so that it can be diverted into the regular channels leading to the war industries.

O. T. Ness, captain for this district, will report to Mr. Carlson on the 25th of this month, and this report together with the report of other captains in the County, will go to the state secretary who in turn will send it to Washington, D. C. where the records will be checked with those of other places.

"It is imparative," stated Mr. Carlson, "that everyone of you farmers act today and sell your scrap iron. Get out and load up your trailer and bring it into town. Your government is going all the way for you, and you can do this much, and at a profit to yourself. Act today."

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors, friends and relatives for the fine surprise party given us on Sunday on our 40th wedding anniversary. We thank you all for the many beautiful gifts.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

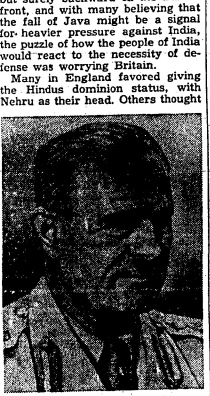
Britain Debates Concessions to India As Pressure for Freedom Increases; New Jap Commander Heads Campaign Against MacArthur's Philippine Forces

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BURMA:
And India

With the British moving slowly but surely backward on the Burma front, and with many believing that the fall of Java might be a signal for heavier pressure against India, the puzzle of how the people of India would react to the necessity of defense was worrying Britain.

Many in England favored giving the Hindus dominion status, with Nehru as their head. Others thought the defense angle should be cleared before concessions were made.



SIR ARCHIBALD WAVELL
Needs full co-operation.

It had been conceded that General Wavell could hold India if he could get full co-operation.

But reports from Burma had been disquieting. It seemed that largely the people were divided into two groups, those who were turning against the whites, and those who were going over to the Japs.

Some light on this situation had been thrown by India's agent in Washington, Sir Girja Bajpai, who though he declined to comment on Nehru's demands, or on the recent visit to Nehru and Gandhi by Chiang Kai-shek, he said this:

"I am positive the Indian army is loyal to the Crown."

How much this meant was open to much speculation. But British circles felt, apparently, that more than this would be necessary.

MAC ARTHUR:
Loyal Natives

That there had been an extended period of quiet reported on Bataan did not mean that General MacArthur's men were unmindful that the fall of Java might well mean additional troops for them to face, and additional air force for them to combat.

Meanwhile the war department announced that the Japanese have assigned Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuke Yamashita to oppose MacArthur. Yamashita, conqueror of Malaya and Singapore, succeeds Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma, who is thought to have committed hara-kiri because of his failure to wipe out MacArthur's men.

Occasional dispatches had been filed quoting some members of the MacArthur forces as wanting to know "when the planes were coming" but the general himself was too busy thinking up ways of combating the Japs and keeping them guessing to have himself quoted as demanding anything in the way of reinforcements.

Yet he was constantly in touch, apparently, with what the enemy were doing, and this was taken in military circles as a hopeful sign, showing that the natives were remaining loyal.

One bit of information had come to Washington from Bataan that the Japs had landed men and tanks on Mindoro island, and this was taken as a sure indication that serious resistance to the invader had developed there.

As jungle fighters the Filipino was an excellent man, and his ability with the native knife, the nine-pound bolo, was such as to make him a terror to the Japs. MacArthur already had told Washington of the Japanese demand that the natives give up all such knives, further proof that even on occupied Luzon, the guerrillas were busy lopping down the numbers of the enemy.

MacArthur's great stand on Bataan caused many American newspaper writers to demand that we dorp the slogan "Remember Pearl Harbor" and change it to "Remember MacArthur and Corregidor."

CHURCHILL:

Many American newspapers had been printing stories about the possibility that Churchill's tenure of office was by a relatively slender thread, and some went so far as to give him three months more, and others to state that Sir Stafford Cripps would succeed him.

To these stories London newspapers had been giving the raised eyebrow. One British writer said most British circles had been surprised to read of these reports, and that there was little or no truth in them.

TIRES:
Real Shortage?

A New York rubber dealer had sharply criticized those who were taking the rubber right out from under American automobile owners, at least in prospect, and had declared, among other things, that there was a Connecticut manufacturer who, if given 2,000 tons of crude rubber, plus all the crepe rubber soles of shoes, could retread 35,000,000 tires this year.

He added that if this firm was not allowed to have the crude rubber he could do the same trick with reclaimed rubber.

He had challenged Leon Henderson's statement that the reclaiming rubber facilities of the nation could account only for 350,000 tons a year, and said:

"He overlooks that these facilities could quickly be expanded to a million tons or more by the simple refixing of machinery and in second-hand machinery now available."

This was hurling a bombshell into people's thinking, who had readily accepted Henderson's statement that the would would take a million cars off the roads by July, and that within a year some 12,000,000 autos might be demobilized.

Henderson had said that the government might even be forced to take tires from the cars of some owners and give them to others whose uses for their cars was "more essential."

The New Yorker, Elliott Simpson, went further. In his argument that all was not being done that should be in order to give the country a sufficient supply of rubber, he said there were "thousands of tons of wild rubber" in the upper Amazon country, and in parts of Central and South America.

As to rubber from guayule plants, which Henderson said there was "little chance" of realizing, Simpson had declared that there were "millions of acres" of guayule in Mexico which could either be harvested and sent to the United States, or that rubber sheet factories could be set up in Mexico.

LEON HENDERSON
His statement challenged.

CONVOY:
To Australia

A story from a British correspondent had electrified Americans with the news that our troops actually were being put in Australian bases, thus confirming the general belief that the Allied offensive from that direction was no pipe dream, but the basic military plan of the nation's war heads.

The censorship bureau had ordered the press not to disclose the port of entry, the size of the convoys, the number of troops, nor to identify the bases where they had been placed.

There were many who had become somewhat jittery because of the wording of the British dispatch which was the people's first information of what was transpiring. They had been thrilled to hear of the "hundreds of pilots," of the "brawny troops from the plains states," but they were fearful when the dispatch hinted that the Japanese navy was in contact with the convoys through "spearheads" and that naval battles "were in prospect."

But the information later given to the press by the censorship bureau had spoken as though the convoys already had arrived safely, and that the troops were ashore, in their bases, and with that the public perforce had to be content.

Secretary Knox of the navy was considerably upset by the "news leak" that brought America word of its fleet and troop movement prior to any release from the navy department, and said that he was "investigating it with a great deal of vigor."

Oddly, the story had emanated from a British newspaper man who was riding with the convoy. Secretary Knox had been asked if he was taking up the matter with the British authorities. He replied:

"We certainly are."

Back to U. S.

Upon his arrival in the United States via clipper ship, Admiral Thomas C. Hart, former commander-in-chief of the United Nations' naval forces in the Far East, said that he viewed the situation in that theater of war with "conservative optimism." Any prophesying I might do would be quite favorable," he said, " . . . when you lose a campaign you don't necessarily lose the war."

JAVA:
Finis

The breakthrough of Japanese troops through the Bandoeng defense lines, and the coincident closing down of the radio station with a dramatic "Farewell until better times," the defense of Java had reached its apparent finish.

The review of the campaign showed "greatly superior" forces of Japanese, both from a naval and military standpoint, had crashed ashore on the east, the west and the north central portions of the island, and within 10 days had practically cut Java in two.

Early in the campaign the Dutch commanders had complained that there had not been enough naval, air or land support for their defense, and as the Japs swept inland there apparently had been a pretty hot scramble for the non-combatants to get away to Australia, and the Allies hoped that some of the United Nations' defending troops would have been able to make a getaway, also.

Hardly any observer had believed that Java could hold out long, but few had been prepared for the suddenness with which the defense had collapsed.

First intimation of the end was that the United Nations fleet had been forced to admit Japanese supremacy on the waters surrounding the islands; then it was conceded that the air forces of the island had been snowed under.

With land and sea and air defenses shattered, the end could not be long, it was then realized, and the Japs poured men into the island in sufficient numbers to drive all before them.

FARMERS:
And Income Tax

Many thousands of American farmers who had never seen an income tax blank had stepped into Uncle Sam's offices this year and filled out their forms.

City folks, looking over Form 1040-F had read this note:

"The value of farm produce which is consumed by the farmer and his family need not be reported as income, but expenses incurred in raising this produce must not be claimed as deductions."

To city dwellers this seemed, perhaps, like "small potatoes" but in the aggregate it amounted to a "pretty penny" for the department of agriculture showed that farmers' families consumed in 1940 food worth $1,288,819,000.

Thus the average farm family is figured to eat $202 worth of food each year, and two-thirds of this they produce themselves.

The city dweller, however, eats an average of $314 in food each year, and has to buy it all out of income.

NELSON:
And Ships

Swiftly following up the "blue" report of William Harrison, his production division head, who had said there had been disappointments in the ship production rate so far in 1942, Donald M. Nelson, WPB head, had told newsmen that the goal of 8,000,000 tons for this year will be met.

"In fact," he said, "we are trying to figure now how to beat that total. The whole nation is at stake. The ship program must not fall down. And it won't."

He had recently conferred with labor leaders about his demand that the ship industry increase its output 25 per cent by going entirely into 168-hour full weekly schedules.

Mr. Nelson said he had not recognized any lack of materials for shipbuilding industries.

MISCELLANY:

Rio de Janeiro: Brazil had placed Japanese diplomats under guard following reports from Tokyo that Brazil's envoys had been held incommunicado, and that the embassy had been occupied by the military.

Burma: American-made tanks were said to have arrived on the British fighting front near Rangoon. A second squadron of American volunteer fliers also had arrived.

Household Hints

Don't run lamp cords under the rug. They wear out more quickly from being walked on, and present a fire hazard.

* * *

Silver should always be polished following the shape of the object—flatware lengthwise and hollow-ware with a large circular motion.

* * *

In removing paint, apply paint remover with a brush and scrape off the paint when it begins to curl.

* * *

If you wish to serve your guests individual cakes, bake your cake in a loaf. When baked, cut it in squares, frost them on four sides and decorate the tops with walnuts.

* * *

A piece of charcoal kept on one of the shelves will remove all odor from your refrigerator.

* * *

Avoid handling electrical apparatus with wet hands. Always turn off the main switch before trying to repair outlets or lights. Disconnect cords before working on them.

* * *

To save frequent dusting, a dustcloth that does a thorough job is a household necessity. Put one tablespoon of furniture polish of good quality into a quart glass fruit jar, and shake the jar until the polish coats the sides. Put a yard of clean cheesecloth into the jar and cover it. Let the cloth remain in the jar several days before using. Refill the jar with another cloth and another measure of polish after each dusting.

* * *

Shabby leather upholstery may be revived by washing with a cloth wrung out in warm water, to which a little vinegar has been added. Polish can be restored after washing by rubbing with a mixture of the whites of two eggs beaten up with a dash of turpentine.

Search Completed For Heavy Duty Laundry Soap That's Rayon-Safe

Chicago, March 20 — Rayon experts of the Better Fabrics Testing Bureau and the U. S. Testing Co. today hailed the sucessful completion of their scientific quest for a soap that not only satisfied women's needs for washing power but was also safe for rayons.

An informed source revealed that hundreds of exhaustive tests were made by both of these nationally known laboratories. Finally, a well known soap called Super Suds was approved as being Rayon-Safe.

The reason these tests were made, it was stated, was because so many women had asked for speciffc information. As a consequence, the following set of rayon washing rules were decided upon by the laboratory experts. (1) Test a small patch of the rayon in plain water for colorfastness. If color runs, it's not washable. (2) Wash rayons separately, by hand, with lukewarm suds. Use Rayon-Safe soap. (3) Do not soak rayons. Wash quickly and gently. Do not rub, wring or twist. (4) Rinse thoroughly, gently, in clean lukewarm water. Roll in towel, but don't leave there. (5) Use a moderate iron.

The Weather

The weather the past week has been nice. We have had a few blustery days but most of them have been nice sunshiny spring days with most of the snow gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sorum and family of Grand Forks visited relatives here Sunday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Engen on Friday, a girl.

This Week For Victory

Imagine your car being fired out of a .30-caliber machine gun and mowing down [illegible] Japs.

It's a little preposterous until you look at it this way:

For every car the United States is not making this year, there is saved enough zinc and copper to make the brass for 2,400 cartridges used in machine guns and Garand and Springfild rifles. But that, says the War Production Board, isn't all. Out of that same automobile not made this year is saved enough tin to coat 1,000 cans in which to put food for our soldiers and sailors, and enough nickel to make 100 pounds of nickel steel for armor plate, projectiles and armor-piercing bullets. Here's some more: For every 24 automobiles not made, there is available enough steel and rubber for a 27-ton medium tank, and for every 700 automobiles we don't make there is saved enough aluminum to make a fighter plane.

Opal Sanoden, who is attending Teachers' College at Bemidji spent the week end at her home here.

Many people from here attended the Christ Norbeck sale at Thief River Falls on Monday.

Irvin Hagglund and Donald Horien spent the week end at International Falls.

Rev. A. O. Skibsrud of St. Hilaire spent Monday afternoon and evening at the parsonage.

Sugar Sales Halted One Week

All sugar sales in the United States will be halted at midnight April 27 for approximately one week, government officials announced Saturday after they had set six days in April and May for the nationwide sugar rationing registration.

John E. Hamm, acting chief of the office of price administration, reported sugar would be off the market on April 28 and would not be available to buyers again until about May 5.

Hamm explained the ban was ordered as a step preparatory to sales under rationing, which will go into effect as soon as the moratorium on sales ends.

Earlier Saturday dates were fixed for the national registration—biggest in the history of the United States and involving every man woman and child in the country.

Frank Bane, field chief of the OPA, announced individual or family consumers would register May 4, 5, 6, and 7 at Public Elementary Schools, and that wholesalers, retailers, bakers, confectioners and other industrial users would register April 28 and 29 at High Schools.

Bane reported that it had not been determined finally whether the weekly individual ration would be a half pound or three-quarters of a pound.

Officials stated it would be the first general registration of American citizens of all ages and the larget task of its kind ever undertaken, although the census covered much ground on a "head count" system. It can be used as the basis for rationing of all kinds.

Annual Creamery Meeting

The stockholders of the Farmers Cooperative Creamery Co. of Holt met at the village hall on Thursday of last week and had a fine meeting. According to the reports read of the operation of the creamery things were running at a hundred per cent clip. The main part of the meeting was to adopt some amendments to the by laws.

John Lager, field man for this district of the Land O'Lakes and P. L. Anderson, Crookston, field man for Land O'Lakes in that district both spoke at the meeting. Mr. Pesek of the Dairy and Food Department also was here.

J. P. Augustine, E. O. Waagedahl and H. D. Inman were reelected to the board of directors of the creamery company.

Free Movies At Newfolden

Two full length natural color movies, packed with human interest, drama, and action, are coming to Newfolden, Minnesota on Saturday evening March 28th at 7:30 p. m.

The two films, "In Our Own American Way" and "Thunderheads Over the Pacific", were produced by Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement Company, and will be sponsored by Stokke and Harstad local dealers for this pioneer implement firm.

"In Our Own American Way" shows in natural color such points of historical interest as Plymouth Rock, the Alamo, and Lincoln's New Salem; such natural wonders as the Grand Canyon Old Faithful Geyser, and Carlsbad Caverns; and our beautiful national parks, forests, and waterfalls. It shows our nation gearing for defense, shows how our boys in the army and navy live and how they are being trained. It shows also the part being played by agriculture in defense and by modern MM tractors and machines in producing more at lower cost and with fewer hands.

"Thunderheads Over the Pacific" is an interesting and exciting travelogue of the Far East, most of its scenes having been made in China. Singapore, the Dutch East Indies, and Australia It provides an excellent insight into the life and manners of the people of these countries, together with many exclusive scenes, among them the Dutch East Indies army, the great fortresses of Singapore, and others.

Both films are entirely in natural color Kodachrome. Both have musical and full sound background to add to their entertainment and interest. Both recommend themselves to every farm family in this vicinity. Showing will be at Newfolden High School Auditorium.

Alfred Stienhauer, who has been enrolled in the school of chemistry at the North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo for the past three years, is home for a visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stienhauer. Beginning March 30 he will continue his studies at the University of Minnesota, having transferred his credits there from the A. C.

Men 45 to 65 to Register

President Roosevelt set April 27 today for the registration of men aged 45 to 64 inclusive.

It will be the fourth registration during the current war emergency and the second since the war actually engulfed the United States.

The chief executive issued a proclamation, under terms of the selective service act, which provides that:

"The registration of male citizens of the United States and other male persons who were born on or after April 28, 1887, and on or before Feb. 16, 1997, shall take place in the United States and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and in Puerto Rico on Monday, April 27, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

The usual exceptions were made for persons already in the armed forces and for registration in exceptional cases prior to or after the prescribed date.

The men registering April 27 will not be liable to compulsory military duty nor will another group — men of 18 and 19— still to be registered.

Deadline Set For Application

March 31, 1932 has been definitely established as the last day for filing applications for payment under the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program. Anyone, having received such application should immadiately sign and return it to the county office if payment is expected for participation in the 1941 program.

In many cases, farmers complain of not having received their applications for payment, said Mr. Kranz and to those we request that immediate contact be made with this office so that a new application may be ordered and signed before the closing date.

The Boy Scouts staged a "Bean Feed" in the Nazareth Church Parlors on Tuesday evening. The Scouts and their fathers and a few other men of the community were present. Demonstrations were given by the Scouts. Mr. Glenn H. Prather, Scout Executive, of Grand Forks gave the principal address of the evening.

Form Home Nursing Course

All registered nurses, married or unmarried in Marshall county are urged to submit their names to Mrs. P. E. Snyder at Warren, chairman of the Home Nursing committee of the Marshall County Red Cross chapter, preparatory to formation of Home Nursing courses throughout the county.

The Home Nursing committee hopes to establish instructional schools throughout the entire county in order to give women in the county practical training in nursing. The course is advocated by the American Red Cross as an aid to Civilian Defense.

Arrangements are being made to secure the services of a Red Cross instructor to acquaint the registered nurses in the county with the course of study, said Mrs. Snyder. The registered nurses will then be requested to volunteer their services in conducting similar practical courses in the various communities. The Registered Nurses are requested to submit their names to Mrs. Snyder at once in order to complete arrangements for the program.

Household Hints

That new waffle iron should be brushed off with a stiff brush, wiped with a damp cloth, dried with a soft cloth, and slipped into an oilskin bag after using.

* * *

Keep honey in a warm place so that it will pour easily. Never put it in a refrigerator, as cold honey is unmanageable.

* * *

Wooden utensils should be wiped dry after washing, then left to dry thoroughly in the kitchen for an hour or more before storing. Do not put them on top of the stove to dry, as heat warps them.

* * *

To remove a fresh grease spot on a rug, cover the spot with blotting paper, then press with a hot flatiron. Cover the spot with magnesia, let it remain for 24 hours, then brush off.

* * *

Enameled bathtubs may be cleaned with a tablespoon of dry salt, moistened with spirits of turpentine—not too wet. Then wipe it over with a clean cloth.

* * *

Are you sure your chimney is properly insulated where it passes near wooden walls? Rock wool, asbestos or other insulation may prevent a fire

* * *

Leftover mincemeat may be used up by stuffing it into appleshells from which the pulp has been removed. Sprinkle with brown sugar, and bake until done.

We Can All Be
EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

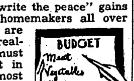
Make a Delicious Spinach Ring With Leftovers
(See Recipe Below)

Conserving Food

As the quotation "Food will win the war and write the peace" gains prominence, homemakers all over the country are beginning to realize that they must do their part in making the most of the food at hand.



Your first step in conserving food will come when you plan your menus and shopping. If you are not in this habit, then start now to practice the true economy that comes only with this kind of planning. You will rarely have bits of leftovers that are difficult to fit into the menu if you provide a place for them.

Your second step in conserving food will come in proper storage. No matter how careful a shopper you are, if you do not provide the facilities that keep food from becoming decayed, wilted, or soiled, you will not have done your part.

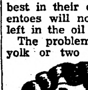
Refrigerator Storage.

Milk, eggs, butter, cheese, meat, opened canned food, or leftover food, require the cold of a refrigerator to keep them in good condition.

Fresh fruits and vegetables also retain their freshness and moistness in the icebox. Place them, after they are washed and carefully dried on the racks or in their special compartments. Lettuce and other greens keep best when stored in damp cloth bags.

Protein foods such as eggs, cheese and meat need the controlled cold of the refrigerator to keep their protein from decomposing. Uncooked meat may be left uncovered or covered lightly with waxed paper. Cooked meat should be covered. Cheese may be wrapped in a waxed paper or cloth, and covered with a thin film of butter if you expect to keep it for a long time. Keep eggs away from strong foods to prevent their porous shells from absorbing odors.

Leftover food remains usable if kept in covered containers. Canned foods will be perfectly safe to use even if left in the cans in which they come. Canned fruits keep best in their own liquid or syrup, olives best in their own brine, and pimientoes will not become molded if left in the oil in which they come.



The problem of keeping an egg yolk or two after the white has been used is easily solved if you just leave the yolk in a half of a shell and cover it with the other half. Several egg yolks or several whites can be placed in a glass jar and kept well covered.

Take stock of your refrigerator frequently so no food remains there for too long a time. Even though you are careful about storage, do not expect food to retain its good condition indefinitely.

Storing Cookies, Cakes, Bread.

Crisp cookies will retain the crispness if you place them in a loosely covered tin or box to permit the free circulation of air. Soft cookies remain moist if kept in a well-covered tin or jar with an apple or slice of lemon, orange, or grapefruit to provide additional moisture. Change the fruit every several days.

Tight containers which close out the air are recommended for keeping cakes at their best freshness. Cover them with waxed paper, too.

A bread box scrupulously cleaned at least once or twice a week with soap and water, and dried thoroughly contributes in large measure to the freshness of bread.

Keep in a Cool, Dry Place:

Coffee, spices, flour and crackers need dry, cool storage in tightly covered containers since they are affected by air. Use metal or glass containers for them. When crackers get soggy, crisp them in the oven for a few minutes and they will be as good as when you bought them.

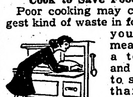
Fats which are so valuable at present should be treated with the best of care so they do not become rancid. Store them in a glass jar or crock and place in a cool, dark storeroom.

Storing in the Cellar.

You are extremely fortunate if you have a cellar for storing purposes. Now with home and defense gardening gaining in popularity, you may have vegetables to keep for later use. If the cellar tends to become warm, leave the windows open at night, closed during the day.

Cook to Save Food Values.

Poor cooking may cause the biggest kind of waste in food. Perhaps you roast your meats at too high a temperature and cause them to shrink more than necessary. Be careful to watch temperatures and time in roasting or cooking meats. Meat, cheese, eggs and milk are all protein foods which should never be cooked too long or at too high temperature since this causes the protein fibers to become tough.



Measure water carefully when cooking vegetables so you do not have to throw any out and lose valuable minerals and vitamins into the kitchen drain. As soon as food is cooked serve it immediately as standing or overcooking causes loss in food value.

Cook with covers as much as possible except in the case of green vegetables which lose their coloring if covered. Starting the cooking of vegetables with boiling water will cut down cooking time.

Our recipe of the day is a good example of how you can combine several kinds of leftovers into one delicious main dish. The spinach may have been left over from yesterday's dinner, the shrimp from a luncheon you gave, and the bread crumbs rolled from stale bread.

Spinach Ring With Shrimp Sauce
(Serves 6 to 8)

3 cups cooked spinach
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon salt
⅙ teaspoon black pepper
⅓ teaspoon paprika
2 eggs
3 cups cream sauce
½ cup fine bread crumbs
1 to 2 cups whole canned shrimp

Chop spinach fine and add grated onion which has been browned in butter. Season with salt, black pepper, paprika and add the well beaten yolks. Mix the spinach with 1½ cups cream sauce and fold in well beaten whites. Place in a buttered ring mold and dust with bread crumbs. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate (35-degree) oven for 20 minutes. Loosen by pressing spinach from side of mold. Heat shrimp with remaining white sauce and serve in center of spinach ring.

If you would like expert advice on your cooking and household problems, write to Lynn Chambers, Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Desplaines St., Chicago, Ill. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply.

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lynn Says:

You can be smart about the way you use leftovers. Here are a few ideas:

Save leftover vegetables from dinner, wash the butter off and use in salads combined with celery, lettuce and dressing. Use other vegetables for stews, meat pies, and casseroles.

Leftover roasts slice nicely so you can have them cold or serve hot with leftover gravy. Meats combine well in casseroles, croquettes, stews, soup and salads.

Meat juices and bones combined with a few vegetables make up nicely into soups.

Clarify fats (bacon drippings, lard, suet, or chicken fat) by heating and adding 1 peeled, sliced potato and cooking until fat stops bubbling. Strain through a double cheesecloth, and store. Substitute ⅘ cup clarified fat for 1 cup butter in recipes.

Pour cooked cereals leftover from breakfast into jars or pans. Slice, fry and serve with syrup.

Leftover egg yolks are good for custards, mayonnaise, sauces and frosting. Leftover egg whites are excellent for angel food cakes, frostings, meringues and sauces.

Farm Topics

LEGUMES, GRASSES VERY IMPORTANT

Adjustment to Croppin Plans and Erosion Needed.

By P. E. JOHNSTON
(Professor of Agricultural Economics, University of Ill. Agriculture College.)

Each farm should now produce as much as possible of the crops for which it is adapted, but should also grow enough legumes and grasses to maintain a high level of yields.

We need to adjust as never before our cropping plans to variations in soil type, slope and susceptibility to erosion. It is important that the increased acreages of depleting crops be grown in areas where yields are high and where they can be produced with a minimum of erosion.

In farming, we are not interested in producing the maximum in 1942 but in hitting a level which can be maintained for a five- to ten-year period if necessary.

Provided efficient land use and feed production are maintained the limiting factors of livestock production will be labor and equipment, but each farmer will be responsible for obtaining the maximum livestock output for each bushel of corn, 100 pounds of supplement and each ton of hay.

Livestock Housing.

The high cost and scarcity of building materials will preclude any rapid expansion in housing facilities for livestock or any material expansion in livestock equipment. Efficiency in the use of available buildings and equipment is therefore important.

Of even more importance will be the necessity to obtain the maximum production of each farm worker, as the supply is being reduced by the transfer of farm workers to industry and the army. The shortage of labor emphasizes again the urgency of increasing the efficiency of livestock production, as livestock and livestock products are so essential for domestic consumption.

Farm Workers' Exemption

Efforts made by agricultural organizations to find what authority local draft boards have to exempt farm workers have resulted in statements by officials in charge of the draft that local boards can exempt necessary agricultural workers.

Farm help needed to produce milk and dairy products, eggs and egg products, poultry meat products, and hogs and lard products are considered as engaged in the production of commodities of the greatest importance. Producers of soybeans, sugar beets, commercial vegetables, cattle and calves, and sheep and lambs are considered to be doing work of distinct importance.

This information indicates, it is believed, that local draft boards have been given considerable latitude in making decisions regarding exemptions of farm help. It seems apparent that a man needed to produce foods listed as being of the greatest importance would be considered more eligible for deferment than a man producing foods designated of distinct importance.

It also appears obvious that men engaged in producing anything in either of the two preceding lists can be given preferment over men producing wheat, cotton, potatoes, and many other crops. Wheat and potatoes are good foods but the problem of the nation right now is to create an army and at the same time to obtain materials most needed in the immediate future.

Before exemptions can be granted for farm work or for any industrial or business defense service, the local board must be given proof that the man is actually engaged in the line of work for which exemptions are allowed.

Prize Bulls Given Free

The American Jersey Cattle club has announced the gift of 1,000 registered Jersey bull calves to the farmers of America, a war-time gift to the nation. These "Victory Calves," all born in 1942, are to be given as outright gifts by Jersey breeders to 1,000 lucky dairy farmers. Many of the bull calves to be given away are sons, grandsons, and great-grandsons of champion bulls and champion cows that have made history in the show ring and in official production tests.

Feeder Cattle Suggestions

(1) Purchase feeders to fit the feed, labor and equipment available on the farm (choice 400-pound steer calves use 55-60 bushels of corn and three-fourths ton of hay and common 900-pound steers use 8 to 10 bushels of corn and 1½ tons of hay), know length of the feeding period and plan ahead for cattle to use pasture; (2) market the cattle in the period of normal price peaks and (3) feed a balanced ration for the type of cattle used.

Potent Uranium

Uranium is an element one million times deadlier than dynamite. Scientists tell us that the energy contained in one ounce will boil a thousand tons of water, and they are trying to liberate the energy stored in uranium so that we may have a cheaper form of power than ever before.

Pure uranium is so deadly that it has caused the decomposition of nitrogen oxide when exposed to it at a considerable distance. The disintegrating effect upon human tissue is even greater, so all experiments must be conducted with great caution, and for safety, minute quantities of diluted uranium are used.

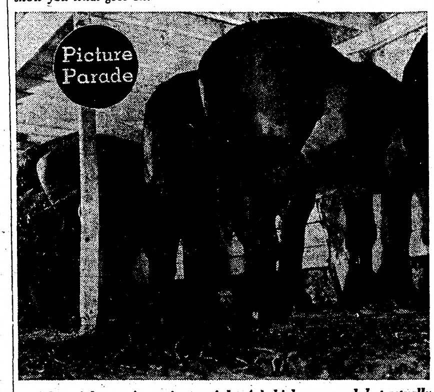
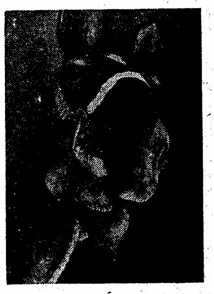
Wanna Buy a Horse?

A few months ago this question, if addressed to an automobile owner, would bring a laugh. Today the horse has the laugh. Out in the West and the Middle West horses are still plentiful, but in the East they are scarce. And yet there is a firm of horse auctioneers operating in Greater New York—Potters and Greenberg—where private sales on horses are held every day of the week and special auctions on Fridays. Photos show you what goes on.

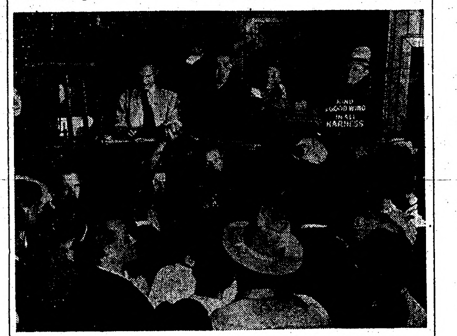


This might pass for a picture of the Axis high command, but actually it is one of some of the steeds waiting to be auctioned off.



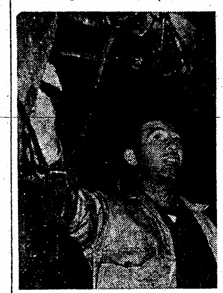
Not a gift horse. Deftly the buyer takes the horse's tongue in one hand and examines the teeth, to determine age.

Horses have many foot ailments, and seasoned horse traders know all about them and just what to look for.

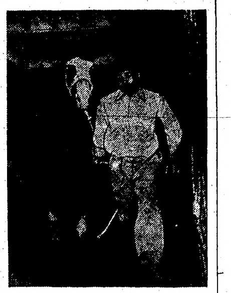


KIND GOOD WORD IN ALL HARNESS

Frequently a piece of harness goes on the block instead of a horse. Here you see a halter going to a bidder for three dollars. Auctioneer Greenberg is knocking it down.



This man has taken on the difficult job of selling a horse to the auctioneer.



When bidding lags on a horse the animal is made to strut his stuff, as shown here.

Crimean Peninsula

The Crimean peninsula is centrally located on the Black sea, making it a convenient market for the surrounding country, says Pathfinder. Sebastopol, a major Soviet naval base, is also a railroad center. Although the peninsula is only about the size of Vermont, it maintains a population of 750,000 inhabitants who till the rich farmland, work in the fisheries, the iron mines, and oil refineries.

The climate is so mild that flowers bloom the year 'round in parts of the peninsula.

NOTICE OF CANCELLATION OF CONTRACT FOR DEED (WITH CROP PAYMENT CLAUSE)

To

Samuel Groven, his personal representatives and assigns:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED: That default has been made in the conditions of that certain contract for deed, containing a crop payment clause, dated the 23rd day of September, 1937, whereby the Department of Rural Credit, in the name of the State of Minnesota, as vendor, sold and agreed to convey to Samuel Groven, as vendee, that tract of land lying in the County of Marshall, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Lots Numbered One (1) and Two (2) and the South Half of the Northeast Quarter (S½ of NE¼) of Section Five (5), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154), Range Forty-two (42) and Lots Numbered Seven (7) and Eight (8), less one acre for school site, in Section Thirty-two (32), Township One Hundred Fifty-five (155), Range Forty-two (42).

That as one of the conditions of said contract, the said vendee, Samuel Groven, agreed to pay before any penalty attached all taxes commencing with those due and payable in the year 1938, also all assessments and ditch liens, if any, heretofore levied, commencing with those due and payable in the year 1937, and also all ditch liens and assessments past due and unpaid; that taxes on part of the real estate described in said contract for deed have been paid in full up to 1940, but not including taxes for the year 1940, payable in the year 1941; that pursuant to said provisions of said contract for deed relative to the payment of taxes Samuel Groven, the vendee, his personal representatives and assigns, are hereby notified that default exists under the terms and provisions of said contract in that said vendee (now deceased) his personal representatives and assigns have failed to pay the taxes on part of the real estate described in said contract for deed, that is, on Lots Seven (7) and Eight (8), Section Thirty-two (32), Township One Hundred Fifty-five (155), Range Forty-two (42), for the year 1937, payable in the year 1938, in the amount of Twelve and 45-100 ($12.45) Dollars, taxes for the year 1938, payable in the year 1939, in the amount of Nineteen and 19-100 ($19.19) Dollars, taxes for the year 1939, payable in the year 1940, in the amount of Nine and 88-100 ($9.88) Dollars, and taxes on all of the land described in said contract for deed for the year 1940, payable in the year 1941, in the amount of Forty-one and 58-100 ($41.58) Dollars, plus penalty due on all of said taxes so listed.

THEREFORE, Samuel Groven, his personal representatives and assigns, are hereby notified that said contract will be cancelled and terminated ninety days after the service of this notice upon you, and each of you, unless prior thereto you comply with the above conditions of said contract and pay the costs of the service of this notice.

The POWER to WIN!

Dynamos in your electric company's plants hum a hymn for Victory. About one-fourth of the electric power they generate operates the machinery that turns out parts for warships, airplanes, guns, tanks, and also prepares food for our fighting forces. This is the Power to Win.

In this war-time emergency it is necessary that your electric company, its employees, and its customers make sacrifices in behalf of our country. Because materials used by the electrical industry are needed for defense purposes it will be exceedingly difficult to make new service extensions . . . therefore, if you are planning any changes in your electric service, contact us before you start the work. This company, and its employees, will do everything possible to continue to give you good, friendly electric service . . . and also furnish defense industries with the Power to Win.

Plant Your Trees This Year

This is the year to plant trees, even though labor short, says County Agent R. A. Reierson.

Many farmers feel that they do not have time to prepare the soil and plant three or four acres of trees for a complete windbreak. However, by planting only part of the shelterbelt this year, R. A. Reierson points out that a snowcatch and several additional rows will not interfere seriously with the spring work and will make a good start toward the farmstead shelterbelt.

Planting a windbreak is a progressive step in the farm enterprise. It can often be most successfully accomplished if it is done in successive stages, says Mr. Reierson. An acre of trees carefully planted and cultivated thru the summer is worth much more than several acres of trees which are neglected and overrun with weeds.

When only the snowcatch and outside rows of hardwoods are planted the first year, sufficient room must be left to complete the planting in the future. The inside row, after the windbreak is completed, should be at least one hundred feet from the house and barn. This means that some of the first rows will be 250 to 300 feet away. Plan out the whole planting and then proceed to prepare the soil for the portion which is to be planted now.

A number of ladies met at the H. Moberg home on Friday for the nutrition meeting, with the leaders Mrs. John Ness and Mrs. H. Moberg. The discussion on vitamins was very interesting and the leaders served a lunch rich in vitamins. The leaders are to be commended for voluntarily giving so much time and thought to this work and bringing to us the importance of right diet.

Grain Storage Problem

Northwest farmers may face one of the most serious storage problems in history in 1942 as a result of record-breaking production of flax, soybeans and small grains, Charles W. Stickney, Minnesota AAA chairman, warned today in requesting farmers to plant within their spring wheat acreage allotments.

"One way in which we can alleviate the grain storage situation is to not produce excessive amounts of crops that are not seriously needed in the all-out food production campaign," Mr. Stickney said. Wheat is a crop that we are not asking for expanded production. We have wheat enough on hand to last a year if not a bushel were produced this year."

Mr. Stickney based his statements as to the seriousness of the grain storage on information received during a farm-to-farm contact made within the past three weeks by the AAA community committeemen obtaining information for the Minnesota USDA War Board.

"The information we received from these contacts indicate that hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain must be moved from the area where produced unless farmers can provide storage on the farm," he said.

"Local elevator and terminal storage facilities are already near the capacity point and some counties reported grain stored from previous years in local elevators and on the farm equalled to production during a normal year.

"The situation may be further aggravated by a possible shortage of cars for transportation at harvest time. The great number of railroad rolling stock needed to move military equipment ann food supplies to our armed forces will undoubtedly reflect itself in a shortage of rolling stock to move grain crops.

"Every effort will be made to move the grain, especially crops such as flax and soybeans that are so vital to the war effort.

"Spring wheat farmers should keep these facts in mind when they plant their crop. By keeping within their acreage allotment they will be eligible for ACP and parity payments and to place their wheat under loan.

"Also, wheat farmers by staying within their allotment will not be subject to any penalty under the marketing quota, which will be voted upon May 2," Mr. Stickney said.

He urged all wheat farmers to vote for the marketing quota, pointing out that present wheat prices can be traced direotly to the AAA program of acreage adjustment and loans. Orderly marketing of wheat under the loan program and the marketing quota provisions have been very important factors in keeping the American wheat price considerably higher than wheat prices paid farmers in other wheat producing countries.

Mrs. Sam Leiran and Eleanor of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Ludvig Sagstuen and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sagstuen visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Peterson Saturday evening that day being Mr. Peterson's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hanson and Miss Evelyn Larson spent Monday evening at the home of Mr. A. O. Aspelin and daughter Caroline. The occasion was Mr. Aspelin's 60th birthday.

The Weather

The weather the past week has been on the nice order and it now looks as if we are going to have spring. Most of the birds that spend summer here, have come to look around. Several flocks of geese have been seen going north. What is nicer than spring in Minnesota.

The Holt Commercial Club met at the school house on Monday evening. At this meeting the business men who were there completed the plans for the Salvage for Victory Day to be held at Holt on Friday, April 10.

Orville Ness spent the week end at the Johnny Nelson home.

This Week For Victory

Meat scraps and digester tankage prices have been ordered cut $5 and $6 a ton respectively, the Office of Price Administration announced today. Meat scraps and digester tankage are used as ingredients in the blending of balanced rations for hogs and poultry.

The OPA said the reduction in the digester tankage price will be of interest to farmers and consumer alike, since cheaper feeding of hogs and poultry will mean corresponding reductions in the market price.

The price changes have no effect on fish meal, which will remain at the ceilings fixed Jan. 20 by the OPA.

Crop Production Loans

Mr. O. T. Johnson, the FSA supervisor for Marshall and Kittson Counties reports an increasing demand for crop production loans to farmers this Spring for the purchase of machinery repairs, seed, and tractor fuel. Most farmers, according to Mr. Johnson, have ample feed for their livestock and many of them have practically all of their seed requirements, but a large number of farmers are in need of some money to complete their 1942 planting program. Some need money only for machinery repairs and others for gas an oil. A large number have been requesting funds for the purchase of flax seed.

According to a report he received from his Regional Manager, L. C. Streater, at St. Paul more than double the number of loans have already been disbursed in the State of Minnesota than was loaned at a corresponding date a year ago. Mr. Streater says that most checks are in the possession of a farmer in about a week's time after the application is taken.

Paid for Philippines

At the close of the War with Spain the United States agreed to pay Spain $20,000,000 for the Philippine islands, Puerto Rico, Guam and Cuba, which was to be independent of Spain, although the United States did not actually take over Cuba, says Pathfinder. The terms were agreed upon under the treaty with Spain signed in Paris December 10, 1898, and ratified by the senate February 6, 1899, at which time the United States agreed to pay the sum within three months' time.

Kidneys Must Work Well-
For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.
Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

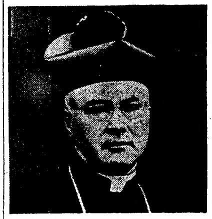
VATICAN:
And Neutrality



ARCHBISHOP SPELLMAN
"The church is against atrocities."

The sending of a Japanese mission to the Vatican in Rome and its acceptance by the pope had brought statements from Washington and London that the Allies "had directed the attention of the pope to the unfortunate effects of allowing Japan to establish a mission at the Holy See.

While there was no direct answer to these representations from Pope Pius himself, the pontiff's close friend and American spokesman, Archbishop Spellman of New York, said:

"Leaders of nations who have tried to influence the Holy Father on one side or the other in this conflict must understand that the Holy Father has to be impartial.

"While there can be no neutrality between right and wrong, and the church is against atrocities, the Holy See must keep in contact with and aid the Catholics of every nation.

"The Holy See must accept the envoys who choose to make these contacts."

SUGAR:
A Week of None

The announcement that there would be a week of no sugar sales decreed by the government for the week of April 27, came when sugar rationing, ban on sales of new automobiles, and demands that auto graveyards give up their dead were holding the economic spotlight.

The East was having gasoline shutdowns, with rationing in prospect throughout this territory, perhaps also in the Pacific Northwest.

Washington told the people of 7,900,000 tons of sugar having been withdrawn from the market by hoarders, and told of plans to make sugar hoarders give up their supplies to the retail stores, selling them back at retail prices.

A campaign had been started to force used-car-lot junkmen to "turn over" their cars every 60 days or face the penalty of having the rusty metal requisitioned by the government.

In one eastern state of average size, it was said, the junkyards had 14,000 cars, enough metal to make 2,300,000 three-inch shells; 9,000 75-mm. howitzers or 6,000 anti-aircraft guns.

TRAINING PROGRAMS:
For Army Forces

War Secretary Stimson has announced that 100,000 men and women will be trained for civilian jobs—including overhaul and repair mechanics, production workers, inspectors at government factories, depots and arsenals—in government and state-owned schools and rented facilities of private technical schools. Eligible men must be outside the age and other selective service requirements. Students will be paid $900 to $1,400 a year in training. Courses vary from 15 weeks to four months. Applications may be made to any civil service commission local office.

The Army institute has been established at Madison, Wis., to provide for enlisted men with at least four months active service, correspondence study in more than 65 courses in English, social studies, mathematics, science, business and engineering at a cost of two dollars a course.

Army Ground Forces Commander McNair announced selection of a site "west of the Colorado river" for large-scale troop training in modern desert warfare, part of a program to develop task forces for mountain, airborne and armored warfare and for joint ground operations. The department said the replacement and school command will open headquarters at Birmingham, Ala., and the anti-aircraft command at Richmond, Va., before April 1. The former will include 14 schools and replacement centers, including officer candidate schools. A military police replacement training center will be established at Fort Riley, Kan., about April 8, to accommodate 1,800 trainees from all sections of the country. Mr. Stimson said the R.O.T.C. program will be maintained in colleges, but the army cannot supply material and personnel to provide pre-induction training at such institutions.

ATLANTIC:

Sinkings continued at a rapid pace along the Atlantic seaboard, though there were not so many on the regular sea-lanes carrying commerce between Britain and the U. S.

Yet there were favorable signs, and measures were being taken to make the lot of the submarine harder, and to cut down sinkings.

One of these was the dim-out or black-out of lights of cities and resorts along the coast, particularly along sea-lanes frequented by coastwise vessels.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—We have mislaid the name of the philosopher who said all adult nations were "time-binders"—that they had an alert sense of historicity, looking studiously, if not pensively, backward as well as forward. Brig. Gen. William H. Bisbee, taking a bow this day as the oldest man in the new Who's Who in America, suggests this salutary exercise. He was 102 last January 28. He fought in four wars, and the story of what he and his country have been through gives a hint that perhaps somebody smuggled a rabbit's foot into that arcanum of the national archives at Washington.

General Fought 4 Wars; Commanded By 5 Presidents

"Filthy days of war," the general once wrote, "walking through creeks barelegged to save our tattered clothes."

He enlisted in the Civil war after Bull Run, when Washington was somewhat less orderly and rational than a squirrel-cage. He knew not only mud, rags and tatters, but the stark horrors of blood and hunger, weariness and desperation, and the maddening disorder of bureaucracy and graft in Washington.

For 25 years, after 1865, he fought Indians, along the trails out from Leavenworth and pulled 100 arrows from the body of his fallen friend—99 for torture and one for a vital spot—an old Indian custom. In the Pangasinian province in the Philippines, he trailed guerrillas through jungle slime, and caught and hanged 30 of them. That rounded out his four wars—Civil, Indian, Spanish-American and Philippine Insurrection.

In 1900 President Theodore Roosevelt made him a brigadier general, and he retired the next year, to coast along through serene and sunny years in his native New England, at Brookline, Mass. He is a handsome, white-bearded, soldierly old gentleman, honored on each birthday by a representation from the war department at his party.

He was born and reared in Woonsocket, R. I., and was a young merchant of Delaware, Ohio, when he answered Lincoln's call. In addition to Lincoln, his army commissions were signed by Presidents Johnson, Cleveland, McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt.

◆

HUGO GROTIUS, the Dutchman who laid the foundation for what is now somewhat apologetically known as international law, backed down a lot on hard and fast principles, in his later books, but he never quit trying. That was early in the Seventeenth century. The Dutch carried on from where he left off and pretty much put their trade mark on international law.

Like Grotius, Who Never Quit Trying, Dutch'll Carry On!

Premier Peter Gerbrandy, of the Netherland government in exile, expounded and amplified Grotius, as professor of international law at the University of Amsterdam. He now says the Dutch not only will keep on writing law but will keep on fighting the lawless, in their lowlands home or in the Pacific island jungles. He is a devout Christian who professes an unshakeable belief that the word, bravely defended, becomes flesh.

The professor was never conspicuous in affairs of state until a year or two before the Nazis came. He sounded many warnings of trouble ahead and when it came, disclosed amazing capacity for quick and effective action, always a jump ahead of the supposedly practical men. He pulled together the all-inclusive coalition government and became the head of ten ministries, representing five closely-knit parties. He was the big surprise which bad times so often bring forth.

He is no ascetic, but, instead drinks good Holland gin and smokes good cigars, being a connoisseur of such commodities and a foe of sumptuary legislation. He is a plump, agile, rosy, roly-poly little man, who likes to argue and philosophize and have a good time at one and the same time.

A pipe addict was reproved by a critic. "Smoking a pipe will destroy your memory, turn you to mediation rather than action, and make you altogether useless," he said.

"Can you imagine Adolf Hitler smoking a pipe, fading the house in a crap game, or fetching a long swipe in the German equivalent of Sweet Adeline?" asked the pipe-smoker. "No, you can't. No seasoned pipe-smoker ever started a war and none ever will. Grim, sadistic ascetics like Hitler start wars because they never had a good time and want to get even."

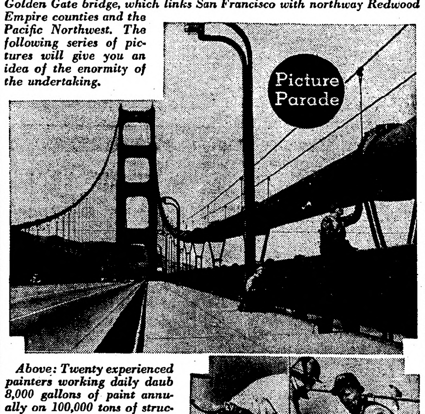
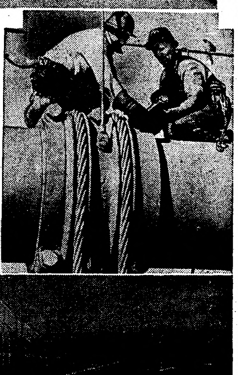
Eternal War on Elements

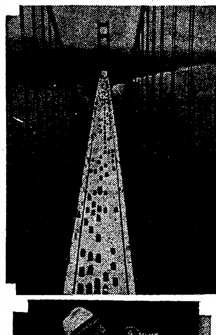
Protection against the ravages of dust, salt air, moisture and storm, is a never-ending battle for engineers of the spectacular $35,000,000 Golden Gate bridge, which links San Francisco with northway Redwood Empire counties and the Pacific Northwest. The following series of pictures will give you an idea of the enormity of the undertaking.



Above: Twenty experienced painters working daily daub 8,000 gallons of paint annually on 100,000 tons of structural steel and 80,000 miles of tough wire cables in an effort to prevent deterioration of the world's tallest and longest single span suspension bridge. Right: Seven hundred forty-six feet above Golden Gate, two men inspect main "saddles" and weatherproof shrouds of the 36½ inch diameter steel cables.



Sentinel of the Pacific, perpetual tribute to modern engineering skill, the Golden Gate bridge (above) tests the ingenuity of man to combat time and weather. A mighty battleship passes beneath the majestic structure.



Left: Hundreds of feet below the tops of the main cable towers, the 6-lane motor vehicle, plus two pedestrian walks, carry a heavy volume of traffic, 266 feet above the water, to and from Redwood Empire counties.

Looking through engineer's transit to determine horizontal and vertical deflection—said to vary as much as 7 feet during severe storms.

Thermometers record temperature which has a direct bearing on expansion and contraction of the bridge.

Tie Up Icebergs

Whaling ships in the Antarctic are frequently followed by small icebergs propelled by the forward movement set up by the vessels in the air around them, reports Collier's. When a ship cannot get away from one of these nuisances after several days, even by turning quickly to port or starboard, members of the crew have to take an old cable and tie it up to a large berg.

Search Completed For Heavy Duty Laundry Soap That's Rayon-Safe

Chicago, March 20 — Rayon experts of the Better Fabrics Testing Bureau and the U. S. Testing Co. today hailed the sucessful completion of their scientific quest for a soap that not only satisfied women's needs for washing power but was also safe for rayons.

An informed source revealed that hundreds of exhaustive tests were made by both of these nationally known laboratories. Finally, a well known soap called Super Suds was approved as being Rayon-Safe.

The reason these tests were made, it was stated, was because so many women had asked for specific information. As a consequence, the following set of rayon washing rules were decided upon by the laboratory experts. (1) Test a small patch of the rayon in plain water for colorfastness. If color runs, it's not washable. (2) Wash rayons separately, by hand, with lukewarm suds. Use Rayon-Safe soap. (3) Do not soak rayons. Wash quickly and gently. Do not rub, wring or twist. (4) Rinse thoroughly, gently, in clean lukewarm water. Roll in towel, but don't leave there. (5) Use a moderate iron.

Lorna Peterson and Joe Moline of Crookston visited relatives here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lattick of Chisholm spent the week end at Geo. Fricker home. Mrs. Fricker and Mrs. Lattick are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wegge of Thief River Falls visited relatives here Saturday evening.

Mrs. Iver Larson left on Friday for a visit with her folks at Inverness, Montana.

Ruth and Marvin Horien of Waubin visited relatives here over the week end.

Species of Salmon

There are only five species of salmon in North America, although many are the names of the salmon fish. The five species are chinook, silver, sockeye, dog and humpback. Under the chinook specie are the king, chinook, tyee, spring and blackmouth. Jack salmon is a young male salmon of any species which matures a year earlier than normal. It is only found as a chinook, a silver salmon or a sockeye. A Blueback is generally accepted as another name for sockeye, although it has different local meanings. Coho is another name for silver salmon.

Select Good Planting Stock

Planting stock for a farmstead shelterbelt or field windbreak can often be secured without cost, says R. A. Reierson, county agent, by using wild seedlings and cuttings. Commercial nurseries are a reliable source for those wishing to purchase tree stock.

Regardless of the source, R. A. Reierson warns that it is important to select sizes which are readily planted and easily grown. Varieties should be adapted to growing conditions in this region.

Broadleaf trees, such as ash and elm, are most suitable for planting as seedlings 12 to 18 inches high. Transplanting the larger sized trees ranging from three to seven feet high is not only a tedious operation but the losses are often very high. Spruce and pine transplants should be at least four years old to give satisfactory growth.

Cottonwood and willow cuttings from one or two-year-old twigs and branches will grow successfully. Cuttings are best made while trees are dormant and until planting time should be kept in damp condition. It is important to keep the cuttings where they will not freeze.

Common varieties most generally suited to farm planting are green ash, American elm, hackberry, cottonwood, Norway poplar, Russian olive, golden and laural leaf willow. Most hardy evergreens are Colorado spruce, Black Hills spruce, white spruce, ponderosa pine and jack pine.

Farmers in this area who plan to order their tree stock from nurseries are urged to decide now on the number needed and place their orders early. Further information on tree planting this spring may be had at the county agent's office.

"Food for Freedom" Loans

Even the smallest agricultural producers in the rural area of Marshall and Pennington counties, regardless of the size of their acreages or whether they farm on a full or part time basis, can make a valuable contribution to America's total war effort by increasing production of food and feed for home use and for the market.

This statement was made by H. W. Thelander, county supervisor of the Farm Security Administration, in calling attention to the fact that in addition to its lending program for family size farm operators, Farm Security is now authorized to make special "Food for Freedom" loans to rural families on acreages which are smaller than regular farm units, to enable them to take part in the increased production campaign.

The Special "Food for Freedom" loans can be made in the amounts up to $500, at 5 per cent interest, Mr. Thelander said. They are repayable in one year when used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, tools, and equipment for conserving food stuff, and to rent equipment, work stock or power. A borrower may have up to five years to repay a loan for the purchase of machinery, work stock, cows, heifers, calves, pigs chickens, materials for fencing and building shelter for livestock and feed, supplies for operating and repairing farm equipment, and materials and equipment for constrction of food storage.

As is the case with all F S A loans they are available only to families unable to obtain credit from any other source.

"In Pennington and Marshall counties," Mr. Thelander said, "there are a number of farms under 80 acres, according to the 1940 U. S. census of agriculture. The people on these acreages may not be engaged in full-time farming. They may be getting most of their income from work off the fanm or from public assistance. It is these people we hope to be able to help most with the special "Food for Freedom" loans.

"These loans are a recocgnition of the fact that even the smallest producers can help out in the campaign for more food, if given the chance. Their contribution is needed as much as that or larger operators if the 1942 goals, calling for the greatest production of food and fiber in the nation's history, are to be reached.

Persons interested in these loans contact the supervisor.

The annual Bible Camp Night will be held at Nazareth Lutheran Church on Sunday evening. The program will consist largely of emphasis on the annual Camp held at the Lake of the Woods Bible Camp, near Baudette. A "Boat Sing" will be re-enacted this year. Then there will also be movies shown of camp life. Lunch will be served by the Campers following the program. There will be a collection which will be used for maintaining the Bible Camp. All are invited to attend. All former campers are urged to be present at the L. L. Social for rehearsal for this program.

Willie Sorum was taken to the Veterans hospital at Fargo after a seige of illness at his home. He will remain there for some time. Ben Fisher and H. C. Cook of Newfolden accompanied him there.

The Weather

The weather the past week has been rather chilly here but, it looks now as if we are to have a warm spell. Heat and wind is what we need to take up the surplus moisture of which there is a surplus this spring.

Garden for Victory

The schools of this community are all taking part in a "Garden for Victory" program according to Miss Fern Peterson, teacher at the Pioneer School. The government is trying all it can to have the people raise a big garden in 1942. The teachers who are helping get this gigantic program underway are to be commended for their fine work.

This Week For Victory

Enough scrap iron when mixed with other material to make 913,000 aerial bombs weighing 500 pounds each, or enough scrap iron to construct more than 3,100 medium tanks weighing 27 tons each, has been marketed by Minnesota farmers during the past six months, Charles W. Stickney, State USDA War Board and AAA chairman, announced today.

A recent farm-to-farm survey made for the War Board by AAA farmer elected committeemen reveals approximately 114,235,000 pounds of scrap has been collected off farms and sold. Around 81,000,000 lbs. remain on farms.

Price List On Used Tires

Persons wishing to ascertain the maximum prices that have been establised for used tires and tubes may do so by calling at the offices of their local rationing boards, T. G. Driscoll, state rationing director, pointed out this week.

The local boards have been furnished with a full copy of the regulations, Driscoll said, and owners of cars and trucks may learn the price for tires and tubes for any particular vehicle by consulting this list. Prices vary, not only with size but in accordance with the depth of the tread remaining.

The maximum prices on used tires and tubes were established by Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, following complaint that excessive prices were being charged for the tires and tubes in many localities. Heavy penalties are imposed under the federal regulations on dealers who charge more than the specified prices. The dealers also are required as a further protection to keep the maximum prices posted in their places of business.

Willie Larson, E. O. Waagedahl and L. F. Larson, members of the Holt Township Board spent Tuesday at Warren conferring with the county board in regards to getting some money for town roads in Holt Township.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Jap Failure to Overwhelm Australia Brings Revision of Pacific Timetable; Anti-War Feeling Grows in Bulgaria As Government Meets Nazi Demands

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

TIMETABLE:
Revised

There had been much talk about the Japanese timetable being awry, but to the man in the street this was hard to believe, since the Japs had swept the East Indies, including Singapore, but excluding Bataan and Manila Bay fortresses, in the unbelievably short period since December 7.

However, it had become apparent that the Japanese plans to enter the Australian mainland had suffered a severe setback in the arrival of thousands of American troops on the continent, in the all-out plane attack on Jap concentrations in islands to the north of Australia, and in the reported reinforcements being received by the Aussies of their own blooded troops back from northern Africa.

These were signs all could read. The attacks on New Guinea had been going on far too long in comparison with those on other islands in the Indies without the Japs moving in for the Australian "kill."

It was inconceivable that the Japanese wanted to wait until the Americans and North African troops had landed, had become organized. They had not wanted MacArthur, and President Quezon to escape to the mainland.

Nor did they want their enemy to be holding onto Port Moresby at this late date, with its airfields and garrisons awaiting a Jap push over the almost impassable mountainsides to the southern part of the island.

Here, it was evident, the Japs had met serious delay. Many believed the attack on Australia was to be abandoned, thus setting the stage for a real Allied counter-offensive.

The Australians, however, particularly General Blamey, who had been placed in command of the Aussies under General MacArthur, believe that "We must arrange our strategy on the basis that the Japs are going to try an invasion."

BULGARS:
Reported on Move

The Bulgarian army had been reported on the move to the German eastern front, the government having acceded to the Nazi demands that it furnish troops for the offensive against Russia.

But the move, highly disturbing to Turkey as well as to the bulk of the Bulgar people, was not without sharp criticism from within, almost amounting to revolution.

An anti-war movement had been gaining in popularity, and when two divisions were withdrawn from the Turkish frontier, reportedly to move against Russia, one radio station kept broadcasting an appeal to the people to "rise and emulate brave Jugoslavia." It called for the throwing out of King Boris, who was described as "only a German pawn," and "in Berlin with Von Papen."

KING BORIS
Only a German pawn?

Cause of all this antagonism toward active entrance into the war on Germany's side was the blood kinship felt by Bulgars, as well as Jugoslavs, in the main, for Russians.

It was not considered unlikely that the government might be overthrown, and that the army itself might rebel against orders sending them into action against the Reds. A possibility was seen that they might only make a "token" of fighting, and surrender rather than meet the fate which mutiny would bring.

The Jugoslavs, who overturned their government, only to succumb to unpreparedness and Croatian defections, were still fighting in force, and a Jugoslav guerrilla force of 100,000 was reported about to start a "spring offensive" of its own against the Nazi army of occupation.

Chief worrier about the Bulgar situation was Turkey, who saw in this move of soldiery the war coming every nearer to her borders.

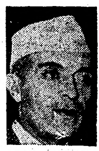
Political circles in Berlin suggested that King Boris might renounce his old east Thracian aspirations.

INDIA:
At Crossroads

While there had been no immediate indication that the Japs were to make India the supreme objective, and abandon any idea of an immediate invasion of Australia, the situation in Burma was serious enough to give poignancy to the visit of Sir Stafford Cripps and his offer of dominion status to India—after the war.

The sharp division of opinion in India placed three men and their followers in the forefront of the picture, Gandhi, Nehru and Jinnah. Gandhi, the Mahatma, leader of more Hindus than any other man, had been the first to confer with Cripps, and a two-hour conference had found the two men willing to admit that the basis of negotiations was "satisfactory."

But the handling of Nehru and Jinnah was a horse of another color. Despite the fact that Gandhi had been more than any other man the leader of resistance to British rule, he was regarded as more reasonable, more desirous of defending India than the other leaders.



Jawaharlal Nehru

Mohandas K. Gandhi

Nehru, the congress chieftain, prior to talking with Cripps had said that anything less than a promise of complete independence would be inadequate.

"Japan is offering us that," he said boldly. While he professed no "love for the aggressor," he said that British failure to offer independence would leave India no recourse other than to adopt a passive resistance to the Japs, which he admitted would be no practical resistance at all.

Nehru frankly did not believe the British could achieve Indian unity, blaming Jinnah, the Moslem head. He said that Jinnah was insisting on a divided freedom for India, and that while he, Nehru, was willing to "go along" with any type of freedom, he doubted that England was going to accede to Jinnah's demands.

Relations were worse at the time of Cripps' arrival than at any time in history, Nehru said, talking darkly of civil war being "just around the corner," an eventuality which most observers believed would be suicidal with Japan knocking at the nation's eastern borders.

COMMANDOS:
Hit Daring Blow

Britain's commandos, after a lull of several weeks during which they doubtless had been "cooking" another raid, had descended in full power on the German-held port of St. Nazaire, important submarine and naval base, with dire results.

Chief objective, outside of general demolition work around the port, had been the destruction of a huge dock, the only one on the European Atlantic coast capable of handling the 35,000-ton German battleship Von Tirpitz.

The commandos had attacked St. Nazaire under cover of an aerial bombing raid, using paratroops, destroyers, and motor-torpedo boats. The Nazis denied all efficacy of the raid, but the British just as positively declared it to have been a huge success.

Chief item and most daring in the raid was the use of an overage U. S. destroyer as a swiftly moving bomb to ram the dock. The destroyer had been loaded with five tons of high explosive in its bow, fixed with a time fuse to permit the crew to get ashore and fight while the ship blew up.

British sources had reported that this was just what happened. The vessel rammed the dock and stuck there, later to blow up and put the structure out of commission.

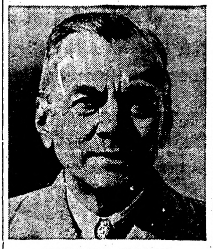
The Germans said, however, that their coastal defense batteries struck the destroyer and caused her to blow up before reaching her objective.

The Germans, however, admitted that many of the raiders got ashore, but claimed they were all killed or captured. The British said there "were some casualties," but that the objectives were carried out, and that many members of the raiding forces returned in safety to England.

It was all part of the British spring offensive, which included practically non-stop raids against Germany and occupied France.

The U. S. destroyer found at her end a place in history along with the Vindictive and the blockships of Zeebrugge fame.

BATAAN:
More Bombs



MANUEL L. QUEZON
Relief not long in coming.

Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, picking up where General MacArthur left off, was continuing the Bataan campaign, and Corregidor had withstood the heaviest bombing attacks of the war.

The guns of Corregidor and her sister fortresses had hammered away at flights of Jap bombers, dropping four one day, two the next, with others "probably downed or damaged."

President Quezon, on his arrival with his family and cabinet in Australia, predicted that the iron stand of Wainwright's men soon would receive its reward, and that relief for the Philippine garrison would "not be long in coming."

The Filipino president had been variously reported as killed, dead of disease, and murdered on orders of General MacArthur. Actually, he had never left MacArthur's headquarters, and had flown to Australia to take his stand there again.

AMERICANS:
Cupid 'Down Under'

Most interesting while the American troops were training in Australia, becoming acclimated, and "meeting the people" was the flood of romance sweeping over the continent.

Literally scores of marriages were being performed, causing all sorts of reactions.

Some of the Aussie clergy deplored these "marriages in haste," and one cleric had the bad taste to say the "Americans came here to fight, not to get married."

The Australian public met the romances with whoops of joy, and the press was definitely on the side of young love.

One American commanding officer forbade his soldiers to get married, and drew down on himself howls of rage from the rank and file, and a reprimand from his superiors.

The war department in Washington capped this climax by issuing a statement that any American soldier had a perfect right to get married as long as he did his duty as a soldier, and obeyed the commands of his superiors—and was free to get married.

And that, after all, turned out to be the only major worry of those who watched Cupid's darts flying right and left in Australia—the fear that some enthusiastic lovers might forget that they had wives at home.

RUBBER-OIL:
German Patents

Congressmen had been looking with a wary and angry eye at the Standard Oil group which, it had been publicly charged, had possession of a superior rubber-oil formula, and had been negotiating with it, and turning its patents over to a German concern even after December 7.

For a time things had looked most serious, with Senator Truman saying: "It looks like treason and I'm going to give the Standard officials a chance to show why it isn't," but this feature of the case simmered down a couple of days later when he said he was "willing to let bygones be bygones."

But the aftermath was that Standard and its process for making rubber out of oil was on the spot, and its every move was being watched. Truman said he didn't like the looks of the deal whereby the government was constructing plants for making aviation gasoline.

"It looks as though the big companies are freezing out the little ones, and that they will make enough profit out of their contracts to pay for the government buildings," he said.

Another aftermath of the congressional probe into conditions surrounding the rubber-making deals with German firms was that Truman said in the future no foreign pacts of any sort might be made without government scrutiny and approval.

Congress didn't want to be caught napping again.

OFFENSIVE:

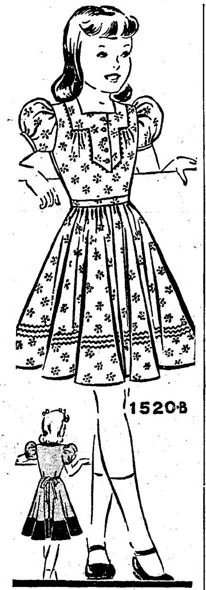
The oft-repeated question "where will Hitler's spring offensive strike" had been sufficiently answered by dispatches from Moscow.

Activity was definitely on the lull in North Africa.

Activity across the channel was largely from England to Germany, with the Nazis on the defensive.

But on the Russian front, both at Murmansk and all along the whole 2,000-mile line, the Reds themselves were admitting widely increased German activity.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE



A NEW and different yoke treatment brightens the top of the "teen-age" frock which we present today. A clever detail, this yoke carries a front opening for the bodice and in addition gives that originality which younger girls seek in their fashions! Pattern No. 1520-B is bound to be regarded highly by the younger set anyhow, because it also presents that very popular feature—the dirndl skirt—in this case a dirndl skirt with a snug fitting belt which ties in back with sash ends.

J. Fuller Pep
By JERRY LINK

Nothing much gets by Old Judge Wiggins! "Fuller," he says to me, "just about the only thing that can keep on growing without nourishment is some folks' conceit."
And speakin' o' nourishment reminds me that you got to get all your vitamins. That's why I keep tellin' folks about KELLOGG'S PEP. 'Course PEP hasn't all the vitamins. But it's extra-rich in the two most likely to be short in ordinary meals—vitamins B1 and D. And PEP's a jim-dandy tastin' cereal, too. Why not try it tomorrow?
Kellogg's Pep
A delicious cereal that supplies per 1-ounce serving: 1/2 daily need of vitamin D; 4/5 to 1/5 minimum daily need of vitamin B1.

Mose Knew Not What Lucy Talked Of, but How!

Before the court on wife-brought charges of desertion and non-support, Mose Brown meekly admitted his guilt and offered nothing in extenuation except that the lady talked too much.

"That's no excuse for desertion, Mose," said the judge. "The law gives a woman the right to talk all she wants to."

"Yassuh, Jedge. I knows it do. Only Lucy she never stop talkin'. She keep it up stiddy, mo'nin', noon and night, till I cain't stan' it no mo'."

"She does? What does she talk about?" inquired the court.

"Jedge, suh," Moses said, "she don't say."

½"X4" BOARD WITH MOULDING AT TOP MAKES CORNICE AROUND ROOM

LONG before we were threatened with the necessity of blackouts window draperies were hung well over walls to give rooms a sunny spacious effect. The same idea may now be used to keep light in at night. A cornice taking the place of a picture moulding is smart for both modern and traditional rooms and gives anchorage near the ceiling for rod, or pole.

This sketch shows how one homemaker made cheerful, soft green sateen blackout draperies, repeating a tone in the chintz of the new slip covers. They are edged with cotton cord fringe in a darker tone.

Washington: Congress is now in the middle of what the newspaped boys call a two-weeks vacation, which simply means that leaders in both houses have agreed that no important controversial legislation will be considered for a couple of weeks.

About half of the members of both houses will use the opportunity for a visit back home, where the odds are most of them will be on the go fourteen or sixteen hours a day. A few actually will take a rest but most of the other half will remain in Washington, cleaning up the hundred and one jobs that accumulated during the long hours on the floor and in committees the past month or two.

Draft Registration April 27

I have again been asked by the Marshall County Local Draft Boare to take charge of registration of all men who have reached their 45th birthday on or before February 16th, 1942, and have not attained their 65th birthday on April 27, 1942. Said registration for this community will be held in the Village Hall, on Monday, April 27th 1942, between the hours of 7:00 A. M. to 9:00 P. M. of said day.

Due to the fact that this will be a large registration I will need the assistance of at least four and perhaps six volunteer registrars. All registrars, including myself, must serve without pay, and anyone wishing to volunteer to assist me should advice me not later than Friday, April 24th so that the proper hours may be arranged.

Yours for Victory

Salvage All Rubber Now

Arvid Carlson, Marshall County Chairman of the Salvage for Victory Committee, urged that a concentrated effort be made by the people of Marshall County to salvage all their old and discarded rubber. Mr. Carlson stated, "I have this week received a bulletin from the government telling of the critical shortage of rubber."

Mr. Carlson urged that all of Marshall county save their scrap rubber. If every person in the United States salvaged one pound of rubber, the result would be 66,000 tons of scrap rubber. Mr. O. T. Ness, captain of the Holt district will make arrangements with some local organization to take charge of the collection of such rubber.

Such items as tires, tubes, overshoes and rubbers, bath and sink mats, garden hose, hot water bottles, ice bags, crepe soles, rubber heels, toys, and in short anything made of rubber that has outlived its usefulness have a definite salvage value. Even such small articles as fruit jar rubber rings shoul be saved.

War is a grim business. Modern warfare requires motorized equipment. Motorized equipment requires rubber.

Salvage your rubber now.

Conservation Benefits Wildlife

America's fish and wildlife resources are perishable and can not be neglebted even in war time without sacrificing an important element in the American way of living.

So declared Mr. Carl B. Vogen, Refuge Manager, stationed at the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge in calling attention to the fifth annual National Wildlife Week which begings on April 12. Sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation, the annual observance of this week was inaugurated by a proclamation of President Roosevelt in 1938.

Vogen pointed out that the Fish and Wildlife Service of the United States Department of the Interior, with which he is employed, is participating in the week's observance this year because wildlife is a resources that the nation must take care of at all times--just as individuals have to guard their own resources while doing their utmost to win the war.

Conservation, profitable at all times, is particularly so during war time, the Service employee emphasized. Effective use of natural resources is possible today because conservation policies have been pursued in the past.

Among the contribution that the Fish and Wildlife Service is making to the war, Vogen mentioned: Providing for food supplies from the fisheries; protecting livestock, crops, food-stores, and vital stocks of merchandise from predators and rodents; encouraging a good national morale through outdoor recreation; and correcting water polution.

Our annual harvest of fishery products amounts to about four and a half billion pounds, he said, most of which is being used for Lend-Lease requirements.

Through Service control campaigns last year, 123,000 predatory animals were taken, resulting in savings of wool and meat supplies.

Fish and Wildlife Service operations have been reduced to a war-time minimum, Vogen said. Employees are entering the services and war agencies. Materials formerly used for refuge development are going now into war construction. Boats have been taken over by the Navy. And in other ways national eforts far improving wildlife conditions have been diverted to the task of winning the war in the least possible time.

"The Service has three timely responsibilities," he continued. "We are making our war contributions in the most effective way possible. Every step which will not delay the war effort is being taken to prevent damage to wildlife. Finally we are trying to see that the principles of conservation and the importance of an abundant wildlife are not forgotten,

"Americans who have been defending national resources are double-quick in defending the nation itself," Vogen concluded. "As individuals and groups they have adapted their activities to the major urgencies of the war, but they are emphasizing the long-time needs for conservation.

The Weather

The weather the past week has been lovely here. Warm winds have helped to dry up the top moisture and the higher land is soon getting in shape where the farmers can start to do some field work.

Raise More Flax

Because of increasing importance of oil in the nation's war effort, the conserving acerage requirement of the Argicultural Conservation Program has been readjusted, Chas. N. Kranz, chairman of the Marshall County Conservation Committee, announced this week.

Under the new regulations, an acerage of flax used as a nurse crop for biennial or perrenial legumes or grasses will qualify under the 20 per cent minimum soil conserving requirement. Up to now only 40 percent of the flax acerage could be classed as soil conserving.

The adjustment also permits seeding of flax alone if matched with an equal acerage of new seedings of legumes or grasses with other nurse crops, and may be harvested as grain and used to meet the minimum soil conserving requirement. The change also provides for flax storage at both farm and terminal elevator.

"Business as usual is out, and farmers should adjust their production to the nation's needs", Kranz said, pointing out that "wheat acres, not necessary at this time, can be used to grow this vital war crop."

"Nearly every piece of war equipment, from army tents to packing on submarines calls for linseed oil, a product available only from flax", Kranz continued "At this time, when winning the war is our most important job, it behoves every farmer to seriously consider flax as an important part of his farm plan."

Three Ladies Killed

Three Thief River Falls ladies were killed in a train and auto collision at Thief River Falls at 6:15 p. m. Monday, when they were hit by the Great Northern southbound passenger train as they were crossing the track near the fair grounds. The driver of the car was Mrs. A. Hovland, 65 years old who died at 9:15 from a skull fracture. The other two were Mrs. Geo. Wilson, 62 and Mrs. Lena Umland, 72. They died at the scene of the crash as they were riding in the back seat of the car where it was hit.

Salvage Day Was Successful

The Salvage for Victory Day held here last Friday was a huge success. The people here really turned out for this occasion and are all to be thanked for their splendid cooperation in putting this Victory Day over.

Mr. Arvid Carlson, Middle River, chairman of the Marshall County Salvage for Victory Committee was here early and made all arrangements for the program.

O. T. Ness, captain of the Holt district was chairman for the day and took charge of the afternoon program. The first speaker was Mr. Carlson who gave a fine outline of why we have these days now and, he also introduced the main speaker for the day, Father Francis Koshian of Florian, Minn., who gave a very good talk on salvage for victory and stressed the fact that we must be willing to do all we can in order to be sure to preserve our independence and freedom.

The local Boy Scout troop served lunch to several hundred people after the program. The scouts were donated a big lot of waste paper during the day A local high school girl gave them 860 pounds. In all they got almost two ton of paper. Many tons of iron and other material were broug in and sold.

Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.
When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Anti-Nazi Unity in Norway, Denmark Brings New War Threat to Sweden; Advent of Spring Weather Heralded By Increased Battlefront Activity

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

TOLL:
Of U. S.-Jap War

News, some good, some bad, continued from the various battlefronts on which American troops and sailors were meeting the might of Nippon.

The navy had admitted the loss of three warships, the aircraft tender and former carrier Langley, the navy tanker Pecos and the destroyer Peary, with the loss of some 700 lives.

This had been a bitter tragedy of the waters off Java, adding to the awful toll of the Battle of Java Sea. First the Langley, spotted by Jap planes, had been "smothered in bombs."

Her crew, all but about a dozen men, got safely off, swam about, clinging to debris, until picked up by destroyers, later transferred to the Pecos. The latter, trying to escape to Australia, was caught by flights of Jap dive bombers, evaded the first run but was smashed in the second. With two crews aboard one boat, the loss of life was heavy.

The Peary was done to death in the Aussies' port of Darwin, but went to the bottom with all guns blazing, her commander dying at his post.

Not all was to be defeat, however, for our naval forces. American submarines had taken a heavy toll of Japanese shipping in the neighborhood of Bali and south of Java, and in the Christmas island region.

Following these disclosures, the navy reported that since the start of the war 47 Japanese ships of war had certainly been sent to the bottom against 24 for the American navy.

More than 200 ships of all types had been sunk, many of them by plane action, many by submarines, many by army planes and shore guns.

This rate of loss was deemed certain to be more than the Japs could stand, while America was increasing her production average of more than two ships of war daily going into the water, and more than this number of merchant vessels.

With the attack on Australia definitely turned back, at least for the time being, military leaders were taking a more optimistic tone as to the chances for a 1942 offensive in the South Pacific.

UNREST:
In Norway, Denmark

Observers, still writing frankly and against the Nazis in the Stockholm press, saw the spring season bringing even more anti-German unity to the Danes and the Norwegians.

Both nations were finally realizing that all German promises of post-war freedom were obviously false, and that occupation and puppet government meant simply conquest.

The Danes were united behind two national heroes, the king and the minister to the United States. Henrik de Kauffman, the latter, one German had been angrily quoted, was the No. 1 Danish Hero in the eyes of the people.

HENRIK DE KAUFFMANN
Number one Danish hero.

As to the Norwegians, their resistance to the Quisling government had solidified until no risk was too great for the people to impede the puppet leaders. Evidence was that Germany plans on giving Quisling enough rope to hang himself.

Sweden was not inclined to view these developments with joy, but rather with fear, seeing the day not far distant when she, too, would be drawn into the war.

PROFITS:

Agreement by a senate committee on the principle of limitation of war profits by industry had brought to light reported profits running as high as 4,000 per cent on invested capital.

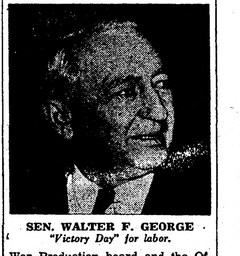
While, with the government pouring capital into essential industry, such profits always would be great, the senators felt that a sliding scale of maximum permissible profits might be the answer.

Some companies had returned excess profits, one check to the government amounting to $40,000,000.

HARMONY:
And Discord

All had not been too harmonious in this country, though in general the nation was moving swiftly enough along the path of production for the war to meet the goals and schedules set by President Roosevelt.

But there were manifold bickerings along the pathway. News stories said that there was to be a sugar rationing beginning in May. Then other dispatches cited that the War Production board and the Office of Price Administration were at odds on the sugar situation, and the whole thing might be called off—that there really was plenty of sugar.



SEN. WALTER F. GEORGE
"Victory Day" for labor.

This was hotly and instantly denied by Donald Nelson, who said not only was there no friction, but that the sugar rationing was necessary and would be carried out.

There also was a terrific argument in progress over the time and a half overtime paid war workers for the 48-hour week, under the law that the work week at straight time should not exceed 40 hours.

The President had maintained his position as squarely behind the 40-hour week, and while some senators and congressmen fought against excess profits by employers, others were busy going after labor's overtime.

Senator George of Georgia was a leader in the battle, suggesting that the 48-hour week be adopted and the sixth day of work be called a "victory day," the workers passing up their overtime, but to be paid it if the seventh day were worked.

THAW:
Russian for Slush

Just what the great Russian thaw had meant was vividly described in dispatches from Kuibyshev. They called it "more formidable than a moated citadel."

One writer said: "Imagine all the swamps you ever saw. Imagine all the muddy ditches your automobile had whizzed past. Imagine millions and millions of mudbaths. Into all this dump billions of tons of grayish snow and stir thoroughly."

That's a thaw in Russia. The Russian mud clings to feet and to tanks. One correspondent said he saw a trackwalker on the railroad jump off the track to let a train pass. The man was buried to his waist in muddy slush. His comrades had to pull him out with a rope.

CRITICAL YEAR:
War Tempo Speeded

The World could feel, with the quickening of life in springtime fields and trees, the speeding of the tempo of the war on half a dozen fronts, and the vigorous battering of nation against nation that was to make 1942 the critical year of the World war.

In the "land down under" the seasons were reversed, with Australia moving into the fall season, but as the threat was to the tropical north of the continent, weather made little difference.

But in Russia, in occupied Europe, and on the embattled oceans the changing weather was bringing faster reports of action afloat and in the air.

Across the English channel had been moving huge flights of bombing planes, of late more often than not accompanied by high and low squadrons of fighter planes, giving the "big berthas" protection from the defending Nazi ships, and they were dropping death and destruction over a widening area.

The Japs were ripping at full speed into India's flanks, the Nazis on the eastern front were redoubling their pressure against the Soviet, and were said to be rushing 4,000,000 new troops into action. The Russ were countering, so it was reported, with upward of 7,000,000 men, many of them fresh troops.

Temperatures had gone above freezing on much of the Russian front, and the torrential rains of springtime had been falling. The battle of the central and southern fronts in Russia were expected to be the most bitter of the war.

FAMOUS ALL-BRAN MUFFINS. EASY TO MAKE. DELICIOUS!
They really are the most delicious muffins that ever melted a pat of butter! Made with crisp, toasted shreds of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, they have a texture and flavor that have made them famous all over America.
KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN MUFFINS
2 tablespoons shortening ¾ cup milk
¼ cup sugar 1 cup flour
1 egg ½ teaspoon salt
1 cup All-Bran 2½ teaspoons baking powder
Cream shortening and sugar; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 6 large muffins, 3 inches in diameter, or 12 small muffins, 2¼ inches in diameter.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

Farm Youths Guard 'Home Front'

Picture Parade

Above photo shows one way thousands of rural youths from coast to coast are learning new trades this year under a $15,000,000 "out-of-school" training program being supervised by the U. S. office of education. One purpose of the project is to train young men who can take the place in civilian jobs of skilled workmen being called for service in America's fast-expanding war industry program. Secondary aims are to prepare farm and small town youths to work in agriculture as it becomes increasingly more mechanized, and to fit them for mechanical work in the army should they be called for service. Almost every state in the Union is now offering instruction under direction of a state vocational office.

Metalworking, forging, woodworking, operation and repair of motors are among the courses being offered. Above, students learn how to cut metal at the Schenley company's machine shop at Frankfort, Ky., where these pictures were taken. Plant technicians donate their services as instructors.

At left, youths learn how to use a power drill, while student at right is getting his first lesson in forging. Officials estimate that 75 per cent of the courses are being given in rural areas, because big city youths can usually secure similar training at regular trade schools.

Youth is being trained today for a mechanized tomorrow.

At the Parting Goldwyn Sadly Disillusioned Author

This story is told by a man who is writing a new movie for Sam Goldwyn. One day the author met Goldwyn for the first time. He listened patiently while Goldwyn discussed the story, without accent or malaprop . . . "All those stories about Goldwynisms have been incorrect," he mused—while Goldwyn continued, still without accent, still using the correct words . . . "I'll write an article about the real Goldwyn and disprove all those funny stories," the author silently vowed.

Then as the conference ended, Goldwyn led him to the door and said: "Now remember, you've an important job. In this enterprise you're the main clog."

SAUER-KRAUT

Sauerkraut Steps Out!

BUILD a better mouse trap, or produce a better sauerkraut and the world will find a path to your cellar. Even in the days when kraut hid its light in a barrel in the cellar, epicures found it. Today, when it can be bought, crisp and savory in nice clean cans, the fashionable world has found it on the grocery shelves. They have found, also, a variety of smart ways of serving this healthful and long-favored food. Your family will like them—so will your guests.

In Fashionable Frocks

Calf's Liver with Fried Sauerkraut: Cut one and one-half pounds of calf's liver in pieces for serving. Dip in boiling water for a few moments, drain and remove the skin along the edges and veins. Season well with salt and pepper, and dip in flour. Fry in hot fat in a skillet until done and a nice brown. Remove, and use the drippings for making a brown milk gravy. Meanwhile drain three cups of canned sauerkraut and fry in a skillet with three tablespoons of fat until slightly brown. Serve with the liver and gravy. This serves six persons.

Creamed Sauerkraut: Sauté three tablespoons of sliced onion and four tablespoons of shredded green pepper in three tablespoons of fat until the onions become pale yellow. Add three tablespoons of flour and stir until smooth. Add two cups of milk slowly, stirring until thick and creamy. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add two cups of canned sauerkraut and heat thoroughly. This serves six persons.

Hoarding Unfair To Neighbor

Hoarding under present circumstances amounts merely to "chiseling" on your neighbors Professor Warren Waite, chairman of the Consumers' Buying Problems Committee of the Minnesota Defense Council, pointed out this week.

"This is a time for consumers to be fair with one another," he said. "There are enough goods of nearly every kind to go around for a long time if we buy wisely and in accordance with our needs. When hoarding of any commodity begins, shortages are apt to develop. The hoarder, in effects, steals from his neighbor an opportunity to buy goods. Let us be honest with each other and buy according to our current needs and not chisel on our neighbors."

John Moberg and son Ole, Annie Moberg of Gatzke; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sannes and Sandra Mrs. Geo. Fricker and LaRue, Mrs. C. L. Sandberg, Mrs. Gust Peterson, Mrs. Louis Wegge, Mrs. C. H. Gunheim, Mrs. Paul Olson, Mrs. O. J. Backlund helped Mrs. H. Moberg celebrate her birthday on April 7, at her home. Those who came in the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Johnson and Gloria, Mr. and Mrs. Ludvig Sagstuen and Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sagstuen, Mrs. Hj. Peterson and Donnie Clarence Ness and Morlan Kolden.

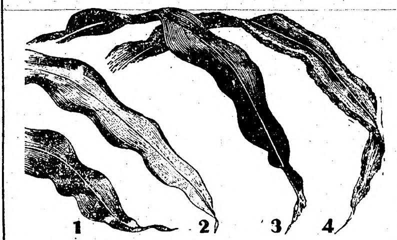
Hunger Signs Reveal Corn's Need for Plant Food



Typical effects of plant food hunger, contrasted with normal leaf. No. 1—A healthy corn leaf; No. 2—Nitrogen starvation; No. 3—Phosphorus deficiency, chiefly indicated by a purplish hue, often very noticeable on under side as well as top, and a "firing" of the leaf tip; No. 4—Potash hunger. (See details in story.)

YOUNG corn, like young children, reveals definite hunger symptoms when the diet is lacking in sufficient nourishment. By the time corn is halfway to the "knee-high" stage, these starvation signs are plainly visible to the alert farmer's eye.

Steps can then be taken to correct the condition by applying nitrogen, phosphorus or potash, and the plants restored to healthy, vigorous growth.

Watch out for the following hunger signs once the corn is 8 inches above the ground, says a statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. They will tell you whether famine is rampant in your fields.

1—If the corn is stunted and undersized; if the leaves are greenish-yellow or orange-yellow instead of deep green; and if the tip ends are withered, then the plant is starving for nitrogen. A side-dressing of nitrogen fertilizer, applied at the rate of 40 to 50 pounds per acre along the row, will quickly remedy this condition.

2—If the leaves and stem show a tendency to become purplish and if the young corn plant is spindly and unthrifty, then it lacks sufficient phosphorus. Under conditions of severe phosphorus starvation the leaves may show symptoms similar to those resulting from nitrogen deficiency.

3—If the margins and tips of the leaves appear scorched or fired; if growth is slow and the young leaves are yellowish-green or streaked with yellow, then the corn is crying for potash, the balance wheel of plant foods. The remedy is a side-dressing of 150 to 200 pounds of muriate of potash per acre in the row or hill, before the final cultivation.

If a combination of these symptoms appears, a mixed fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash will provide an effective prescription.

Draft Registration April 27

I have again been asked by the Marshall County Local Draft Board to take charge of registration of all men who have reached their 45th birthday on or before February 16th, 1942, and have not attained their 65th birthday on April 27, 1942. Said registration for this community will be held in the Village Hall, on Monday, April 27th 1942, between the hours of 7:00 A. M. to 9:00 P. M. of said day.

Due to the fact that this will be a large registration I will need the assistance of at least four and perhaps six volunteer registrars. All registrars, including myself, must serve without pay, and anyone wishing to volunteer to assist me should advice me not later than Friday, April 24th so that the proper hours may be arranged.

Yours for Victory.
Geo. Fricker
Village Clerk.

Music Festival at School

The Holt Consolidated School will hold its Annual Music Festival on Friday evening April 24th at 8:15 p. m. This will consist of selections by the various music groups of the school, both vocal and instrumental. There will be an admission charge of 10c to all.

The vocal group will be going to Stephen to take part in the district contest the following day. They have done well and are worthy of our support.

Village Debts Reduced

Mr. Geo. Fricker, village clerk announced this week that the village debt has now been reduced to $4,500. This is a far cry from only a few years ago when it was at the top rung of the financial ladder and was $20,000. It has, thru good conservative management by the Village Council over this past period of years, been reduced to where it stands today. A $1,000 bond has been paid in advance and there are no bonds due now until April 15, 1945. However, they will pay more in advance as the taxes come in and reduce further the interest to be paid out. This is a saving now.

The same can be said about the local school district as the village. There too, the board has handled the finances in such a way that they have been reduced several thousands of dollars the past few years and are now in a fine state with all obligations being taken care of as they come due.

Cantata to be Given Here

The choir of the 1st Lutheran Church, Middle River, will render a Concert in the Nazareth Lutheran Church on Sunday evening, at 8:15. The theme of the Cantata is "The Risen Redeemer". Those from here who are taking part are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carlson, Mrs. Oscar Fosholm Marvin Sandberg and the Gusa family. A collection will be received to help with the expenses. The Luther League will serve lunch in the Church Parlors following the concert with Oscar Furr, Bill Paskewltz and Ludvig Larson as hosts.

Sugar Dealers to Register

Officials in charge of the rationing program here and in other communities throughout the state were busy this week preparing for their first big task -- registration of retailers, wholesalers and institutional and industrial users of sugar -- scheduled for two days next week, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28 and 29.

On those days, between 4 and 9 p. m., users of sugar in these categories will have to appear at high schools in their districts and register, reporting quantities of sugar they have been using and amounts on hand, together with other information that will be helpful in determining the allotments of sugar to be made. Highschool teachers will conduct the registration.

Registration of consumers is set for a week later, May 4 to 7.

To aid in the big task of registering the wholesalers, retailers ann industrial users of sugar, T. G. Driscoll, state rationing administrator, in sending out final instructions this week urged that all registrants in these groups acertain in advance what information will be required and come to the high school registration desks with this information all ready.

"I would suggest that all persons in the groups indicated who are not familiar with the requirements get in touch with their local rationing boards", Driscoll said, "communicate with their state trade association, or, if the desired information cannot be obtained in these ways communicate with the state rationing administrators's office in St. Paul. The registration can be simplified greatly if all persons will take the trouble to familiarize themselves in advance with the requirements."

All industries that have been or are buyers of sugar direct from the refineries or through brokers must register April 28 or 29, Driscoll said. This includes industries canning fruits, vegetables or juices, freezing fruits, curing or canning of meats, fish or poultry and the feeding of bees.

Institutional and industrial users of sugar who must register April 28 or 29 include the following classifications:

1. Meals or food services, including hotels, restaurants, clubs boys or girls' camps, jails, sanitariums, hospitals and similar establishments. 2. Bread-making. 3. Other bakery products. 4. Cereal products, batters and mixes. 5. Confectionery, chocolate, candy, chewing gum. 6. Ice cream, sherberts, frozen custards 7. Other dairy products, condensed milk and cheese. 8. Preserves jams, jellies and fruit butters. 9. Production of bottled beverages, flavoring extracts and syrups. 10. Specialties, deserts, drink mixes, mince meat, sauces and like products. 11. Non-food products, drugs and medicines, soaps, tobacco, leather and "all others", It will be necessary for the applicant to report how much sugar he used in each and every classification if his business includes articles in more than one group.

About 70 relatives from Karlstad, Greenbush, Thief River Falls, Gatzke and Holt were entertained at the H. Moberg home on Sunday. Honor guest was Walter Moberg who will soon leave for the army. He received a cash purse.

Many Thousand to Register

Approximately 255,000 male residents in Minnesota will be registered April 25, 26 and 27 for classification according to their skills and aptitudes for war production work, Colonel J. E. Nelson, State Director of Selective Service, announced today.

National Service Headquarters in Washington, D. C. anticipates a total registration of about 13,000,000 men between the ages of 45 and 64 years inclusive in Continental United States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

The registration will include every male citizen and every male alien resident who attained the 45th anniversary of his birth on or before Feb. 16, 1942, and who has not attained the 65th anniversaay of his birth on or before April 27, 1942. Only a very few individuals are exempt from registering.

These men who register on April 25, 55 and 27, it was pointed out, are not liable for military service. However, they will be registered in the same manner as the men of other age groups. They will be given certificates of regisitration which they must have in their personal possession at all times and produce at the request of authorized persons. Later they will be required to fill out an occupational questionaire, detailing their civilian qualifications and skills for the purpose of obtaining information as to their work abilities and experience.

The Nazareth Ladies Aid is the host to Parish Ladies Aid which will be held this year on Friday, May 1. Those who will attend are members of the Ladies Aids who are in the Holt parish. These are the Silver Creek, the Landstad, and the East Landstad Ladies Aids. A special program will be given.

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

Russ Situation Grows 'More Serious' As Nazis Move New Troops to Front; Jap Pacific Supply Lines Endangered By Increase in U. S. Naval Activities

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Juan Antonio Rios is shown taking the oath of office as president of Chile at inauguration ceremonies in Santiago. The event was attended by 40 foreign ambassadors and various dignitaries of the Chilean congress. At left is Dr. Jeronimo Mendez, former vice president. At right is Dr. Florencio Duran, president of the Chilean senate.

RUSSIA:

Situation Serious

Spring officially had arrived in the United States with the opening of the wartime baseball season, but it was hardly far advanced on the Russian front, though warm enough in the southern portion.

But the Nazis' spring drive was on, and the Russians, keeping themselves highly on the alert, had never seemed so active, and were attempting to continue to "beat the Germans to the punch."

Kuibyshev and Moscow reported constant attacks on German positions, Berlin was admitting breakthroughs here and there, with huge tank attacks, and the Reds were proudly declaring that much American equipment had arrived.

Best report tending to show the Russian situation was serious had emanated from neutral sources, and said that Hitler had begun to move additional troops from occupied France, probably from other occupied countries onto the beleaguered Russian front.

If true, and it might well be, this might be tied in with General Marshall's talks in London, hinting that the time was ripe for invasion.

Perhaps, on the other hand, Russians were claiming continued victories in hopes of convincing "fence-sitting" England that she ought to cross the channel.

At all events there were signs that the German spring offensive was fairly started in Russia, and also that it was getting nowhere fast.

BRITISH:

Days Still Dark

From the unsuccessful mission of Sir Stafford Cripps England was forced to the admission that her days continued dark indeed.

Britain had the galling reminder that she was keeping large fleets of naval vessels in the Indian ocean; that her troops were bravely fighting in Burma; that she was suffering heavy losses on several fronts, and that India was blandly talking over post-war conditions while the Japs were at her very gates.

In fact, after the loss of the Hermes, an aircraft carrier and two cruisers in the waters off Ceylon, word came that the British were planning to send a punitive fleet for a final showdown with the Jap navy in the Far East.

But Britain was having a tough time in Libya, in the Mediterranean generally, and the threat to Australia was a serious one indeed.

The failure of the Cripps mission had been handled by Bernard Shaw, anti-government speaker, as "to have been expected," but the rank and file of England didn't feel that way about it, nor did Sir Stafford himself, who left India a grim and sadly disappointed man.

His last word to the Hindus had been that Britain naturally would have to withdraw her proposals, but that she would not withdraw from attempting to defend India, but would do her duty whether the Indians helped or hindered.

Many believed the breakdown of the conferences had laid the groundwork for possible revolution or civil war within India, either of which would surely seal her fate if the Japs (as they certainly would) should move in with a strong invasion force.

As to friendliness with the Japs, few believed the Indians felt that way. The Japanese smacked too much of occidental civilization and thinking to suit the Indians.

RAF: A Ton a Minute

Finally the British had hit a tempo of bombing Germany which was catching the imagination of the man in the street.

In one raid they had dropped a ton a minute in high explosives, sending thousands of tons of bombs across the channel in a single squadron.

Some of the squadrons had totaled as high as 300 planes, a figure which the British compared with the estimated 400 which Germany had sent over during the height of the air war in one day over British objectives.

OUR NAVY:

Busy; Building

Despite the published details of the losses of the Java sea and at Pearl Harbor, also the heavy losses of merchantmen in the Atlantic, also the occasional ship reported "missing and presumed lost" in earlier actions, many believed that the navy was doing a big job, particularly in the Pacific and doing it well.

One recent report told of activities of submarines in points as far removed from each other as "near Bali" (right off Java), and in "Japanese waters," probably close to the coast of Japan.

Four more Jap ships had been sunk, bringing the total since December 7 to 217 ships sunk or damaged.

This was a toll far enough in advance of our own to make any layman realize that a battle with such unequal results could have only one ending.

Those who chafed against a navy which could not wipe the Japs off the seas in a matter of weeks, and which, in the only two large engagements lost heavily, were forced to admit that in actual ship and tonnage losses, the Japs were doing very badly.

And there also was the realization that once fleet supremacy was established in the Pacific, the Japanese supply lines, and therefore their conquest, must fall immediately because of its own weight.

Also those who believed in the job the navy was doing pointed with pride to the thousands of troops and tons of supplies transported to Australia with a single loss, of the other thousands of troops and huge supplies sent to England without loss.

Japanese transports have been sunk, but our troops were getting to their destinations safely. That was a superiority not to be denied. Many felt that this move had won an important victory in the war and that Japan, afraid of our link with Australia, had definitely turned aside from a real effort of invasion of that continent and would live on the hope that the Allies could not develop a real winning offensive from that territory.

AMERICANS:

Up and Doing

Speaker Sam Rayburn of the house had reviewed the situation as far as the present attitude of Americans toward the war outlook was concerned when he revealed pertinent facts about the armed forces and their progress.

He pointed out that America now had on foreign battlefields, six times the number of men we had in Europe after eight months of the last war.

He declared that planes were being turned out at the rate of 3,300 a month; that Garand rifles were far ahead of production schedules, with already enough on hand for every soldier in uniform to have one; that tanks were ahead of schedule, with one factory turning them out at the rate of a trainload a day; that the building of merchant ships would catch up with schedule by midsummer, and other items of like importance.

Rayburn felt that the temper of the people was such that no lessening, rather an increase of this good work would be demanded. He said that on one recent day 100 men had been on strike in all war industry, and added "that was 100 men too many."

Some Americans were puzzled by the demands, in view of our production, that all old-style army rifles, the Springfields and the Enfields of the last war, all that were fit to fire, at least, be turned back to the war department for shipment to other members of the United Nations.

This was to include a highly controversial point, the recalling from the 48 state guard organizations, all their rifles.

They were to get shotguns, as were the military police, and the war department announcement added "that is all the arms they need."

Nothing to Nothing

Who knows nothing in his thirtieth year, is nothing in his fortieth, has nothing in his fiftieth, learns nothing, is nothing, and comes to nothing.—French Proverb.

Tried Friendship

Be courteous to all, but intimate with few; and let those be well tried before you give them your confidence. True friendship is a plant of slow growth, and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to the appellation.

Let your heart feel for the affections and distresses of every one, and let your hand give in proportion to your purse; remembering always the estimation of the widow's mite, that it is not every one that asketh that deserveth charity; all, however, are worthy of the inquiry, or the deserving may suffer. — George Washington.

Mass Decorations at Hickam Field

Here are two views of the decoration ceremonies at Hickam Field airbase, Hawaii, the largest mass decoration ceremony in U. S. army history. A total of 141 men received decorations—some of them the purple heart award—while bands played and fighter planes wheeled overhead in review. The men, many in wheel chairs, are assigned to duty at Hickam Field.

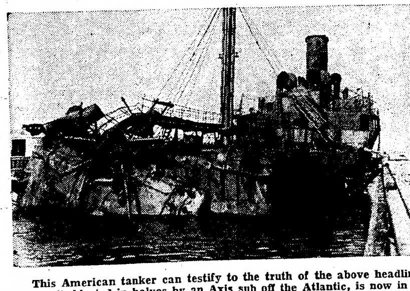
'Torpedoed' Doesn't Always Mean 'Sunk'



This American tanker can testify to the truth of the above headline. The craft, blasted in halves by an Axis sub off the Atlantic, is now in an eastern port, much the worse for wear, but suffering no ailment that skilled shipwrights cannot cure. She'll go to sea again in the not too distant future. This photograph was released by the navy department.

'Twas a Pity Jimmy's Destination Was Unknown

Mrs. Jones was taking her two small sons home to her people for a visit. And she was finding the journey a bit more than a task.

Presently from one corner of the railway carriage came a plaintive voice.

"What was the name of the last station we stopped at, mother?"

"I don't know," snapped Mrs. Jones, "and don't bother me when I'm reading."

After a few minutes' silence the youngster spoke again:

"Well, it's too bad you don't know the name of the station, because our Jimmy got off back there."

Keeping Young
"Are you the girl who took my order?" asked the impatient customer in the cafe.
"Yes, sir," replied the waitress politely.
"Well, I'm hanged!" he remarked. "You don't look a day older!"

"He's right. I've heard singing that makes my blood boil."

Just to Make Sure
Little Ruth, who was spending a few days with her uncle and aunt in the country, was still nervous of their large Alsatian dog.
One morning Rollo, who had been romping on ahead, suddenly turned back to Ruth and her uncle. The small girl at once slipped her hand into her uncle's.
"Surely you're not afraid of poor old Rollo?" he asked her teasingly.
"No, uncle," she replied, "not ezackly, but he might as well see that we're relations."

There's plenty of money in the country, they say. Only everybody seems to owe it to somebody else.

No Trouble
Smith—Those auto engineers are certainly geniuses at making driving easier.
Jones—How's that?
Smith—1940, no running boards; 1941, no gear shift; 1942—no car.

Move the Earth
"What is the greatest water-power resource known to man?"
"Woman's tears."

KEEPING FIT

Harder work, more responsibility than ever falls today on the men left to do the job on the "home front". Important tasks must be carried out under greater tension during this critical period.

For physical fitness the wise man sticks to beer. Why? Because beer contains the healthful vitamins and nutritional value of barley, hops and yeast. Many physicians regard beer as a food, its predigested malt being an important source of energy to overcome physical fatigue.

For mental fitness, too, beer is today's ideal beverage. Being mildly stimulating and refreshing, it promotes the complete relaxation needed so much after the speed-up tempo of the day's work.

Hunger Signs Reveal Corn's Need for Plant Food

YOUNG corn, like young children, reveals definite hunger symptoms when the diet is lacking in sufficient nourishment. By the time corn is halfway to the "knee-high" stage, these starvation signs are plainly visible to the alert farmer's eye.

Steps can then be taken to correct the condition by applying nitrogen, phosphorus or potash, and the plants restored to healthy, vigorous growth.

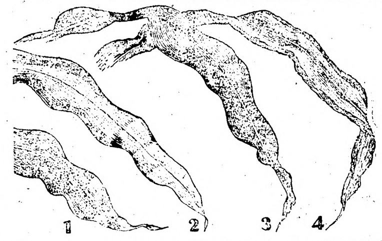
Watch out for the following hunger signs once the corn is 8 inches above the ground, says a statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. They will tell you whether famine is rampant in your fields.

1—If the corn is stunted and undersized; if the leaves are greenish-yellow or orange-yellow instead of deep green; and if the tip ends are withered, then the plant is starving for nitrogen. A side-dressing of nitrogen fertilizer, applied at the rate of 40 to 50 pounds per acre along the row, will quickly remedy this condition.

2—If the leaves and stem show a tendency to become purplish and if the young corn plant is spindly and unthrifty, then it lacks sufficient phosphorus. Under conditions of severe phosphorus starvation the leaves may show symptoms similar to those resulting from nitrogen deficiency.

3—If the margins and tips of the leaves appear scorched or fired; if growth is slow and the young leaves are yellowish-green or streaked with yellow, then the corn is crying for potash, the [illegible] of plant feeds. The remedy is a side-dressing of 150 to 200 pounds of muriate of potash per acre in the row or hill, before the final cultivation.

If a combination of these symptoms appears, a mixed fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash will provide an effective prescription.



Typical effects of plant food hunger, contrasted with normal leaf. No. 1—A healthy corn leaf; No. 2—Nitrogen starvation; No. 3—Phosphorus deficiency, chiefly indicated by a purplish hue, often very noticeable on under side as well as top, and a "firing" of the leaf tip; No. 4—Potash hunger. (See details in story.)

Wheat Growers to Vote May 2

"While Uncle Sam is deeply involved in war, it is gratifying to know that he doesn't have to worry about a national wheat situation", Chas N. Kranz. county AAA chairman said today.

Marshall County Farmers last year voted for the wheat market quota by an overwhelming majority and it is up to the eligible to do his duty again this year on May 2.

" With 'farming as usual' out, wheat production must fit in with our nation's war plan. This is no time to expand wheat production when the war effort calls for so many other crops that can be grown on the same soil", he continues.

"Wheat growers must provide for the orderly handling of the 1942 wheat crop and store reserves and see that our grain handling facilities are not disrupted by an uncontrolled flood of wheat produced on acreage in excess of wheat allotments."

Mr. Kranz urges every eligible wheat grower to vote May 2, in the wheat referendum and keep Uncle Sam's efforts directed to the war, rather than a crucial wheat situation.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holst entertained the Nazareth Church Council on Tuesday evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. G. Sanoden, Alf Movick, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nohre, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Nohre, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Larson and Rev. Hanson.

Music Festival at School

An outstanding musical program was given by the Holt School last Friday evening. The rythm band of the primary room was a special attraction. Their part in the program has become more important each year. The girls' glee club was the finest the school has ever had. The instrumental numbers and the selections by the band were very fine. A large crowd attended.

Last Saturday our high school Girls' Glee Club journeyed to Stephen to take part in the District Music contest. They participated with about 700 other contestants from other schools of the district. The local group received a rating of B--. Marian Backlund was entered with a Sousaphone solo and received a C rating. Both ratings are very fine considering their experience and the size of the schools they competed with. This school is the smallest in the district.

The group stayed for the evening program and enjoyed the Mass Chorus and Mass Band. Other numbers on the evening program consisted of selected numbers that had been outstanding during the day's contest. Russel Sanoden, Lois Hanson and Betty Lou Lorentson, Holt people who attend school at Newfolden, took part on the evening program. The mixed chorus, Octette, Glee Club, of which they are members, and Russel's vocal solo received A ratings and are eligible to compete in the state contest at Thief River Falls tomorrow.

Footprints on the Sands of Time

The past record of a man or an institution is a reliable omen of the present or future. A long record of reliable, honest and sincere service, and factors that make up a past that can truly be pointed to with pride, these are "footprints" that lead to success.

The past record of this paper is our strongest recommendation.

We today pass into another stretch of time, having started volume No. 32 and hope that we have so served our readers and advertisers that we may merit your continued support in this field of business.

To Attend Convention

Rev. T. C. L. Hanson, Misses Evelyn and Beatrice Larson of Holt, Mr. K. L. Halvorson of Middle River and Miss Yvonne Engelstad of Gatzke expect to leave this afternoon for Moorhead to attend the Northern Minnesota District Luther League Convention being held there this week end. They all will return home on Saturday evening. Beatrice Larson has the opening talk on the Saturday morning session. Rev. Hanson is on the District Board of the Luther League.

Holt High School To Give Play

The local high school will give its annual spring play on May 8 and 9. A complete announcement of this will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Cost, Four Gallons

New Yorkers may blush when they remember their city once was bought for $24, but the people of Kernersville, N. C., really get red when they remember that in 1756, Caleb Story, an Irishman, bought what is the now thriving town of Kernersville for four gallons of rum

Sugar Rationing to Begin

Making final preparations for the biggest task they have yet undertaken, state and local rationing officials joined this week in asking for cooperation of all citizens in the general registration of sugar consumers, scheduled for next week, May 4 to 7.

Local rationing board officials emphasized a plea made by T. G. Driscoll, state rationing director, outlining the information which each person will be required to furnish when registering and urging that all applicants compile this information in advance in order to save all possible time in registering.

All persons must register or have an applicatian filled in their behalf in order to obtain the War Ration Book, which hereafter is to be essential for the purchase of sugar and possibly other articles which may be placed on the rationing list. Only persons who will not be required to file applications are members of the armed forces who regularly receive their rations from the government and persons, other than temporary residents, confined to public and private institutions whose meals are furnished by the institution.

Registration will be conducted in the public elementary and grade school buildings, with teachers supplying the registration staff, under supervision of the local rationing boards and the city and county superintendents of schools. Each person, with few exceptions, is to be registered in the school district in which he lives. Full information on these variations may be obtained from the local rationing boards.

Hours set for the registration by the government are 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Among the information which applicants must furnish to get a rationing book is a statement of the amount of sugar on hand. In order to start all citizens off on the rationing program on an equal footing, the government has decided to allow a nominal amount of two pounds on hand for a person. For each pound in excess of this, up to four pounds, a stamp will be removed from the ration book to be issued. Ration books will not be issued to persons having more than 6 pounds of sugar, but arrangements will be made later whereby they can get sugar after present supplies have been used up.

All persons who are not members of a family unit, of course, must appear and register, but only one member of each family unit will have to appear. One person, it is contemplated, will furnish all the information for the family. A family unit includes "every relative by blood or marriage or ward who lives in the family unit, but does not include hired individuals living in a family unit."

In addition, a complete description of each individual living in the family unit must be furnished the registration officials, including full name, address, heigth, weight, color of eyes, color of hair, age, sex and relationship to family unit. Each individual applicant, of course, must furnish like information.

Each ration book to be issued will have 28 stamps. Each of the first four stamps will allow the purchase of a pound of sugar. What amounts will be allowed on the remaining stamps will be determined as the rationing program proceeds. Provisions also will be made whereby persons needing extra amounts for canning and other purposes may go to their rationing boards and obtain special concessions.

This Week For Victory

A tip to housewives: The stock of kitchen utensils you now have may have to last a long time. The iron, zinc and steel in them are being used in greater quantities for military purposes, and the War Production Board has found it necessary to reduce the amount of these metals for civilian use.

Most of them are fairly durable and with proper handling, your breadboxesand refrigerator pans wash basins and pails, can openers and potato mashers should last over a reasonable period.

Many of these items can be made of wood, glass and earthenware, but so far as the metal utensils you have are concerned, the consumer division of the OPM recommends that they be kept clean and free from rust.

Those spring paint jobs can be done at no increase in prices of materials, northwest officials of the War Production Board said today.

Paint and varnish manufacturers have sought permission to increase their prices over the levels that have been maintained by the War Production Board, but the answer was complete rejection for at least 60 days.

Under the current regulations, in which prices were based on the level of Oct. 1, 1941, no increases are permitted on house and barn paint, wall paint, interior flat paint, enamels, laquer enamel, undercoats, floor and deck paint, roof paint, shingle stains, oil stans, fillers, colors in oil and varnish.

Get the seeds for your Victory vegetable garden from companies located in your section of the state - - there is a greater chance that the seeds will be better adapted to growing conditions in your area.

Boys Leave for Army

The following are the selectees who left from Holt community on Wednesday for the army:

Chester Larson, Paul Schenke, Walter Moberg, Walter Folden, Sigfred Nygard, Carl Rupprect, Lloyd Larson, Elmer Jarshaw, Filmore Malberg, Olaf Johnson, Leroy Rustad, Reuben Becklund.

Choir Sings Cantata

The choir of the 1st Lutheran Church, Middle River, rendered a Concert in the Nazareth Lutheran Church on Sunday evening, at 8:15. The theme of the Cantata was "The Risen Redeemer". Those from here who took part were Mrs. A. W. Carlson, Mrs. Oscar Fesholm Marvin Sandberg and the Gusa family. The church was filled to capacity with people from Holt, Middle River and Thief River Falls.

Lloyd Larson, Chester Larson and Walter Moberg were presented with a gift from Nazareth Luther League.

Will in Shorthand

A will written in shorthand was filed in Wyandotte county, Kansas City, Kan., probate court. It was signed by Luke Cotton, Negro trainman. He called his lawyer and dictated the will to a stenographer the day before he died. He left three pieces of real estate to his widow.

Savings Quota Set for County

Quotas were set up today for every county in the state, as their share of atotal $11,657,400 War Bond Sales which Minnesota is expected to achieve during May.

The quota for Marshall County was fixed at $11,163 for the monthly average from July 1941 through January, 1942. May sales quotas are $16, 600 for this county.

The Treasury Department determined the quotas, aiming at selling $600,000,000.

County organizations prepared to intensify their efforts to achieve the goals set. Pledge campaigns were under way in most counties, and other activiities developed to get the results sought.

The Treasury goal is to get all persons signed up to 10 per cent of their income.

The entire program will be discussed over a statewide network Saturday at 6:30. WCCO KSTP and the state network will be included.

Wheat Growers to Vote May 2

"While Uncle Sam is deeply involved in war, it is gratifying to know that he doesn't have to worry about a national wheat situation", Chas N. Kranz. county AAA chairman said today.

Marshall County Farmers last year voted for the wheat market quota by an overwhelming majority and it is up to the eligible to do his duty again this year on May 2.

" With 'farming as usual' out, wheat production must fit in with our nation's war plan. This is no time to expand wheat production when the war effort calls for so many other crops that can be grown on the same soil", he continues.

"Wheat growers must provide for the orderly handling of the 1942 wheat crop and store reserves and see that our grain handling facilities are not disrupted by an uncontrolled flood of wheat produced on acreage in excess of wheat allotments."

Mr. Kranz urges every eligible wheat grower to vote May 2, in the wheat referendum and keep Uncle Sam's efforts directed to the war, rather than a crucial wheat situation.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

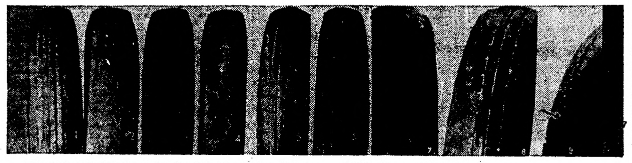
'Make 'Em Last'—That's Number One Rule For Nation's 32 Million Automobile Drivers



Cheated out of thousands of miles of service, these tires failed and were rejected at inspection station because of:

1. Bad wheel bearings, loose king pin bolts and badly worn tie-rod ends.
2. Loose front end.
3. Bad camber condition.
4. Boot substituting for tread and fabric.
5. Toe-in and low pressure.
6. Misalignment.
7. Loose and badly worn tie-rod ends, king pin bolts, drag links and bushings.
8. Camber error and loose front end.
9. Excessive side drag.

Periodic inspection, proper care and adjustment would have increased the service of any of these tires by thousands and thousands of miles. The driver who neglects his tires today will soon become a pedestrian.

"Never mind us. Take care of the tires first!"

That was the command gasped out to two stretcher bearers when (in a cartoonist's imagination) they attempted to give first aid to the injured occupants of a badly wrecked automobile.

The cartoon, published in a nationally-read magazine, may exaggerate the situation, but it demonstrates beyond all doubt that 1942 will go down in history as the year when rubber became more precious than rubies.

Talk of "rubber stockpiles," "crude rubber" and "carry-over tonnage" leaves the average motorist cold. He doesn't understand all the technicalities behind the current rubber shortage. But he does know that when his present tires wear out, he will be forced to leave his six-cylinder, 1937 Blue Streak standing idle in his garage.

The National Safety Council, Chicago, lists many DON'Ts the motorist must continually keep in mind, besides a few important DO's. If he keeps on forgetting about them he is soon without rubber on his tires.

Checkup by Experienced Operators.

It is possible that more motorists are going to maintenance stations to have their tires checked than ever before. (This incidentally, is one of the essential DO's.)

Motorists there will learn that their tires are unsafe (alas!) if the fabric, breaker strip, or outer body ply is exposed. Also that if the tire has cuts or snags greater than an inch in any direction and deep enough to expose body fabric, it is then in the unsafe condition. Furthermore, if the tire has a bulge it is dangerous to use, for patches or boots are not sufficient protection. Then, too, another way to learn if the tires are unsafe is either to look over the wheel and tire yourself, or have the garage attendant see if bolts, nut or lug are bent, cracked, or if the rim or wheel flange is defective.

Then after you have made sure that your tires and wheels are OK, your next best procedure is to get yourself in the habit of using war time driving rules to conserve your tires as long as possible.

Here is a list of rules, compiled by the safety council. You, of course, can add to them.

Drive only when absolutely necessary, and then drive at a moderate speed.

Start and stop slowly, slow down on turns, and park carefully to keep from grinding off the tread and nicking the rubber off your tires.

Use brakes carefully (shift into second going downhill), and make sure that your brakes are adjusted so that your tires will not be worn unevenly.

Every 5,000 miles or so cross-switch your tires to increase total mileage. If your wheels are correctly aligned and balanced, the cross-switching will add miles and miles to each tire's life.

Check the air pressure of all your tires each week. Have the tires and tubes inspected regularly against future trouble and wasted rubber.

Such suggestions will go far in helping you keep your tires as long as possible. But the time will soon come when you will be thinking about having your tires recapped or retreaded.

If you are one of those fortunate persons whose application was approved by your local tire rationing board, then a few suggestions may prove valuable. Recapping, which is vulcanizing a tread surface onto a partially remaining tread, and retreading, which means stripping old tread off the tire and replacing it with a new tread and vulcanizing onto the casing, is done with the greatest of economy and safety when the following rules are remembered:

Use only tire cases which have no cracks, punctures or flaws.

Recap tires that are not worn through to the cords of the casing.

Don't allow anyone to recap or retread your tires unless he can meet a high standard of workmanship.

When you decide on a certain shop to retread or recap your tires be sure that their services are reliable, their material the best available, and the workmanship as good as, or better than, any other shop.

Checking on Gas and Oil.

Once you have begun to follow these rules and suggestions for your tire protection and safety you should center your attention on the gasoline and oil consumption of your car.

During the past years a nervous condition hit the majority of the drivers in the U.S.A. This was noticeable in their attempt to get between two points in the shortest time possible. They sped from one place to another without fully realizing that a moderate speed will get them to their destination, most of the time, in as short a time as if they roared on down the road.

Today, when gasoline and oil are necessary to help win this war, moderate speeding not only saves you money because of a smaller consumption of gas and oil, but also helps your nation.

The accompanying charts, dealing with tire, gas and oil conservation, give you more definite proof of the value of moderate driving than would thousands of words.

At a 65-mile per hour top cruising speed, as compared with 40 m.p.h., gas consumption was more than 30 per cent higher. Yet the average gain in speed was only 15 miles an hour, as the faster driver had to slow down more frequently, and with greater abruptness.

Oil consumption increases at an even greater rate than gasoline consumption when the speed was stepped up to more than 35 miles per hour. Almost four times as much oil is used at 65 m.p.h. than at a 40-mile top cruising speed. The difference is even greater when a car is equipped with an oil filter.

If you want to be a safe driver and also conserve gas, oil, tires, besides lives of other motorists and pedestrians, remember these few rules for driving today:

Start early on each trip so you can get to your destination without using excessive speed.

Drive at a moderate speed suited to the conditions of the highway on which you are traveling. Don't pass any more cars than the number you observe passing you.

Speed up gradually, but shift from one gear to another as quickly as possible. Slow down gradually.

Warm up the motor before driving . . . reduce speeds on grades . . . against headwinds . . . and keep your car tuned up for greatest economy.

Be smart by being thrifty with gas, oil, and automotive material.

Recaps, Retreads Keep Vital Transportation Moving

When your present tires begin to show the dreaded wear, you'll be giving more thought than now to the possibilities of having them retreaded or recapped:

If you come under the following "List B" classification you can get the work done. This list includes:

1. Applicants to whom other transportation service is not available: Licensed taxi, for transport to places where construction or mechanical structural, or highway maintenance services are needed.

2. Transportation of executives, engineers, technicians and workers to and from work essential to the war effort.

3. Transportation of produce and supplies to and from the farm if applicant does not have a truck or other means of transportation. In other words, applicant owning automobile may get retreads.

4. Transportation of federal, state and local government employees on functions essential to public health, safety or war effort.

5. Transportation of mail by private person under government contract—rural letter carriers.

6. Wholesale delivery of newspapers, provided automobile is used for NO OTHER PURPOSE.

7. Hearses, milk trucks are also included in the listing.

THE TIDE:
Fortunes of War Take New Turn

The days were filled with exciting news of the Tokyo bombing type, and many saw in the dispatches from all American fronts a turn in the tide of the war.

The long-range and successful bombing of the Philippines had started it, and then the bombing of Tokyo—and at the same time General Marshall, in London with Harry Hopkins, thrilled the world with the report that at least a whole army corps would take part in British Commando raids.

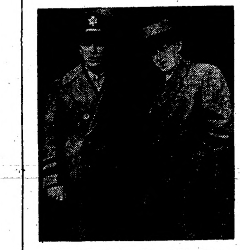
Many believed that this was such good news it could not be believed, but that writers had misused the words "army corps"—because a corps at the very least was two divisions (100,000 men), and usually meant, in wartime, three to four divisions (150,000 to 200,000 men).

Now, from previous reports of Commando raids, Americans had gotten the idea that the whole Commando group of Britain might be reckoned in a very few thousand, including the numbers being used on the European continent and in Africa as well.

This was because the raids, widely spaced, seemed to be participated in by only a few hundred men at a time. Losses were from ones and twos to dozens, giving the idea of small forces.

That Marshall should give out an interview before leaving for the United States that one army corps was to be so used was thrilling because it was not believed that we had more than two divisions in Ireland altogether, and this seemed to indicate that our force in Ireland was much more extensive.

Marshall's remarks had been fighting remarks, however, and whether the numbers were right or wrong, his statement that "the time has come for us to fight the enemy on land, on the sea and in the air" and that "I want to be judged not by what I proclaim but by what happens," and the fact that the next thing was the bombing of Tokyo—these three things were taken to mean that the tide of war had turned, and the great American offensive was really under way.



Gen. Marshall Harry Hopkins
An army corps for the British Commandos.

Marshall had paid a glowing tribute to the fighters on Bataan, saying that they had set a glorious example for the rest of the army. He also had reviewed the troops, had looked over the hospitals, and had expressed himself as tremendously pleased with the equipment and the morale of the troops.

Fighting news was being looked for, and the American public, after the Tokyo incident, was not going to be satisfied with less.

CORREGIDOR:
Valiant Fight

Hurling nine-inch shells from their heaviest guns, the Japanese pounded beleaguered Corregidor in their most furious assault since the war began.

From new positions on Bataan peninsula and on the south shore of Manila bay, enemy guns poured a deadly cross fire into the island fortress. War department communiques described the barrage as "intense and severe."

On the Island of Panay, enemy troops made further landings on the southwest coast near San Jose, but in the northern part of the island near Lambanao the enemy was halted at least temporarily by sharp counterattacks.

Cebu, however, had fallen, losses had mounted far in excess of 60,000, and the island of Panay, though putting up a stiff resistance, had been successfully invaded by a large Japanese force, estimated at 12,000.

Americans had been able to keep up communications between the islands by radio, and it was General Wainwright, reporting direct from Corregidor, who was able to report the fall of Cebu, and the fact that the American-Filipino troops were still resisting beyond the city, which was in flames.

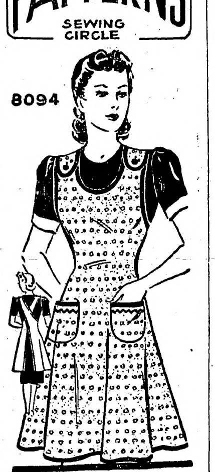
It showed that the battle of the Philippines was not over.

MISCELLANY:

Cambridge, Mass.: The "bantam battalions" of the U. S. army come from Massachusetts, an officer of the surgeon general's office admitted. This state provides the army's shortest average man, he said.

New York: A Berlin broadcast quoted a Japanese paper as admitting that the Japs rated their foes as follows: Americans, toughest; Chinese, next; Russians, next.

PATTERNS
SEWING CIRCLE



IF PRIZES were given out for good apron designs, Pattern No. 8094 would be a blue ribbon winner. It has everything—an easy fit, shapely lines and is quick to put on because of the straps which button at the shoulders. Furthermore it opens flat for ironing so it is double easy to keep fresh and clean. Just a few yards of low cost cotton will make it—and it is as easy as ABC to sew.

Kidneys Must Work Well-
For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Some housewives like to glaze the top crust of a pie. To get that effect, brush a mixture of egg yolk and two tablespoons of milk over the top quickly, just before putting it into the oven.

Be sure to rinse all the soap out of laundered blankets, so they'll dry light and fluffy. Rinse through several waters the same temperature as that used for the washing. Lukewarm is the best for woolen blankets. Rinsing is as important as the washing itself.

TOMATOES
With Red Ears

TOMATOES are generally conceded to have red cheeks—and the red ears go to good old American corn. Yet if tomatoes could hear all of the nice things housewives are saying about them, they'd surely grow red ears.

Tomatoes are some of the best friends of the housewife. They look pretty, and they taste good—and to top it all, they are very inexpensive. When she makes soup that needs flavor and color—"I'll add tomatoes," says she. When she makes a meat loaf which doesn't produce gravy—"I'll make a tomato sauce."

Gay and Good

In fact every dish on the menu, from soup to dessert, and not excluding breads—for there are even tomato breads in these modern days—can be enhanced by the addition of tomatoes.

Tomato salads are stimulating to look at and most delicious to eat—for parties, you'll like this delicious

Frozen Tomato Cream Salad: Cook gently for ten minutes the contents of three No. 2 cans of tomatoes with three slices of onion, a few grains of pepper, salt to taste and one tablespoon sugar. Press through a sieve. There should be two and one-half cups of purée as a result. Soften one and one-half teaspoons gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, dissolve in the hot purée, then cool. When it begins to get thick, add one-third cup of cream, whipped, and freeze in the refrigerator trays. Serve on lettuce. This serves eight persons.*

Mr. and Mrs. Rangvald Olson of Newfolden visited at the Nels Ness home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leiran of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Ludvig Sagstuen made a trip to Grand Forks on Monday evening to see Crown Prince Olav and Crown Princess Martha of Norway who are touring the northwest.

Hunger Signs Reveal Corn's Need for Plant Food

YOUNG corn, like young children, reveals definite hunger symptoms when the diet is lacking in sufficient nourishment. By the time corn is halfway to the "knee-high" stage, these starvation signs are plainly visible to the alert farmer's eye.

Steps can then be taken to correct the condition by applying nitrogen, phosphorus or potash, and the plants restored to healthy, vigorous growth.

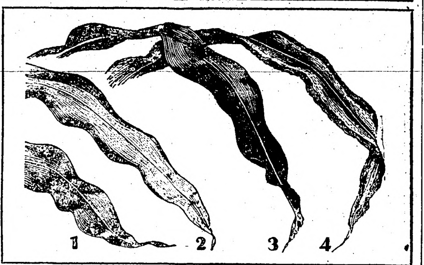
Watch out for the following hunger signs once the corn is 8 inches above the ground, says a statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. They will tell you whether famine is rampant in your fields.

1—If the corn is stunted and undersized; if the leaves are greenish-yellow or orange-yellow instead of deep green; and if the tip ends are withered, then the plant is starving for nitrogen. A side-dressing of nitrogen fertilizer, applied at the rate of 40 to 50 pounds per acre along the row, will quickly remedy this condition.

2—If the leaves and stem show a tendency to become purplish and if the young corn plant is spindly and unthrifty, then it lacks sufficient phosphorus. Under conditions of severe phosphorus starvation the leaves may show symptoms similar to those resulting from nitrogen deficiency.

3—If the margins and tips of the leaves appear scorched or fired; if growth is slow and the young leaves are yellowish-green or streaked with yellow, then the corn is crying for potash, the balance wheel of plant foods. The remedy is a side-dressing of 150 to 200 pounds of muriate of potash per acre in the row or hill, before the final cultivation.

If a combination of these symptoms appears, a mixed fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash will provide an effective prescription.



Typical effects of plant food hunger, contrasted with normal leaf. No. 1—A healthy corn leaf; No. 2—Nitrogen starvation; No. 3—Phosphorus deficiency, chiefly indicated by a purplish hue, often very noticeable on under side as well as top, and a "firing" of the leaf tip; No. 4—Potash hunger. (See details in story.)

Selectees To Have Furloughs

Pointing out that the examination of registrants by local board physicians is merely a preliminary examination to eliminate the obviously unfit, Colonel J. E. Nelson, State Director of Selective Service, last week warned registrants that they should await actual induction into the Army before making any final disposition of financial and personal affairs.

It was empasized that every selectee must undergo final examination at an Army reception center. No selectee, therefore, should assume that because he has passed the local board tests, or has been ordered to an Army reception center for possible induction, that he will be accepted by the Army.

Registrants who are inducted will be given ample time to return to their homes to adjust their personal affairs within a few days after induction. It was pointed out that a liberalized policy regarding furlough, for newly inducted registrants has been announced by the War Department.

Local boards are authorized to attach to the delivery list for each group of prospective inductees the names of those for whom furloughs are recommended. The Selective Service System has been assured by the War Department that such furloughs will invariably be granted if recommended by the local board.

Furloughs will begin not later than five days after induction, and will usually not exceed ten days. However, when an inductee lives a great distance from the Army reception center, leave up to 15 day may be granted.

It is believed that this new Army policy should prevent any undue hardship to selectees who are inducted. In the past there have been some cases of hardship which were unavoidable under the old system. Some men, expecting induction, had made final disposition of their personal affairs and then were rejected. Others were considerably inconvenienced after induction while awaiting leave to adjust pressing personal matters. Now, however, every prospective inductee is assured that if he requires reasonable time to return to his home to dispose of his personal affairs, leave will be granted to him with in a few days after his induction.

Holt Mayor Makes Statement

"The citizens of the Village of Holt will do their share toward fullfillment of Marshall county's War Bond quota," Mayor L. M. Miller promised in a statement issued today. "Chairman O. M. Mattson of the County War Bonds and Stamps Staff has advised me that every county in the United States well be given a fixed quota for Bond and Stamps sales each month. Whatever the goal may be, I am sure we can attain it, and that we will not fail to fulfill our obligations to democracy throughout the war.

"The people of the village of Holt have given men to the fighting forces of the nation, without stint, we have given workers to the war program, without stint. To make affective those contributions of men and of brains, we must now give our wholehearted support to the War Bonds campaign.

"I predict that the village of Holt will exceed the quota of War Bond and Stamp purchases this month, next month and every month throughout the duration. And I predict that in so doing we will join our neighbors in this county in friendly rivalry, each hoping to outstrip the other in Bond purchases. By united effort, we must put our village and our county 'over the top' for victory."

School Election

In accordance with the amended school election code the annual school election of the Holt Consolidated School District No. 35 will be held on Tuesday, May 19th from 8 p. m. to 9. p. m. It will also be necessary for the candidates for office to file by Tuesday, May 12th. Filing can be made with the clerk of the Board of Education. There will be two directors elected for a three year term. The terms of Sam Lorentson and O. H. Nohre expire this year.

Holt High School To Give Play

The local high school will give its annual spring play on May 8 and 9. A complete announcement of this will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Curtail Local Spending

Governing units in Marshall County have joined in the statewide movement to cut out local non essential public costs and to defer proposed projects until after the war. In this county 18 units have signified an intention to hold down normal costs and to reduce debts wherever possible in order to be in a strong financial position in the post-war period, according to a report prepared for this newspaper by the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

Already 1295 local units in the State have deferred projects and have secured, or are working toward, local debt reduction.

The Association undertook this War-Time tax program for the local government to: Give full support to the war effort; lessen competition with Federal government for war essential materials; direct closer attention to economies; and prepare for financial stabilization after the war.

Already the program, inaugurated in Minnesota, is attracting national attention. Returns now indicate that results in the State will show a definite trend in nonessential expenditures that can be postponed without any cessation of essential public services.

Public tax meetings have been held in many counties of the State, at which James P. McDonnell, President of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, and Norman A. Borgen, Secretary, have outlined this wartime tax program, which has received the support of a great many county boards, mayors, councilmen, school officials, and others.

Following is the report for Marshall county:

Holt, No new activities. Debt reduced. Holt School District 35. Debts reduced We feel that education is essential and should not be curtailed to any extent.

Alvarado, Deferring sidewalk and street projects. Debt reduced. School, Improving laboratory Industrial Arts and Home economic Dept. during emergency.

Concordia Drive TO Begin

The members of the Nazareth Lutheran Congregation will be contacted sometime next week in connection with the appeal of Concordia College, Moorhead. This is not just a local effiort but it is carried out in all the congregations in the territory served by Concordia College.

The Christian college is an important factor in the life of the church. It is a representative of the American way of life; a place where one can get a standard education with the teachings of Christ as the fundamental in life There is no quota for any congregation, organization or individual. One can give so much a year for up to three years or a cash donation. A few individuals have consented to call on the various members and present the cause. All that is asked of each person contacted is to respond as the heart and conscience feels.

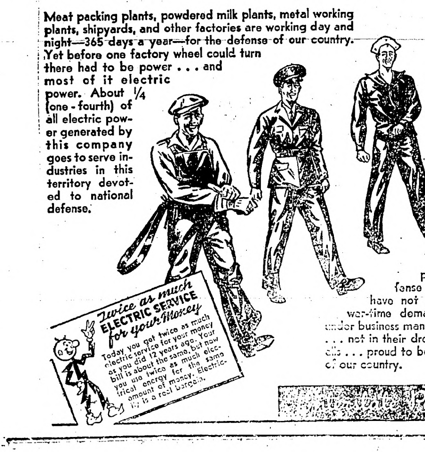
WE'RE IN THE SERVICE, TOO!

Meat packing plants, powdered milk plants, metal working plants, shipyards, and other factories are working day and night—365 days a year—for the defense of our country. Yet before one factory wheel could turn there had to be power . . . and most of it electric power. About 1/4 (one-fourth) of all electric power generated by this company goes to serve industries in this territory devoted to national defense.

We are supplying electric power 24 hours a day for defense industries, and to date you have not been inconvenienced by this war-time demand. Your electric company, under business management, is in the service, too . . . not in their dress uniforms, but in their overalls . . . proud to be working for the preservation of our country.



Twice as much ELECTRIC SERVICE for your Money
Today you get twice as much electric service for your money as you did 12 years ago. Your bill is about the same, but now you use twice as much electrical energy for the same amount of money. Electricity is a real bargain.

That Nagging Backache
May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action
Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

British Aerial War Against Germany Relieves Pressure on Russian Front; President Moves to Halt Inflation; Gas Rationing Marked by Conflicts

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Sir Claude Auchinleck, British commander in chief in the Middle East, (left) is shown with Maj. Gen. Napier Clavering, head of the British military mission to the Egyptian army, and Nahas Pasha, (right) prime minister of Egypt. The gathering, in Cairo, was in celebration of King Farouk's birthday.

BRITISH:

Increase Tempo

The tempo of bombings by the Royal Air force planes on objectives in Europe had been vastly stepped up, and there had been indications that more and more deliberately the British were attempting in these raids to aid Russia.

Ever eastward had moved the objectives, first Luebeck, then Stettin, and then Rostock.

On this latter town, in two raids, the Royal Air force fliers had dumped a total of 900,000 pounds of bombs. The destruction was said to be most complete. Particular emphasis had been placed on the Heinkel aircraft factory.

But these were not the only objectives. On one day six giant raids had been carried out, with more than 600 planes zooming over the channel, bound on their lethal task.

British losses were not increasing, showing that with more constant practice, the British fliers were stepping up their technique and managing to get home in increasing numbers all the time.

Daylight hours had lengthened, weather had been favorable, and all of this was working to the liking of the British who were giving Germany, they believed, a worse and more continuous strafing than anything the Nazis had meted out to them earlier in the war.

Germany had begun to increase their retaliatory raids, and the British, ducking again into their shelters, hoped that these planes had been withdrawn from the Russian and Libyan fronts, thus giving the Red and the British troops more respite from attack.

Of the six raids in one day, three were on Baltic ports and the other three on channel coast points, the air ministry had said.

Heaviest hit town of England had been Exeter, home of a famous boys' school, where hundreds were said to have been made homeless and 12 deaths had resulted. But only 25 planes had taken part in this attack and this small number the British counted as a moral victory.

GASOLINE:

Rationing

The order that all gasoline in the eastern seaboard states would go under severe rationing on May 15 had remained much in the air with Ickes' office and that of Henderson sending out daily statements which now and then were reconciled, but for the most part were marked by strong conflict.

One moment it would be announced that rationing would be 2½ to 5 gallons weekly for nonessential cars, and the next moment it would be, from the opposite source, announced that the ration would be 30 to 50 gallons a month.

At the same time it had been announced in Washington that new car rationing would be relaxed in order to put them in owners' hands and thus gain valuable storage space.

Henderson's office issued regulations which included that men having essential need of automobiles could get them if the present cars were declared inadequate. This seemed to boil down to a car being a 1939 or earlier model, or having been driven more than 40,000 miles.

Under some circumstances owners could apply for the purchase of an additional car to the one already owned, Henderson said.

Fourteen classes of persons had been previously authorized to purchase cars, but hardly anybody was buying them, and the auto dealers had been loudly complaining that they were being strangled by government restrictions.

DRAFT:

Reclassifications

Shortly after the older men, those 45 to 64 had gone out and registered, the selective service headquarters had announced that it was going to begin to call to the colors younger men who had dependents, provided they were not in war-essential occupations.

It had not been made plain how wide this classification would be, but it was stated that those in class 3-A would be called, and the continued deferment would continue to apply only to those in 3-B.

A reclassification of these two classes was to be made, and the selective service heads said when this was finished, a start would be made in calling up those in 3-A.

As to "war marriages," the board said:

"In cases where the dependency was acquired after December 8, 1941, or acquired when induction was imminent, or for the primary purpose of providing a basis for dependency deferment, pregnancy, birth or acquiring a child shall not be cause for classification in class 3-A."

It also was planned to move back into 1-A those whose dependent wives had voluntarily quit their jobs which had been adequate for their self-support.

ANTI-INFLATION:

Presidential 'Musts'

A seven-point program "to keep the cost of living from spiraling upward" was presented to congress by President Roosevelt. Living costs have increased approximately 15 per cent since the outbreak of war in 1939. The presidential program proposes the following steps:

1. "We must tax heavily, and in that process keep personal and corporate profits at a reasonable rate. (The President called for a $25,000 net limit on individual income.)
2. "We must fix ceilings on the prices which consumers, retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers pay for the things they buy; and ceilings on rents for dwellings in all areas affected by war industries.
3. "We must stabilize the remuneration received by individuals for their work.
4. "We must stabilize the prices received by growers for the products of their lands.
5. "We must encourage all citizens to contribute to the cost of winning this war by purchasing war bonds with their earnings instead of using those earnings to buy articles which are not essential.
6. "We must ration all essential commodities of which there is a scarcity, so that they may be distributed fairly among consumers and not merely in accordance with financial ability to pay higher prices for them.
7. "We must discourage credit and installment buying and encourage the paying off of debts, mortgages and other obligations."

NEW CALEDONIA . . . Reaction to Laval

The first positive and active aftermath of the Laval situation in Vichy was shown when the United States troops landed in force on the strategic Free French island of New Caledonia in the Southwest Pacific.

There had been a small garrison of Free French on the island, and it was announced that the considerable American force landed there.

The DeGaullists had only recently seized the island, and still more recently American state department officials had issued recognition.

There had been bitter protests from Vichy. The island, part of the New Hebrides group, lies in the direct line of supply between the United States and Australia.

There had been a French naval base at Noumea, capital of the island, and the New Caledonia metal resources were described as considerable.

BEAVERBROOK:

Leads With Chin In Call for Invasion

Lord Beaverbrook, in his masterful speech in which he praised Churchill to the skies, but called for a desperate and sudden invasion of the continent in order to create a second front and thus win the war swiftly while Russia is at her peak, caused a storm of controversy to arise in Britain.

It appeared the famous publisher had led with his oddly-shaped chin. And his opposition press was not long in taking a shot at it.

One influential newspaper in Britain after another criticized Beaverbrook's speech, most of them taking the attitude that while Britain had been keyed up more and more for an invasion attempt, there was no spirit in the country to attempt it until the "last bullet necessary for success was ready and in the hands of the troops."

Britain, these papers said, "will not be hustled" into a decision to attack on the continent.

This had put somewhat of a damper on the previous reports, which had emanated in the form of hints at the time of General Marshall's visit to London, that an invasion on a large scale of some part of the continent was definitely in the immediate offing.

It made it look as though high quarters were chastising Beaverbrook, and that his speech indeed had been ill-advised.

That the British were definitely on the offensive in the air could not be denied. But that a land offensive would come soon seemed wishful thinking.

ARGENTINE:

Swinging Over

Favorable news to the Allied nations had finally come from Buenos Aires.

It had been learned that the new Argentine chamber of deputies, following an election, had swung over to the United Nations side.

Thus the opposition coalition had gained control. Radical Deputy Jose Luis Cantilo had been elected president of the chamber.

It had been a dramatic scene, with supporters of Acting President Castillo, the "neutrality toward all" leader, leaving the room in an effort to prevent a quorum. But 81 deputies, one more than a quorum, remained on the floor, thus giving the coalition its victory.

DEPUTY JOSE LUIS CANTILO
Argentina's man of the hour.

Argentina and Chile had remained the only two South American republics to fail to break off relations with the Axis powers. A resolution to break off relations immediately had been offered in the new Argentine chamber, and it was expected to pass.

Cantilo was viewed as the man of the hour.

JAPAN:

The Japanese fleet, heavily concentrated in two general sectors, the Southwest Pacific (including the Indian ocean) and in home waters near Japan, was rumored to be on the move toward the northeast, the Japs having decided that the bombers of Tokyo had been based on the Aleutian islands.

Observers had been quoted that if this should be the case, then there was a chance of a major sea battle in these waters, with at least an even chance that the United States navy would win.

True, the Japs had 13 aircraft carriers against about four for the Americans, but it had been said that the Japs could only marshal, on these carriers, 800 planes as against about 700 for the American fleet.

As close a margin as this would give the United States, on the basis of past performances, a definite edge, sufficient to win the battle in all probability.

BURMA:

British and Chinese defenders of Burma, the former mostly Indian territorial troops, of which the British army had in it more divisions than those from Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa combined (believe it or not), were still on the retreat under terrific Japanese pressure.

MISCELLANY:

Rio de Janeiro: A Spanish ship was carrying Axis diplomats back to Europe from various South American republics which had severed relations. It had been held up for more than two weeks trying to buy oil fuel for the journey.

New York: A Norwegian ship managed to make port under its own power after trading shots at sea with a German submarine.

THE covering of many chintz chairs today is hand sewn to the chair padding. Such covers have trim lines and may be ripped off easily for cleaning or washing. The sketch at the lower left shows how covered cord welting is basted and stitched to outside pieces of the cover which have been cut on the chair with an accurate seam allowance. When the seam edges have been pressed back the piece is pinned on and sewn with matching heavy duty thread, as at the lower right.

Balloons and Clouds

Unlike an airplane, a balloon has difficulty in going up and coming down through a cloud because the cold air in the cloud contracts the gas in the bag and reduces its lifting power, says Collier's. When the balloonist does not neutralize this quick reduction by throwing out the right quantity of ballast at the right moment, the bag will not enter the cloud during the ascent or will not drop through it at a safe speed during the descent.

ALL-BRAN FUDGE SQUARES—BEST YOU EVER TASTED!
Every mother in the land will want to bake these scrumptious cookies. Children will demolish a plate of them in a wink. Grown-ups rave about their "different" taste and new crunchy texture. They're made, of course, with the famous cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran.
KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN FUDGE SQUARES
3 squares unsweetened chocolate — 1 cup sugar
⅓ cup butter — ⅔ cup flour
2 eggs — ½ cup All-Bran
½ cup nutmeats
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Melt chocolate over hot water and add butter. Beat eggs well, add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add melted chocolate and butter. Stir in flour, All-Bran, chopped nutmeats and flavoring. Pour into greased pan, making a layer about one-third inch thick. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: Sixteen 2-inch squares (8 x 8 inch pan).

Large Run of Wallaye Pike

Unusually warm weather during the third week of April produced one of the greatest pike runs in Minnesota history and resulted in a six-day take of more, than a billion eggs by Department of Conservrtion stripping crews.

Reports to Verne E. Joslin, acting director of the division of game and fish, were that walleyes by the thousands crowded the traps at stripping stations at Waskish, on Upper Red Lake; Redby, Tower, Jenkins, Cut Foot Sioux and other stations, and where the spawning run usually extends over two or three weeks, this year it was virtually all crowded into the period April 20 to 25.

Between 50,000 and 60,000 walleyes were taken in the traps at Waskish on two successive days and the total production there for the six days was more than 230,000,000 eggs.

While the bulk of these fry will of course be planted in lakes as fry, it is expected that the Department's production of fingerling walleyes this year will be considerably above the approximately 450,000 raised last year in cooperative, and state-owned rearing ponds.

In addition to the take of walleye eggs, nearly 37,000,000 northern pike eggs, and 2,700,000 sucker eggs have been taken to date. The suckers are used for forage in rearing ponds.

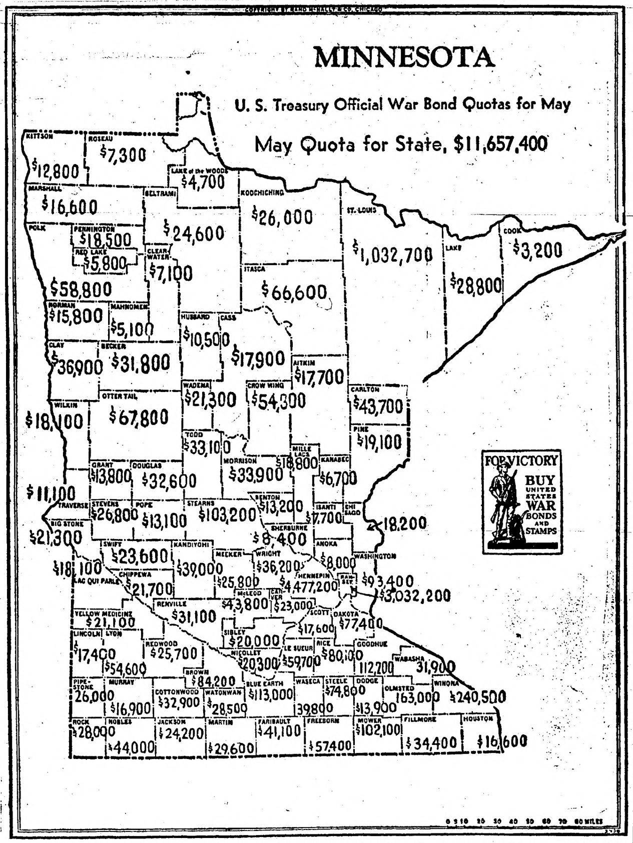
Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas For May



The above map of Minnesota shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of May, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the State is $11,657,400. Every income earner in the State is expected to step-up War Bond purchases on a basis of ten per cent or more of income. This is necessary to help America's armed forces take the offensive against the Axis powers. The American voluntary method of War Bond purchases must be successful in reaching the quotas set by the Treasury Department for every county in the nation. The job of every American now is to stop spending and save dollars to help win the War.

Norway Pictures To Be Shown

The Norwegian Consulate of St. Paul and Camp Little Norway Association are cooperating with local people here to show the talking picture "Norway in Revolt" at the Holt School Auditorium on Wednesday, May 20, at 8:30 p. m. Admission will be free, but a free will offering will be taken.

The picture will reveal to Holt people who came from Norway what is going on in their homeland under the Nazi rule. It shows the manner in which loyal Norwegians are fighting to undermine the German and it also shows the destruction which has been done by German forces. The picture is rated as one of outstanding interest and will attract a capacity house here.

The picture is a real classic and will refer to many places in the homeland of local people with which they are familiar. In addition to showing Norway in a state of revolt and the great destruction done by the invading German Armies, it also deals with the methods Norwegians have employed to leave their country, crossing the North sea enroute to England. Portions of the picture were actually taken showing every phaze of an escape from Norway.

It is also expected that a Norwegian aviator will be present His identification must remain anonyous because of his folks in the homeland. But he is located at Camp Little Norway near Toronto. Rev. Mellby of Hallock is in charge of scheduling these meetings.

Provisions for Sugar Rationing

With 98.5 percent of Minnesota's population registered for the government's war rationing program, T. G. Driscoll, state rationing administrator, this week sumarized regulations covering use of the new ration book to make it easier for consumers to live under the rationing program.

Driscoll had only praise for the way school authorities, school teachers, and other volunteer groups, working with the rationing board, carried through the stupendous task of registering consumers of the state smoothly and efficiently during the four days set aside for this purpose. Due for commendation, too, he said, are newspapers of the state who aided tremendously in spreading information about the registration.

Persons not resistered in the four days last week will not be able to register until May 21st. After that date they can register at the office of their local rationing board. Meanwhile they will be unable to buy sugar.

Not a few misapprehensions over use of ration books have arisen, Driscoll said. Grocers in a few cases have allowed consumers to buy only half a pound of sugar for the first stamp in their ration book. Each of the first four stamps in the book is good for one pound of sugar, Driscoll pointed out, and the pound in each must last owner of the book for two weeks.

A purchase must be made with the first stamp before May 16, or it will be worthless. The second stamp will allow the purchase of one pound for each book holder between May 17 and May 30. The third stamp in the same way will cover the next two weeks, and the fourth the succeeding two weeks. Value of the remaining stamps in the books will be determined later.

A new regulation just received clears up status of persons eating in restaurants, boarding houses and college dormitories. Such persons are asked to register as individuals and get ration books, though these places are registered as institutional users of sugar and cannot use the individual books. Under the new rule, a person who arranges to eat as much as 12 meals a week in such an establishment must surrender his ration book to the operator of the place, who will return it when he quits taking as much as 12 meals there. A similar provision directs that persons going to a hospital or other institution to surrender their ration books if they expect to stay as much as 10 days. The provisions are designed to prevent the ration book being used by other members of the family while the owner of the book is away from home.

Pioneer Called

Martinus Halvorson, aged pioneer of this community, passed away late Saturday. He had suffered from burns he had received when his clothing caught fire on Tuesday and his death was apparently due to shock.

He was born at Ringsaker, Norway July 3, 1865. He was united in marriage to Karina Olson at Montevideo. At the time of his death on May 9, 1942, he was 76 years, 10 months and 6 days. Surviving him are one son, Olaf, and one daughter, Mrs. Oscar Bottem. Also 16 grandchildren and 5 greatgrandchildren.

Concordia Appeal for Pledges

The Concordia College Appeal which has been in progress this week in Northern Minnesota, North Dakota and Eastern Mont-Montana was carried out in Nazareth Lutheran Church this week. The future of Concordia College is at the crossroad as the enrollment has doubled the capacity of the school. This institution belongs to the Norwegian Lutherans of Northern Minnesota and North Dakota Disiricts. Early and scattered reports from these areas show that it is going over much better than expected.

This week about 4,000 workers are interviewing their friends and neighbors for gifts for Concordia. The workers in the Nazareth Lutheran Church are Henry Nohre, Chairman, Ludvik F. Larson, John E. Ness, Alf Movick, Marlan Augnstine, Fredrick Voth, Mrs. O. J. Backlund, Mrs. H. O. Hanson, Mrs. Alton W. Carlson. There are many non-members of Nazareth who have shown willingness to give to this worthy cause and their gifts will be gladly accepted by any of the above-named people. Direct contacts will be made only to the members of the congregation. One can give cash or in annual amounts up to three years. Anyone desiring to give War Savings Stamps or Bonds may do a double duty by serving the government and Christian education. Incidentally, all funds not used in payment of the debt will be invested in War Bonds until the war is over.

By the grace of God, we are about to enlarge the services of Concordia to our church and nation. The payment of the indebtedness on Fjelstad Hall will release funds for wartime services of the college. Additional needed buildings will provide a college education under Christian leadership for many more of our young people. When we view the future work of our college in the light of eternity, the remainigg few days given us to prepare our people ror a generous and willing response to this appeal from our church are days that are freighted with signal priveleges and great responsibilities.

School Election

In accordance with the amended school election code the annual school election of the Holt Consolidated School District No. 35 will be held on Tuesday, May 19th from 8 p. m. to 9. p. m. It will also be necessary for the candidates for office to file by Tuesday, May 12th. Filing can be made with the clerk of the Board of Education. There will be two directors elected for a three year term. The terms of Sam Lorentson and O. H. Nohre expire this year.

This Week For Victory

O. T. Ness and son Ruben this week loaded out and shipped 60 ton of scrap iron and 15 ton of old car bodies. This has been hauled in here and sold by the farmers of this community who are to be commended for their response to the call for scrap iron so badly needed for the war program.

Price Controlled Goods

Retail Establishments Obliged To Conform to Maximum Price Regulations

Beginning Monday, May 18, all retail establishments in the northwest will be obliged to conform to the maximum price regulation established by order of the Office of Price Administration.

This means that from that date until the end of the war, a maximum price will be placed upon thousands of consumer goods, articles of use and sedvice knokn as cost of living commodities. The maximum prices shall not be higher than the highest price charged for the goods or services during the month of March, this year. A merchant may sell his goods for loss, but not for more than the ceiling price. He must keep publicly posted the ceiling price of the goods.

There follows a complete list of the commodities covered by the OPA oredr, the cost of living commodities. For commodity classification marked by asterisks (*) maximum prices may be posted by price lines at the place in the business establishment where the commodities are offered for sale, provided that in addition, the selling price of each commodity in such classification shall be marked on the commodity itself.

Holt Mayor Makes Statement

"The citizens of the Village of Holt will do their share toward fullfillment of Marshall county's War Bond quota," Mayor L. M. Miller promised in a statement issued today. "Chairman O. M. Mattson of the County War Bonds and Stamps Staff has advised me that every county in the United States well be given a fixed quota for Bond and Stamps sales each month. Whatever the goal may be, I am sure we can attain it, and that we will not fail to fulfill our obligations to democracy throughout the war.

"The people of the village of Holt have given men to the fighting forces of the nation, without stint, we have given workers to the war program, without stint. To make affective those contributions of men and of brains, we must now give our whole-hearted support to the War Bonds campaign.

"I predict that the village of Holt will exceed the quota of War Bond and Stamp purchases this month, next month and every month throughout the duration. And I predict that in so doing we will join our neighbors in this county in friendly rivalry, each heping to outstrip the other in Bond purchases. By united effort, we must put our village and our county 'over the top' for victory."

L. M. Miller, Mayor.

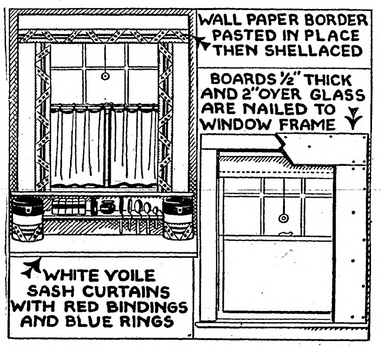
NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS



WALL PAPER BORDER PASTED IN PLACE THEN SHELLACED
BOARDS ½" THICK AND 2" OVER GLASS ARE NAILED TO WINDOW FRAME
WHITE VOILE SASH CURTAINS WITH RED BINDINGS AND BLUE RINGS

THIS new style of framing windows with boards gaily decorated, started with the black-out drills. The boards prevent light from showing around the edges of dark shades. The style is especially attractive and practical for kitchen windows as the frame gives the effect of colorful draperies, yet may be washed with a damp cloth.

This window strikes a patriotic note with blue paint and a red, white and blue border. Clear untinted shellac is used. A blue shelf under the window has notches to hold knives and mixing spoons.

PREPAREDNESS by ✚ the AMERICAN RED CROSS

Two million volunteer Red Cross workers—a militant army of mercy.

GIVING a pint of blood for the army and navy is a new form of patriotism in which thousands of loyal Americans are now participating.

This blood, processed into life-saving plasma for emergency transfusions, is collected from volunteer blood donors at 18 Red Cross Blood Donor centers.

The program was launched in February, 1941, following a request by the surgeons general of the army and navy that the Red Cross provide 15,000 pints of blood to be processed into dried plasma. This program has now been expanded at the request of the army and navy to the point where over one million donors will be required. Eighteen centers have been opened, and donations are pouring in at the rate of approximately 60,000 a month.

Giving blood is a simple process, requires but a few minutes time on the part of the donor, and has no after effects. The blood is shipped daily in refrigerated containers to the laboratories, where it is processed into dried plasma, a light, straw colored powder that can be kept indefinitely and transported easily.

Numerous cases have been reported where plasma saved the lives of American soldiers and sailors suffering from burns and traumatic shock, and Red Cross plasma has been distributed to our armed forces operating in the Atlantic and Pacific war theaters. However, thousands of additional donors are needed to supply the full requirements for the army and navy, and to provide plasma for any civilian emergencies which may result from enemy action in this country.

Red Cross Blood Donor centers are located in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Buffalo, Rochester, N. Y., Indianapolis, Detroit, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Boston, Milwaukee, Cleveland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Cincinnati, Brooklyn, and Washington, D. C.

Easy Food Source

The Cistercian monastery in Alcobaca, Portugal, obtains all the fish that it requires for food at no cost and with little labor. The cooks merely drop nets into a branch of the Alcoa river, which flows through the middle of their huge kitchen.

Smile Awhile

The Feel of It

"Aren't people funny?"

"Yes. If you tell a man there are 270,678,934,341 stars in the universe he'll believe you, but if a sign says 'Fresh Paint' that same man has to make a personal investigation."

Bachelor fireman's nightmare: He dreamt the fire brigade came to his wedding—but there was no escape.

Sure Not!

"How did you sleep?" asked the landlady.

"I didn't sleep all night. I was troubled with insomnia," replied the new boarder.

"That's a lie!" exclaimed the landlady. "I'll give you $5 for every one you find in the bed!"

Well in Hand

"Oh, my husband's changed since our marriage. He eats out of my hand now."

"Really? Well, it saves a lot of washing up."

Once there was a man who thought he'd get ahead going to parties. He got a head.

Not a Chance

After getting married to his former secretary, he remarked:

"Well, my dear, I suppose I must get someone to take your place in the office."

"I've been thinking of that," replied the bride; "my cousin is just leaving school."

"What's her name?"

"John Henry Briggs," said the bride, sweetly.

Pay or Say?

The offices of the inspector of taxes and the collector of taxes were in the same building.

A woman who got into the elevator said to the elevator boy: "Taxes."

"Collector or inspector?" asked the boy.

"Taxes, please," replied the woman.

"Now, look here, madam," said the elevator boy, "do you want to pay or just have an argument?"

Ready for Anything

A room in the old haunted grange in England had been turned into a first-aid post. The staff were so keen that the thought of ghosts didn't worry them.

On the first night the nurse on duty heard strange noises in the corridor. Opening the door she saw a spectral figure with its head tucked underneath its arm.

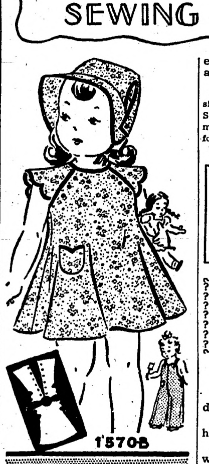
"Dear, dear," she exclaimed brightly, "however did that happen? Come inside and we'll see what we can do."

Still in the Dark

The young parson had taken for his text at his young men's class the parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins. In conclusion, he said: "Now, young men, which would you prefer? The five wise virgins with the light, or the five foolish virgins in the dark?"

The vote was unanimous.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE



DON'T you find it fun to make your daughter's play clothes in cunning styles and pretty cottons? In Pattern No. 1570-B you'll find a play set for girls from 1 to 6 years old which has many practical features.

First comes a frock—delightfully cool with scalloped cap sleeves, a pert pocket, braid and button trimming and a button-down-the-back opening which makes it easy to get on and off. Second, there is an adorable bonnet to match, the crown of which buttons in place. The whole thing opens flat for ironing. Third is a pair of overalls—so sensible for play and so healthy, too, because in warm weather no top is needed and the wearer is exposed to a grand sun tan.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1570-B is designed for 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 year sizes. Size 2 requires 3⅝ yards 32 or 35-inch material for ensemble, 3 yards bias braid for frock and bonnet.

Household Hints

Unwrap soap before storing. The soap dries out, lasts longer when exposed to the air several days before use.

* * *

A stale loaf of bread, with crusts removed, will yield eight cups of crumbs. When stale bread begins to collect around the kitchen, grind it into crumbs, and store away in a glass jar until ready to use.

* * *

Cheese will stay moist longer if the edge is thinly spread with butter before the cheese is placed in the refrigerator.

* * *

Celery tops should never be thrown away. They may be used as stock in soup or may be boiled with turnips, carrots, or cauliflower. Remove them from the pan before serving. A new flavor will be added to vegetable stand-bys.

* * *

Take especially good care of pots and pans now that metal is needed for war industries. Often old ones can be repaired. Heat them slowly and do not use too hot a fire, thereby reducing the strain on the metal and amount of heat used.

* * *

After use, dry steel wool in sun to prevent its rusting.

* * *

Do not add salt to the water when boiling corn on the cob—it would toughen the corn. Boil corn 10 minutes, drain and serve immediately tucked in the folds of a napkin. Never let corn stand in water after it is done; that would impair the flavor and texture.

* * *

The ideal way to put linens away is to roll them. Mailing tubes are excellent, so are broom handles, window-shade rollers or sections of poles on which rugs may have been rolled. Store linens in a cool—not hot or dry—place.

Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good heath is to endure.
When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

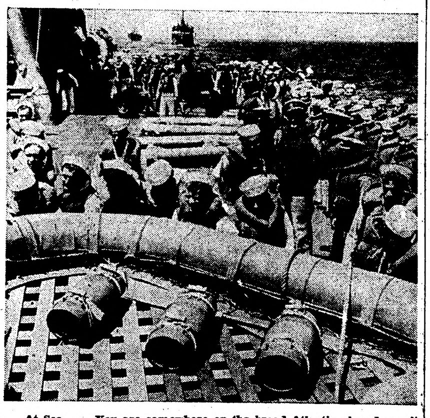
'Abandon Ship' Drill on Atlantic Convoy

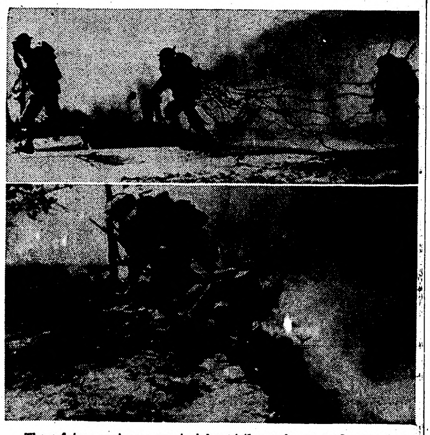


At Sea . . . You are somewhere on the broad Atlantic aboard a unit of the U. S. navy's Atlantic task force, currently doing a job of convoying. What you are now looking at is an "abandon ship" drill, in which the ship's personnel go through all the motions without actually going overside. In the background are other ships of the convoy. (Approved by U. S. navy.)

Heroes of World Battle Front

At left is Dr. C. M. Wassell, through whose skill and courage 12 badly wounded men were gotten safely out of Java, in the face of invading Jap hordes, and safely to the Australian coast. Capt. H. T. Wheless (right) went out to attack Jap transports off the Philippines. He was attacked by Zero planes but proceeded on his mission, emptied his bomb racks on six Jap transports, then fought off 18 Jap planes for 75 miles, bringing down 11, finally making a safe emergency landing with two engines and rear landing wheel gone.

Engineers Train at Fort Belvoir



These future engineers are training at the engineers replacement center, at Fort Belvoir, Va. In the photo below they are leaving their trench and advancing under a protective smoke screen to a point of combat.

War Makes Strange Friendships

The Australians have long been in the habit of calling the aborigines "black fellows." American officers somewhere in the bush region of northern Australia are being palsy walsy with a "black fellow" here.

Office on Wheels

This being a war of movement, Lieut. Gen. Neil Ritchie, general officer commanding Britain's Eighth army in Libya, believes in mobile quarters. He has fitted out a big caravan to serve in this capacity. Above he is shown working at his desk in his office on wheels. The whole outfit is mounted on a truck body.

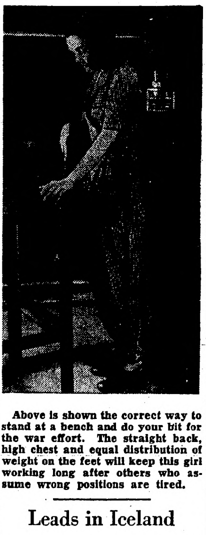
Hint to Workers



Above is shown the correct way to stand at a bench and do your bit for the war effort. The straight back, high chest and equal distribution of weight on the feet will keep this girl working long after others who assume wrong positions are tired.

Three-Mile Painting

The longest painting on record was the Panorama of the Mississippi, a canvas nearly 16,000 feet in length, which depicted the 1,300 miles of landscape of the river between the mouth of the Missouri and New Orleans, says Collier's. Executed by John Banvard between 1840 and 1846, this picture was exhibited by being passed between two upright revolving cylinders and required two hours to be shown in its entirety.

Freight trains like this are the beginning of the assembly lines from which roll airplanes, tanks, guns and other war materials. Around the clock, winter and summer, the trains keep rolling—backing up every phase of the Nation's war efforts.

Whoooo-whoooo-woo-woo

That, today, is the "movingest" sound in the world!

Through night, through storm, it shrills for the right of way for Uncle Sam.

Troops, guns, munitions, food, materials,—all going places—in a hurry!

How fast the pace?

This may give you some idea: Last year the Great Northern moved nearly one-third more freight than ever before in its history. Much of it, critical war materials that had to arrive on time—and did!

And, incidentally, it doesn't follow that because the railroad moved nearly one-third more freight than ever before, it received that much more money for its services.

The fact is that the "pay" the Great Northern received for the record-breaking transportation job it did in 1941 was actually less than it received in 1928 or 1929, previous peak years.

Not only did the Great Northern receive less, but it paid the highest wages in its history, the highest taxes ($16,867,023 in 1941 as compared with $9,201,154 in 1929), and higher prices for fuel, materials and supplies.

The Great Northern's net income (profit) was actually less last year than for each of the eight years from 1923 to 1930.

But that is beside the point!

The main thing is—

To keep on delivering the goods for Uncle Sam!

To keep those freight cars rolling!

To try to come through the present year with the record intact—a record of not a single hour's delay in any part of Uncle Sam's war effort on account of any failure of the Great Northern Railway!

And to that end, the men who man the trains, who maintain the roads of steel, keep the cars and locomotives in repair, and perform the many other necessary services, can be depended upon to "keep 'em rolling."

YOUR HOME NEWSPAPER....

Burn a schoolhouse, and education goes on. But destroy the textbooks and education suffers a severe setback.

Close a factory or a store and the community goes on. But suspend its newspaper and community spirit suffers a body blow.

Kill a newspaper which has won reader confidence and is the mirror and voice of the community, and you have killed something more than just a place of business...... you have lost a great deal more than the dollars and cents of payrolls and tax levies......you have quenched a flame in the torch of liberty.

Newspapers are the symbol of and guardian of American democracy.

A community without a newspaper is a well without a pump-there's nothing to maintain the flow off trade that is the life blood of the American economic system. It is a crowd without a leader, handicapped in securing the united action so essential to efficiency and morale on the home front.

One-eighth of the American newspapers died [illegible] pernicious enemia of their advertising columns during and immediately following the 1st world war. And the nation skidded into a devasting depression .

Business, commerical, and service establishments which successfully meet the trials of the present emergencies, communities which now thrive because of curtailed transportation, can scarcely survive the inevitable post-war adjustment without that essential community beacon, the newspaper.

"What will it profit us," we might ask, "if we gain the whole world to the standard of democracy, and lose at the home the vital torch of democracy?"

Minnesota newspapers ask no subsidy. They claim no special priviledges. They ask only a fair appraisal of their valve to the American way of life, and a sincere interest on the part of the enlightened American public in keeping those community beacons blazing.

Your investment in hometown property, your stocks of merchandise and equipment, your invaluable goodwill, hinge on your hometown newspaper to an extent unbelieveable until you have lost that newspaper. Once you have lost it, its staff will go elsewhere, long before your newspaperless community has caught step with the marching world and regained its lost prestige. And the actual cost to the business men of the community will be many times that of keeping your home town paper alive and healthy while you have it.

Protect your own goodwill, help your community survive, by advertising in your hometown newspaper. Buy your job printing where it adds strength to the pulse of local commerce. Turn a cold shoulder to the multitude of speciality advertising offers that are presented , and to the all together numerous efforts that are made to capitalize on patriotism. Everything that takes a dollar out of town, or places a mercenary value on your American spirit, eye critically and weigh carefully in the interests of your home town.

As voters, taxpayers, and in some instances public officials, remember that Minnesota law require the detailed publication of financial statements by villages, schools, counties and so on. Newspapers in the past have been reluctant to seek enforcement of the letter of these provisions because of seeming self interest; now, however, two factors loom large in this situation. First, the role of the newspaper in community strength and its corollary claim to unstinted public support; second, the desireability in stringent times of keeping the public accurately informed as to every transaction of its own governing agencies. Publication of proceedings and financial statements draws a close reign on actions and expenditures which might have a doubtful hue in the light of full publicity.

In England and Canada the government has long been paying for display advertising to keep the citizenry informed as to bond sales and other war effort. This mission in the United States devolves upon business men and the newspapers, themselves, but is none the less essential to an all-out prosecution of war. It is another mighty reason for keeping the presses of our nation rolling.

Your home town newspaper is the Torch of Democracy. Keep it alight.

Minnesota has 3,824 square miles of water.

Like Great Britain, Canada has been controlling prices since the outbreak of the war.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knutson and family of Petersburg, N. D. visited their folks here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. H. Haugen of Newfolden were Holt visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sorum and family and Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hagen of Grand Forks visited at the J. Hagberg home Sunday.

The zinc in a 3½ pound toy locomotive would make a carburetor for a jeep.

Application For Loans Received

O. T. Johnson, Field Supervisor for the Farm Credit Administration, has been advised by L. C. Streatter, Regional Manager, that the practice which prevailed in the years past of arbitrarily fixing a date on which they would discontinue receiving applications for loans, no longer is in effect, it being their present practice to continue to receive applications for loans at any time when the crop to be financed can still be successfully planted and grown. This also applies to gas, oil and repairs. He suggests that anyone needing this assistance should make their applications through the County Agent's Office.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nohre and Mrs. S. H. Nohre visited Elmer Nohre at Karlstad on Sunday.

The Junior Class of the Holt High School and their teachers Mr. Karvonen and Miss Otos and the local students attending school at Newfolden, made a trip to Duluth last Thursday and Friday for their annual outing. They accompanied the Newfolden High School who competed in the National music contest held there. The groups received a high rating. Russel Sanoden was entered with a vocal solo and also received a high rating.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

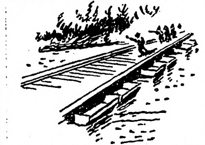
Our army spells and pronounces it ponton, not "pontoon", as you do. Ponton bridges cost all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal pontons is pictured here. The largest ponton bridge is 1,080 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.



One small bridge has a weight capacity of 25 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pontons. The smallest is used only to take troops over smaller streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest ponton, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 per cent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

Crippled Childrens Clinic

The advice and help of competent orthopedic surgeons and pediatricians as well a vocational consultants will be avaiable to crippled children of this district at a clinic to be held on Saturday May 23, at the High School, in Thief River Falls Registration hours will be from 8:00 A. M. to 2:00 P. M.

This clinic is one of a series of nine being held in the state for crippled children under 21 who cannot afford private orthopedic care. It is held annually in Thief River Falls as a part of the regular program of the Minnesota Bureau for Crippled Children, Division of Social Welfare, and serves children from Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties.

Persons attending the clinic for the first time are asked to bring a letter of recommendation from their family physician.

A local advisory committee composed of a nurse from the Bureau for Crippled Children, and representatives of local groups will have charge of arrangements in the district. Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson is general chairman. Miss Barbara Becker who is the field nurse of the Bureau for Crippled Children in this area, will be in Thief River Falls prior to the clinic to assist with arrangements.

More Scrap Iron Already Sold Than Reported in AAA Survey in March

Marshall County has received national attention for the salvage campaign that has been waged here during the past two months. The report for the month of May has been extremely gratifying, with exceptionally large amounts of the materials having been sold by the residents of the county.

Reports from the local salvage captains throughout the county have been received here by the county head, Arvid Carlson, and these reports have been forwarded to the state head and from there to the national headquarters.

Noticeable from the combined reports of the captains is the fact that more scrap iron has already been sold by county farmers than was reported in the survey that was taken by the county AAA committeemen.

Following is the report that the Salvage Head, Mr. Carlson, released for publication:

Scrap Iron	1,014.68 tons
Rags	9,401 lb
Paper	142,017 lb
Batteries	253
Rubber	73,402 lb
Copper, Brass, and Aluminum,	3,259 lb

(Note: This report includes all districts in county except Stephen and Argyle territories.)

The rubber of four pairs of men's overshoes would make a single pair of army goloshes, 60 containers for 75-mm shells can be made from a pile of 100 old newspapers, and one pound of brass pipe contains enough metal to make 18 .30 cal. cartridges .

Cleanup Notice

Property owners are requested to clean up their property and alleys before June 1st. 1942. Any persons making use of vacant lots in the village are also requested to clean these up so that it will not be necessary for the village to do so. Any property not taken care of will be cleaned by the village and the expense in this connection will be assessed against this property as an additional tax.

In hauling to the dump ground DO NOT dump rubbish in the drive way.

By order of the Village Council, Village of Holt.

Property Tax Levies Cut

Real estate taxes in Minnesota are more than $1,000,000 lower this year than a year ago. Altho all other taxes are spiriling upward, there is some reassurance in the fact that there have been real estate cuts, according to a report just issued by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

Total real estate levies have been cut from $114,229,324 last year to $113,162,330 (payable in 1942).

Reduction of the State mill rate from 10 to 9 mills, effected by the last legislature, resulted in lowering the State levy from $10,978,771 to $9,402,400. This was a cut of $1,576,371 in the state tax.

County levies, on the other hand, have shown an increase of $332,000, traveling upward from $30,666,755 last year, to $30,998,759 this year.

Cities and villages have made a slight reduction in levies amounting to $198,891. Last year the total was $34,544,957, while this year it is $34,346,066.

Townships increased levies by $236,235. Total township levies a year ago were $6,186,225 and this year they are $6,422,460.

School district levies also were increased by $140,027 over last year, growing from $31,852,616 to $31,992,643.

The compilation of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association issued today shows that total real estate tax levy reductions in the state amount of $1,066,994 in the past year. This includes all local units as well as the State mill levy.

Sam Lorentson and O. H. Nohre were reelected to serve on the Board of Education of the Holt Consolidated School District No. 35 for a term of three years. There were 36 votes cast and Louis Sagstuen, Oscar Fosholm and A. P. Thompson served as judges of the election.

The Farmer-Labor Ass'n of Marshall County will hold its convention on Sunday at 1 p. m. at Grygla for the purpose of electing delegates to the state and district conventions, and transact other business.

The commencement exercises at the Newfolden High School will be held on Thursday evening May 28th. at 8:00 p. m.

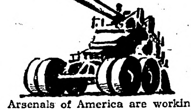
The 155-millimeter gun is the modern version of the old "GPF" of World War I days. It has a range fifty percent greater than the old gun, heaving a 95-pound projectile approximately 15 miles. It is capable of high road speed and each one costs $50,000.



Arsenals of America are working at terrific speed turning out this long range, effective weapon for our armed forces. You and your neighbor working hand-in-hand in unity can make possible the purchase of an adequate number of these guns by buying War Bonds. Squash A Good Vegetable

If you have plenty of garden room, give squash a high priorty rating among your victory vegetables. There's a lot to be said for the lowly squash, especially this year when canning is at a premium. The squash is a rich source of Vitamin A. It keeps very well for months in an attic or dry furnace room. No coddling is necessary. Perhaps you know only one variety, Hubbard? If so, why not try Buttercup or Greengold, small squashes that are handy in size and choice in flavor.

Squash plants need plenty of room. They are ordinarily hardy if protected from the squash bug and cucumber beetle.

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

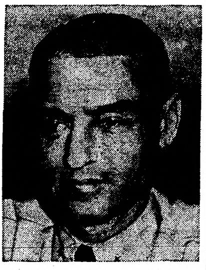
Axis Threat to Western Hemisphere Forestalled by Move on Martinique; Nazis Begin Eastern Crimean Drive To Gain Needed Caucasian Oil Fields

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

PROTECTORATE:
In Caribbean

Dealing directly with Adm. Georges Robert as the "ultimate governing authority" of the French possessions in the Caribbean and French Guiana, the United States moved to forestall the Axis powers from gaining any foothold in the Western hemisphere.

Upon orders from President Roosevelt, American representatives arrived at Martinique and informed Admiral Robert that the United States desired to place troops in the French possession to guard against any Axis threat. The state department ignored Pierre Laval, chief of the Vichy government, to deal directly with Robert.



ADMIRAL JOHN H. HOOVER
Messenger to Martinique.

Adm. John H. Hoover, representing the United States, made it definite that this country would desire to garrison the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, off Newfoundland, in addition to Martinique and Guadeloupe in the Caribbean sea.

The state department emphasized that no ultimatum was being served on the French admiral. Robert had been friendly with the two previous American missions since the fall of France in 1940.

PRIME MINISTER:
A Report

As he reviewed the war on the second anniversary of his rise to the premiership, Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain indicated that he believed the tide of battle had turned in the favor of the United Nations.

While he foresaw suffering ahead he told his people that deserved to hear the encouraging news that Britain's great air force had been constantly bombing a number of Nazi industrial cities and "would continue to bomb them."

Churchill warned the Nazis that if they used poison gas against Russia, that this same RAF would be used to carry gas warfare in the "largest possible scale against military objectives in Germany." This remark received special attention as less than 24 hours before he spoke, Russia had reported that the Nazis were using gas mines in the battle of the Crimea.

War shipments through the Arctic supply route are definitely getting through to Russia, said the prime minister, although there have been losses to the United Nations in these convoys. He also thinks Russia's army is growing stronger.

COAL:
Reserve Supplies

Repeated warnings issued by the nation's coal dealers were strengthened when Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, declared that emergency rationing of coal is probable unless consumers build up their reserve supplies immediately to the limit of storage.

Nelson pointed out that the fuel oil situation on the East coast and winter transportation problems make stockpiling operations now of utmost importance to all consumers who are dependent on coal for heating their homes or running their factories.

Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, stated that "there is no shortage of coal, nor will there be. But if consumers wait until the fall and winter months to fill their requirements, a serious transportation shortage will possibly result. This we must avoid."

GERMAN DRIVE:
In Eastern Crimea

The long-heralded Nazi spring drive finally began with a thrust toward Kerch in the eastern Crimea. Kerch is a key peninsular point along the shortest route to the Caucasian oil fields.

The Nazis' main effort was directed, as many observers thought it would be, at driving across the Kerch peninsula to win the rich fuel deposits. Too, they would be in a position to threaten the Allied eastern flank in Iran, another oil kingdom. Comparative quiet had prevailed in the Kerch peninsula since last December when the Russians hurled the Germans back from the town of Kerch.

Neutral observers stated that approximately 2,000,000 men were in action on the Donetz front. Early reports indicated vast Nazi strength on the 250-mile front between Dnepropetrovsk and the peninsula.

MALTA:
More Bombs

In a ceremony punctuated by falling Nazi bombs, Great Britain's Lord Gort was sworn in as the new governor and commander-in-chief of Malta, the "most bombed spot on earth."

Lord Gort took his oath of office amid the ruins of a building smashed in a previous attack. Bombs were falling throughout the proceedings and the chief justice administering the oath had his hand cut and bleeding from a wound sustained during the raid.

More than 10,000 high explosive, armor piercing bombs have been dropped on Malta this year, according to an Alexandria, Egypt, source. The island, lying off the coast of Italy in the Mediterranean, has been under constant attack by the Nazi bombing forces because it guards the vital Axis supply routes to Africa and the Middle East.

As a result of these continuing raids an official British check-up shows that Malta's property losses include 15,500 homes, 70 churches, 18 convents, 22 schools and eight hospitals. Seventy-five per cent of the property in Valetta, the principal city, has been made uninhabitable by the attacks.

CORAL SEA:
Heavy Toll

Exacting a toll of at least 21 Japanese warships in the Battle of the Coral Sea, American sea and air forces combined to slap back a Jap fleet in its first major attempt to smash through the outer defenses of Australia.

Advanced Allied bases reported that at least 500 planes took part in the five-day battle which was fought 450 miles off the northeast coast of Australia.

Battered remnants of the attacking Jap forces were reported to have limped northward to their bases in New Britain and the Solomon islands following the rout.

Commander of U. S. naval forces in the great battle of the Coral sea was Vice Admiral Herbert Fairfax Leary of Washington, D. C. Admiral Leary is a gunnery expert and won the Navy Cross in World War I.

Sweeping claims by the Japs as to their success in the battle were discounted by both General MacArthur in Australia and by the navy department in Washington. MacArthur's headquarters described Jap reports of Allied losses as "entirely fictional" and the navy department stated that while reports of the damage to U. S. forces was still incomplete, neither a U. S. aircraft carrier nor a battleship had been lost.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

Italy: Premier Mussolini and the king of Italy watched a parade of marching men and lines of war machines wind through the streets of Rome as part of Italy's observation of "Empire day." Actually it was the sixth anniversary of Mussolini's formal proclamation of a new Roman empire based on the conquest of Ethiopia, which has since fallen to the British.

Women: War Manpower Chairman McNutt indicated that the U. S. has an adequate supply of woman power to train and employ in war and essential civilian industries at an increasing rate during the next two years. Next year, he predicted there will be 4,000,000 in war jobs out of an expected 20,000,000 war workers.

The above map depicts the size of the French island of Madagascar by comparing it with the area of New York state. Madagascar's importance to the United Nations lies in the fact that bases on the island control the supply lines to India and the Middle East. British occupation forestalled a possible Axis move in that direction.

TRAP SPRUNG:
On Jap Invaders

A stirring story of how Japanese invading forces on the Burma road were sent reeling back by a surprise blow from a "trapped" Chinese army was told by dispatches from Chungking.

The Chinese on the Burma road followed their prearranged plan. They allowed the Japs to sweep into Yunnan province and lengthen their communication lines. The Japs advanced triumphantly.

A strong Chinese army, which the Japs had bypassed in central Burma, struck hard into the exposed rear lines of the invaders. The maneuver cut off the main communication route and line of retreat of the Japanese units, which had split into two columns to try to outflank the Chinese. One of these columns was wiped out in the first 24 hours of fighting. The other forces were expected to be "liquidated within a few days," said a Chinese communique.

GAS RATIONED:
On Eastern Seaboard

Approximately one-third of all automobile owners in the eastern seaboard states have been limited to three gallons of gasoline a week by an order from the Office of Price Administration.

The one-third, whose use of automobiles is classed as non-essential, will be entitled to purchase a total of 27 gallons of gasoline from May 15 to July 1, when a permanent rationing plan goes into effect.

Motorists have been classified in five categories for rationing purposes. Holders of "A" cards are nonessential. "B-1," "B-2" and "B-3" cards have been issued to motorists, including workers in arms industries, whose cars are necessary in pursuit of their employment. The amount of gasoline they receive depends upon the amount of daily mileage they declared at registration time. It ranges from 4 5/7 to 8 1/7 gallons a week.

The "X" cards were issued to unrestricted users, including buses, taxicabs, physicians, nurses, ambulances, hearses, ministers, highway maintenance crews and government of municipally operated cars.

TRADE BARRIERS:
Impose 'Heavy Toll'

In an action-producing message to the Federal-State Conference on War Restrictions, President Roosevelt declared that legal obstacles to commerce, arising from a desire for regional and local advantage, have imposed a heavy toll on the national war effort.

Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York, in a radio broadcast, pointed out a vivid illustration of existing trade barriers:

"Rhode Island requires that all milk brought in from neighboring states must be colored 'pink.' Imagine drinking pink milk. The obvious purpose is to keep out 'foreign' milk and make all drink Rhode Island milk."

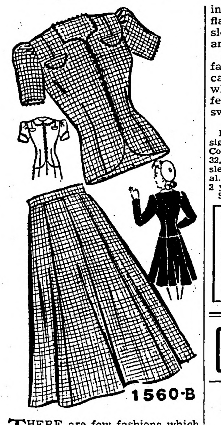
However, trucking restrictions were responsible for most of the wrath.

Public Roads Commissioner MacDonald said the following regulations would remove the most serious stoppages of interstate truck traffic: Maximum width for trucks, 96 inches; height, 12 feet 6 inches; length, 35 feet for single vehicles and 45 feet for combinations; load for a single axle, 18,000 pounds; gross weight, 30,000 pounds for vehicles having two axles and 40,000 pounds for vehicles with three or more.

TOKYO ATTACK:
Now It's 'Official'

Three weeks after American bombing planes rained bombs on Tokyo and other Japanese cities, the raid has been confirmed by an official U. S. war department communique. The bombing flight was made in mid-day, and the "selected targets were unmistakable and were accurately attacked." Further, the communique stated that "Military, naval and industrial plants were the objectives." Some of the large fires burned at least two days.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE



THERE are few fashions which do quite as much for the figure as the dress which looks like a suit, an appealing version of which is presented in Pattern No. 1560-B. In this style you get a smooth fitting top which whittles the waist, trimly outlines the feminine curves of the bosom and controls a slim effect through the hips. You will like the neat detailing too, in the low cool neckline edged with ric-rac, the row of tiny buttons for the front closing and the prettily shaped pocket flaps. The skirt has panels, for slender fitting through the hips and across the back.

If a touch of white near your face is especially flattering you can finish the top with a round white collar—it would be most effective if the frock were dotted swiss—or gingham of a tiny check.

* * *

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1560-B is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 28, 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 12 (30), with short sleeves requires 3¾ yards 35-inch material. Contrast collar and cuffs, ⅝ yard. 2 yards ric-rac for trim.

Experience to Character

Character is the spiritual body of the person, and represents the individualization of vital experience, the conversion of unconscious things into self-conscious man.—Whipple.

Household Hints

Cinnamon toast may be made without sugar by blending 2½ tablespoons of honey with two-thirds tablespoon butter. Increase amounts as desired.

* * *

Only half the quantity of sugar will be required to sweeten stewed fruits if sugar is added after fruit is cooked.

* * *

As dried fruit is usually soaked before cooking, save the soaking water to cook the fruit in, thereby saving much of the food value of the fruit.

* * *

Individual service table mats save lots of laundering. Use them in place of luncheon or tablecloths. For outdoor or porch serving try the prettily decorated oilcloth mats; they only need a daily wiping with a dampened cloth.

* * *

If the summer porch rug looks rather forlorn give it a good scrubbing then, when dry, a coat of porch paint. After two days spread with clear floor varnish, and you have a rug which will probably give you another year's wear at small cost.

THE POWER OF THE PRESS
● Manufacturers and merchants sense the power of the press. Early they began using it to carry their advertising facts and ideas into homes. And they found it a most profitable way in which to tell their story to buyers. And the buyers in turn found it profitable to deal with those who were willing to state in print the values and services they offered.

Electric Power and NATIONAL EMERGENCY Work Hand in Hand

Twice as much ELECTRIC SERVICE for your Money
Today you get twice as much electric service for your money as you did 12 years ago. Your bill is about the same, but as the price of electricity was going down you were adding useful, new appliances. Now you use twice as much electrical energy for the same amount of money. Electricity is a real bargain.

Electric power is at work preparing food and making supplies for our fighting forces. Your electric company and war-time industries are working hand in hand toward one goal—Victory. About 1/4 (one-fourth) of all the power we now produce is used by meat packing plants, powdered milk plants, metal working plants, shipyards, and other war-time industries.

These demands for electric service have been met to date without inconvenience to any of our customers. This has been made possible by planning ahead, because this electric company has been built and operated the American way—by business management.

Bring in Old Battery

Purchasers intending to replace their old automobile batteries this year will have to bring in the old one before the dealer can turn over a new one. This has been ordered by the War Production Board in connection with and order curtailing production of new batteries. The program, northwest War Production Board officials said, is aimed at turning 23,000 tons of lead and huge supplies of other critical metals and rubber into war production. The number of models was dropped from 75 to 15 and retailers were instructed to carry only a 45 day supply on hand at any time.

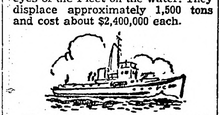
Sunnyside School, Doris Carlson teacher, held their annual picnic on Sunday.

Ralph Hanson visited a few days at the home of his sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Iver Larson. He was enroute to his home at Inverness, Montana, from Missouri.

The Nuirition Meeting with Mrs. H. Moberg and Mrs. John Ness as leaders, will be held at the Nazareth Church parlors on Wednesday afternoon, June 3. All are welcome to come.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Aside from the sixty-mile an hour Mosquito Torpedo Boats, the Sub Chasers are the speedsters of our Navy. Light and fast, they are the eyes of the Fleet on the water. They displace approximately 1,500 tons and cost about $2,400,000 each.



We need many of these powerful, fast little boats to cope with the treacherous submarine type of naval warfare fostered by our enemies. Everybody can help pay for more Sub Chasers by putting at least ten percent of his income into War Bonds. Buy Bonds or Stamps every pay day. Buy them from your bank, your post office, or from your office or factory through the Payroll Savings Plan.

USO Drive To Begin Here

Marshall County's campaign to raise its quota of $300 for the USO will begin on Monday, June 1 when sub-chairmen from every village will begin their task in raising the fund to make life more pleasant for the men in our armed forces, Dr. C. A. Gunnarson, Warren, county chairman, announced this week.

The USO or United Service Organizations, is comprised of six national agencies who have joined together for the purpose of managing and operating service club houses and recreational centers in all parts of the world where the United States armed forces are located. The agencies are the Young Men's Christian associations, the National Catholic Community Service, the Salvation Army, the Young Women's Christian Associations, the Jewish Welfare Board and the National Travelers Aid Association. These represent the three principal religions faiths of the nation.

Practically every one of Uncle Sam's fighting men make use of the USO services almost daily, Doctor Gunnarson pointed out. The USO provides character building entertainment, restful club rooms, camp shows, writing facilities etc., without cost to the soldiers, while candy, tobacco, lunches etc., are sold at snack bars at the lowest possible prices.

The services of the USO were organized upon recommendation of President Roosevelt together with other prominent government as well as private citizens. The USO gives the soldier an opportunity to enjoy wholesome recreation during their periods of off-duty.

"I am sure that Marshall county will give willingly and cheerfully when the solicitors make their rounds, because every dollar given to the cause will make military life just a little bit more cheerful for hundreds of Marshall county men who are now members of our armed forces" Doctor Gunnarson predicted.

The sub-chairman for Marshall county drive includes the following: Alvarado, Phillip Pihlstrom; Argyle, Ed M. Steinbauer; Gatzke, Amos Aase; Grygla, Carl Holbrook; Holt, Alton Carlson; Middle River, Victor Berg; Newfolden, Sam Lee; Oslo, Ed J. Mendick; Radium, Nels Lund; Stephen, Axel W. Lundeen; Strandquist, Wm. Hanson; Viking, Frank Hanson and Warren, L. E. Sands.

Cleanup Notice

Property owners are requested to clean up their property and alleys before June 1st, 1942. Any persons making use of vacant lots in the village are also requested to clean these up so that it will not be necessary for the village to do so. Any property not taken care of will be cleaned by the village and the expense in this connection will be assessed against this property as an additional tax.

In hauling to the dump ground DO NOT dump rubbish in the drive way.

By order of the Village Council, Village of Holt.

Marshall County Leads Nation

In an address before a large throng of people at the Salvage Day held at Grygia, Mr. Linus E. Vorpahl, Executive Secretary for the State Salvage for Victory Committee, announced that Marshall County is leading the nation in the amount of scrap iron collected in proportion to the population. Over 1,190 tons or an average of over 124 pounds for every man, woman and child in the county has been collected to date. Over 80,000 pounds of rubber has been salvaged.

Mr. Arvid Carlson, Chairman of the Marshall County Salvage for Victory Committee, stated that while this was an excellent record, we still must work even harder to get in the balance of the salvage still not collected.

"Our war production is just starting to get into high gear," said Mr. Carlson, "the demand for salvage material will increase as our production increases. We all must do our utmost to aid in this production. Let everyone of us in Marshall County continue to bring in our salvage materials. Scrap Iron, Rubber, Paper, Rags Copper, Brass, and Aluminum are all vitally essential in our fight for Victorious America. I also urge all scrap dealers to ship whatever salvage they may have on hand as the need is most urgent."

Navy Recruiting Party at TRF

A navy recruiting Party will be in Thief River Falls, June 4th and 2th and at Warren, June 6th.

The navy is now accepting men from 17 years of age to 50. Enlistments in the U. S. Navy are for a period of 6 years, while enlistments in the U. S. Naval Reserve are for the duration of the emergency. The Opportunities for advancement in both the U. S. Navy and the U. S. Naval Reserve are far greater than they have ever been is the past.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carlson spent Sunday fishing at Pine Lake.

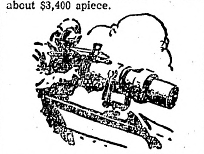
Robert Forder spent Sunday fishing in Lake of the Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert McMurray and Mrs. W. McMurray left Monday for their home at Eugene, Oregon, after a visit here with relatives.

Minnesota has 3,824 square miles of water.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Aerial Camera for use on Scout and Observation and Reconnaisance planes is essential to both the Army and Navy air forces in planning battle formations and in obtaining information on enemy fortifications and movements. They look something like a cannon, and cost about $3,400 apiece.



The aerial cameraman can plot wide territories in bold relief so that Army or Navy Intelligence can make accurate measurements of enemy territory. We need many of these cameras so necessary to the air arms of the Army and Navy. You can help buy them with your purchases of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day, and help your county go over its War Bond Quota.

Memorial Day Saturday

We cannot but halt a moment, as we cross the threshold of the beautiful month of May, in silent honor of those who gave their all that we might prosper. "Their" day comes in May. A single day out of a year of length yet more hearts, and minds, and love will surrender on Decoration Day than on any other day of the year.

The torn hearts of the mothers who lost their boys on the battlefields of Europe, will rest easier as the Almighty casts his reflection over the world on Decoration Day. The graves of those "boys" will again feel the tears of the loved ones left behind.

No honor is too great for those who laid down their lives in the wars of our nation since its birth No flowers are beautiful enough to grace the graves of our "Soldiers."

It is our prayer, and the prayer of countless others in all parts of the world, that Decoration Day, this year will serve to tender the resting places of our great, and ease many heavy hearts.

The school in which Beatrice Larson taught the past year held their annual picnic on Sunday.

MARTINIQUE:
Laval Laments 'Blow to France'

Though his opinion was not asked by the U. S. state department, Pierre Laval, pro-Nazi chief of the Vichy-French government, gave a rejection to most of the six U. S. demands concernng the Caribbean island of Martinique.

The state department had earlier submitted to Admiral Georges Robert, high commissioner of the French possession, a request that if the status of Martinique, Guadeloupe, and French Guiana were changed "the United States could no longer guarantee their belonging to the French people." What the U. S. really wanted was to immobilize French warships and airplanes now in the Martinique area, and some method for checking on persistent reports that this region was being used as a base for Nazi submarine activity in the raids on Atlantic coast shipping.

Laval said that these demands were a "grave blow to French sovereignty" and that France would not relinquish any of her rights over Martinique "no matter what happens." To this unsolicited statement Washington gave the cold shoulder. It looked like the state department intended to deal directly with officials on the island rather than with Laval.

THREE GALLONS:
'Essential'

As American motorists on the Eastern seaboard got their first taste of gasoline rationing many of them began to wonder if they would be classified as "essential" drivers. For if they had such a classification they would be permitted to buy more than the three gallons per week allotted under the rationing set-up.

Motorists in Oregon and Washington were to get their gasoline ration cards the first of June when deliveries of fuel oil and gasoline to these two states were cut to 50 per cent of normal deliveries. Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes said there is no immediate need of curtailing petroleum products deliveries elsewhere in the country.

Reports from the East coast gave indication of grumbling on the part of some motorists to the effect that rationing should apply to all sections or to none at all. Then came the assurance from OPA that workers who customarily drive to work were to be allowed enough gasoline to continue so doing.

Congressmen and other federal and state employees using private cars to transact business with a government agency are entitled to unlimited supplies of gasoline.

SELECTIVE SERVICE:
New Induction Plan

When Selective Service Director Hershey announced that after June 15 a new policy for the induction of men procured through the draft machinery would be introduced, he did much to solve the personal problems of selectees. Under the new plan men will be inducted immediately after they pass the physical examinations and will then be transferred to the Enlisted Reserve corps and be granted 14 days for concluding personal affairs before being assigned to active duty. Transportation and meals from the induction center to the local board locality ordering the registrant to report for examination and subsequently to a designated reception center will be at government expense.

Director Hershey predicted that 10,000,000 U. S. men may be under arms by late 1943 or early 1944.

Honored Guest

CHURCHILL:
Confident

Confidence was the keynote of Winston Churchill's address to 25,000 Yorkshiremen when he told them that the beginning of victory is in sight and that England will "play rough" in repayment for any torture inflicted on Britain and its allies.

Churchill's talk emphasized his warning that Britain would cover German military objectives with poison gas if that weapon were used by Germany in its war on Russia.

PREPAREDNESS by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

When disaster strikes, the Red Cross is first in and last out.

VOLUNTEER Special Services of the American Red Cross have been geared to meet war requirements and war priorities.

Although a shortage of materials has cut down production work, women who have sewed and knitted for the Red Cross will be glad to know that, under an agreement with the War Production board, a certain amount of wool and yard goods will be available for Red Cross workers, according to Mrs. Dwight Davis, national director of this Red Cross program.

These restricted quantities are to be used only for knitted articles for our soldiers and sailors when requested by their commanding officers, and for garments for civilian relief, either at home or abroad, which are absolutely necessary.

The Red Cross Motor corps has been active since the early days of the First World war, but since last year its work has more than tripled. Motor corps volunteers drive the ambulances which provide transportation for hospitals and Red Cross chapters, and hold themselves ready for service in any kind of emergency. Besides their basic training in motor mechanics and advanced first aid, many members are now studying map reading, stretcher drills, and convoy and ambulance black-out driving in co-operation with their local police and fire departments.

A new canteen aide corps has recently been formed in preparation for wartime emergencies, when feeding of large groups of people such as evacuees or disaster victims may have to be hastily organized.

Red Cross nurse's aides, who have learned how to help the trained nurses in hospitals and clinics, are now being trained to work on the emergency medical field units set up in large centers in case of air attack.

The other general wartime volunteer services of the Red Cross include home service to the families of the men in the forces, the hospital and recreation corps which brings cheer to the sick and wounded, and the staff assistance corps, which provides volunteers for all kinds of office work in hospitals, clinics and Red Cross chapter and to man information desks and register disaster victims.

AROUND THE HOUSE

When pressing or ironing, keep a damp sponge in a saucer, close by. It can be used for giving extra dampness to articles, for opening seams or sponging collars and cuffs.

A chocolate pie will take on a new flavor if left-over coffee is substituted for half the milk.

* * *

If the "silence cloth" used under tablecloths to protect the table from hot dishes becomes stiff or shrunken from incorrect laundering, wash in fluffy soapsuds to which two or three tablespoonsful of glycerine has been added. Rinse and hang to dry. The glycerine that remains will help to make the cloth soft and easy to stretch back into shape.

* * *

Never wash the grids of a waffle iron and never put the iron in water. Instead clean the grids with a wire brush and dry cloth, wipe the outside of the iron with a damp cloth and a soft polishing cloth.

* * *

When a suede garment has become wet it should be allowed to dry in ordinary room temperature, never near artificial heat. Place on a coat hanger and shape carefully. Stuff folded paper into the sleeves to shape them.

* * *

The breadbox should be frequently washed out, dried and thoroughly aired by keeping the lid open a little. Thus, the bread never will get a musty taste. To keep it from becoming too dry, place a small washed potato in the box. Moisture is given off by the potato but not enough to cause mildew.

Coffeepots need thorough washing, scouring, rinsing and airing. Clean the spout with a stiff paint brush, frequently dipped in cleansing powder, and then rinse in quantities of boiling water. Invert until dry. Air the pot in the sun at least once a week.

* * *

If the surface of your stove looks rough, it probably is due to an accumulation of stove blacking. Sandpaper rubbed over the surface will make it as smooth as when new.

A stick of cinnamon broken into the milk beaten into custards gives the custards a faint cinnamon color but does not darken them.

* * *

Try cooking beet greens with bacon. After boiling, the bacon is crisped in frying pan and served with slices of hard-boiled eggs as a border around greens.

Have a brush especially for scrubbing pastry boards and tables. Wash and wipe dry, and be careful not to allow the dough to accumulate in the cracks.

Eternal Now

Above the indistinguishable roar of the many feet I feel the presence of the sun, of the immense forces of the universe, and beyond these the sense of the eternal now, of the immortal . . . There lives on in me an unquenchable belief, thought burning like the sun, that there is yet something to be found, something real, something to give each separate personality sunshine and flowers in its own existence now.—Richard Jeffries.

JUST an old dresser with no mirror and one leg broken, but a new base gave it a modern air. Open shelves on top were the next step. The owner writes that she sent for scallop pattern 207, planning to have jig saw scallops cut for the shelves but she changed her mind and used the pattern for painted scallops instead. The whole piece was painted pale gray to match the kitchen woodwork; scallop designs were then chosen to fit drawers and cross boards at top and bottom of shelves. These, as well as base and drawer pulls were painted orange.

NOTE—Scallop pattern No. 207 gives dozens of designs to fit any space. These may be cut out of wood, composition board, linoleum, oil cloth or paper. They may be pasted or painted on wood or metal. All This, We Find, Was According to Orders

Out for a drive in her pony-cart, an elderly lady managed to get involved in some army maneuvers. As she approached a bridge a sentry stopped her.

"Sorry, madam," he said; "you can't cross this bridge. It's just been destroyed."

The old lady peered at it through her spectacles.

"It looks all right to me," she murmured. Then, as another soldier came along, she asked:

"Excuse me, but can you tell me what's wrong with this bridge?"

The soldier shook his head.

"Don't ask me, lady," he replied; "I've been dead two days."

600 Men in the Moon

There is not just one man in the moon, but 600, and they are accompanied by nine women, according to Who's Who in the Moon, a publication issued by the British Astronomical association after three years of research.

All 600 have had craters, walled plains or mountains on the moon named for them, and in future these names will appear on every map of the satellite. They include great scientists, explorers, heroes or philanthropists who have aided observers of the planets in the last 300 years. Only 11 are still alive.

TEACHING A CHILD VALUE OF PENNIES

A child of a wise mother will be taught from early childhood to become a regular reader of the advertisements. In that way better perhaps than in any other can the child be taught the great value of pennies and the permanent benefit which comes from making every penny count.

Desert Warriors of U. S.

This series of pictures shows some of the training routine of coast artillery anti-aircraft units somewhere in the Mojave desert of California, with sidelights on the daily lives of our boys as they prepare to meet all comers on better than even terms.

Picture Parade

Leaving their base camp, this anti-aircraft regiment (top) pulls out across the desert to the anti-aircraft firing range. Lower photo shows the soldiers, after a rigorous day of drilling in the windswept 100-degree temperature of the desert, filing past the kitchen for the evening meal.

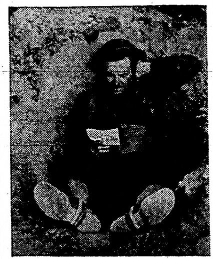
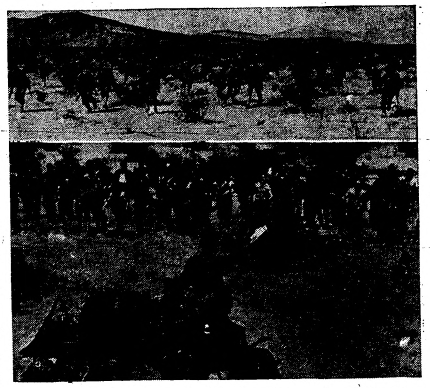
Private Lloyd Lammers of Fort Worth, Tex., uses his mess kit to dig a fox hole in the shale and sand.



Private Ben Haddock of San Diego, Calif., tucks himself neatly in his foxhole to read a letter from the girl friend. Right: PFC Roy Falls all of 5 feet tall, trys to convince Pvt. Maurice Whaley, 6 ft. 4, that all men are created equal.



Leaving the fox holes they had dug behind them, the soldiers charge (upper photo) to holes that were prepared and left by preceding troops. Below: A general rush as mail call is sounded in this lonely desert training camp.

Arriving on the range, the men unlimber the anti-aircraft guns and prepare to set them up for the day's maneuver.

Rich Husbands in India

Rich husbands are a must in India. If a girl fails to find one she is married to a bunch of flowers! Then the "husband" is dropped into a well. And presto! the bride is a widow—with the privilege of marrying again. For some reason, the "second" husband doesn't have to be rich.

A BIT of FUN

Trial Treatment

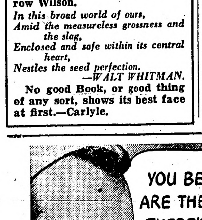
Sufferer—I wish I had some drops to cure this toothache.

Friend—It's all a matter of the mind, not medicine. Yesterday I was feeling terrible. But when I went home my wife put her arms around me and kissed me, and consoled me, so that I soon felt better.

Sufferer—You don't say. Is your wife at home now?

Anyone can recognize opportunity after the other fellow has seized it.

OUT AND IN



"I say, it's odd this being in society."

"How so?"

"Why, to keep in it you must be continually going out, don't you know."

Appreciated

Jean—I wouldn't marry the best man living.

Bert—I'm sorry you feel that way about me, but thanks for the compliment.

Gems of Thought

IF THERE be a man that labors not, or a woman who does not occupy herself with spinning, some one in the empire will suffer with hunger or cold.—Chinese Proverb.

I believe in democracy because it releases the energies of every human being.—Woodrow Wilson.

In this broad world of ours,
Amid the measureless grossness and the slag,
Enclosed and safe within its central heart,
Nestles the seed perfection.
—WALT WHITMAN.

No good Book, or good thing of any sort, shows its best face at first.—Carlyle.

Her Prerogative

Jean—You can't believe all you hear.

Joan—No; but you can repeat it.

Hope Never Dies

Mrs. Green was proudly displaying a new hat to Mrs. Gray.

"It's lovely," said Mrs. Gray; "but how do you manage to get so much money from your husband?"

"Quite simple, my dear," was the triumphant reply. "I just tell him I'm going back to mother, and he immediately hands me the fare."

Good Proof

Congressman—And why do they say that talk is cheap?

Voter—Because the supply usually exceeds the demand.

We are told that millions of germs cling to our paper money. It's more than most humans can do nowadays!

The Long and Short of It

Customer—I suspect that you're giving me awfully short weight for my money!

Grocer — Well, I'm positive you're giving me an awfully long wait for mine.

Simple as That

"Yes, I came face to face with a lion once," said the club liar, "and I was alone and unarmed."

"Heavens, what did you do?" asked a new member, who didn't know his man.

"What could I do? I tried staring straight into his eyes, but he just continued crawling towards me."

"How did you get away, then?"

"I just left him and passed on to the next cage."

Without the Grounds

"My girl's father doesn't like me."

"On what grounds?"

"On any grounds within ten miles of his house."

Slow Going

As the secretary of the golf club was crossing the course he saw a player driving off about a foot in front of the tee-mark.

"Here," he exclaimed indignantly, "you can't do that! You're disqualified."

"Why?" demanded the player.

"You're driving off in front of the mark."

"Don't be an ass!" was the terse reply; "I'm playing my third shot."

Twins Painting

The Leibovitz sisters of Philadelphia, identical twins and both artists, sometimes produce "joint pictures," says Collier's. Freda, the right-handed twin, paints one side of the canvas while Ida, who is left-handed, does the other side. When the painting is finished, it appears, even to experts, to be the work of a single artist.

The problem of what to send a service man has been solved by the men themselves. Tobacco tops the list of gifts service men prefer from the folks back home, according to numerous surveys. If you have a friend or relative in the armed forces—Army, Navy, Marines, or Coast Guard—who smokes a pipe, or rolls-his-own, a pound of his favorite tobacco is very much in order. A big favorite with many service men is Prince Albert, the world's largest-selling smoking tobacco. Local dealers now are featuring Prince Albert in the pound can for the men in the service.—Adv.

Looking over the News files we find that it in now twenty years since the Holt State Bank was closed. That event was deeply felt by everyone in this community. Some felt it more than others. Life long savings were lost over night. However, because of the challenge, the community rallied and overcame the financial difficulties to the extent that the conditions now are better than they possibly could have been the other way. Much credit is due those who had the difficult task of opening another bank in a community that had lost all faith in banking. Many small towns around here that had their banks closed do not now have banks. The sound banking that has been built up here is more of a boost to the community than most people realize.

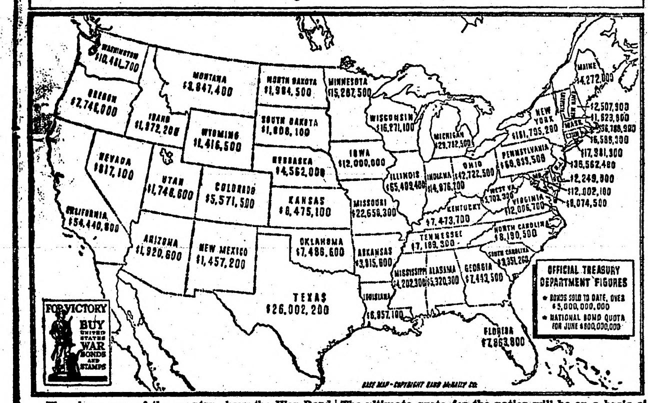
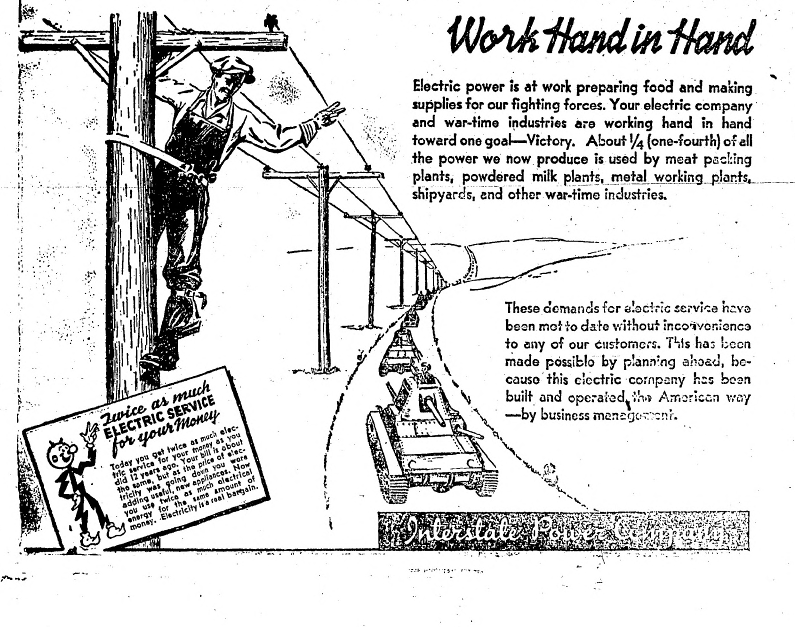
Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for June



The above map of the country shows the War Bond Quota by states for the month of June totalling $800,000,000. Everybody every pay day is expected to invest at least ten per cent of his income in War Bonds to aid in financing America's offensive against the Axis powers. The ultimate quota for the nation will be on a basis of one billion dollars per month effective in July. This sum is necessary to provide for all-out production of planes, guns, ships and munitions adequate to arm our fighting men with the tools necessary to win the war.

Electric Power and NATIONAL EMERGENCY

Work Hand in Hand



Twice as much ELECTRIC SERVICE for your Money
Today you get twice as much electric service for your money as you did 12 years ago. Your bill is about the same, but as the price of electricity was going down you were adding useful, new appliances. Now you use twice as much electrical energy for the same amount of money. Electricity is a real bargain.

Electric power is at work preparing food and making supplies for our fighting forces. Your electric company and war-time industries are working hand in hand toward one goal—Victory. About 1/4 (one-fourth) of all the power we now produce is used by meat packing plants, powdered milk plants, metal working plants, shipyards, and other war-time industries.

These demands for electric service have been met to date without inconvenience to any of our customers. This has been made possible by planning ahead, because this electric company has been built and operated the American way—by business management.

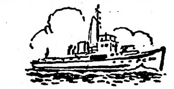
What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Aside from the sixty-mile an hour Mosquito Torpedo Boats, the Sub Chasers are the speedsters of our Navy. Light and fast, they are the eyes of the Fleet on the water. They displace approximately 1,500 tons and cost about $2,400,000 each.



We need many of these powerful, fast little boats to cope with the treacherous submarine type of naval warfare fostered by our enemies. Everybody can help pay for more Sub Chasers by putting at least ten percent of his income into War Bonds. Buy Bonds or Stamps every pay day. Buy them from your bank, your post office, or from your office or factory through the Payroll Savings Plan.

40-Mile Speed Limit Law

Wholehearted cooperative obedience to the new 40-mile maximum speed limit, made effective throughout Minnesota by executive war-emergency decree last Friday, may, in the opininn of State Highway officials, be the midwest motorists' way of avoiding far more onerous and discommoding travel restrictions to compel the conservation of rubber and automobiles.

In a State Highway department news bulletin today Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffman reported that all posted speed zone signs in excess of 40-miles per hour have been removed from the entire 11,267 miles of state trunk highway system. In compliance with the executive decree of Governor Stassen, issued in conformity with President Roosevelt's war-emergency message to the governors of all states, Highway Patrolmen and local enforcement officers alike are now responsible for enforcing public compliance with the new speed regulations.

"We cannot over-emphasize the importance of wholehearted public compliance and of cooperation on the part of each motorist to see that the new restrictions are observed and enforced" Commissioner Hoffmann said.

I stress the importance to the individual motorist because it will be the individual motorist who; in my honest opinion, will suffer from even more rigid and mandatory restrictions upon motor vehicle travel, in the very near future, unless the present efforts are successful in conserving tires, gasoline, cars, and human lives needed in the war effort.

"We are all aware of the rigid gasoline rationing restrictions which have been imposed in other sections of the country. Such restrictions, if they come, are ironclad and inescapable. It is only reasonable to assume that the question of whether gasoline rationing will be applied to our section of the country, and if it comes, the severity with which it may be applied, are likely to depend in great measure upon how successful the new speed limitations are in the conservation of essential rubber and other war necessities.

"We know our tires are wearing out. As they become worse, lower speeds are required for reasonable safety and prudence. The lower speeds will in turn make our tires last longer, reduce gasoline and oil consumption and postpone the day when we have to stop driving altogether. Here in the middle-west we live by great distances. We have fewer alternate means of transportation. The use of motor vehicles and highways are vital to our way of existense. But, as I see it, the responsibility is ours to protect and preserve our right to travel, by complying with reasonable restrictions against non-essential and wasteful uses of our means of travel."

The 40-mile maximum speed restriction applies to all motor vehicles in Minnesota with the following limited exceptions, which under certain conditions may travel up to 50 miles an hour: members of the armed forces or civilian war emergency agencies driving on duty assignments; commercial buses behind schedules, if equipped with good tires; fire and police equipment, and physicians responding to professional calls.

Churches Ineligible to Buy Sugar

OPM Legal Department has ruled that unless applicant maintains a regular establishment for the service of food or meals and through that establishment serves meals at least four times per week, they cannot receive sugar on an institutionrl basis. That includes Churches, Lodges etc. or any other activity such as weddings or picnics. Members or participants may furnish own sugar.

FARM LABOR LOSS OFFSET BY BETTER SOIL MANAGEMENT

CHICAGO.—As the wartime draft and defense jobs take increasing numbers of hired hands, Midwest farmers are faced with a labor problem and the task of producing heavier crops on fewer acres, a statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out.

"Thousands of farmers have already learned that the solution to this problem lies in following an intelligent soil improvement program," the statement declares. "Experience throughout the Middle West has shown that even the most productive areas on the average farm can be made to yield from 10 to 20 per cent more through careful soil treatment.

"Effective soil improvement comprises a few basic principles. These include crop rotation, the raising of legumes and the use of fertilizers containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

"Experience has proved that farmers can expect dividends in the form of increased crop yields and crop values when they supply the soil with adequate plant food.

"The type and quantity of fertilizer will depend on a number of factors. The average farmer's knowledge is based largely on experience—not on laboratory research—no matter how long he has tilled the land. But he can turn for advice to his county agent or the agronomists at the state college."

Mrs. George Gaynor and daughter and Mrs. W. Werner of Pontiac, Michigan, arrived here last week for a visit with their mother Mrs. Nettie Peterson and other relatives. They called on Mrs. C. Sandberg on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carlson visited at the the latters parental home at Bertha on Saturday and Sunday.

Beatrice Larson left Monday for Ross where she will teach a three weeks term of Parochial school.

Agnes Nohre arrived home last week from Itasca where she has been teaching school.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Aerial Camera for use on Scout and Observation and Reconnaisance planes is essential to both the Army and Navy air forces in planning battle formations and in obtaining information on enemy fortifications and movements. They look something like a cannon, and cost about $3,400 apiece.

The aerial cameraman can plot wide territories in bold relief so that Army or Navy Intelligence can make accurate measurements of enemy territory. We need many of these cameras so necessary to the air arms of the Army and Navy. You can help buy them with your purchases of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day, and help your county go over its War Bond Quota.

U. S. Treasury Department

Official U. S. Treasury MINNESOTA WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR JUNE

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today made known June War Bond quotas for the 3,070 counties in the nation to all State and County War Savings Staffs.

The June quota for the State of Minnesota is $15,267,500.

The county quotas, based upon a substantial increase over May quotas, are expected to reach ten per cent of income when the nation goes on a billion-dollar-a-month War Bond basis in July to help meet the war cost. "Everybody, every pay day, ten per cent," is the battle cry throughout the country. You can buy War Bonds at your Bank, Building & Loan Association, Post Office and at many department stores.

Quotas by counties are:

A Gentle Way to Treat Constipation!

Get up and cheer, constipation sufferers! If you are one of the millions of people with normal intestines who suffer due to lack of "bulk" in the diet — here's news of a gentler, pleasanter way to win welcome relief!

You see, many medicinal laxatives prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body. But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, acts quite differently. It works principally on the contents of your colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. Eat it often and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped, by this simple treatment, see your doctor.

Kidneys Must Work Well-
For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.
Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

FARM SCRAP COLLECTION

On the very first day of the Northern California Works Projects administration drive to collect agricultural scrap, William C. Bruner, left, an orchardist at Arbuckle, Calif., turned 230,000 pounds of discarded tires over to the WPA collectors. Bruner turned the huge pile of rubber into the custody of A. J. Doyle, chief of the WPA farm salvage staff.

First of Wooden Troop-Plane Fleet

In order to solve the metal shortage in plane production, piano and furniture men have built a plane made 90 per cent of wood. Fleets of these huge wooden troop-planes, capable of carrying men and munitions at 200 miles per hour, are nearing reality. Below you see these experts making the plywood sides. On top is the completed plane.

Fairly Safe—Even if House Is Bombed

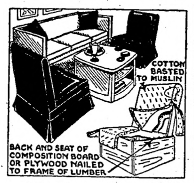
NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS



COTTON BASTED TO MUSLIN
BACK AND SEAT OF COMPOSITION BOARD OR PLYWOOD NAILED TO FRAME OF LUMBER

EVERY day we homemakers are gaining confidence in our own resourcefulness. We may not brew herbs and roots to make dyes as in Revolutionary times but this pair of flamingo red chairs in a modern setting shows that we understand the importance of the warming glow of color.

The tan of the couch covering makes the cording for the chair covers and the red of the chairs makes the cording and cushions for the couch. The sketch shows how the chairs are padded and an article appearing soon will show the covering process.

* * *

NOTE: Clip and keep this article as this sketch is not in any of the home-making booklets prepared by Mrs. Spears for our readers. The dimensions for making the chair frame are in the new BOOK 8, which contains working directions for 31 things to make from what the average household has on hand, or from inexpensive new materials. Concentration of Genius

If there be anything that can be called genius, it consists chiefly in ability to give that attention to a subject which keeps it steadily in the mind, till we have survived it accurately on all sides.—Reid.

Household Hints

To help preserve the color of beets and red cabbage when cooking, use a tablespoon of vinegar to each quart of water.

* * *

Pineapple and peach juices mixed in ginger ale make a delicious punch. Add the ginger ale at the last moment and serve in glasses or a pitcher half-filled with crushed ice. The ice is needed to dilute as well as to chill the beverage.

* * *

To protect posts against termites, soak them (the posts, of course) in fuel oil before putting into the ground.

* * *

Put sugar in the cup before adding tea or coffee and you can use a smaller amount for the same degree of sweetness. The hot beverage immediately melts the sugar and no undissolved grains are left in the cup for the housewife to wash down the drain.

* * *

When cotton sheets begin to wear out in the center, rather than sew the outside hems together, make two pillow slips of the two good ends.

* * *

Light-colored leather seats on chairs should be washed frequently. Make a lather of warm water and mild soap, apply this on a sponge to the leather. Wipe with a clean cloth. Repeat until the lather comes off clean, then wipe dry and polish with another soft cloth. See that the chairs are perfectly dry before they are used.

A fruit jar, tightly capped, can be used effectively for mixing fruit or milk shakes.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Divisions Battle on Two Fronts As Campaign in Russia Intensifies; OEM Seeks Nationwide Auto Pooling; Germany Reported Critical of Laval

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Robert A. Lovett, left, U. S. assistant secretary of war, as he was welcomed to Ottawa, Can., by Air Marshal G. O. Johnson of the Royal Canadian Air force. In center background is Artemus Gates, U. S. assistant secretary of the navy. Lovett and Gates attended the United Nations air training conference in which representatives of 12 countries participated.

RUSSIAN FRONT:
Two Offensives

As the Nazis began massing new panzer divisions for the first 1942 thrust at Moscow from the west, further to the south their forces scored a strategic victory as they forced withdrawal of Russian troops from the Kerch peninsula. Their goal in that section of the front was of course the vital oil fields of the Caucasus.

Around Kharkov, to the north of the Kerch area, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies of the Ukraine held the offensive after more than two weeks of steady intensive fighting. Success by the Russians at Kharkov would expose rear lines of main German units attacking the Caucasus.

Just across the narrow strait from the Kerch peninsula the Russians were reported to have heavily reinforced their defenses on the Caucasus shore and the Soviet Black sea fleet was said to be massed near the strait and loomed as Hitler's biggest obstacle in any jump toward the oil treasure.

United Nations strategists hope for a successful stand by the Russians in the Caucasus region. For if Hitler can be kept from this oil his timetable will be once more upset. Some experts expressed the suggestion that the threatened Moscow offensive was a feint to lure heavy Russian defenses away from the oil fields. While the moral effect of Moscow's fall might be bad, the loss of rich supplies of oil in the Caucasus would be far more damaging to the Allied cause.

Both the Nazis and the Russians were claiming that the other had suffered huge losses in tanks and other armored material all along the front. In three days of fighting on the Izyum-Barvenkova front, the Russians reported the destruction of 75 German tanks.

REGISTRATION:
Of 18, 19-Year-Olds

Young men between the ages of 18 and 19 will register for selective service on June 30. The registration will include youths whose 20th birthdays fell between December 31, 1941, and June 30, 1942. Under present law, the first age group is not subject to military service but the latter group can be called.

Informed sources report the possibilities of a proposal to lower the minimum age for compulsory service to 19 years—and possibly 18. An estimated 1,200,000 persons are in each age group.

When the selective service act was revised by congress after Pearl Harbor, the war department recommended making 19-year-olds subject to the draft. The senate acted favorably but the house voted to place the minimum age at 21. A compromise resulted, permitting 20-year-olds to be drafted.

Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky, chairman of the house military affairs committee, expressed the belief that the house would be willing to lower the age minimum. However, Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama, Democratic whip, said he expected no immediate action. New draft classification measures are expected to be acted upon in the near future.

LAVAL ON SPOT?
Nazis Impatient

The removal of fuel from French warships at Martinique was announced by Secretary of State Hull, who stated that further demobilization work is in progress and proceeding satisfactorily.

Meanwhile rumors were revived that Pierre Laval might step out as chief of government in Vichy. Laval had conferred in Paris with German military and political leaders who are said to have become increasingly impatient with his slowness in bringing France into full collaboration. Nazi party leaders were extremely critical regarding Laval's handling of the Martinique affair.

Jacques Doriot, former Communist, has been suggested as Laval's successor. Rumors from Vichy stated that he might enter the government or form his own collaborationist regime in Paris. In a May 16 speech, Doriot evinced his own readiness to take over if Laval was unable to carry out a satisfactory program.

However, informed persons in Vichy believe that Laval is comparatively secure for the immediate future.

MEXICO:
'National Pride'

As Mexico moved toward war, government officials explained the necessity for such a step. Mexican national pride demanded that the deaths of 21 sailors killed by Axis torpedoes be avenged.

A solemn demonstration in memory of the dead sailors drew thousands of people to Mexico City's huge central plaza. President Manuel Avila Camacho, members of the cabinet and congress appeared at the demonstration. The memorial program was followed by a pageant at which the Nazi banner was burned amid cheers for Roosevelt and other Allied leaders and boos for Hitler, Mussolini and Emperor Hirohito.

Many German, Japanese and Italian business houses were painted with slogans "Down With the Axis!" and "Down With Hitler!"

TRANSPORTATION:
Lonely Highways

By June, 1943, the Office of Emergency Management reports that 20,000,000 passenger cars will go off the roads—leaving about 8,000,000—unless car pooling can be made effective on a nationwide scale.

According to OEM statistics, the average passenger load per mile last year was less than 2 persons, although the average car capacity is 4.2 persons. The War Production board reported some labor-management committees have enabled workers to form their own car pools by indicating on conspicuously posted maps the home location of every man driving a car to work and of every man without a car.

Meanwhile the Office of Defense Transportation banned operation of all sight-seeing bus services and restricted use of chartered buses to such essential operations as transporting members of the armed forces, war workers and school children.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

Ottawa, Ont.: United States tourists entering Canada will be given ration books entitling them to only 20 gallons of gasoline on a yearly basis, not for each entry.

Washington: A five-pointed white star within a blue circle has been adopted as a new insignia for all U. S. combat aircraft to remove the possibility of confusion with enemy planes.

Washington: Nine-tenths of all factory workers earn 40 cents an hour or more, according to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. One-tenth of the factory workers earn $1.10 or more.

San Francisco: Ten thousand Japanese, evacuated from Pacific coastal states, will be moved to a relocation center to be built in the Big Horn area of Wyoming.

SHIPBUILDING:
Vital Front

With the launching of 27 cargo vessels the nation marked its observation of National Maritime day.

War Shipping Board Administrator Land said that by that date 138 ships had been delivered into service since the beginning of the year," approximately 35 per cent more than were delivered in all of last year." Two ships a day are now being delivered under Shipping Board's program and by fall there will be three a day. This means ships "put into active war service."

Maritime Commission Vice Chairman Vickery estimated that by the end of 1943 American shipyards will be able to turn out 2,800,000 tons of shipping or "in two years will do more than twice as much as the World war yards did in five years."

President Roosevelt on Maritime day said, "I can assure you that we will perform this near-miracle of ship production. The nation's shipbuilding capacity has been increased more than 500 per cent. That of itself is an outstanding achievement." Despite this progress, he stated, the country still is confronted with a serious ship shortage, partly because of the heavy toll taken by enemy U-boats.

But the submarine menace, like other problems, "is being solved," said the President.

MANPOWER:
Mobilization

In a program to promote fullest utilization of manpower a program was announced in Washington which directed the U. S. employment service to prepare and maintain lists of skilled occupations essential to war production in which a national shortage exists. Preferential referrals of workers would then be made to employers engaged in war production in order of their priority before making referrals to other employers.

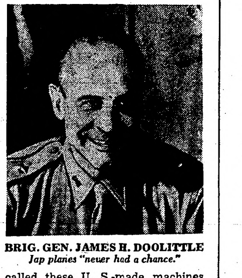
Further the employment service was directed to analyze and classify occupational questionnaires distributed by the selective service system and to interview persons skilled in critical war occupations and refer them to war job openings, and increase its activities and facilities necessary to provide additional agriculture workers.

In addition assistance to the farmer in helping him meet serious labor situation was seen in an order to the Farm Security administration to increase mobile labor camps to make agricultural workers available. The Office of Defense Transportation is to assure adequate transportation facilities for such workers.

In discussing these labor mobilization programs, War Manpower Chairman McNutt stated that if it is possible to insure full and effective utilization of manpower through voluntary co-operation, "it will be unnecessary to put into effect legal controls" to limit freedom of action of workers and employers. Skilled labor shortages have forced 384 out of 700 war contractors to reduce production, he said, and estimated that by the end of 1942 war labor forces will be boosted by approximately 18,000,000.

DOOLITTLE:
To Do More

More raids on Japan were promised by Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle, commander of the U. S. air fleet which bombed Tokyo in mid-April. In a nation-wide radio broadcast he praised workers and manufacturers of American airplanes and called these U. S.-made machines the best in the world.



BRIG. GEN. JAMES H. DOOLITTLE
Jap planes "never had a chance."

Japanese pursuit planes which rose to challenge the American forces during the daring raid "never had a chance," he said.

Doolittle later told of the great disappointment of two-thirds of the volunteer fliers who were secretly trained for the job attacking Japan. They were "heartbroken" he explained, because the limit of the number of planes to be used on the raid forced them to remain behind at the last minute.

WITHHOLDING TAX:
Employers Responsible

In a far-reaching, all-inclusive proposal, the treasury department recommended to congress that 10 per cent [illegible] individual's estimated taxable income be withheld at the source.

The withholding tax, according to the treasury department, would lighten the taxpayer's burden, speed the government's program to combat inflation and aid in collecting taxes from small wage earners.

The Stuff Out of Which Conversation Is Made

A tourist stopped at a farmhouse for a drink of water. "Fine corn," he said, waving to a hillside.

"Best in these parts," replied the farmer.

"But how do you plow that hill? It's pretty steep?"

"Don't plow it. The spring thaws bring down stones that tear it up so we can plant the corn."

"How do you plant it?"

"Shoot the seed in with a shotgun."

"Is that the truth!" exclaimed the tourist.

"Of course not," replied the farmer, "but it's conversation."

When the soldier talks about "the skipper" he means his captain, the head of his company. And that's just what the title "captain" means. It comes from the Latin word "caput" meaning "head." Another leader high in Army men's favor since '18 is Camel Cigarettes. (Based on actual sales records from Post Exchanges and Sales Commissaries.) It's the gift they prefer from the home folks. Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for June

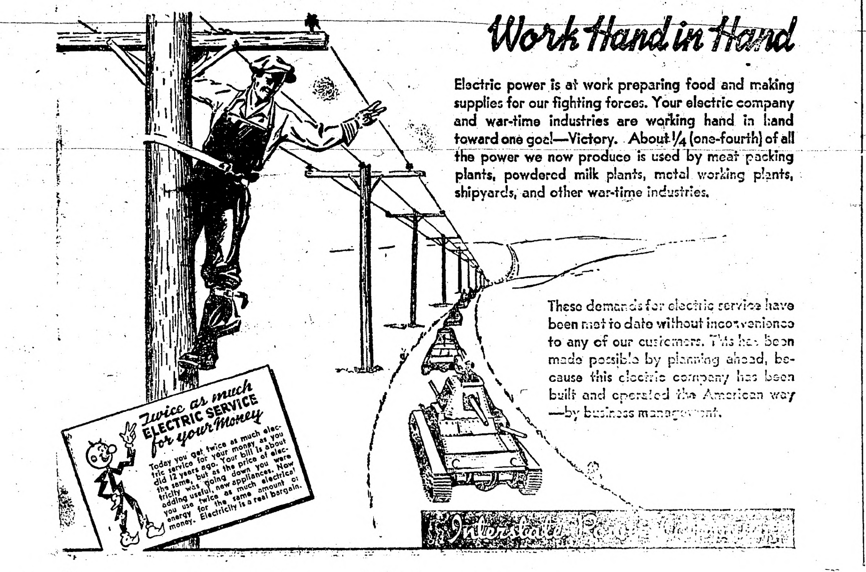
The above map of the country shows the War Bond Quota by states for the month of June totalling $800,000,000. Everybody every pay day is expected to invest at least ten per cent of his income in War Bonds to aid in financing America's offensive against the Axis powers. The ultimate quota for the nation will be on a basis of one billion dollars per month effective in July. This sum is necessary to provide for all-out production of planes, guns, ships and munitions adequate to arm our fighting men with the tools necessary to win the war.



Electric Power and NATIONAL EMERGENCY
Work Hand in Hand

Electric power is at work preparing food and making supplies for our fighting forces. Your electric company and war-time industries are working hand in hand toward one goal—Victory. About 1/4 (one-fourth) of all the power we now produce is used by meat packing plants, powdered milk plants, metal working plants, shipyards, and other war-time industries.

These demands for electric service have been met to date without inconvenience to any of our customers. This has been made possible by planning ahead, because this electric company has been built and operated the American way—by business management.

Twice as much ELECTRIC SERVICE for your Money

Today you get twice as much electric service for your money as you did 12 years ago. Your bill is about the same, but as the price of electricity was going down you were adding useful, new appliances. Now you use twice as much electrical energy for the same amount of money. Electricity is a real bargain.

Farm Help Situation

Minnesota's farm help situation, currently on a satisfactory basis, gives promise of continuing so through the late summer and fall season, according to word from the St. Paul office of Leonard B. Ryan, state director of the United States Employment Service.

The greatest need at present, Mr. Ryan said, is for any farmer who may need help during the haying, threshing, and harvesting seasons to talk the matter over now, with thenearest federal employment office.

"Ever since February," Ryan said, "we have been planning to meet any situation that may arise. Steps have been taken for the efficient handling of farm workers, and behind this supply are hundreds of young men, many of them high school graduates, who have been given primary training for farm work. These workers are now registered and are available. The ability of the employment service to make full use of this supply is going to depend, to a very large extent, on the advace information we have as to the probable demand, even though such demand may not develop until July August, and September.

"It is our sincere hope that, because farmers have not yet experienced a lack of help, they will not contribute to difficulties later by waiting until the last moment before letting us know of their need for a farm hand."

The USES now has 87 full-time, 88 part-time, and 224 vollunteer offices. This network places the employment service within reach of practically every farmer in Minnesota.

Lutheran Church Convention

Highlights of the biennial convention of the Norwegian Lutheran church of America meeting at Minneapolis is broadcast daily over WCAL.

This convention marks the 25th anniversary of the amalgamation of the three Lutheran bodies now comprising the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America. Presiding is Dr. J. A. Aasgaard.

Sunday morning, WCAL will broadcast the morning services from the old Muskego church, located on the Seminary Campus, St. Paul. This was the first Norwegian Lutheran church built in America, and was erected in Muskego, Wis., and later moved to its present location. Services will start at 7:15 a. m., with Dr. S. C. Eastvold, Eau Claire, Wis, delivering the sermon.

The Ordination Services at 2:30 p. m., will be broadcast directly from Central Lutheran church. Dr. S. A. Aasgaard will be in charge and he will deliver the Ordination sermon and ordain a group of young men into the Holy Ministry. He will be assisted by the District Presidents, general officers of the church and other members of the clergy.

The convention will come to a close Sunday evening with a special Foreign Mission service at Central Lutheran church. The entire services will be heard over WCAL from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Peterson-Moline Wedding

Miss Lorna Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Peternon, and Joseph Moline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Moline of Crookston, exchanged marriage vows beneath an archway of lilacs and bridal wreath at the brides home last Sunday at high noon. The single ring ceremony was used with Rev. T. C. L. Hanson officiating.

Nuptial music was furnished by Miss Maxine Stevens of Hibbing who played Mendelssohn's Wedding March and "I Love You Truly". Their attendants were Ruth Knauf, of Thief River Falls, a cousin of the bride, and the groom's brother, Roy Moline.

The bride was attired in a street length dress of light blue with white accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Miss Knauf wore a dusky rose sheer dress with navy accessories.

A luncheon was served immediately after the ceremony at the Teraace room in the Rex Cafe at Thief River Falls, eighteen guests attending.

The bride is a graduate of the Lincoln high school at Thief River Falls and has been employed in Crookston for the past year. The groom graduated from Central high school at Crookston and received his bachelor of science degree at St. Cloud Teachers' college. He taught school at Becker the past year. The bride and groom both have a host of relatives and friends at Holt who wish them much happiness and success.

The newlyweds left for a trip to Detroit Lakes.

Reception For Newlyweds

Friends and relatlves gathered at the Nazareth Church parlors on Tuesday evening and gave Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moline a reception. The church parlors were decorated in blue and white streamers and bouquets of Irises, Lilacs and Bridal Wreath. A program was given and a delicious lunch served. The newlyweds were presented with gifts and a cash purse.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our relatives and many friends for the lovely gift and cash purse given to us at the Church Parlors on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moline.

Card of Thanks

I want to take this opportunity of expressing thanks to my many friends for the grand farewell party given me at my home on Monday evening.

Especially do I want to thank those who made the party possible and for the cash purse.

I also wish to thank the Luther League for the Service Kit.

Use All The Electricity You Desire

"... Electricity is too important a Public Service to encourage or invite curtailment when it is unnecessary..."

J. A. KRUG
Chief of the Power Branch, Materials Division, War Production Board, Washington, D. C.

To date, we have been able to supply the demands for electric service for homes, business places, and factories, in addition to war-time industries in this territory without inconvenience to any of our customers. This is the result of hard work, careful planning for the future, and sound engineering under American Business Management.

At present, there is no need to curtail your use of electricity. None of it is saved so long as there is sufficient capacity to serve you. So you won't be unpatriotic when you use all the electricity you need.

If a power shortage should come in this territory, we will notify our customers of the emergency and ask for their co-operation. Until that time comes, use all the electricity you want, and enjoy the convenience of living the modern way—Electrically.

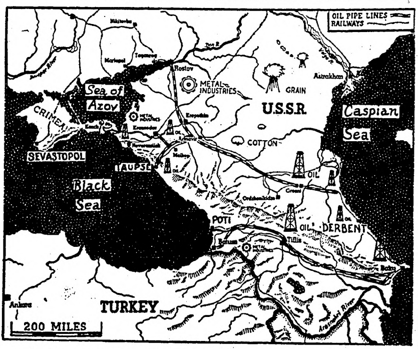
WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Terrific Air Offensive Against Nazis Is Opened With Epic Raid on Cologne; Violent Fighting in Battle of Kharkov Drains German Reserves in Ukraine

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.



The above map shows why Hitler drove his armies toward Kerch. Beyond Rostov and the Crimea lies the fabulously rich land called the Caucasus. Larger than the state of Texas, it is wealthy in oil and metals. However, Russian warriors at Kharkov may well shatter the Nazi dream to bits.

HITLER'S EUROPE:

Gets a Taste

From London came the first word of the new United Nations offensive against Hitler on his home grounds—occupied Europe. This first word was described as part propaganda and part actual heavy aerial warfare. The propaganda effect was to strike a definite element of fear into the hearts of the German people by announcing that high U. S. officials had arrived in London to plan an all-out attack upon the Nazis.

There was loud talk of non-stop bombing attacks on the Reich. Said some reports, these attacks would be the heaviest and most fearful the world had ever seen. For the first time American bombing crews were taking their places in the non-stop bombing raids being dealt to industrial centers of the Rhineland.

The London radio let the German people know that Britain was being visited by U. S. Services of Supply Commander Somervell, Air Borne Command (Ground Forces) Commander Lee, SOS Chief of Operations Lutes, and SOS Transportation Services Chief Gross. Army Air Forces Commander Arnold and Chief of Naval Operations (Air) Towers had arrived previously and were already in conference with British military and government leaders, said an official report from Allied headquarters in London.

SOS Commander Somervell told a London press conference that U. S. and British officials were conferring on a program to standardize military equipment, including tanks and planes.

From Washington came a report quoting Army Chief of Staff Marshall as saying that American troops are "landing in England and they will land in France."

Cologne

But the Nazis had something to listen to that was stronger than propaganda. It was the whir of 1,250 British bombers and the thud of 6,000,000 pounds of high explosive bombs as the RAF unleashed the "most devastating aerial raid in history" to level and burn three-fourths of the industrial city of Cologne in a single night.

Called the first of the "four-figure" bombing raids on German industrial centers, this raid on Cologne saw a British bomber swoop over its objective once every six seconds. Equipped with both British and American-made planes the raiders were reported by London sources to have made the vicious Nazi annihilations on Britain last year look feeble by comparison.

Even Berlin admitted that terrific damage had been done. The Royal Air force used so many planes in the mass raid that anti-aircraft defenses were of little use. This method was described as "super-saturating" the Nazi target field so that his aim was constantly diverted. One after another the planes dove low to blast their objectives. One Canadian flier was quoted as saying that when his turn came so much of the city was in flames that he felt like leaving the scene and seeking another target. It didn't seem possible, he said, to do any additional damage.

AUSTRALIAN FRONT:

Exchanges

After a lull of over a week, aerial fighting on the Australian front began again. This time it took the shape of a series of exchange blows by first the Allied forces and then the Japanese.

Heaviest Allied attacks were by American and Australian planes striking at enemy invasion bases at Rabual and Lae. There was also a heavy raid on the Jap seaplane base at Tulagi in the Solomon islands.

RUSSIA:

Kharkov Claims

While local encounters were being reported on the Kharkov front in the Ukraine, the operation was considered as having resulted in two vital factors:

The Kharkov battle drained German reserves and diverted a minimum of 36 German divisions which had been massed for an all-out offensive against Rostov.

A Russian communique stated that while "attempting to improve their positions, the Germans threw in large reserves for three days in continued counterattacks. All counterattacks were repulsed with great losses to the enemy."

Claiming a brilliant success in the 19-day Kharkov campaign, the Russians admitted the loss of 75,000 troops—5,000 killed and 70,000 missing. However, a Red army communique claimed the capture or killing of 90,000 Germans.

The same communique pointed out that Soviet offensive operations in the Kharkov region were started only in order to forestall the anticipated blow of the Nazis. The Russian plans did not include the capture of Kharkov. The communique concluded: "Now that these battles are nearing their end, it can be said that the main task put forward by the Soviet command—to forestall the German blow—has been completed.

MEXICO:

Power for Camacho

With Mexico's proclamation of hostilities, 11 of the 21 American republics became aligned in the war against the Axis. In addition to the United States, war has been declared by Costa Rica, Cuba, Guatemala, Panama, Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Nicaragua, El Salvador and Honduras. Eight other Western hemisphere nations have broken off diplomatic relations.

In paving the way for war on the Axis, the Mexican senate approved a bill to suspend 14 constitutional guarantees, including freedom of the press and the right of habeas corpus. The vote was 53 to 0.

Gen. Salvador Sanchez, chief of Mexican general staff, announced that a supreme national defense council with Camacho at its head was being established to mobilize resources and manpower. The high command has ordered strong army units into positions on the gulf and Pacific coast.

GASOLINE:

Rationing

After WPB Automotive Division Chief Kanzler had stated that gasoline rationing on a nationwide scale would help in relieving potential rubber and automotive replacement parts shortages, Board Chairman Nelson said that administrative difficulties will make it impossible to start a rationing system before July 1.

The Office of Price Administration meanwhile was reporting that the June ration quota of new passenger automobiles will be 40,000, plus carryover of unused quotas from March, April and May.

MISCELLANY:

Wheat: Department of agriculture experts estimated probable winter wheat production in the nine important producing states at 436,305,000 bushels. Also announced was a deferred payment plan for the new three-year crop insurance contract offered wheat growers the first time this year will permit payment of the premium in annual installment (about harvest time).

That Nagging Backache
May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action
Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

THE nation's largest radio stock company is behind the weekly production of the WPB's new program, "Three Thirds of a Nation," heard Wednesday evenings on the Blue network. Produced in cooperation with the Hollywood Victory committee, clearing house for war-time appearances of the Associated Actors and Artists of America, the program has at its disposal the resident membership of all Southern California. Castings weekly draw from a reservoir of more than 10,000 screen, stage and radio actors, all volunteers.

⁂

The Tone family, Franchot and Jean, will soon be working at the same studio. Franchot has signed a term agreement with Paramount; it calls for four pictures during the next two years. Jean Wallace Tone, a "Louisiana Purchase" beauty, is already there.

⁂

Ann Harding is returning to the screen in Metro's "Odor of Violets," a mystery drama soon to go into production. Edward Arnold has the principal male role. Donna Reed, one of Metro's abundant crop of starlets, is also in the cast.

ANN HARDING

⁂

You may not recognize Chester Conklin at once in "I Married a Witch"; playing a bartender at a country club who's in much of the opening action, he appears without that famous walrus mustache.

⁂

An evening gown that Priscilla Lane wears in "Silver Queen" is going to be melted down and given to the Ambulance corps when she's through with it. It's a 17-pound silver dress, and will eventually become wiring and dental plates for soldiers.

⁂

The diamonds that Marlene Dietrich wore in "The Lady Is Willing" are facing the camera again, this time in "Ellery Queen Across the Atlantic." The picture teams Margaret Lindsay and William Gargan. The story requires a collection of jewels, that are stolen, so James Hogan, the director, got busy and rented them. Miss Dietrich got a break—she just borrowed the gems.

⁂

Those children's giggles you will hear in Walt Disney's "Bambi" are the sounds of youngsters, filled up with ice cream, enjoying some old Mickey Mouse shorts. Disney wanted spontaneous laughter, and that's how he got it.

⁂

In all the movie studios Adolphe Menjou is known as the script girl's pet. He keeps track for himself of all the tricky little details which the girls have to watch. For example, in RKO's "Syncopation" Menjou and George Bancroft do a lot of smoking, which means that lengths of cigars and ash must be matched in scenes which may be filmed weeks apart. Menjou carries a pocket rule, measures cigar and ash at the beginning of each scene, and calls his results to the script girl.

⁂

Claudette Colbert has signed a three-year contract calling for one picture a year with RKO. Her first assignment will be the leading role in the screen version of Pearl Buck's "China Sky"—she'll play an American doctor.

⁂

Stepping into the title role of the "Bulldog Drummond" series, back on the air after an absence of several months, Santos Ortega follows in illustrious footsteps. George Coulouris, the last incumbent, is on tour with that very successful play, "Watch on the Rhine." E. E. Mathews was the first actor to assume the role, and John Barrymore, Ronald Colman and John Howard did it on the screen.

⁂

ODDS AND ENDS—Robert Preston learned to be a proficient machine gunner while on location with "Wake Island" . . . Victor McLaglen of RKO's "Powder Town" has invented a 40 foot tank and submitted it to the war department; he's a veteran of the Boer and the last World war . . . A new adventure strip about a war correspondent will be based on the real life adventures of William L. Shirer during his days as a Berlin radio operator . . . Joan Edwards of "Your Hit Parade" has won the pool three weeks running in guessing the hit numbers . . . Other stars may go in for unusual pets, but Mary Martin keeps good laying hens.

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

A STOOL often looks better in front of a desk or telephone stand than a chair with a high back. A substantial wooden box may make the foundation, and if well padded and smartly covered will be as attractive as anything that you could buy.

Before shopping for materials check over things on hand. Moss, horse hair and even feathers from discarded upholstered pieces may be sewn in a cheese cloth bag and washed before using again. Worn draperies and bedspreads usually have unfaded good pieces in them that may be used for covering a small piece like this.

Why Profile-Wise

Do you know why concert pianists always sit profile-wise to their audiences? Before the time of Franz Liszt, they either turned their backs to the audience or faced it over the instrument. But Liszt was so in love with his own handsome profile that he started the new style—which handsome and unhandsome artists have followed ever since.

Facts About Flies

One pair of flies can multiply to 335,923,200,000,000 flies in 10 weeks, if all their offspring live, according to Alan Devoe in Reader's Digest. In writing about "Our Enemy the Fly," Devoe says that a fly egg hatches in 24 hours, the larva becomes an adult fly in less than 10 days. Thereafter at 10-day intervals, for 8 to 10 weeks, the female fly lays 100 eggs. The total for nine generations of a single pair thus amounts to trillions of offspring.

"We must fight continuously against adult flies that get into our houses, wielding old-fashioned swatter, spraying, using flypaper," says Devoe.

Casualty—1,000 miles from the enemy

ALMOST as fatal as a bullet or a shell is the breakdown in the spirit of a sailor or a soldier.

Our men have the finest spirit in the world. But it must be maintained in the American way.

They must not be made to feel that they are mere automatons, fighting machines, as the armed forces of the dictators have been made to feel.

Life in our navy and army is hard. Discipline is tough. It must be. But there also must be moments when the sailor or soldier is treated as Mr. Somebody-or-other.

That's where the USO comes in. For the USO is the banding together of six great agencies to serve one great purpose—to see that our boys in the camps and naval stations have a place to go, to turn to, a "home away from home."

The duties of the USO have more than doubled during the year. Its field of operations has enlarged to include almost the entire face of the globe.

To carry on its all-important work, it needs funds. It needs your contribution. No matter how small you make that contribution, it needs it. Now.

You are beset by requests for help on all sides. By all means, try to meet those requests. But among them, don't neglect the USO.

Send your contribution to your local USO committee, or to USO, National Headquarters, Empire State Building, New York.

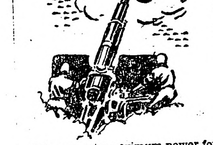
What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The 75-millimeter gun is a divisional weapon used by the Artillery as an anti-tank gun. It has been replaced to some extent by the more modern "105", known as the heaviest of divisional weapons. The 75-mm gun costs $12,000 and has been converted by our Ordnance into a "blaster" twice as efficient as in the first World War.



This gun gets maximum power for minimum weight and cost, and the American people are providing the finance through the purchase of War Bonds. If you do your share and invest 10 per cent of your income in War Bonds, adequate supply of this efficient gun can be assured our fighting forces. Buy War Bonds every pay day. U. S. Treasury Department

482 Lose Drivers Rights

Out of 706 Minnesota motorists who lost their drivers' licenses by revocation or suspension during May, 482 of them are now paying the penalty of being forbidden the use of their cars for just two traffic law violations — speeding and driving while drinking.

Driving while drunk and inebriacy resulted in 291 outright license revocations for a period of one year, and three suspensions of varying lengths, or a total of 294 drivers' license forfeitures.

Another 188 motorists were barred from the wheel for driving at excessive speeds. Eight were were outright revocations and 180 were suspensions.

Reckless driving cost 81 motorists their driving priveleges and 20 more paid the penalty for running through stop signs and signals. Ten licenses were revoked for failure to stop and disclose identity after an accident.

Rev. Hanson Given Party

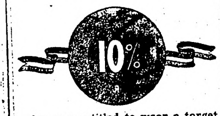
Rev. T. C. L. Hanson was given a surprise birthday party at the Nazareth Lutheran Church on Monday evening. The church was filled to capacity with people from Holt and community. There were also several from Gatzke, Silver Creek, Grygla and Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Peterson and daughters from Viking. A program was held and Rev. Hanson was presented with a cash purse. Lunch was served. The table set for Rev. Hanson and family and Rev. Peterson and family was graced with a nice birthday cake that had been bought by the Nazareth Ladies Aid.

Card of Thanks

Permit me to take these means of thanking all those who took some part in my birthday party on Monday evening. I am deeply grateful for the fine purse presented to me. It is all most sincerely appreciated and will always remain as one of the most joyous occasions of my life. This fine gesture by all you people is truly and undeserved honor and will give me further inspiration to serve more faithfully in the future. So all I can say is thank you and God bless you for your love, consideration, courtesy, esteem and brotherly spirit that you have shown me these 6 years that I have been priveleged to to serve you.

In His service,
Rev. T. C. L. Hanson.

Tire treads, motorists were warned, wear twice as fast in an outside temperature of 90 degrees. Slow driving will reduce the wear.



Are you entitled to wear a target lapel button?

You can ONLY if you are investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds to do your part on the home front toward winning the War.

The target lapel button is a badge of patriotism, a badge of honor. You should feel proud to display it. The buttons are obtainable at your plant management, at the office of your local War Bond chairman, or at your Payroll Savings Window where you authorize your ten percent payroll deductions.

Enlist in the ten percent War Bond army and do your part to win the War. U. S. Treasury Department

Sugar Saving Hints

There is no need to cut drastically the canning of fruits because of a sugar shortage. Even with quantities of extra sugar alloted for canning, the homemaker may need to use substitutes in order to preserve the abundant supplies she will want for her family next winter.

Corn sirup, honey and other sweets can be used successfully for all or part of the sweetning needed in most fruit canning, preserving and freezing. The instructions for using them are contained in Extension Pamphlet 100, just off the press at University Farn. The pamphlet may be had either at the county extension office or by writing direct to Bulletin Room, University Farm, St. Paul.

The publication tells just how these substitutes may be fitted into the well known canning and freezing receipes. It also contains many tips for sugar saving such as:

Taste fruit before adding sugar. Many fruits are sweet enough

Use fresh fruits as much as possible, especially in desserts.

Sweeten fruits before serving rather than at the table.

Be sure sugar is completely dissolved.

Serve cooked fruits hot to bring out their natural sweetness and flavor.

Make sugar sirups thin so that they go farther.

Save sirup from canned fruit to sweeten puddings and beverages.

Preserve more fruit by canning as sauce and less as jams and jellies.

Social For Bible Campers

The young people from the Nazareth Luther League who are to attend the Lake of the Woods Bible Camp next week are sponsoring an Ice Cream Social in the Church Parlors on Sunday evening. The lunch committee has planned to serve Hamburgers, Ice Cream, Apple Pie, Chocolate Milk, Coffee. All proceeds will be divided equally among the campers from this League who will be in attendance next week.

Prof. Carl B. Ylvisaker of Concordia College, Moorhead, will conduct the Bible Study each day at the Bible Camp; Rev. Oscar Hanson of Minneapolis, head of the Young Peoples' Luther League work of the N. L. C. A. will head a discussion on Youth Problems. Rev. C. B. Nervig of Roseau will teach a course in Lutheran Fundamentals. Miss Carol Larson, Starbuck a former member of the Holt School faculty, will be in charge of the Womens' Recreational activities. Rev. Hanson will again accompany the campers from here.

Filling Stations Buy Scrap Rubber

President Roosevelt ordered an intensive drive this week and next to collect from homes, offices, farms and factories all articles of rubber that have been or can be discarded. The scrap rubber is being collected by the nation's gasoline filling stations, transported to central collection points by petroleum industry trucks and sold to the Rubber Recovery Corporation. Filling stations are paying a cent a pound for the rubber.

Johnson-Gusa Wedding

Miss Eunice Harriet Johnson, grand-daughter of Mr. Otto Johnson, and Lloyd James Gusa, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gusa, exchanged marriage vows at a candle light wedding, before an altar banked with bridal wreath ferne and mixed flowers Saturday evening at 9 o'clock at the Gospel Tabernacle at Thief River Falls with Rev. G. R. Carlson officiating at the single ring ceremony.

The bride's gown was a white sugar mist chiffon fashioned with a full skirt and a long train with deep inserts of lace, long sleeves with lace at the shoulders and wore a string of pearls at the sweetheart meckline. Her full length veil was of tulle with a wide border of chantilly lace caught with a tiara of lace and orange blossoms.

She carried a bouquet of pink roses, baby's breath and ferne.

Miss Verna Johnson, youngest sister of the bride, served as Maid of Honor. She wore a floor length white gown of silk marquisette and carried an arm bouquet of white iris and ferne.

The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Gusa, sister of the groom, who wore a floor length gown of pink silk marquisette and carried an arm bouquet of orchid and ferne; and Mrs. Arthur Moe older sister of the bride, who wore a floor length model of pale blue silk marquisette and carried yellow iris and ferne. All three attendants wore flowers in their hair and double strands of pearls.

Arlette Maureen Moe, niece of the bride was flower girl, attired in a floor length gown of yellow organdy over taffeta with a yellow ribbon in her hair. She preceded the bride down the isle strewing petsls. Her bouquet was of yellow roses and bridal wreath.

The groom was attended by his brother Raymond Gusa as best man. The ushers were Arthur Moe and Melvin Tureen.

Prenuptial music was played by Miss Edna Gusa, sister of the groom, The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin. The recessional from Mendlesohn was also used with Miss Gusa at the piano.

Wanda Risberg sang "I Love You Truly" and Raymond Gusa sang "O Perfect Love".

After the wedding the bridal party and relatives were served a luncheon at the Otto Johnson home at Holt. A beautifully decorated cake graced the table, and also flowers and candles. The waitresses were Evelyn Larson and Iris Larson.

The couple left for a few days honesmoon trip.

The groom is a Newfolden high school graduate. He is engaged in farming where they will make their home.

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers
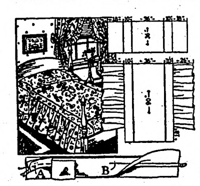
By RUTH WYETH SPEARS



EVERY kind of cotton goods from dainty chintz to bold plaid gingham is being used for bedspreads. Most of these materials are about 36 inches wide and you will need 11½ yards for a bed 54 inches wide. See diagrams for cutting dimensions.

Cut the center portions first; then the 18-inch side sections for the pillow cover; then the 10-inch strips for the pillow cover and spread. This leaves a 26-inch-wide strip for the side ruffles of the spread. If you make your own seam welting, cover cord with bias strips basted, as at A, and stitched with the cording foot, as at B.

* * *

NOTE: This bedspread is from BOOK 1 of the series of booklets which Mrs. Spears has prepared for our readers. This book also gives step-by-step directions for making slip covers, dressing table skirts and 12 different styles of curtains including a simple rigging for draw curtains. If you're concerned about what sort of gift to send a friend or relative in one of Uncle Sam's branches of the services, your worries are over. If he smokes a pipe or rolls-his-own, the answer is a pound of tobacco. Numerous surveys made among soldiers, sailors, marines, and Coast Guardsmen show that tobacco ranks first on his gift list. Local tobacco dealers are featuring Prince Albert in the pound can for service men. Prince Albert, the world's largest-selling smoking tobacco, is a big favorite among many men in the service. —Adv.

Rust Heaves Buildings

As iron pyrite begins to rust on exposure to air, and this rust occupies 13 times as much space as the pyrite itself, buildings constructed on soil containing such sulphide soon have a "heaving foundation," says Collier's. This trouble has been experienced by one large factory in Cleveland, where the basement floors were raised as much as 12 inches in the first 12 years.

Treat Constipation This Gentler Way!

Many folks say that almost as bad as constipation are harsh cathartics and purges. That's because many medicinal laxatives work this way: they either prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body.

Now comes news of a gentler and pleasanter way of treating constipation, for the millions of people with normal intestines whose trouble is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. This way is by eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, and drinking plenty of water. ALL-BRAN, unlike many medicinal laxatives, acts principally on the contents of the colon and helps you to have easy, normal elimination. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, better see your doctor.

Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good heath is to endure.
When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Jap Naval Losses Off Midway Island Strengthen U. S. Position in Pacific; Terrific Bombing Attacks by British Stun Nazi's War Effort in England

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

This unusual photo shows representatives of the British commonwealth gathered at the Washington airport to welcome Sir Owen Dixon, new Australian minister to the United States. Left to right: Walter Nash, New Zealand; Sir Owen Dixon, Australia; Ralph W. Close, Union of South Africa; Sir R. I. Campbell, British embassy, and Leighton McCarthy, Canada.

MIDWAY:
Melee

"Pearl Harbor has now been partially avenged. Vengeance will not be complete until Japanese sea power has been reduced to impotence. We have made substantial progress in that direction."

With these blunt, stirring words, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, announced a decisive United States naval victory at Midway Island. In a remarkable demonstration of the co-ordinated power of the three American services—navy, army and marines—a Japanese invasion fleet was repulsed with the greatest losses of the current war.

From 14 to 17 Japanese warships were sunk or damaged, according to early reports. Included were two or three aircraft carriers sunk and one or two lost; three battleships damaged, four or six cruisers damaged, three transports damaged and one destroyer sunk. Continuing attacks on the fleeing enemy made it impossible to state whether the ships bombed in pursuit had been damaged previously.

At the conclusion of the four-day action, Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the American fleet, hinted that the United States has a chance to knock out Japan as a sea power. The battle, he said, may determine the outcome of the war in the Pacific.

Hawaii, he said, "must be held at all costs," because it is the keystone to the entire Pacific defense system. Midway, 1,312 miles from Pearl Harbor, is a vital outpost in the Hawaiian defense.

U-BOAT MENACE:
On the Run?

Axis submarines operating along the Eastern seaboard have been driven out into the Atlantic, according to Chairman Carl Vinson (Georgia) of the house naval affairs committee.

His disclosure came in a formal statement which added that the "anti-submarine warfare organization has passed through its period of growing pains and is now well established and functioning effectively."

"In dealing with submarines we have a tough and clever enemy," the statement said, "and it does not pay to be unduly optimistic. However, the fact remains that in the last few weeks the submarine has largely withdrawn from our eastern seaboard and is operating farther at sea . . ."

"The committe has full confidence that we shall defeat the submarine."

V-MAIL:
For Soldiers

U. S. army units in England and Northern Ireland are now using a new and unique mail system for contacts with the United States. Known as V-mail, this system provides that letters may be dispatched to a central station, censored and then photographed on small rolls of microfilm.

Under army direction these rolls are then sent to the United States where they are developed and photostatic copies are presented to the postal service and sent through regular mails to the addressee.

Value of plan lies in the fact that microfilm saves cargo space in eliminating mail shipments.

POISON GAS:
Another Warning

Within a month after Winston Churchill had warned Germany that any use of gas warfare by the Nazis would be met with the same tactics, President Roosevelt has warned Japan that if she persists in using gas against China the U. S. will retaliate in "kind and full measure."

This statement by the President came as a confirmation of reports that Japan was using noxious gases in battles with the Chinese.

SEA RAID:
On Australia

The cities of Sydney and Newcastle on Australia's southeast coast were shelled by Japanese forces in the first sea raid on that country's mainland since the beginning of the war.

Termed "nuisance" raids by General MacArthur's headquarters, these first attacks caused little damage and there were few casualties. Submarines were used for the attack.

At Sydney the shells whistled over the city so fast it was impossible to estimate their number. Newcastle was shelled for 30 minutes. Both cities were blacked out and residents hustled to their air raid shelters.

The attacks came only a week after four of the enemy's midget submarines were destroyed as they attempted a sortie into Sydney's harbor. Also in the same week three and possibly four other subs were destroyed in the southwest Pacific.

Increased submarine activity off the lower Australian coast was believed to be aimed at cutting Allied communications and supply lines as well as an attempt to divert United Nations' naval units from the more major scenes of action, I.E., between Alaska and Hawaii.

SECOND FRONT:
In Germany's Air

The stunning effect of the monster RAF bombing raid upon Cologne became known to the world when the first newspapers from that historic Rhineland city reached neutral territory.

Cologne, as its people knew it, is forever lost, according to the dispatches. Whole quarters of the town are empty, and a Stockholm newspaper, quoting a German dispatch, reported that all the property of at least 10,000 persons had been destroyed completely. The central district of the city was ruined and damage reached far into the city's outskirts.

The Koelnische Zeitung, Cologne newspaper, said:

"Those who survived the night . . . and who on the morrow looked at the city were fully aware that they had bade farewell forever to their Cologne, because the damage is enormous and because the integral part of the character and even the traditions of the city are gone forever."

While the Cologne bombing was followed by a 1,000-bomber attack on Essen, home of the great Krupp armament plants, a complete picture of the damage to that industrial center is lacking. However, England was jubilant over these "second front" activities. The initial raid on Essen was followed the next night by a second "mopping up" raid, employing an estimated 400 bombers.

BRIEFS:

DAUGHTERS: Cautioning that severe labor shortages may develop, Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard has urged rural families to keep their daughters on the farm to help with war food production.

INDEPENDENT — Despite Adolf Hitler's surprise visit to Finland, a government spokesman stated that the nation would "continue to steer a strictly independent course."

LOSS—After two months of operations over Burma, the U. S. air forces have announced the loss of their first heavy bomber in that area. Meanwhile they have been doing a terrific job of blasting Japanese offensive plans.

FOOD—Approximately 1,300 factories employing 20,000 workers will be closed by orders originating in Vichy, France. The workers will be diverted to a labor pool to man farms expected to produce food reserves for next winter and to provide volunteers for labor in German war factories.

WAKE UP!!

The War isn't fought in Fox Holes alone

IT'S fought in the mind. It's fought with a will to win. It's fought with a belief in a cause worth dying for.

That will, that belief, is known as morale.

Our enemies have had years of indoctrination. They have been conditioned to believe themselves part of a "new order" . . . to which the contribution of their lives is small but all-important. They believe themselves cogs in a vast machine.

Our soldiers do not fight that way—because they do not live that way. Theirs is the belief in the sanctity of the individual.

To maintain their morale in the American way, the USO has devoted all its time and energy since practically the beginning of conscription.

It has done this by staffing and maintaining club houses near all training camps and in our outlying possessions from Alaska to the Caribbean.

Today its work is far greater than ever, its need for funds to carry on more than doubled.

The USO needs your help more than ever before!

High government and military officials—including General MacArthur—have praised the work done by the USO and recognized its importance in the war effort.

But it needs recognition from you—recognition in the way of dollars and cents. For the six national agencies which comprise the USO are publicly supported.

Now above all times, to make your dollars count, give to the USO!

Send your contribution to your local USO Committee or to National Headquarters, USO, Empire State Building, New York, N. Y.

Give to the USO

Shedding Needles

It is quite natural for deodar to shed its needles. Evergreens shed their needles or leaves like other plants, but they do not shed them all at one time each year. However, if tree is shedding too profusely, it would indicate that something is wrong. It may be too little water or lack of an acid fertilizer. One pound of commercial fertilizer to the inch of diameter of trunk of tree. Also add a good fistful of aluminum sulphate to each pound of fertilizer.

Attractive Meal Trays

Amusing and attractive meal trays that will make a child look forward to meal-time can help him to recover more quickly from illness.

ON THE OFFENSIVE AMERICA!

* * *

Wars are won by attacking, not by sitting in a fort!

And today America is taking the offensive against the Axis with hard-fighting, non-stoppable men and materials!

We're taking the offensive, too, against the enemy at home—the inflationary 6th column that blows prices sky high.

You can help in both fights by saving at least 10% of your money in U. S. War Bonds every pay day. Attack the Axis with your dollars today.

You can start with as little as a 10c War Stamp and you can get a $25.00 War Bond (maturity value) for only $18.75—at your local post office, bank or other convenient sales agency.

BEER
for Moderation and Morale

War has a curious effect on civilians. There is a tendency to "let go", to do things in excess at a time when prudence ought to govern every action.

The man who turns to a glass of beer for relaxation and mild stimulation during these times is fortunate in this respect. For beer, being a beverage of moderation, encourages moderation in all things. This is turn leads to an orderly, resolute state of mind . . . MORALE they call it.

Remember that morale can't be bought over the counter during war time. It must be built from those human resources of courage, understanding and justice which true sobriety fosters.

Ladies Aid meets in the church parlors Friday June, 26. Hostesses are Mrs. Ole Christenson, Mrs Victor Johnson and the Carl Johnson girls.

Their Faces Are Red!

THEIR faces are red—these ruddy tomatoes—but they have nothing to blush about. They aren't aware of their popularity perhaps, but actually they're invited to more meals than any other vegetable.

Just look over your favorite recipes, and see how many of them include tomatoes in some form or other. Soups, sauces, meats, vegetables, salads, cocktails and desserts—they are all made better by that delicious and healthful blushing tomato.

Let 'Em Blush

If you like fresh tomatoes, be sure that they do blush. For the merely pink tomatoes, hard and under-sized which are shipped to our northern climates during the winter, are hardly recognizable as the same fruit that ripens in the gardens until it is large, deep crimson and full-flavored—full of juice and health-giving properties.

Canned tomatoes, of course, are always of the blushing type. They have been picked from the pick of the crop at their prime, and they have been quickly put into cans so that their natural goodness is preserved. It is these canned tomatoes that we have come to rely on as an all-year round treat. Have you tried the following simple way of using canned tomatoes?

Scalloped Tomatoes Scotch Style: Bring to boiling the contents of one No. 2 can of tomatoes, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar and a few grains of pepper. Add one-half cup of quick-cooking rolled oats and pour into a buttered baking dish. Cover the top with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven—375 degrees—for thirty to forty minutes. This serves six persons.

Registration June 30th

Distribution of instructions to all local boards concerning the ragistration on June 30 was announced today by Colonel J. E. Nelson, State Director for Selective Service. The registration will be held for men who become 18 years of age on or before June 30, and who had not reached their 20th birthday before January 1 of this year. Therefore, registration will be required of men residing in the United States who were born on or after January 1, 1922 and on or before June 30, 1924.

These men will be registered in much the same manner as the men who enrolled in previous registrations, State Headquarters said. Local boards, aided by volunteer registrars, will conduct the registration and will record the same information on registration cards as was recorded for men of the first four registrations.

President Roosevelt ordered an intensive drive last week and this to collect from homes, offices, farms and factories all articles of rubber that have been or can be discarded. The scrap rubber is being collected by the nation's gasoline filling stations, transported to central collection points by petroleum industry trucks and sold to the Rubber Recovery Corporation. Filling stations are paying a cent a pound for the rubber.

Elray Keith Christenson, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Rude Christenson, was baptised at the Parsonage on Friday evening with Rev. Hanson officiating. He was born on March 5, 1940 and his sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Inman, LaVern Johnson and Donald Inman.

Eddy Forsythe and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Leas and children of Chicago, Mrs. Cora Teal and Mrs. Jack Forsythe of Mentor visited at the G. Sanoden home Friday.

Eric Friberg

Eric Friberg, Roseau farmer, announced his filing Monday for re-election for State Senator from the 67th Legislative District. Mr Friberg has served in the House of Representatives from 1933 to 1939 and one term in the Senate.

Larry Alonzo Inman, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Inman was baptised at the Johnnie Nelson home on Wednesday of last week. He was born on Jan. 25, 1942 and his sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Ludvig Monson and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Inman.

Mrs. H. O. Hanson and daughters attended the funeral services for E. Iverson at Middle River on Sunday afternoon.

Marshall Co. Fair Attractions

Three Marshall county high school bands will provide entertaining music at the 36th Annual Marshall County Fair at Warren on July 16, 17 and 18, R. B. Taralseth, presidents announced this week. The participating bands are Argyle, Stephen and Warren.

On the opening day, designated as Children's Day when more than 2,000 school children are expected to take part in a Victory program, the Warren high school band under the direction of H. H. Lysaker, will be featured. The Children's Day program will be under the supervision of Miss Melba Sands of Warren, a talented musician who has been studying music a St. Olaf college during the past year.

The Argyle high school band under the direction of S. M. Melby, will provide the music the second day of the fair. The second day will feature the 50 Mile Ford Model T Championship Race. Indications are that a field of more than 15 cars will be entered to compete for the $300 purse. Entries for the race will close on July 10. Inquiries regarding entries etc. should be directed to Olayton Olson, superintendent of races, at Argyle.

The popular Stephen high school band under the direction of A. C. Huselid will be featured on Saturday, July 18, the closing day of the Fair, which will also be Horse Racing Day. Only horses owned by residents of Marshall and Northern Polk counties will be elegible to compete in the running races.

Members of the Fair board closed contracts last week for another outstanding feature, harness racing mules, Roman chariot racing and high schooled horses. This attraction is appearing at some of the leading fairs of the Middle West including Grand Forks and Minot, and it was only through the circumstance of an open week by the company that the Marshall County Fair was able to secure the act.

Exhibits of agricultural products will be the main feature of the 1942 Fair, with the Fair management stressing the "Food for Freedom" program as advocated by the department of agriculture. Many new exhibitors are expected to show this year with numerous reservations for space having been already made, said O. M. Mattson, secretary. Copies of the Premium Lists are still available and may be secured by dropping a card to the secretary at Warren.

Farms Acquire Conveniences

Conveniences in farm homes have been steadily increasing in recent years, according to a seven-year study of 1,262 Centre county farms made at the Pennsylvania State college by J. E. McCord, professor of farm management and agricultural economics. The number of furnaces doubled during the seven years. Radios increased 20 per cent and running water increased 5 per cent. The number of farms equipped with electricity increased from 41 per cent to 55 per cent.

Rubber Salvage Campaign

Arvid Carlson, Chairman of the Marshall County Salvage for Victory committee, this week urged all the boys and girls of the county to get behind the government in the scrap rubber campaign.

Mr. Carlson said "In order that the rubber salvage campaign be successful, it is necessary that our young people do thier part. All organizations such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs, FFA and other youth organizations can help immeasurably by starting a drive of their own to collect rubber. I have a supply of badges designating all those helping in this work as official Salvage Commandos. These I will send to any bonafide organization for distribution to their members. Let me know the number of badges your club needs and I will send them to you. Our young people are playing an important part in our Salvage for Victory Campaign. For example, I would like to show how one young boy has helped."

George Fricker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fricker, is only nine years old, but he wasn't too young. With his coaster wagon he collected over 600 pounds of scrap iron in his home town. He hauled it all by himself to the local salvage dealer and was paid $3.00 for the iron. He promptly bought defense stamps with the money. This is just an example of how our young peaple can and are helping.

So let's have every boy and girl in the county gather all the scrap rubber they can. Go from house to house, look everywhere! Remember, you are 'The Kids Behind the Boys Behind the Guns'. Buy Defense Stamps and Bonds with the money you receive from the sale of rubber. That way, you are doing a double service in your country's fight for freedom".

Judge Oscar R. Knutson

Judge Oscar R. Knutson last week announced his filing for re-election to the office of Judge of the district Court. Judge Knutson was appointed to succeed the late Judge M. A. Brattland after receiving the highest vote in a secret ballot voted upon by the lawyers of the district. He has served as Judge of the District Court since January 2, 1941. Prior to his appointment Judge Knutson was actively engaged in the practice of law at Warren for about fourteen year. He was also active in civic and community affairs and is well known throughout the district.

H. O. Hanson left Saturday evening for the Mayo Clinic at Rochester where he will undergo a major operation.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

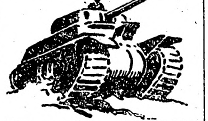
These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Our army uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 28 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.



These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstoppable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Americans everywhere are helping to pay for these monsters of war through their purchase of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. U. S. Dr. Gordon Seagrave, who was in the Harper Memorial hospital at Namkhan, Burma, when the Japanese moved in, is shown with three of his Burmese nurses in an army jeep after Dr. Seagrave had joined up with General Joseph Stilwell's Chinese army in Burma. Dr. Seagrave was in the thick of the savage fighting in this campaign, attending to wounded and operating under heart-breaking conditions. During the heat of the early fighting he worked one 24-hour stretch with but 90 minutes off, taking care of 150 casualties. The only assistance he had was from Makio, his head nurse, who handled 20 of the minor cases herself.

Fortunately Hole in Barrel Was Discovered in Time

The particular unit in question had taken on a large number of new recruits and some of them were a little raw. During the first rifle inspection, the officer approached one of the men, had a look at his rifle, and then called to the N.C.O. in charge.

"Look at this man's rifle!" he announced.

The sergeant looked down the barrel, swung the rifle around to the recruit, and barked: "Take a look at that rifle, you!"

The recruit peered carefully down the barrel, then muttered in a surprised tone:

"Well, what do you know. Got a hole clean through it!"

We Can All Be
EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. PREPAREDNESS
by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

NEWEST of all the American Red Cross activities is the Wool Conservation program. Under it, volunteers from the more than 3,700 Red Cross chapters throughout the nation collect scraps of new, unused wool and place them in reprocessing channels.

The Wool Conservation program was developed jointly by the War Production board and the Red Cross when it became apparent that the nation faced a serious wool shortage. There were only two ways in which this shortage could be alleviated within the next year. The first was by cutting down wool consumption in every possible way by restyling and redesigning garments to save wool. The second was to have every scrap of new, unused wool reprocessed as rapidly as possible. The Red Cross was selected to do this job.

Under the agreement between the Red Cross and the War Production board, the 3,700 Red Cross chapters arrange for the collection of trousers cuff clippings, wool samples and other wool clips from tailors, men's clothing stores, department stores, clothing manufacturers and cleaners. These are then placed in reprocessing channels by selling them to wool reclaiming firms.

When reprocessed into wool cloth, the clippings from 21 pairs of men's trousers will be enough to make a complete soldier's uniform or another civilian suit. One Red Cross chapter in a large city collected enough wool clips in one day to make 1,755 soldiers' uniforms.

Proceeds from the sale of the wool clips collected under the Wool Conservation program are retained by the local Red Cross chapters to carry on their work of War Relief and Civilian Defense Preparedness training.

SAME BED WITH FOOT CUT DOWN—THE DOTTED SWISS VALANCE IS STITCHED TO MUSLIN BETWEEN THE SPRINGS AND MATTRESS
HAND-MADE QUILT IS NOT WELL DISPLAYED ON A BED WITH HIGH FOOT BOARD AND NO VALANCE

MOST quilts today are planned as bedspreads and have a color scheme to harmonize with other decorations. If a variety of figured scraps is used one color is generally repeated in each block to give the design unity.

The beauty of any quilt is enhanced if it is set off with a valance around the bed. The bed in the sketch had no particular tradition and the footboard was much too high to display the quilt to advantage. What a difference in the effect whn the board was cut down and the crisp frills of dotted Swiss were added! Surely, any quilt worth piecing is worth this extra touch.

NOTE: If you have a metal bed that you would like to modernize you will find sketches and directions in Mrs. Spears' Book 3. Sausage From Greeks

Most people believe that the origin of the most portable meat parcel, the sausage, is lost in dim antiquity, but we can trace the inventor.

Of course, the Romans were in the business. The sausages of Lucania were very celebrated amongst the Romans. But the Greeks were there first. Sausages are mentioned in the world's oldest cookery book by a Third-century Greek writer, Athenaeus.

The work is entitled "Deipnosophists" (Banquet of the Learned). This ancient Greek Epicurean scholar realized that food for the body is as important as food for the mind. He was very fond of tit-bits, whether of scandal or cookery.

What's a musical comedy got to do with winning a war?

PLENTY! We're building an army of men—not machines. And men have minds. And minds need freshening . . . change . . . relaxation.

So one of the biggest undertakings of the USO is its sponsoring of free entertainment, through the cooperation of the movie and theatrical industries, at army camps, naval bases—wherever the fighting men of the USA go to train or dig in.

USO Camp Shows, Inc. is actually the biggest single theatrical enterprise the world has ever seen. It books 264 shows for the boys every week, which play to an average nightly attendance of 50,000.

It contacts movie stars, theatrical headliners, big name bands and their leaders. It routes all these . . . plans their itinerary . . . arranges the most convenient times when soldiers and sailors can take time out to sit and be entertained.

For it realizes that the one great advantage of the American fighting man is his ability to think for himself, to make the most of any situation, to fight as a liberty-loving individual.

And this is one of his great differences from our enemy.

To help carry on the all-important work of maintaining the morale of our fighting forces, the USO needs your help . . . it needs your contribution.

Your dollar has many demands on it this year. Many of these demands must be met—others deserve to be met. And among these latter, the plea of the USO for whatever sum you can contribute merits your earnest consideration.

For we have a war to win, and the USO is directly concerned with the men who must—and will—win it.

Dig deep—for the men who are digging in!

Send your contribution to your local chairman or to USO, Empire State Building, New York.

GROWING NEED FOR SOIL IMPROVEMENT ON MIDWEST FARMS

CHICAGO.—Consumption of fertilizer averages less than half a ton per farm on the 2,240,636 farms of the Middle West, according to a statement compiled here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Approximately 1,000,000 tons of fertilizer are used annually on farms in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas," the statement sets forth. "This means that the average consumption is less than 1,000 pounds per farm.

"Research by the soil scientists of state agricultural colleges and experiment stations throughout this region proves that there is an increasing need for fertilizer on most Midwestern farms.

Serious Deficiency.

"Thousands of samples of soil taken by farmers from their own fields are analyzed by agronomists in these various states every year. The tests reveal that most of these soils are low in at least one and perhaps all three of the major plant foods—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. Since plants cannot thrive without an adequate diet any more than human beings or livestock can, the use of fertilizer on such soils would result in higher yields and in crops of greatly improved quality.

"Experience under practical growing conditions has proved that fertilizer can be profitably utilized in the production of practically every farm crop grown in the Middle West.

"All things being favorable, a farmer can sometimes expect a dividend of several hundred per cent from an investment in fertilizer. There are other important benefits. Fertilizer increases resistance to disease and promotes earlier maturity. One of its chief virtues is its residual value—that is, passing on to the crops which follow, benefits in the form of increased soil fertility."

FOREIGN NATIONS USE MORE FERTILIZER THAN UNITED STATES

CHICAGO—Nations of Europe use from two and a half to twenty times as much chemical plant food per acre as does the United States for fertilizing crop land and plowable pasture.

"The average for the United States is five pounds per acre," says the report based on international statistics compiled for 1936. "Holland uses 99 pounds of chemical plant food per acre, Belgium 80, and Germany 67. Then come Denmark with 40, Norway with 29, and Sweden with 22 pounds. France uses 21 pounds per acre, Italy 17 and Great Britain 12.

"The rate of consumption in this country is, however, considerably higher than it is in Poland and Hungary which use respectively three and one pounds per acre.

"Soil conservation has been a necessity in Europe for centuries because of the large populations and the relatively small acreage of tillable farm land.

"In the United States millions of acres of farm land have been ruined because of erosion or depletion by cropping. If the nation's greatest resource—the soil—is to be conserved, an ever-increasing program of soil improvement and fertilization must be followed."

HUGE APPETITES OF GROWING CHICKS NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

St. Louis, Mo.—"Baby chicks frequently surprise their owners because of the enormous appetites they develop by the time they're four weeks old," according to D. C. Purcell, Purina poultry authority. "Their eating capacity seems to grow much faster than the chicks themselves. Barely able to consume a thimbleful of feed a day at the start, each little fellow appears to have become 'all mouth,' with a bottomless crop by the time it's four weeks old.

"In tests conducted in our Purina Laboratories it has been found that it is perfectly normal for four-week-old chicks to have huge appetites. Good chicks weighing nine ounces at around four weeks of age often double their weight the next two weeks. This naturally calls for heavy eating, which should be encouraged by increasing both hopper and drinking fountain space, so that the chicks can eat all they want.

"Misled by the fear that chicks will over-eat, or for reasons of false economy, many chick raisers regulate or restrict the daily starting mash consumption of fast growing chicks. Such a move is unprofitable for obvious reasons," Purcell says. "The profitable thing to do is to let them eat all they want of a balanced, reliable starting mash, to keep them coming fast and thrifty."

Their Faces Are Red!

THEIR faces are red—these ruddy tomatoes—but they have nothing to blush about. They aren't aware of their popularity perhaps, but actually they're invited to more meals than any other vegetable.

Just look over your favorite recipes, and see how many of them include tomatoes in some form or other. Soups, sauces, meats, vegetables, salads, cocktails and desserts—they are all made better by that delicious and healthful blushing tomato.

Let 'Em Blush

If you like fresh tomatoes, be sure that they do blush. For the merely pink tomatoes, hard and under-sized which are shipped to our northern climates during the winter, are hardly recognizable as the same fruit that ripens in the gardens until it is large, deep crimson and full-flavored—full of juice and health-giving properties.

Canned tomatoes, of course, are always of the blushing type. They have been picked from the pick of the crop at their prime, and they have been quickly put into cans so that their natural goodness is preserved. It is these canned tomatoes that we have come to rely on as an all-year round treat. Have you tried the following simple way of using canned tomatoes?

Scalloped Tomatoes Scotch Style: Bring to boiling the contents of one No. 2 can of tomatoes, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar and a few grains of pepper. Add one-half cup of quick-cooking rolled oats and pour into a buttered baking dish. Cover the top with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven—375 degrees—for thirty to forty minutes. This serves six persons.*

Jargon of Flight Students

The ace of the base was chipping his teeth with a bilge rat, in a session of hangar flying.

I came in so hot I thot Santa Claus would give me a cinch down.

No, that isn't strange language of another land - - unless you consider as "foreigners" the students in the Naval Aviation Cadet training classes at the U. S. Naval Reserve Aviation Base at Minneapolis. It's just a sample of some of the "slanguage" used by the tyro-fliers.

An interpreter could tell you that the first two paragraphs refer to a chinning session (hangar flying) between a student who considers himself an expert (ace) and a student who considers himself a woman-killer (bilge-rat). The expert merely is pointing out that in his practice flight he landed at a higher than average landing speed (hot) which might influence his broad minded instructor (Santa Claus) to report the check flight as poor and give him a "down" (thumbs down.)

In the jargon of flight students at the aviation base at Wold-Chamberlain Field, a student who placidly flies into a dangerous situation unaware that there is anything wrong, is tabbed "fat, dumb and happy" or a "dope off." Dangerous and reckless flying is known as "flat-hatting," and a short-cut to washing out.

The "mat" is a hard-surfaced runway; a "sandbag" is a student pilot's first passenger; and a civilian, the cadets claim, is a self-satisfied chap who wears clothes of his own choice.

Marshall Co. Fair Attractions

Three Marshall county high school bands will provide entertaining music at the 36th Annual Marshall County Fair at Warren on July 16, 17 and 18, R. B. Faralseth, presidents announced this week. The participating bands are Argyle, Stephen and Warren.

On the opening day, designated as Children's Day when more than 2,000 school children are expected to take part in a Victory program, the Warren high school band under the direction of H. H. Lysaker, will be featured. The Children's Day program will be under the supervision of Miss Melba Sands of Warren, a talented musician who has been studying music a St. Olaf college during the past year.

The Argyle high school band under the direction of S. M. Melby, will provide the music the second day of the fair. The second day will feature the 50 Mile Ford Model T Championship Race. Indications are that a field of more than 15 cars will be entered to compete for the $300 purse. Entries for the race will close on July 10. Inquiries regarding entries etc. should be directed to Clayton Olson, superintendent of races, at Argyle.

The popular Stephen high school band under the direction of A. C. Huselid will be featured on Saturday, July 18, the closing day of the Fair, which will also be Horse Racing Day. Only horses owned by residents of Marshall and Northern Polk counties will be elegible to compete in the running races.

Members of the Fair board closed contracts last week for another outstanding feature, harness racing mules, Roman chariot racing and high schooled horses. This attraction is appearing at some of the leading fairs of the Middle West including Grand Forks and Minot, and it was only through the circumstance of an open week by the company that the Marshall County Fair was able to secure the act.

Exhibits of agricultural products will be the main feature of the 1942 Fair, with the Fair management stressing the "Food for Freedom" program as advocated by the department of agriculture. Many new exhibitors are expected to show this year with numerous reservations for space having been already made, said O. M. Mattson, secretary. Copies of the Premium Lists are still available and may be secured by dropping a card to the secretary at Warren.

Farms Acquire Conveniences

Conveniences in farm homes have been steadily increasing in recent years, according to a seven-year study of 1,262 Centre county farms made at the Pennsylvania State college by J. E. McCord, professor of farm management and agricultural economics. The number of furnaces doubled during the seven years. Radios increased 20 per cent and running water increased 5 per cent. The number of farms equipped with electricity increased from 41 per cent to 55 per cent.

Sixty Years of Service

With this week's issue the St. Hilaire Specator suspends publication. Established in 1882, the paper has served its community sixty years, and in the life of the St. Hilaire community, sixty years is a long time. When the first train steamed into Thief River Falls the Spectator was already ten years old. During that ten years, Thief River Falls was merely another inland trading post.

Another interesting thing about the Spectator is the fact that during its sixty years of service it has been operated by only three publishers; nearly half of that time by its present owner, Oscar Gunstad. Few, if any, of the old timers in the St. Hilaire community can remember back to a time when the Spectator was not received as a weekly news letter and by them, especially, its suspension will be a personal loss.

It is regrettable that not more of the Spectator's files have been preserved. Week after week it has reported the current history of St. Hilaire and the territory that is now Pennington County, and this weekly record of events would have been an invaluable historical document covering the progress of our pioneer years. But in St. Hilaire, as in Thief River Falls, the newspaper files have not been preserved. Presses and type and printing equipment that have been destroyed by fires have been replaced, but there can be no replacement of the bound volumes of the papers published week by week when they are consumed by the flames.

And so the Spectator goes the way of the pioneers it has served so long and faithfully. We regret its passing.

Wars are won by attacking, not by sitting in a fort!

And today America is taking the offensive against the Axis with hard-fighting, non-stoppable men and materials!

We're taking the offensive, too, against the enemy at home—the inflationary 6th column that blows prices sky high.

You can help in both fights by saving at least 10% of your money in U. S. War Bonds every pay day. Attack the Axis with your dollars today.

You can start with as little as a 10c War Stamp and you can get a $25.00 War Bond (maturity value) for only $18.75—at your local post office, bank or other convenient sales agency.

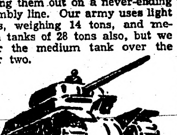
What You Buy With WAR BONDS

These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Our army uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 28 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.



These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstoppable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Americans everywhere are helping to pay for these monsters of war through their purchase of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. *U. S. WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Russian Front Grows in Importance As Nazis Win New African Victory; Oregon, Canada Shelled by Axis Sub; Japs Gain Second Aleutian Foothold

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

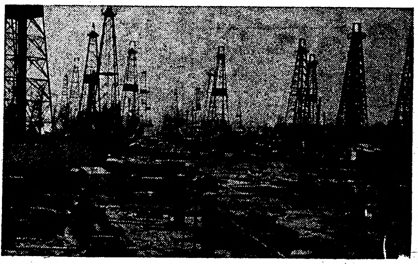

Photo shows oil wells located near Salem, Ill., which has been designated as the terminus for the proposed oil pipe line from Longview, Texas. The WPB announces that the cost of the project will be between 30 and 40 million dollars. Acute oil shortage and gasoline shortage in the eastern states will be considerably alleviated by the new line.

RUSSIAN FRONT:
Increased Importance

With the fall of Tobruk in Libya the fighting on the Russian front took on added importance for it became increasingly clear that if the United Nations were going to fight Hitler to a standstill the Soviet forces must continue to occupy the major portion of Nazi armed strength.

Soviet soldiers were doing just that. Even as the British were admitting the loss of their Libyan stronghold, a report from Moscow took the optimistic note that with the continued material aid of Britain and the United States the Russians would be able to hold out against Germany.

While an official Russian communique admitted a German breakthrough at Sevastopol, Soviet troops had blasted their way across the Donets river in the critical Kharkov area and recaptured a number of localities in a terrific counterattack. Earlier, two German regiments with heavy air and tank support had crossed the river in a violent attack and forced the Russians back.

The German success at Sevastopol came only after huge losses, according to the Russian official version which admitted: "In the Sevastopol sector of the front our troops repelled repeated furious German attacks. At a cost of enormous losses the enemy succeeded in driving a wedge in our defensive positions."

WEST COASTS:
Shelled

Almost four months to the day after a submarine had shelled the California coast, another U. S. state, Oregon, felt the impact of enemy shells. The more recent shelling took place against the shoreline north of Seaside, Ore., just south of Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia river.

The Fourth Army and Western Defense command announced the firing of six to nine shells by an unidentified craft near the midnight hour. No damage nor casualties were reported. Although the army did not immediately identify the attacking vessel it was believed to be a Jap submarine.

This conclusion was reached after the Canadian government had announced that about 24 hours before the Oregon attack a submarine had landed shells at the government telegraph station at Estevan Point, Vancouver island.

This was the first time that an enemy submarine had attacked shore installations in Canada and the first time in Canada's history that enemy shells had landed on her soil. Canadian officials said that while one of the shells landed near enough the telegraph station to "shatter windows" the other missles "fell harmlessly on the beach."

The U. S. army's first brief announcement of the Oregon attack indicated that the firing had lasted about 15 minutes. Earlier residents of Astoria had reported hearing between 10 and 16 shots fired at sea and said they could hear the shells whistle over head. Still another report said that an Astoria resident had sighted a submarine off the coast. Washington and Oregon had dimouts of their coasts at the time of the attack.

BRIEFS:

AID TO ENEMY: Judge Thomas Siddal, Atlantic City defense council chairman, has charged that signals to Axis submarines were flashed from hotel windows along the Atlantic coast.

BUNKER HILL: Bunker Hill monument, which commands an all-inclusive view of the Boston Navy yard, has been closed to the public for the duration.

JAP FOOTHOLD:
On Kiska Island

Japan gained a second foothold in the Western hemisphere when forces were put ashore at Kiska island to establish a base on that Aleutian island less than 600 miles from the navy's base at Dutch Harbor.

The Japanese, operating under cover of fog, were able to establish their base. The occupation was not a surprise. Kiska is approximately 175 miles east of Attu island, which the navy announced on June 12 had been occupied by the Japanese. A break in the weather within the past few days enabled discovery of the occupation of Kiska.

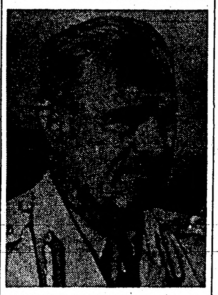
A navy communique said that "Tents and minor temporary structures were observed to have been set up on land." Kiska has a fair harbor, the site of a former coaling station for ships. Attu has few facilities for ships of any size.

In Honolulu, Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons has urged all non-residents not engaged in essential war work to leave for the mainland as soon as practicable and at the same time warned that Japan might attack Hawaii at any time.

TOBRUK:
Its Aftermath

When the fall of Tobruk was officially confirmed by the British, Allied plans for a second front received a setback. Egypt and Suez are threatened by Axis forces, under the leadership of Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel.

According to German and Italian communiques, 25,000 British soldiers and several generals were captured. These figures almost duplicate the number of Italians captured when Tobruk surrendered to the British in January, 1941.



GEN. SIR ARCHIBALD WAVELL
It was 17 months ago.

Australian and British troops moved into Tobruk 17 months ago when Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell was driving across Libya. The Italian troops offered little resistance, although they burned much of the material in the city.

Following the Italian defeat, German troops were sent to Africa and a strengthened Axis army drove back across the desert to Egypt's borders. Tobruk was placed under siege in April, 1941. The garrison was kept in action by the British navy, which managed to hold open the sea lanes for supplies and reinforcements.

Explanation Wanted

The news of Tobruk's fall came as Prime Minister Winston Churchill was in the United States to confer with President Roosevelt on "the war, conduct of the war, and the winning of the war."

Not since the prime minister satisfied the house of commons over the losses of Hongkong, Malaya and Singapore has the nation been more unified in demanding a full account of the conduct of the war. Charges of inefficiency and blundering are widespread.

PARITY:
Fight Goes On

Farm, church and labor groups united in a move to back President Roosevelt against a legislative bloc which is opposed to the administration's plan to sell government-owned wheat and corn below parity prices.

In a letter to the White House, these groups said that the success of the President's program for farm security in this regard was essential for the winning of the war.

Included in the groups backing the letter were the National Farmers union, the American Federation of Labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the Railway Executives association, the National Catholic Rural Life conference and the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

This joint move was believed to be part of a plan being set up in opposition to the "high price through scarcity" concept backed by the American Farm Bureau federation, headed by Edward A. O'Neal. The Farm Bureau federation is reported to have been successful in withholding approval of the President's formula for selling government-owned wheat and corn at 85 per cent of parity.

TAXATION PROGRAM:
Behind Schedule

To ease the taxpayers' burden in 1943, the treasury department proposed to congress a modification of its plan to withhold federal taxes at the source. Under the plan the treasury would collect 5 per cent of the taxable income starting on January 1, 1943, instead of 10 per cent, would collect 15 per cent in 1944, and 10 per cent in 1945.

Earlier the treasury department proposed a 100 per cent war "super-tax" to carry out President Roosevelt's recommendations for limitation of individual income to $25,000 a year after payment of all taxes.

The President told the press that taxation provisions of his anti-inflation program were running slightly behind schedule and that, in his opinion, the bill should be split into sections in order to get part of it into effect as soon as possible.

MORE ROYALTY:
In Washington

Second monarch in ten days to visit Washington and hold conversations with President Roosevelt was the 19-year-old boy king of Jugoslavia, King Peter II. He arrived in the capital by plane and was accompanied by Foreign Minister M. Nintchich.

Main topics of discussion with the President were Jugoslavia's unrelenting guerrilla warfare against Germany and the effects of a master lend-lease agreement for his country which would provide for after-the-war understandings and collaboration.

King George II of Greece had left the capital before King Peter arrived and Queen Wilhelmina, ruling head of the Netherlands, was on her way to Washington, via Canada, at the time.

WAR MANPOWER:
Staggering Total

The effect of the war upon everyday life was emphasized in a statement of the War Manpower commission, which said that the goal for men in the armed forces is six to seven million men by the end of 1943, and "eventually" may be 10 million.

By 1944, at least 20 million workers will be needed in war production and transportation. The 1943 crop will be harvested by 12 million workers.

Chairman MacLean of the President's Committee on Fair Employment Practice stated that in 1944 high school enrollment might be reduced by 40 to 50 per cent, college enrollment by 70 to 80 per cent, and half the nation's schools may be closed due to increasing needs for war workers.

CHINA:
Rocks, Grenades

A rough mountain pass along the Honan-Shansi border north of the Yellow river was the scene of a bitter struggle as poorly equipped Chinese troops repulsed the seventh attempt of the Japanese to break through.

Fighting with rocks, hand grenades and machine guns against 10,000 Jap troops supported by planes and heavy guns, the Chinese are extracting a bitter toll from the enemy. Spokesmen claimed that the Chinese still were holding a 50-mile gap along the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway in the area south of the Yangtze river.

The Japanese opened a new offensive north of the Yellow river, driving from the north Honan province. They succeeded in pushing the Chinese back to the foothills of the Taiheng mountain range.

FARM PRODUCTION:

If the weather for the remainder of 1942 is normal, says Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, farm production "will break all records."

This announcement came at the time Wickard was reporting that the 1943 national wheat acreage allotment had been set at 55,000,000 acres. At the same time he asked growers to plant part of the allotted acreage in other needed crops because the prospective 1942 wheat supply is nearly 1,400,000,000 bushels, including carry-over.

Hotel Clerk—Pardon me, Mister, but how did you happen to be named J. John B. B. Bronson?

Patron—I was christened by a minister who stuttered.

Some men know better as they grow older. Others merely know more.

Proof

"It is midnight, the moment when miracles happen."

"I think—"

"There, didn't I tell you?"

The Others?

"You are the only woman I have ever loved! You believe me, don't you?" demanded the enthusiastic lover.

"I do," replied the gentle but wise maiden. "But there's thousands who wouldn't."

Giveaway

"No, my husband has hardly any of the minor vices."

"Doesn't he even smoke?"

"Well, after a good dinner he may smoke a cigar, but that's only about once in six weeks."

One thing a soldier is afraid of is a display of emotion. That's why his slang so often sounds derogatory. For example, he refers to the silver eagles on his colonel's shoulder straps as "buzzards." But when he speaks of his favorite cigarette, he says: "Camels." They're first with men in the Army as well as with Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen. (According to actual sales records in service men's stores.) A gift of a carton of Camels is always well received. Local tobacco dealers are featuring Camel cartons to send to any member of our armed forces. Hint for the day: Send "him" a carton of Camels.—Adv.

One Truck Driver Who Could Follow Instructions

Business being cut by priorities, the boss of the trucking company found it necessary to lay off one truck driver. But that driver was both big and tough. So the boss decided to fire him by mail.

And the following day the driver didn't show up. Four days went by and then he was back.

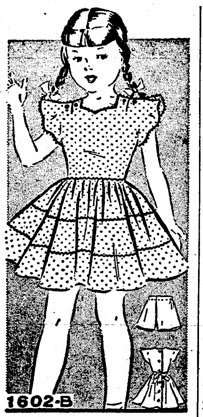
"Didn't you get my letter?" asked the surprised boss.

"I did."

"Well, didn't you read it?"

"Sure. First I read it inside and then I read it outside. Inside it said that I was fired. On the outside it said, 'Return in five days to the Consolidated Trucking company.' So, here I am."

PATTERNS
SEWING CIRCLE



A FLOUNCING skirt, fitted "long torso" top and kimono sleeves are the leading features of the pretty pinafore frock for girls offered in Pattern No. 1602-B. It buttons down the back—and at the shoulders and is as cool and comfortable to wear on a hot day as a romper suit would be.

Run ric-rac edging around the edges of the kimono sleeves, the neckline and shoulders—and use ric-rac in rows around the full, flaring skirt—the result will be a decorative frock which will call forth ohs and ahs from all who see it. There are panties to match, too—which may also be edged with ric-rac braid.

* * *

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1602-B is designed for 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 years. Size 4 dress and panties require 2¼ yards 35-inch material. 6 yards ric-rac.

Here's a Gentler Way to Treat Constipation!

Do you think you have to take harsh cathartics or purges every time constipation makes you miserable? You don't—if you are one of those people with normal intestines who suffer from constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. There is a pleasanter and gentler way.

All you do is eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is a crisp, delicious cereal. It works quite differently from many medicinal laxatives. They work by prodding the intestines into action or by drawing moisture into them from other parts of the body. But ALL-BRAN acts principally on the contents of the colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, see a doctor.

Kidneys Must Work Well-
For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

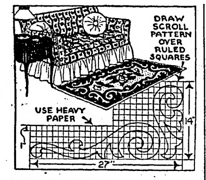
NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS



WOMEN today are not the first to discover a war-time shortage of floor coverings. The glowing Oriental rugs of the Colonial mansion ceased to be imported during the Revolution; and the simple hooked rug made from old clothing began to be developed in more elaborate designs.

Then, as now, scroll borders around a flower motif were popular. The posies were designed according to individual taste but scroll patterns went the rounds of neighbors who traced the patterns on the burlap or canvas rug foundation. Today wax crayon is generally used for tracing. You will find it easy to make a cut-out pattern by first ruling paper into one-inch squares and then copying the curves in the sketch.

* * *

NOTE: If you wish to make a scroll pattern be sure to clip this diagram and save it as it is not in any of the booklets which Mrs. Spears has prepared for readers; however, Book 5 contains two designs and directions for making original designs. To get a copy, send your order to:

GROWING NEED FOR SOIL IMPROVEMENT ON MIDWEST FARMS

CHICAGO.—Consumption of fertilizer averages less than half a ton per farm on the 2,240,636 farms of the Middle West, according to a statement compiled here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Approximately 1,000,000 tons of fertilizer are used annually on farms in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas," the statement sets forth. "This means that the average consumption is less than 1,000 pounds per farm.

"Research by the soil scientists of state agricultural colleges and experiment stations throughout this region proves that there is an increasing need for fertilizer on most Midwestern farms.

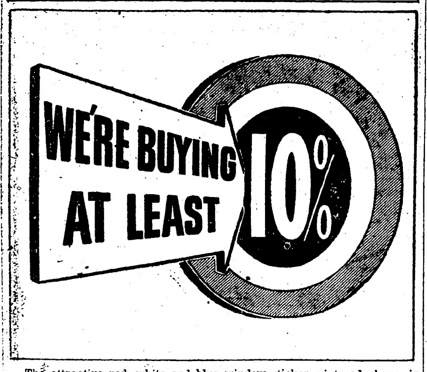
Serious Deficiency.

"Thousands of samples of soil taken by farmers from their own fields are analyzed by agronomists in these various states every year. The tests reveal that most of these soils are low in at least one and perhaps all three of the major plant foods—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. Since plants cannot thrive without an adequate diet any more than human beings or livestock can, the use of fertilizer on such soils would result in higher yields and in crops of greatly improved quality.

"Experience under practical growing conditions has proved that fertilizer can be profitably utilized in the production of practically every farm crop grown in the Middle West.

"All things being favorable, a farmer can sometimes expect a dividend of several hundred per cent from an investment in fertilizer. There are other important benefits. Fertilizer increases resistance to disease and promotes earlier maturity. One of its chief virtues is its residual value—that is, passing on to the crops which follow, benefits in the form of increased soil fertility."

Let Everybody Know You're Investing 10 Percent of Your Income in War Bonds



The attractive red, white and blue window sticker, pictured above, is the new yardstick of patriotism in the War Bond drive throughout the nation. FOREIGN NATIONS USE MORE FERTILIZER THAN UNITED STATES

CHICAGO—Nations of Europe use from two and a half to twenty times as much chemical plant food per acre as does the United States for fertilizing crop land and plowable pasture.

"The average for the United States is five pounds per acre," says the report based on international statistics compiled for 1936. "Holland uses 99 pounds of chemical plant food per acre, Belgium 80, and Germany 67. Then come Denmark with 48, Norway with 29, and Sweden with 22 pounds. France uses 21 pounds per acre, Italy 17 and Great Britain 12.

"The rate of consumption in this country is, however, considerably higher than it is in Poland and Hungary which use respectively three and one pounds per acre.

"Soil conservation has been a necessity in Europe for centuries because of the large populations and the relatively small acreage of tillable farm land.

"In the United States millions of acres of farm land have been ruined because of erosion or depletion by cropping. If the nation's greatest resource—the soil—is to be conserved, an ever-increasing program of soil improvement and fertilization must be followed."

Holt Mayor Challenged

A challenge to Mayors of all Marshall County villages was issued by Mayor Sig Silness of Warren to compete with him in the Mayor's Mule Harness Race at the Marshall County Fair in Warren on Saturday afternoon, July 18.

"The Marshall County Fair Board has informed me that they have arranged for the appearance of four racing Mules which will be hitched to racing sulkies at the Fair on Saturday afternoon," said Mayor Silness. "I really feel that I'm a pretty good Mule Skinner -- in fact, a better Mule Skinner than any other Mayor in Marshall County, and I'm ready to stake my reputation as such by challenging any or all of the other mayor's in the county to disprove this claim at the Fair," he declared.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this opportunity of thanking our many friends for all the beautiful and useful gifts we received at the reception given in our honor Sunday afternoon.

Especially do we want to thank those on the committee for their time and effort spent toward making it a very pleasant occasion. Thank you, and may God bless you all.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gusa.

Marshall Co. Fair Attractions

Marshall and Northern Polk County agriculture and its production program of "Food for Freedom" will parade before thousands of Red River Valley residents at the 36th Annual Marshall County fair at Warren on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July, 16, 17 and 18.

Hundreds of exhibitors from all parts of Marshall county and the Northern two tiers of townships of Polk county are planning to enter their exhibits of farm and home in the exhibit buildings at the Fairgrounds next Wednesday, July 15. Entries in all departments will be received on Wednesday afternoon and evening only with judging scheduled to start promptly at 9:00 o'clock a. m. Thursday morning.

Program plans for the big exposition have been completed for several weeks, and will offer to residents of this area some of the finest entertainment of the professional amusement world. Big time circus acts have been booked for the afternoon and evening performances while the night program will feature a colorful revue "Wings of Mirth" as produced by Miss Jule Miller of the Northwestern Amusement Co. A cast of more than 30 people will paticipate in this big evening production.

A victory Parade and Pageant with special music under the direction of Miss Melba Sands of Warren and Miss Norma Sands of Alvarado, will feature the Children,s Day program on the opening afternoon of the Fair. The Warren high school band will furnish the music for the parade and pageant which will take nearly an hour to present. Numerous circus acts and other novelties will also be presented.

The 50 mile Model T. Championship Race will be run as advertised on Friday afternoon, July 17. Fair officials received a telegram from Washington Monday night lifting the ban on automobile races, Harold C. Hagen, secretary to Congressman Buckler contacting the ODT to complete arrangements. More than 20 Ford Model T Cars are expected to enter the big race which is attracting widespread interest in all parts of the Red River Valley. In addition to the big race there will be numerous circus acts as well as concerts by the Argyle High School Band.

Marshall County 4-H Clubs have been planning their participation in the fair programs for weeks and will present a colorful array of project exhibits including booths, livestock, home economics, etc. The annual Style Queen Revue will be presented before the grandstand on Friday night, while numerous demonstrations will take place during the first two days of the Fair with club numbers competing for their trips to the state Fair.

The big livestock parade will be held on the race track on Friday evening as a preliminary to the big style revue and the second production of "Wings of Mirth".

While farm machinery stocks have been necessarily curtailed because of the war, implement dealers are going ahead in preparing another farm machinery display and fair visitors can look forward to seeing another creditable exhibit. While some of the earlier fairs have had little or no machinery displays, the Marshall County Fair will again live up to its reputation of having one of the finest displays in the valley.

An industrial display together with numerous governmental war agency exhibits will fill the huge exhibition hall in the grand stand this year. Many inquiries for space have been received from various public organizations indicating that the big hall will be well filled.

Much interest is also being taken in the Marshall County Historical Society exhibit, with interested persons throughout the county taking hold to make a truly worth-while exhibit. This exhibit is being arranged in lieu of staging the annual historical society picnic this month.

Rural school children from Marshall county will have their usual fine exhibit in their own building on the grounds. Entries for this big department have already closed.

H. O. Hanson has Operation

H. O. Hanson underwent a major operation at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester Monday of last week. Mrs. Hanson spent last week with him there. At this writing he is progressing very nicely and is looking forward to returning home. Mr. Hanson has been suffering with complications of an ulcerated stomach for several years and was now at the point were surgical attention was imperative.

Upon recovery from effects of the large operation he has been told he may enjoy better health than he has had for many years.

Miss Orla Reierson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Obert Reierson of Strathcona, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence Majer son of S. A. Majer of Strathcona at a pretty church wedding last Sunday. Those attending from Holt were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reierson and Mr. and Mrs Lawrence Reierson. The bride is a former Holt resident.

PLANT FOOD LACK IMPORTANT CAUSE OF CROP LOSSES

CHICAGO.—Profits or losses on crops harvested on Midwestern farms were largely determined by the presence in or absence of important plant foods from the soil, according to a statement by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Millions of dollars have been lost from wheat and oats which lodged because of a lack of phosphoric acid, potash or both of these elements," says the statement. "Millions more were lost from corn that failed to mature properly.

"During the growing season advances, all growing crops show easily detected signs of plant starvation. For example, corn which lacks nitrogen fails to thrive and develops streaked, yellowish-tinted leaves. A tell-tale clue of phosphoric acid deficiency is lateness of maturity and poorly formed kernels. When potash is sorely needed, growth slows down, leaves scorch, the corn is susceptible to diseases and parasites.

"Undernourished wheat reveals disabilities including stunted growth where phosphoric acid is lacking, and poorly formed grains and a blighted appearance when potash is needed.

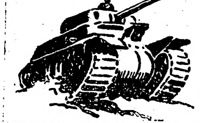
"Legume crops reveal marked evidence of distress when plant food starvation sets in. Alfalfa and clover that need potash develop a spotty, measles-like eruption that spreads over the leaves.

"From the experience of this year's crop, Middle West farmers may determine how the lack of important fertilizing elements spelled crop losses.

"Surest preventive for all diet deficiencies is to have the soil tested to determine just which elements are lacking. County agents or agronomists at state agricultural colleges are equipped to make such tests and provide information concerning the need for nitrogen, phosphoric acid or potash. By using such information intelligently, farmers can replenish exhausted soil resources.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Our army uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 28 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.



These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstoppable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Americans everywhere are helping to pay for these monsters of war through their purchase of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. *U. S. Fat Salvage Campaign

Arvid Carlson, Chairman of the Marshall County Salvage Committee, this week announced the start of the National Fat Salvage Campaign.

Mr. Carlson pointed out that over two billion pounds of fats are wasted in the Uited States every year. These fats can be used for our Allies and also in the manufacture of glycerine for explosives so vitally needed by our Armed Forces.

"I cannot impress upon you too strongly," said Mr. Carlson, "that everyone of us in the county must aid in this Fat Salvage Campaign from roast beef, ham, lamb, and poultry; broilers drippings from steaks, chops and bacon; deep fats whether vegetable or lard".

All fats should be strained and kept in a metal container in a cool place.

The housewife should return the fat to her local meat dealer and will be paid four cents a pound.

Start now - - save all fats and oils - - help the cause of Freedom

Sittin' down in Jed's General Store the other day, it was kinda impressed on me that the weaker a fellow's argument is, the stronger the words he uses!

Well, when I get to talkin' about KELLOGG'S PEP and vitamins I don't need any high-powered words. You see, to feel really good you got to eat right, which includes gettin' all your vitamins. And while PEP hasn't got 'em all, this swell-tastin' cereal is extra-long in the two that are oftenest extra-short in ordinary meals—B₁ and D. Try PEP, won't you?

Kellogg's Pep

A delicious cereal that supplies per serving (1 oz.): the full minimum daily need of vitamin D; 1/4 the daily need of vitamin B₁.

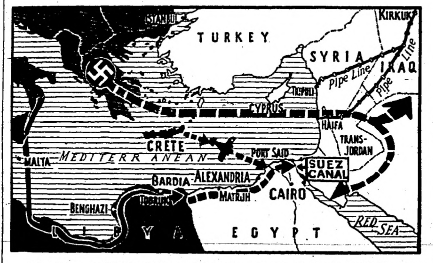
WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Federal Agents Foil Sabotage Plot With Capture of Nazi Spies in East; Rommel Forces Drive Toward Suez; Germany Opens New Russian Front

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.



The long, solid black line shows the course of Nazi Field Marshal Rommel's African army in its drive toward Alexandria and the Suez canal. The dotted line, beginning at a point beyond Tobruk, shows the coastal route toward the canal, which connects the Mediterranean with the Red sea. The short, dotted line from Crete shows the short distance that need be flown to launch a Nazi air attack. The dotted line, starting from the swastika at the left, shows a possible German encircling move from Greece through Palestine then back to meet the Rommel arm of the drive.

SABOTEURS:
Major Failure

A dramatic story of attempted Nazi sabotage in the United States was unfolded by FBI agents who rounded up eight master saboteurs trained by Nazi experts and landed by rubber boats from two submarines at Amagansett beach, Long Island, and Ponte Vedra beach, Fla.

The four Germans who landed at Amagansett beach rowed ashore in the early hours of the morning after the submarine had crept within 500 yards of the beach. From caches in the beach sands, FBI men recovered huge stores of powerful explosives buried by the men when they landed. Approximately $170,000 in American currency was carried by the Nazi agents to pay accomplices.

Objectives assigned to the men included the bombing of Hell Gate railroad bridge, the bombing of all bridge approaches to New York city, bombing of the New York water supply lines and the blasting of other vital objectives.

Each of the agents was provided with many types of forged credentials, including social security cards and selective service cards. Their traveling bags were equipped with secret compartments for money and documents.

A sequel to the story came with the arrest of several accomplices of the eight men, some of whom are regarded as associates of the Nazi agents who may have intended to take part in the sabotage effort. Two of the accomplices were arrested in Chicago.

NEW OFFENSIVE:
In Russia

German troops opened a third summer front with a new offensive near Kursk, 120 miles north of Kharkov and 280 miles south of Moscow. The drive was opened even as more and more Nazi troops were poured against Russian defenses in the Kharkov and Sevastopol battles.

A Soviet communique said that ". . . in the Kursk direction, fighting commenced against the German troops who had gone over to the offensive." The Nazi drive was launched from entrenchments which they had held through the great Russian counteroffensive of last winter and spring.

Kursk is located on the Moscow-Crimean railroad in an agricultural area just north of the Ukraine. On an almost-straight line with Kharkov and Moscow, it was important for its anti-tank gun works, artificial rubber factory and cartridge plant.

Marshal Semyon Timoshenko announced the stemming of a German advance east of Kupyanks, then launched a counterattack on one key sector and pushed westward.

German dispatches announced that operations on the Kharkov front were successfully concluded, but Russian communiques said the Red army was counterattacking successfully in several areas.

A German break-through east of Kursk would threaten vital Russian communications and might bring Soviet forces in the Kharkov sector within reach of an encirclement movement from the north.

U. S. POWER:
In Europe

One of the most important angles of the 1,000 plane raid by the British Royal Air force on Bremen, German submarine and shipbuilding base, was the first official admission that U. S.-made aircraft took part in the main operations of a bombing raid of this scale. These planes were reported to be Lockheed-Hudsons, usually used to hunt subs on the high seas and not in their bases.

ROMMEL IN EGYPT:
Fluid Fighting

In the battle for Egypt, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, director of the Axis drive toward Suez, struck at the British eighth army with the full weight of three armored divisions backed by artillery and infantry.

The first major British stand in Egypt, 15 miles west of Matruh, was by-passed early by mechanized units. The Nazi high command announced in a special communique the "storming" of Matruh. The Axis striking force was aimed at Alexandria, 165 miles away and the Suez canal beyond. Seriousness of the situation was evidenced by the fact that Nazi and Italian forces were within 150 miles of the fertile Nile valley, where 98 per cent of Egyptians live.

The British communique stated that "Enemy forces which have by-passed our position west of Matruh were met by our battle troops. Some of our armored forces attacked enemy forces west of Matruh."

An Italian communique said the Axis army had reached a position on the coast road about 19 miles beyond Matruh and that several hundred prisoners were captured.

OFFICIAL SCORE:
In Battle of Midway

Official score of the Midway battle has been announced by the navy department—and the results were more heartening than had been previously supposed.

At least 10 Japanese ships were sunk, including four aircraft carriers, and at least eight others were damaged. Sunk in addition to the carriers were two 8,500 ton cruisers, three destroyers, and one or more transport or cargo vessels. Probably sunk was a fourth destroyer.

Damaged were two and probably three battleships, three or more heavy cruisers, one light cruiser and three transport or cargo ships. All the aircraft about the four Japanese cruisers, totaling about 275 planes, and all the aerial forces were lost, the communique said.

American losses were reported earlier. They included an aircraft carrier damaged, a destroyer sunk and some American planes lost.

SUGAR RATIONS:
May Be Upped

A moderate increase in sugar rations—possibly half a pound per coupon—has been hinted by officials of the Office of Price Administration.

A survey of sugar stocks in the United States shows that the supply in the hands of consumers is 50 per cent less than a year ago. Stocks held by primary distributors and 20 per cent below 1941 and total sugar stock on hand is one-third less than at this time last year.

Final decision on the ration increase depends largely upon prospects of sugar shipments from Puerto Rico and Cuba during the next six months. In addition, the decision will hinge on information which is becoming available on actual distribution under the rationing system.

"The real question," one official said, "is how much sugar is going to be brought in from the Caribbean area."

SECOND FRONT:
And Russian Hopes

Russia's fears that a second front may fail to realization were allayed by Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov who reported complete agreement between Washington and London on a United Nations offensive in the west.

The joint statement issued by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill was hailed as proof of the approaching Allied offensive.

PRODUCTION:
Silence Broken

America's strict seal of wartime silence on production of materials for fighting the war was broken by President Roosevelt when he disclosed figures which as he put it, would not give "aid and comfort" to the enemy.

In fact, these production figures would likely have the opposite effect according to most Washington observers, for it was revealed that in May, U. S. factories produced nearly 4,000 planes, 1,500 tanks, 2,000 artillery and anti-tank guns, 50,000 machine guns and about 50,000 sub-machine guns.

The White House announcement of these figures came at the close of the Churchill-Roosevelt conferences and indicated that the strategy of the war had progressed to a point where a definite plan was developing. This meant the problem now resolved itself into providing a method for getting these huge supplies being turned out in the U. S. to the second front; how to continue the flow of supplies to Russia and how to even still more speed up the output of American machines.

CCC:
Lease on Life

In a dramatic move, Vice President Henry A. Wallace came to the aid of the Civilian Conservation corps and with his vote broke a senate tie to give at least a temporary lease on life to the seemingly doomed CCC.

By a vote of 32 to 32, the senate approved an appropriation of $76,529,800 for CCC financing during the 1943 fiscal year. Previously the house had voted to liquidate the agency, one of the earliest New Deal ventures.

House-senate differences will have to be ironed out in conference on the bill appropriating $1,157,498,426 for the labor department, Federal Security administration and related agencies. This bill contains CCC funds.

The senate was tense as the roll call vote was taken on the CCC issue. The first call showed that 28 members favored continuation of the CCC; 24 members were opposed. The vote emerged 32 to 32 in a recapitulation. Then, from the chair, Vice President Wallace announced that the vote was a tie, and added:

"The chair votes in the affirmative."

JAP SETBACK:
In China

Linhsien, a major Japanese base in the Honan-Shansi border area west of the Peiping-Hankow railway, has been recaptured by Chinese troops, dispatches revealed. A total of 5,500 Japs were killed in 13 days of combat, the dispatches added.

The recapture of Linhsien came as good news to Russia. Chinese observers were convinced that the Japanese operations in this north China area were a prelude to a surprise attack on Siberia. The day following the recapture of Linhsien was marked by a counteroffensive against the city. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops beat off the attack, chasing the Japanese into mountainous regions where the Japs "face imminent annihilation."

CHIANG KAI-SHEK
Good news for Russia.

A Chinese communique said that Chinese troops had recaptured Linping in the southern region of the Kianksi-Hunan border front.

BRIEFS:

BLOOD MONEY: Two Czechs have divided a German reward of 10,000,000 Czech crowns ($500,000) for supplying information which led to the shooting of two men as the assassins of Reinhard Heydrich, Reich hangman. A Berlin broadcast stated that an additional half million crowns was paid to seven Germans and 52 Czechs.

CRITICAL: Back in Ottawa after his Washington conference, Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King declared to his house of commons that this is one of the "most critical periods of the war" and estimated that the fighting might continue three or four additional years.

COMMAND: Brig. Gen. Claire Chennault, commander of the American Volunteer Group in the Chinese air force, will remain in control of air operations against the Japanese in China after his "Flying Tigers" are inducted into the United States air force.

A SMARTLY flounced blanket chest with contrasting cushion is a useful addition to any bedroom. It serves as a convenient seat; and extra covers are right at hand on chilly nights. A pair of these, covered to match spreads, would go well with twin beds.

Plan the size of your chest to fill your needs and space. It may be made of one-inch pine and should be about 15 inches high without the cushion. Make the flounce with double fullness—that is, twice as long as the space it is to fill after it is gathered. The cushion may be filled with cotton padding, feathers or down.

It Took a Woman to Solve This Intricate Code

A piece of paper covered with mystic figures and signs had been discovered on the floor of the aircraft factory.

It had been seen to fall from the handbag of a girl worker who had received it from a strange woman at the works entrance. Experts had been called in to decipher the apparent code, but all failed.

Finally the manager took it home to study it further. There his wife chanced to see it, and she quickly supplied the solution.

"Why, John," she exclaimed in animation, "wherever did you get this from? It's a knitting system for a perfectly lovely sweater!"

U. S. Troops Survey New Post in Cairo

U. S. soldiers look over the Cairo rooftops from their new billet in the Middle East. Since this picture was taken the battle of Egypt has been raging furiously, with Field Marshal Erwin Rommel directing the Axis thrust toward Alexandria and Suez, while huge U. S. Liberator bombers struck heavily at the enemy in and behind the battle area.

Named as Assistant to Navy Secretary

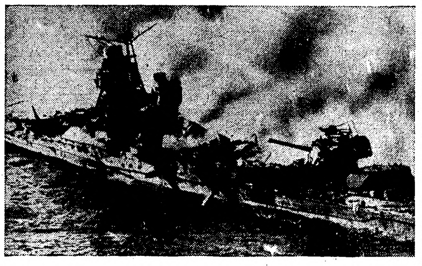
They Want to Be Americans

Many of them wearing the costumes of the lands they left, these candidates for American citizenship are studying a new language at a New York evening school. Most of them have felt the iron heel of oppression and when they repeat the words, "I Am An American" they put into them a wealth of meaning and gratitude.

After Navy Planes Blasted Jap Cruiser



This is one of the first pictures of the battle of Midway island, and shows a Jap cruiser of the Magami class listing badly after being hit by bombs dropped from U. S. carrier-based navy planes. Billows of black smoke fill the air, and the deck is a mass of wreckage. Many Jap seamen lost their lives in the water when they dived overboard.

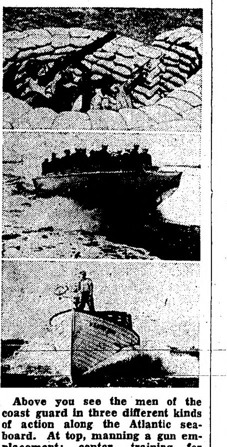
Nazi Saboteurs

Edward Kerling (top), alias Edward Kelly, ringleader of Nazi saboteurs who landed with explosives from a submarine near Jacksonville, Fla., to be used in bombing key rail centers and bridges near New York city. Below: Herbert Hans Haupt, 22, of Chicago, a saboteur caught with another group landed by rubber boat.

New Army Paper

"Yank," new army newspaper now being sent to U. S. troops overseas, installs full world-wide wire service. Pvt. Bill Richardson, editor of "Yank," is shown with Seymour Berkson, managing editor of a national news service, beside news printer.

Coast Guard Action



Above you see the men of the coast guard in three different kinds of action along the Atlantic seaboard. At top, manning a gun emplacement; center, training for beach landings; bottom, a coast guard boat rushing to a rescue scene.

Animal Oddities

The capybara, largest of all living rodents, has teeth powerful enough to cut corrugated iron, says Collier's. The Steganopodes, an order of birds including pelicans, cormorants and gannets, have no nostrils and breathe through their mouths.

Chow dogs and polar bears are the only animals that have black tongues; frogs and toads are the only animals that cannot swallow without closing their eyes; and minks and weasels are the only animals, other than skunks, that eject a malodorous fluid when angered.

Benefits to Our Readers

THE PUBLIC nature of advertising benefits everyone it touches. It benefits the public by describing exactly the products that are offered. It benefits employees, because the advertiser must be more fair and just than the employer who has no obligation to the public. These benefits of advertising are quite apart from the obvious benefits which advertising confers—the lower prices, the higher quality, the better service that go with advertised goods and firms.

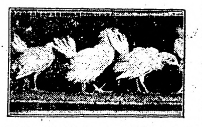
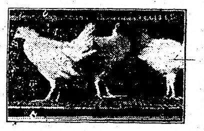
SCIENCE DEVELOPS NEW INGREDIENT RICH IN VITAMIN G

St. Louis, Mo.—The problem of assuring an adequate amount of Vitamin G in feeds has received the attention of Purina scientists for several years, according to H. J. Smith, Director of Research for the Ralston Purina Company.

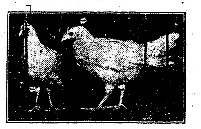
"For a while," says Dr. Smith, "the best commercial sources of Vitamin G known were alfalfa leaf meal, dried skim milk, and dried buttermilk. But even with the most careful selecting and laboratory testing, we found it difficult to control the amount of Vitamin G in the ration because the Vitamin G content of these ingredients would vary, depending on the time of year and the conditions under which they were produced.



Birds raised on a ration low in Vitamin (G) Flavin.



Same aged birds that received more Flavin in their feed.



These birds had extra Vitamin G (flavin) in their feed supplied by Puri-Flave.

"Three years ago, we set for ourselves the task of finding a dependable, concentrated Vitamin G source that would give us control over this important factor in our rations. The result of this search is Puri-Flave, the new, rich Vitamin G ingredient. We have tested it carefully under all conditions for an entire year in the Purina Research Laboratories, and are convinced that it is among the great feeding developments of the past twenty years.

"Each gram of Puri-Flave contains around 70 micrograms of Flavin, as compared with around 28 micrograms for dried buttermilk and around 10 micrograms for alfalfa. We are now including Puri-Flave in all of our feeds that have to do with the development of the embryo and growth," says Dr. Smith.

"While our Purina scientists are sure of the Vitamin G (flavin) content of Puri-Flave as compared with dried buttermilk and alfalfa, they are not ready to say that it will replace these two ingredients. For that reason, all of our feeds will continue to carry the same amounts of dried buttermilk and alfalfa meal as they have in the past."

Luella Fluke returned home Monday after spending two weeks at Bible Camp at Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Finke received announcement of the marriage of their son Willis to Miss Alta Leigh of Idaho Falls, Idaho. Willis entered Fort Douglas, Utah on July 3rd.

*Not distributed by States.

Henry Morgenthau Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today made public the official War Bond Quotas by States for the month of July, which places the nation on a Billion-dollar-a-month basis to aid in meeting the War cost. The above table also gives May War Bond sales in the various states in comparison to the May Quotas. (June sales by states will be available for publication shortly.) The percentage of Quotas range from 71.3 percent above quota in Utah, to 22.6 percent below the quota in Montana, but puts the nation as a whole above the $600,000,000 total May quota. Vulnerable Alaska and Hawaii led all states in sale of War Bonds on quota basis.

"Everybody, every pay day ten percent" is the Treasury slogan which is expected to place one of the attractive new window stickers in every American home. "We're Buying at Least 10%" reads the sticker, printed in the national colors. The new window stickers and the new "10%" lapel button, which indicates the wearer is investing at least ten percent of his income in War Bonds every pay day, are yardsticks of patriotism in the War Bond drive.

Deer Population Large

From reports and information received under the Pittman-Robertson game and research project to date there is an indication that a state-wide deer season may be advisable this year in Minnesota.

Reports of damage to agricultural crops by deer that have spread out beyond their normal range have been received in increasing numbers by the Department of Conservation in recent years. It is estimated that there are approximately 23,000 deer in the agricultural region, whereas in the state as a whole the deer population is estimated at about 540,000. The deer kill in 1940 was calculated at 56,000, based on a success of about 80 per cent according to deer hunters' reports.

Marshall Co. Fair Attractions

Marshall and Northern Polk County agriculture and its production program of "Food for Freedom" will parade before thousands of Red River Valley residents at the 38th Annual Marshall County fair at Warren on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July, 16, 17 and 18.

Hundreds of exhibitors from all parts of Marshall county and the Northern two tiers of townships of Polk county are planning to enter their exhibits of farm and home in the exhibit buildings at the Fairgrounds next Wednesday, July 15. Entries in all departments will be received on Wednesday afternoon and evening only with judging scheduled to start promptly at 9:00 o'clock a. m. Thursday morning.

Program plans for the big exposition have been completed for several weeks, and will offer to residents of this area some of the finest entertainment of the professional amusement world. Big time circus acts have been booked for the afternoon and evening performances while the night program will feature a colorful revue "Wings of Mirth" as produced by Miss Jule Miller of the Northwestern Amusement Co. A cast of more than 30 people will paiticipate in this big evening production.

The 50 mile Model T. Championship Race will be run as advertised on Friday afternoon, July 17. Fair officials received a telegram from Washington Monday night lifting the ban on automobile races, Harold C. Hagen, secretary to Congressman Buckler contacting the ODT to complete arrangements. More than 20 Ford Model T Cars are expected to enter the big race which is attracting widespread interest in all parts of the Red River Valley. In addition to the big race there will be numerous circus acts as well as concerts by the Argyle High School Band.

Marshall County 4-H Clubs have been planning their participation in the fair programs for weeks and will present a colorful array of project exhibits including booths, livestock, home economics, etc. The annual Style Queen Revue will be presented before the grandstand on Friday night, while numerous demonstrations will take place during the first two days of the Fair with club numbers competing for their trips to the state Fair.

The big livestock parade will be held on the race track on Friday evening as a preliminary to the big style revue and the second production of "Wings of Mirth".

While farm machinery stocks have been necessarily curtailed because of the war, implement dealers are going ahead in preparing another farm machinery display and fair visitors can look forward to seeing another creditable exhibit. While some of the earlier fairs have had little or no machinery displays, the Marshall County Fair will again live up to its reputation of having one of the finest displays in the valley.

An industrial display together with numerous governmental war agency exhibits will fill the huge exhibition hall in the grand stand this year. Many inquiries for space have been received from various public organizations indicating that the big hall will be well filled.

Much interest is also being taken in the Marshall County Historical Society exhibit, with interested persons throughout the county taking hold to make a truly worth-while exhibit. This exhibit is being arranged in lieu of staging the annual historical society picnic this month.

Rural school children from Marshall county will have their usual fine exhibit in their own building on the grounds. Entries for this big department have already closed.

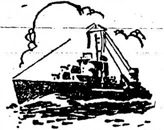
What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Ships of the Destroyer type comprise the bulk of our fighting ships in the American Navy. Their average displacement is about 1800 tons, and they are fast, powerful, and hard hitting. They have been particularly effective in convoy duty and gave a good account of themselves in the Coral Sea engagement. They cost approximately $3,600,000 each.



Every Navy shipyard is turning out Destroyers in record time. They are essential for our two-ocean Navy. Purchase of more and more War Bonds will assure all-out production of these vital units for the Navy. Buy every pay day. If everybody invests at least ten percent of his income in War Bonds we can do the job. U. S. Treasury Department

Two Extra Pounds of Sugar

Northwest Office of Price Administration officials explained how housewives can get the extra two pounds of sugar to be allowed them on their regular sugar ration books.

Any time between now and August 22, they said, the housewife can cash in stamp No. 7 on her ration books, and it wont affect the status of stamps No. 5 and 6. It is a simple procedure that will furnish her with two pounds more than originally intended for each member of her family. Officials said there will be no need to appear before local rationing boards for approval. The procedure will be the same for sugar rations after August 15

Reason for stepping up the sugar allowance, it was explained, is that receipts of sugar from off-shore producers has been a little heavier than anticipated, permitting distribution of about 200,000 pounds at this time.

Harold Wayne, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Larson was baptised on Thursday evening of last week at the parsonage. He was born on May 13, 1942 and his sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Melin of St. Hilaire.

FAMOUS ALL-BRAN MUFFINS. EASY TO MAKE. DELICIOUS!

They really are the most delicious muffins that ever melted a pat of butter! Made with crisp, toasted shreds of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, they have a texture and flavor that have made them famous all over America.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN MUFFINS

2 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup All-Bran
¾ cup milk
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder

Cream shortening and sugar; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 6 large muffins, 3 inches in diameter, or 12 small muffins, 2¼ inches in diameter.

Nazi Struggle for Russia and Egypt Takes Spotlight From Pacific Battle; Growing Force of U. S. Air Power Is Displayed on World's Many Fronts

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

U. S. AIR POWER:

Around the Globe

From widely scattered sections of the world's fighting front came reports of the increasing strength of America's hard-striking air power.

Most dramatic was the announcement from London that for the first time the United States army air force had made an attack on Nazi occupied Europe. Six bombers, American made and American manned, took off and during a daylight raid smashed Nazi planes and troops on the ground at three Holland airdromes. Later enemy ships were attacked off the Dutch coast.

One interesting sidelight of the raid was that its principal hero, Capt. Charles C. Kegelman of El Reno, Okla., was awarded the Distinguished Service cross by Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in chief of U. S. forces in the European theater, and Kegelman thus became the first member of the 1942 AEF to be decorated for gallantry in action against the enemy in Europe.

His feat was described as a demonstration of "superior airmanship and extraordinary coolness in the saving of the lives of his crew" after the plane he was piloting was struck hard by anti-aircraft fire over the bombing target."

Chinese Front

Meanwhile, the newly installed U. S. army air force in China started things off in good fashion by shooting down five Japanese planes in a battle which came as the result of a direct challenge by the U. S. forces to the enemy.

Background to the battle was a Jap radio report that their forces in the Hengyang area would "blast the new U. S. air forces out of China" and a reply by Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the Americans, that any such attempt would get a "cheery welcome." Then came the Jap raid and the skies over Hengyang were subjected to what was described as perhaps the fiercest air battle over central China.

BRIG. GEN. CLAIRE CHENNAULT
Off to a good start.

Australia Sector

General MacArthur's Australian headquarters reported that on the same day as the battle over central China, American and Australian planes shot down six Jap planes and damaged six others in heavy attacks on invasion bases Salamaua and Lae, New Guinea. Three United Nations planes were reported missing. In addition to the Jap planes destroyed, the report added that direct hits were scored on enemy airdromes, striking runways and buildings.

MORE SPIES:

In Caribbean

Shortly after the FBI announced its arrest of the eight Nazi saboteurs who reached the U. S. via a submarine route, U. S. army headquarters in the Panama Canal Zone came through with the seizure of 20 alleged Nazi spies. It was claimed that these persons were engaged in a plot which included fueling of Nazi submarines and spotting of Allied shipping targets in the Caribbean.

Arrests were made from Panama to British Honduras, and business men, night club hostesses, trusted Canal Zone workers and shipping employees were involved.

SUBMARINES:

Pacific Too?

While Washington officials had announced that convoys were being used to protect shipping in America's Atlantic coastal areas, a threat appeared in a new sector.

This came in the form of dispatch from Santiago, Chile, which disclosed that the Chilean ministry of the navy and the Pan-American Grace airways were checking reports that submarines had been observed in the Pacific.

RUSSIA:

Pincers

When the Nazis finally drove the Russian defenders out of gallant Sevastopol, they succeeded in opening the second claw of a giant pincers movement which had for its other base the Kharkov foothold.

But success in Sevastopol was difficult to obtain. Even the Nazis admitted that. For 27 days everything the Nazis had was blasted against the besieged naval base. The Red navy had to retire from it to less secure bases in the Black sea. Still the Nazi bombers came.

MARSHAL SEMEON TIMOSHENKO
No rest for Nazis.

Finally the last Russian foothold in the Crimea fell and Hitler had gained an important wedge in his drive toward the oil fields of the Caucasus.

Not only did they open up to this rich prize, but the fall of Sevastopol meant that more men could now be diverted to the fighting around Kharkov.

But before the Nazis had a chance to rest and to realign themselves, cagey Russian Marshal Semeon Timoshenko struck savagely at them and regained several villages. The Nazis in turn had their eye on the Don river and would not be stopped until this objective was won. Although another front was opening to the northwest of Moscow, the battle of Kursk-Kharkov was viewed generally as the scene of Hitler's all-out 1942 offensive. For this was what he needed most of all—oil. And the winning of the Kharkov engagement meant that his goal would be much closer.

ALEUTIAN FOG:

Lifts a Bit

Navy censorship and the dense fog that hangs over the far tip of the Jap-invaded Aleutian island chain, lifted alike to disclose that the U. S. naval air forces had been busy.

A navy communique reported that "our aircraft returned safely" after five new raids on Kiska and Agattu. A Jap force of three transports and their escorting vessels were inflicted with undetermined damage off Agattu and four attacks were made on the Japs at Kiska.

But the best news from that area was the announcement that on Independence day U. S. submarines sent three Jap destroyers to the bottom and left a fourth severely damaged. The communique reporting these sinkings said that three destroyers were fired upon near the Jap-occupied island of Kiska and the other one near Agattu island.

EGYPT:

Rommel's Romp

While the German high command withheld any actual forecast as to the number of days it would take them to reach and capture Suez, British forces were letting nothing stand in their way of giving the Nazis the very fiercest resistance possible in the battle of Egypt.

Reports from Britain's Eighth army in this sector told of a weakening of German power under the leadership of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel. These reports said that many German soldiers had advanced to the British lines in surrender because they described themselves as "too tired" to fight.

His mechanized forces had advanced to a line 65 miles west of Alexandria before the British could present even a show of strength to deter him.

This stand by the British, as reported from Cairo, came in the form of the greatest aerial onslaught ever unleashed in the Middle East. The site of the battle was El Alamein and its pace was terrific. The British were fighting for a knockout to Rommel's already far advanced desert army. Rommel wanted to save what he had gained and push forward, of course.

Egyptian government sources said that raids had been made on the Suez canal and Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha announced a complete blackout of Cairo.

BRIEFS:

APPLICATION—In Mount Clemens, Mich., a man wrote to his rationing board asking permission to buy a new car because he was engaged in war work. His name? Edsel Ford, president of Ford Motor company.

UNUSUAL — As authorities of French Guiana began preparations for military registration, a report from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, said that "unusual military preparations" were taking place in the colony.

WEDDING—President Roosevelt's close friend and adviser, Harry Hopkins, and Louise Macy are to be married in the White House on July 30, it was announced at a press conference held by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in Washington.

SHUN—Squabbles that interfere with war materials production should be shunned by labor, said Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, army chief of supply, as he addressed a luncheon of AFL and CIO labor leaders in Detroit. "We all belong to the same union," he said . . . "the Union of the United States of America . . ."

MOTORING:

And It's 'Joys'

It didn't make much difference to motorists, but gasoline went up 2½ cents a gallon along the East coast. Main trouble was that you couldn't get much gas in that area anyway. Reports reaching the 31 states where gas is still unrationed said that thousands of motorists were being turned away from empty gas stations in the East.

It was also generally believed that gas rationing might be the formula for the rest of the nation if the rubber salvage drive didn't bring enough of this vital scrap. After 219,000 tons of it had been collected in the originally scheduled period the drive was extended ten days.

Secretary Ickes, on leaving the White House one day, rolled up a heavy rubber mat from the floor of this important building and carted it to a scrap depot.

WARNING:

From an Expert

Recognized as an expert in aviation, Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky, airplane designer and military analyst, has given the United Nations a stern warning on the importance of gaining air superiority before attempting the opening of a second land front to relieve Nazi pressure on the Russians.

On a nation-wide radio hookup, which had as its forum topic the possibility of a land and sea invasion of Europe, the former Russian army official declared that it was opinion that a costly mass invasion would not get the desired results unless the German's mastery of the air was first disposed of.

"We have no alternative but to concentrate upon an all-out aerial offensive against Germany proper . . . In that way we offer true relief to Russia because we help to disarm Germany by smashing its industry, transport and fuel supplies, disorganizing and demoralizing the enemy," said the major.

Aligned with Seversky was William B. Ziff, military expert, who pointed out that failure of the British to invade Norway and the recent blasting the Japs took at Midway were examples of what Britain and America would face if they tried an invasion without first getting control of the air.

On the other side of the debate were Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly and Wythe Williams, author and radio commentator. Their point of view was that while planes were vitally important in any invasion attempt, the invasion of Germany by land would most surely have to be made if the Nazi war machine was to be broken up.

ERSATZ RUBBER:

At Less Cost

While cost of production is the least of worries in the government's projects for making synthetic rubber, officials are now learning that it costs less than at first estimated.

Two major plants are now in production and Arthur B. Newhall, rubber co-ordinator, has issued a statement to the effect that the 800,000 ton-a-year program will not use up all the $650,000,000 which congress had allocated to it.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

- In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.
- It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.
- When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

Household Hints

Wipe greasy pots, pans and dishes with paper before washing.

* * *

To keep lemons, sift dry sand into a stone jar, then bury the lemons in the sand, so that they will not touch each other.

* * *

Keep your linoleum floors waxed. Wash the floor first with mild soap and water. Wipe it dry. After half an hour has elapsed apply a thin coat of floor wax.

* * *

Clothes iron much easier if they are hung up carefully, pinned securely with plenty of clothespins and shaken occasionally to remove wrinkles.

* * *

Use the tab in opening and closing slide fasteners. Don't force them. Before washing a "zip" garment close the zipper. Guard it in pressing so the teeth will not be thrown out of alignment.

* * *

When you want to thicken gravy, put the flour and water into a wide-mouthed jar, with a screw top and shake well.

* * *

If you have china plates with cracked, old faces you probably subjected them to sudden, great or unevenly applied temperature changes. Or perhaps you soaked the dishes too long in water and the body expanded, cracking the glaze.

Are Women Better Shoppers than Men?

GRANTING a woman's reputation for wise buying, let's trace the methods by which she has earned it. Where does she find out about the advantages and details of electrical refrigeration? What tells her how to keep the whole household clean — rugs, floors, bathroom tiling — and have energy left over for golf and parties? How does she learn about new and delicious entrees and desserts that surprise and delight her family? Where does she discover those subtleties of dress and make-up that a man appreciates but never understands?

Why, she reads the advertisements. She is a consistent, thoughtful reader of advertisements, because she has found that she can believe them—and profit thereby. Overlooking the advertisements would be depriving herself of data continuously useful in her job of Purchasing Agent to the Family.

For that matter, watch a wise man buy a car or a suit or an insurance policy. Not a bad shopper himself! He reads advertisements, too!

Fat Salvage Campaign

Arvid Carlson, Chairman of the Marshall County Salvage Committee, last week announced the start of the National Fat Salvage Campaign.

Mr. Carlson pointed out that over two billion pounds of fats are wasted in the United States every year. These fats can be used for our Allies and also in the manufacture of glycerine for explosives so vitally needed by our Armed Forces.

"I cannot impress upon you too strongly," said Mr. Carlson, "that everyone of us in the county must aid in this Fat Salvage Campaign from roast beef, ham, lamb, and poultry; broilers drippings from steaks, chops and bacon; deep fats whether vegetable or lard".

All fats should be strained and kept in a metal container in a cool place.

The housewife should return the fat to her local meat dealer and will be paid four cents a pound.

Start now - - save all fats and oils - - help the cause of Freedom

Crisis Reached in Farm Labor

Washington—A crisis has been reached in the farm labor supply problem, the July report of agriculture showed last Tuesday.

Farm wage rates on July 1 were the highest in 22 years.

Supply of farm labor was down to 58 per cent of Normal, smallest July figure on record.

Demand for farm labor is largest since the spring of 1920.

Influences which have caused a continuous decline in the supply of farm labor for the last 18 months show no prospect of being curbed in any major respect until the peak of demand for farm labor in Minnesota is past.

Farm wage rates are up 28 per cent on the average from last July in Minnesota. Going wages were $56.75 a month and board, and in some parts of the state scaled as high as $65. Without board daily wages averaged $3.50 and ran as high as $4.25.

Supply in Minnesota area was reported slightly above the national average, but demand for war industry labor was reported on the increase.

New policy on granting deferment to farm workers is expected to relieve the drain of men from farms into the armed services somewhat.

The reports analysis showed the farm wage level is 202 per cent of the 1910-1914 average, and the increase between April and July this year has been five times the usual seasonal increase

Demand for farm labor is reported to be more than 100 per cent of normal in the Minnesota midwest area. This is said to reflect a rise of 20 per cent over July, 1941, in the farm production index.

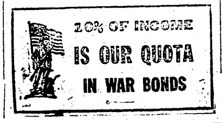
State Fair Will Go On

The Minnesota State fair will be staged Aug. 29 through Sept. 7 as planned, the state fair board announced Saturday.

Decision had been made some time ago to hold the fair despite a request of Joseph B. Eastman co-ordinator of defense transportation that all expositions be dispensed with so as to conserve rubber.

Then automobile races, a chief source of income for the Minnesota fair, were banned, and the decision was reconsidered Saturday, with the same result.

At a previous, meeting, the fair board has delayed final action pending clarification of Eastmans request and to confer with agricultural organizations involved in the fair.



FR Signs Bill For Road

Washington—The State of Minnesota today had the right to enter federal court and condemn land for a right-of-way through the Grand Portage Indian reservation.

This became law when President Roosevelt signed the interior department appropriations bill containing a legislative rider opening the reservation to a highway.

The President's signature to the bill ended at least one phase of the controversy that began nearly seven years ago over construction of the road.

Whether the fight will be continued by interveners in court action to condemn land for the road remains to be seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Simmons and children of Karlstad and Rendahl Sannes of Thief River Falls were Sunday dinner guests at the Ole Maakstad home. In the afternoon they visited at the Hilmer Moberg home. Also visiting there were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sannes and Sandra of Thief River Falls and Bertha and Gerald Moberg.

Brides Learn How to Can

Whatever trouble she may have with her cakes and bisquits the young bride need have little difficulty in canning quantities of fruit this year, even with sugar rationing.

Everyone wants to help her fill up her fruit cellar - - the government, university home economice department, county agricultural agents, women,s clubs and, of course, the best friend a bride ever had - - mother.

Assuming she has a supply of fruit, glass jars' cans, rubber rings and tops, the bride's principal problem this year will be to do the job with a minimum amount of sugar and still keep her groom eating at home.

The consumers division of the Office of Price Administration has a few suggestione on how it can be done:

Instead of making the usual sugar syrup, it says, add a small amount of sugar to the fruits own juices. Since fruits contain a large amount of water and the best use of the sugar alloted a housewife that can be made is to sweeten the juice rather than by adding water in the form of a syrup.

Heat the slightly sweetened fruit in a saucepan. This draws out the juices, shrinks the fruit and makes it possible to pack generous amounts of the fruits in each jar. There should be enough juice to cover the fruit completed.

Honey may be used to replace up to one-half of the sugar called for. Up to one-third of the juice maybe corn syrup. Fruit juices may be bottled or put in jars with little or no sugar. When sweet and tart juices are mixed, no sugar is needed. Simmering the juice rather than boling it will keep more of the natural flavor.

And here is what she can expect to get as the results of her try:

Peaches—A crate will make 10-12 quarts. Each quart jar needs about 10 to 12 peaches.

Pears—A box will make 12-15 quarts, 5 to 6 pears going into each jar.

Plums—A crate, or lug, of plums will make 12-15 quarts. Each jar takes from 26 to 32 plums.

Apples - A bushel will make 20 quarts, seven to eight apples going into each jar.

Berries—Five cups of hulled berries to each quart. 20 quarts out of each crate.

Cherries—A lug of cherries will make 12 quarts, each holding abont 2 to 2½ pounds.

She can use one pound of sugar for each four quarts under the rationing plan. She gets sugar for canning through certificates issued by her rationing board.

That's about all there is to it.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Smith entertained the following at a turkey dinner on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Nels Johnson and family of of St. Hilaire, C. E. Smith of McGregor, Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Smith of Aitkin, Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Toreen and family of Middle River and Otto Johnson.

Bring In Your Old Records

Legionaires here will join with the 11,828 other posts throughout the nation in the drive for collecting old and scrap phonograph records which began last Friday and will end Aug. 2. Ludvig F. Larson is in charge here and he has placed a box at the local creamery and at the Lorentson Service station where the records may be brought.

These records will be sent in to factories in exchange for new records that will be sent to our fighting men in all parts of the world.

Joan Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Simmons of Karlstad, was baptised at the parsonage Sunday evening. The sponsors were Bertha Moberg and Rendahl Sannes of Thief River Falls.

Rev. and Mrs. T. C. L. Hanson and children expect to leave on their vacation on Monday. In case of emergency, Pastor Hanson may be contacted by telephone to Milan. Minn. Although there is no telephone where he is staying, messenger service is arranged for. Telegram can also be sent in the evening and he will receive it on the Route in the morning. They expect to be gone three or four weeks.

Ore-Loading Records

Duluth,—The Head of the Lakes contribution to the war effort resulted in two new ore-loading records over last week end.

The Allouez docks loaded 234,000 tons into 21 boats in a 24 hour period starting at 7 a. m. Sunday, breaking by 6,000 tons the old record set only the previous week.

This performance also established a 48-hour record starting at 7 a. m. Saturday to 7 a. m. Monday, in which 38 vessels took on 424,400 tons, or 24,400 tons more than the record established earlier this season.

Total ore movement from the twin ports for the weekend was more than 700,000 tons loaded inty 64 carriers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bennes were among the many who helped E. M. Bennes of Thief River Falls celebrate his 60th birthday. Relatives from Fertile who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Ashlind and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bennes, and L. M. Bennes. They had a picnic dinner at the Thief River Falls park.

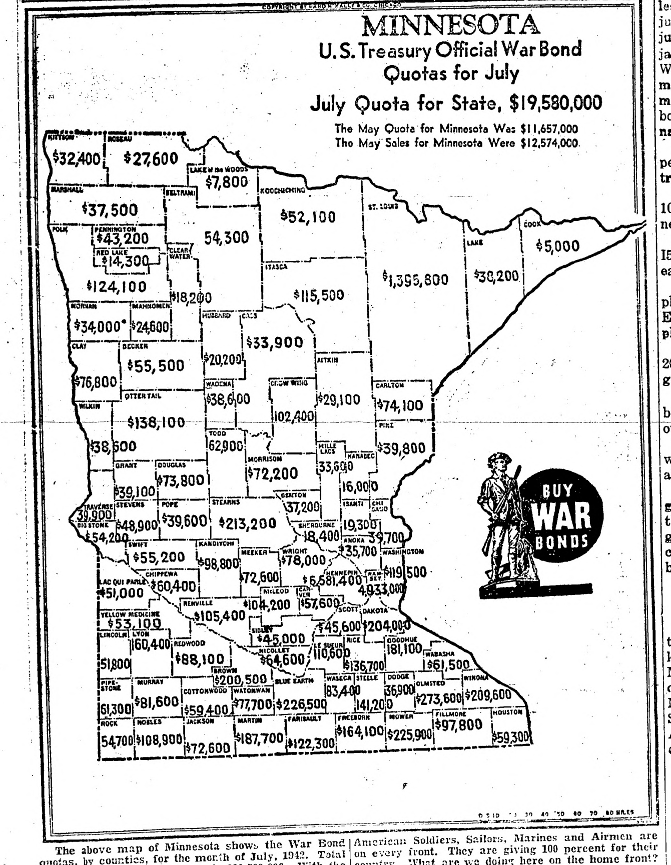
OFFICIAL U. S. TREASURY WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR JULY



The above map of Minnesota shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of July, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the state is $19,580,000. With the National quota total placed at a billion dollars, the nation goes into high gear in its support of the War financing and to give our fighting forces adequate implements of war which will bring ultimate Victory. American Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen are on every front. They are giving 100 percent for their country. What are we doing here on the home front? Are we lending at least ten percent of income to help them? It's very little. But to fight this war successfully our country needs a billion dollars in War Bonds every month from us—the People. Let's Go, America.

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

GIVE an old wicker chair a smart cover of gay chintz and it will be ready to start a new life. The chintz for this chair has a quaint pattern of strawberries with green leaves and the skirt with its trim box pleated corners is plain green. The cover is removable with a zipper opening down the center back and long stitches with heavy thread through the cover and the wicker are used here and there to hold it neatly in place.

CHINTZ
FIT THICK COTTON BATTING OVER CHAIR BACK AND ARMS
CUT ¾ LARGER THAN COTTON
THE REST OF CHAIR COVER IS WITHOUT PADDING

The padding for the inside of the back lends both style and comfort. The cotton batting is fitted and cut on the chair. It is then used for a pattern to cut a slightly larger muslin foundation and the chintz, as shown at the upper left. These three layers are then basted and stitched together to make the puffed ridges for this part of the cover. Plain seams are used to stitch the pieces of the cover together.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Powerful Strength of Nazi Thrust Drives to Greatest Gain in Russia; Aussies Smash at Rommel in Egypt; U. S. Forces 'Change Policy' in China

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

RUSSIA:

Deepest Drive

Even Moscow admitted it. The powerful Nazi thrust had finally driven deeper into Soviet territory than at any time before in the history of the war. Last year it was toward Moscow that drive penetrated to its farthest point.

But the current German campaign wasn't headed directly that way. Its spearhead had thrust itself across the Don river and swung around the big bend of that river heading southeastward down the valley toward Stalingrad.

Though there were immense losses of Nazi men and machines Hitler kept on going for he wanted Stalingrad on the vital Volga. But even more he wanted what he could find beyond . . . the rich oil pools of THE CAUCASUS.

The Moscow-Rostov railway had been cut earlier and Soviet communications thus suffered a hard blow. When the Germans slash across and solidate their positions on the Volga it means that still another highly important link between the final battleground for the Caucasus and Moscow would be severed. Crumpling of their forces further to the north of Rostov would also leave the Russians open to a hard new push by floods of Nazis released from that battle sector.

Russia's hope was the heavy toll of German strength that was being extracted as the Reds fell back in their delaying action all along the fighting front. German claims of success spoke of the breaking of "local resistance everywhere." Some military sources were inclined to agree with them in this regard but there was speculation as to whether or not communiques like this one were true:

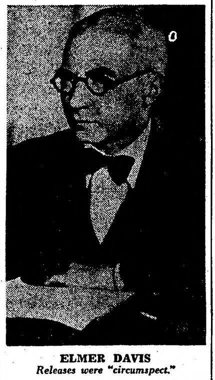
In one day's fighting Germany lost only six planes and on the same day Russian losses were set at 63 tanks and 74 planes.

Berlin said so, but Moscow didn't.

SABOTEURS:

All Doubt

The eight Nazi saboteurs as they were tried for their lives before a Washington, D. C., military commission had the benefit of government-appointed counsel which tried to give these enemy agents the benefit of all doubt as to their guilt.



ELMER DAVIS
Releases were "circumspect."

Extensive cross-examination by defense counsel of prosecution witnesses slowed testimony but during the trial little information leaked out to the news-hungry public.

Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, had a tough round with the court in getting release on any news whatsoever. He did get two daily press releases but they were described as "circumspect."

MISCELLANY:

TIRES: President Roosevelt's press conference heard him say that if the war situation gets worse than at present, the government may have to requisition every automobile tire in the United States.

OPERATIONS: The department of agriculture will continue to operate despite the fact that congress is wrangling over its current appropriations as a resolution to finance it for a month cleared both legislative chambers.

TRAINING: To house trainee radio aviation operators, the Technical Training command is taking over the world's largest hotel—the Stevens in Chicago. Also taken over was the Congress hotel in the same city.

CHINA:

Change of Policy

"There has been a definite change in policy since July 1. (This was the date on which regular U. S. army air forces started operations in China.) Hankow, Canton and other cities in occupied China which were never bombed before have been bombed now."

So began a hard-hitting statement from the headquarters of Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, chief of air operations against the Japs in China.

"We are going deeper and deeper into China. All cities under Japanese occupation will be bombed. There will be a more active policy from now on. You can draw your own conclusions as to what will happen," he further stated.

Meanwhile, concrete evidence of this new surge of strength was revealed in an announcement from Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stillwell's Chungking headquarters which said that Linchwan, important base for the Jap thrust in Kinangsi province, had been bombed by "Allied planes."

GENERAL JOSEPH STILLWELL
Helped with a "change of policy."

But not only air power seemed to be growing in the Linchwan sector, for the Chinese ground troops were reported driving back the Japs toward that city and toward Nanchang.

EGYPT:

Again the Aussies

German Field Marshal Rommel had to deal with the Australians again. His mobile columns and artillery had smashed the British back in a headlong drive that had dangerously extended his communication lines back to Bengasi and Tobruk. And then at El Alamein the British army of the Nile, reinforced by Australians, let him have it.

They chose the coastal route to slap back. Along the Mediterranean they rushed at the Nazi and Italian forces who had little time to dig in and consolidate their positions. The British, South African and New Zealand desert units threw out an offensive to the south and west of their El Alamein line and the Aussies charged in against the German tanks.

Reports from Cairo said that they were using a new type of anti-tank gun and they used it at shorter range than usual. It had been a pre-dawn assault and some of the enemy had been caught napping. Time after time the Aussies were way out in front of their supporting tanks. They overran enemy gun positions and in some cases turned the guns around to the west and fired at the German-Italian positions beyond.

There developed later, however, the most important angle of the battle for the Suez. It was an all-out air battle. Rommel had suffered some heavy plane losses as he kept hammering the British back but now his air strength seemed to be strengthened. For as the Aussies caught his tanks temporarily off guard, Rommel's planes rose to blast the advance British lines. This seemed to mean that from somewhere had come help.

Answer in Crete?

Experts looked toward Crete for the answer. For on that island in the Mediterranean were based the Nazi ace in the hole. This consisted of the powerful plane force and the parachute troops that had taken the island from the Greeks last year and which now were poised to relieve pressure from Rommel.

PACIFIC:

New Guinea Front

Strategic New Guinea now bases U. S. troops and will likely be used as a jumping off place for attacks on the Jap invaders of the Pacific.

Same day it became known in the United States that our troops had been stationed at Port Moresby on that island the Japs sent over 21 bombers with eight fighters to add another raid to the oft-hit area. Kept high by anti-aircraft fire, the bombing "was scattered and wild and there was no damage."

INDIA:

Gandhi's Gain

MOHANDAS K. GANDHI
A step-up in moral pressure.

His doctor had ordered him to rest because of his extreme exhaustion but Mohandas K. Gandhi was again on the road to beating down the British and he would not be stopped.

After six days of discussion at Wardha, Gandhi's All-India Congress party's working committee agreed to adopt his project for a step-up in moral pressure to force Great Britain to give India full freedom immediately.

News out of New Delhi indicated that this step came as triumph for the 72-year-old advocate of Indian nationalism over Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, left-wing leader of the party. Nehru has been described as the best friend the United Nations have in India and thus it appeared that any movement to force freedom from Britain would be so carried out as to refrain from interfering with the war effort there. For most sources did not believe Nehru would have been won over so easily if he thought the United Nations cause would be endangered.

CEILINGS:

Some Changes

When first the General Maximum Price regulation was introduced it was pretty difficult to adjust cases that appeared to be directly harming someone unfairly. This has now been amended to permit Leon Henderson's Office of Price Administration to adjust ceiling prices in certain "hardship cases."

Frozen fruits and vegetables were among the first ceilings to face adjustment. Ceiling prices on these products are being increased to prevent crops from rotting in the field because of increased gathering and packing costs.

Price relief will also soon be granted for jams, jellies and preserves.

Some idea of the amount of money to be spent, taxed or saved throughout the country in the coming months came from Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones in a statement to the effect that the American people in 1943 will have over $30,000,000,000 more income than "the value of things for which the money can be spent."

RATIONING:

Gasoline

About 8,000,000 eastern motorists were to get their basic permanent gasoline coupon books, said OPA, and local boards were instructed to insist on complete proof of eligibility and need before granting supplemental rations of any kind.

However, congressmen, members of state and local legislatures, and other government officials will be eligible for "special rations" for use in legislative or official business.

Bona fide political candidates may have extra rations for travel necessary to the prosecution of their candidacies. Newspaper reporters and photographers will be eligible for supplementary rations up to a quantity sufficient to permit 470 miles of occupational driving per month if they can meet car pooling provisions.

Gasoline stations which have been supplying war workers will be granted increased monthly quotas and the WPB granted OPA authority to require filling station operators to submit coupons or other evidence that rationing regulations are being complied with when gasoline is delivered to their stations.

Tires

Eligible motorists may be refused new tires by local rationing boards if an inspector's report shows that the purchaser has abused his old tires, according to an announcement made by OPA. Also local boards may receive application for new tires from purchasers of tractors, farm implements, and other vehicles sold without tires.

BILLIONS:

For War

Congressional war appropriations now total more than $225,000,000,000, but the U. S. actually has spent less than 40 billions, according to current War Production board figures. There is an average daily rate of expenditures for war by government agencies of $158,600,000. Last month the WPB bureau of finance obtained $62,120,464 in the form of loans or advances on payments for war materials for 397 manufacturers.

Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

NANA WNU Service

WHAT are the toughest, hardest running distances for man and for horse? We shoved this debate along to a number of well-known trainers who handle both the human and the equine breed.

Grantland Rice

"Years ago, many years ago," an old-time track coach told us, "we figured it was the quarter mile, which was all sprint. Then we moved it up to the half, which now is all sprint. But in the last few years we've decided that the mile is the hardest test on the human system. It was different when they were running the mile around 4:18 or 4:20. But when you turn in a mile at 4:10 or better, you are giving out all the system has to offer.

"It is possible to run a mile around four minutes flat. But we won't see that for some time. Such miles as Glenn Cunningham ran were largely sprints. They were terrific. I should say that a fast 4:10 or better mile today is the toughest race on the track."

Same for Horse

"This distance goes for a horse, too," John Partridge, the veteran, said. "The mile is the hardest race. I mean a fast mile.

"You hear people talking about the strain of a mile and a half or even two miles. They forget that in these longer distances there is a lot of half loafing. Steeplechasers can go two miles or longer, carrying 150 pounds, taking the jumps, without being worn down. But when a horse runs a mile around 1:36 he is going all out. He can't be saving anything."

This recalls Johnstown's speed and what it did to him. Johnstown in more than one workout beat 1:34. No other horse ever ran that fast.

"You hear a lot," an observing old-timer said, "about the fighters and the ball players and the football players and other competitors from years ago outranking present stars. Don't believe it. Everything is getting better. And I can prove it."

"Just how?" I asked.

"Because everything that can be measured or timed shows a sure and steady improvement over old records. New records are being set in every sport from year to year. Can't you remember when 13 feet was a record pole vault? Warmerdam will make it 16 feet before long. They are now close to seven feet in the high jump. You'll see 9.1 seconds in the 100 soon. Look at all the old swimming records. Look at practically every competition you can time or measure."

Going On

"They talk about the great pitchers of the past," he continued. "We know they were good. But suppose Bob Grove or Bob Feller had been allowed to work with a dead, half-black, or fuzzy ball? Or Dizzy Dean? You'd have seen 20 strike-outs more than once. And you'd have seen more than a few no-hit games.

Bob Grove

"Can't you remember when around 295 was almost sure to win a National Open? Today they are shooting at 280. Or at least 285. I know the clubs and the balls are better and the courses are better, but the main point is that year by year they are setting new marks for a target.

"It's the pressure of competition that is forcing a faster pace.

"Certain critics are always talking about the millions who sit and watch the few play," the old-timer went on. "I wonder if they know how many millions are also playing games? Football and basketball are two of our fastest games. If you take the high schools and the colleges and the clubs, there are more than a million or two taking active part in these sports.

"It is only natural that anyone who plays a game, whatever the game, is interested in seeing stars at play in his favorite sport. But that doesn't mean that all those who sit in stands or sit and watch don't also play when they get the chance.

"Notre Dame, to many, is a university with 40 crack football players. Do they know that in one form or another Notre Dame has from 500 to 1,000 football students?"

About Jock Hutchison

Chicago has had another brilliant and colorful golfer in Jock Hutchison. Jock won the British Open, but he was never quite able to land on top in the U. S. major show.

In the old days they had to qualify in the National Open at 36 holes, and then move the next day into the tournament proper. Using his first 72 holes of play, under this order, Jock would have run away with several championships.

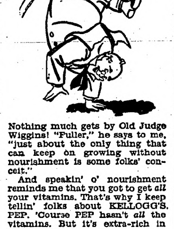
Bull Blocked Colonization

A bull, which the early Norsemen brought to America with them, wrecked their attempt to colonize Vinland (believed by many historians to be Rhode Island). The animal frightened the natives and made them so hostile that the Norsemen had to pack up and go home. America wasn't rediscovered for 500 years.



J. Fuller Pep
By JERRY LINK
Nothing much gets by Old Judge Wiggins! "Fuller," he says to me, "just about the only thing that can keep on growing without nourishment is some folks' conceit."
And speakin' o' nourishment reminds me that you got to get all your vitamins. That's why I keep tellin' folks about KELLOGG'S PEP. 'Course PEP hasn't all the vitamins. But it's extra-rich in the two most likely to be short in ordinary meals—vitamins B₁ and D. And PEP's a jim-dandy tastin' cereal, too. Why not try it tomorrow?
Kellogg's Pep
A delicious cereal that supplies per serving (1 oz.): the full minimum daily need of vitamin D; 1/4 the daily need of vitamin B₁.

When Your Back Hurts -
And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par
It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

U. S. Leaders at Saboteur Trial

Attorney General Francis Biddle, J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, and Colonel Ristine are shown seated around a table in the courtroom in Washington as they listened to the proceedings of the famous saboteur trial. This is the trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs who were landed in this country by submarine for the express purpose of wrecking America's war machines. Caught by the FBI before they could fulfill their mission, they faced trial as spies. Speaking over the radio, Hoover declared that those who gave these eight Nazis aid were traitors to their country.

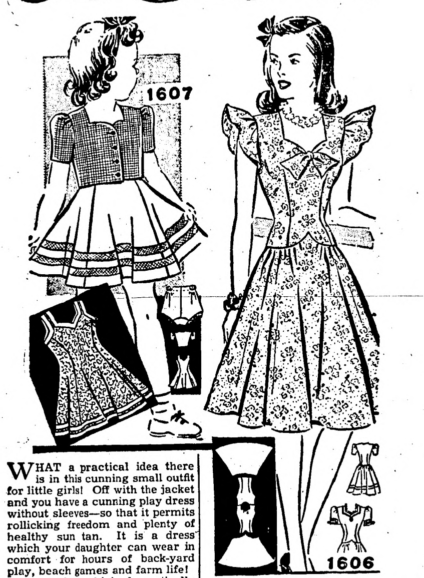
PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE



WHAT a practical idea there is in this cunning small outfit for little girls! Off with the jacket and you have a cunning play dress without sleeves—so that it permits rollicking freedom and plenty of healthy sun tan. It is a dress which your daughter can wear in comfort for hours of back-yard play, beach games and farm life!

The jacket which dramatically transforms the princess frock into a smart street outfit is just waist length, has tiny short sleeves and a simple square neck. You'll like the effect if you apply to the skirt two bands of the material you use in the jacket. Band the panties, too, to complete the cheerful ensemble. Pattern No. 1607-B gives you complete instructions for making each of the three pieces.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1607-B is designed for sizes 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years. Size 3 years dress requires 1⅝ yards of 35- or 39-inch material, bolero plus bands for dress and panties, ¾ yard and panties, ¾ yard.

New Dirndl.

A SLICK new long torso frock with a swish skirt—and just shoulder ruffles for sleeves—is ideal for summer wear. You can have sleeves, if you want them, and a bright row of braid to bring attention to the flattering low-cut neckline—as you can see in our smaller view. Just the frock junior girls from coast to coast are asking for this season!

Johnsons Have Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Ole B. Johnson, pioneers of this community, were honored on Sunday when about 300 people gathered at their home to celebrate their Golden Wedding. Flowers were presented to the couple from the Lutheran Ladies Aid, of which Mrs. Johnson has been a faithful worker for many years. A program was given. "Down by the Old Mill Stream" and "Take Up Thy Cross and Follow Me" was sung by Verna, Marles and Joyce Peterson grandaughters of the honored couple. Mrs. Alfred Anderson read a nice Norse reading Marvin Sandberg sang a hymn and Merle Rafteseth sang "Living For Jesus". Rev. Hanson then gave a talk in which he pointed out the blessings of a long married life so closely connected with church life.

A large sum of money was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

The honored guests and near relatives were seated at a table, which held a three tiered wedding cake. There were also many lovely bouquets of flowers. Irene Ness and Verna and Marles Peterson, granddaughters, were table waiters. O. T. Ness treated the large crowd to ice cream. A delicious lunch was served to all who were present.

Send us the news.

Wake Up Folks - Wake Up

Upon coming down to work Tuesday morning, I could not make up my mind whether Hitler had bombed the village of Holt or if I had just woke up from a five year sleep and had missed a good second World War Armistice Celebration.

From the looks of our public streets and the Trunk highway, it seemed to me that certain parties do not have much respect for the conservation of our rubber and perhaps funds that could very well be used towards the purchase of War Savings stamps and War Savings bonds. So, together with the help of some of our other citizens, a broom, a shovel and a pail we were able to clean up the broken beer and whiskey bottles on our public streets and highway, so that those who still have good tires will still have good tires for a few months to come.

We had a party for the boys being called to Service. Well and good. There is nothing too good for the boys who are being called to service, but I wonder if parties of this sort are held for the boys or for the purpose of the bootlegger or those who are lucky enough to stay at home.

Perhaps most of us don't think so but this thing is serious. This Country is at WAR and our government is asking us to get down to business, and if we expect to win this war, we must get down to business.

With Hitler pounding on the gates of the Caucuses, the Japs having a foothold in the Aleution isles and the U-boat menace increasing every day, I believe that it is time that we all wake up to the big job we have to do. Instead of spending our funds for "booze" why not buy more Savings Stamps and Bonds so that those who have already left and those who still must go to the Army, may have the proper equipment to fight with, and also have the the required number of ships to furnish the vast quantity of supplies that we must send to all corners of this earth.

There are more of our boys who will be called to service. There should be and will be more parties for them, but let's make these parties for the boys, their parents, their wives and their sweethearts. Let's not forget that the parents, wives and sweethearts do not all approve of parties based on "booze" women and song. Let's not forget that those they leave behind have heavy hearts and will have plenty of worry before this war is over. Let's give them some consideration. Let's have these parties for them and not for the bootlegger and those who come from all over for the purpose of raising cain. If we must have parties for those of us who stay at home, let's wait until we can celebrate the second Armistice Day at which time we will have a reason for rejoicing to show these boys who fought for us, that we appreciate what they done for us, or to the relatives and friends of those who gave their all, that their boys did not die in vain.

Expenditure Cuts Urged

There has never been a time when economy in local government was so necessary as at present, Donald Robertson, Argyle, of the Marshall County Taxpayers Association declared in a statement issued this week.

"Constantly mounting Federal costs must have priorty of tax money and is the first consideration of the citizen. All local expenditures must be subordinated to the major effort of winning the war; therefore, county and local tax levies which will soon be made by the county commissioners and the villages of Marshall county, should be pared accordingly. All unnecessary local spending should be dispensed with for the duration in order not to compete with the Federal government," Mr. Robertson stated.

Marshall county units must meet the challenge by conserving use of men, money, and materials at this time when all are needed in the national emergency. Let us do our part," he urged.

Mr. Robertson pointed out that Marshall county has reduced its levies from 1940 to 1941, and stressed the need for careful pruning this year.

The Marshall County Taxpayers Association has worked to hold taxes down, and we feel that in this task we should have the co-operation of all taxpayers in the county, Mr. Robertson stated.

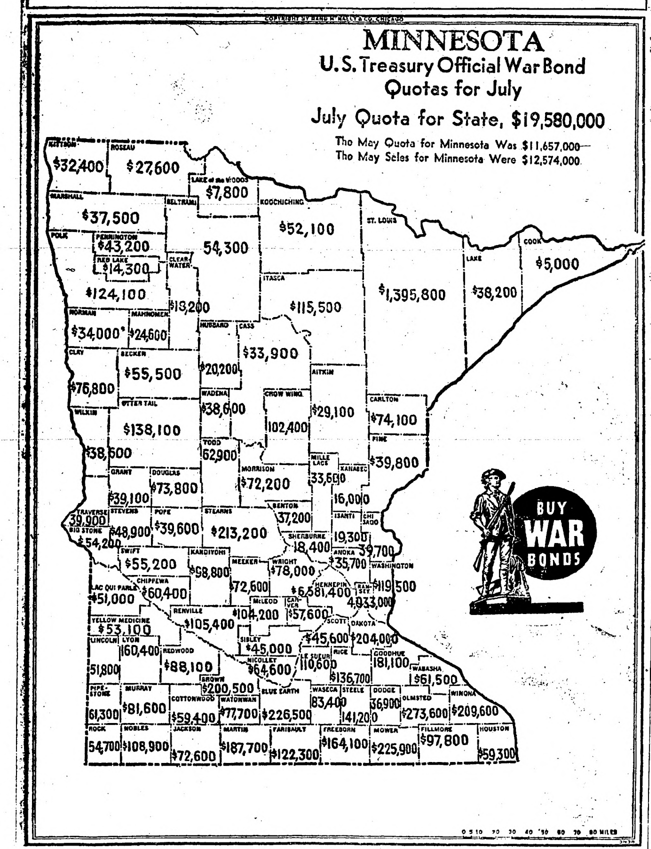
OFFICIAL U. S. TREASURY WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR JULY



The above map of Minnesota shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of July, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the state is $19,580,000. With the National quota total placed at a billion dollars, the nation goes into high gear in its support of the War financing and to give our fighting forces adequate implements of war which will bring ultimate Victory. American Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen are on every front. They are giving 100 percent for their country. What are we doing here on the home front? Are we lending at least ten percent of income to help them? It's very little. But to fight this war successfully our country needs a billion dollars in War Bonds every month from us—the People. Let's Go, America.

Give Up "Makeshift" Constipation Remedies!

Why fool with constipation? Why try to combat the trouble after it has already made you miserable?

It may well be that your constipation is caused by too little "bulk food" in your diet, for medical science warns that lack of "bulk" is one of the commonest causes of constipation.

If yours is this kind of constipation, those purges and cathartics can give you, at best, only temporary relief. Eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, on the other hand, corrects the cause by supplying the "bulk food" you lack and must have! Enjoy this crisp, crunchy cereal daily, drink plenty of water, and like so many others, you'll "Join the Regulars"! ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, see a doctor.

Chinese Register New Coastal Gains As Japs Are Diverted Toward Russia; U. S. Air Power Aids British in Egypt; Huge Nazi Losses Mark Soviet Fighting

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

CHINA:
Fighting Back

The Japs learned something more of the Chinese ability to fight back as the defenders of the Hangchow-Nanchang railway front wiped out three weeks of the enemy's gains in a concentrated drive that netted them a 25-mile wedge into Jap lines plus two important towns.

In this fighting in eastern Kiangsi province the Jap was virtually cleared out of the southeast Chekiang coastal area and the Chinese recaptured the two vital ports of Julian and Wenchow.

Taking the Japs by surprise, the Chinese captured several villages along the railway before smashing through to the coast. Continual thinning out of Jap garrisons in the newly occupied regions of Kiangsi and Chekiang provinces helped the Chinese in their victories, according to military experts on the scene.

This thinning out was viewed as being most important for some sources indicated strongly that troops leaving the area were headed for Inner Mongolia. And this was interpreted as meaning that preparation for the long expected Jap invasion of Russia was actually making headway.

But the Chinese were intent on keeping their minds on the task at hand—regaining the entire 403-mile Kangchow-Nanchang railway—and refused to be diverted entirely by the movement to Inner Mongolia. The official communiques from Chungking said that attacks all along the line were in full swing and hinted that the Jap positions were far from secure.

EGYPT:
Air Warfare

This is Maj. A. F. Kalberger of North Hollywood, Calif., who led the attack of the U. S. army's four-motored bombers on the Italian fleet in the central and eastern Mediterranean sea recently. It was the first participation by U. S. air forces in that theater of war.

In Egypt Nazi Marshal Rommel's drive for Alexandria and Suez had been slowed down for over two weeks and the British were busily at work keeping his hard-hitting forces off balance.

Then the word began to sift through to the outside world that the U. S. army air forces were also in there pitching—and bombing. For it was announced from Cairo that Maj. Gen. Lewis Brereton had assumed command over these U. S. forces in the Middle East and for some time been directing a series of terrific bombing raids on the chief Axis supply ports of Tobruk and Bengasi.

In driving through to establish himself some 65 miles to the west of Alexandria, Rommel had dangerously extended his supply and communication lines. It was the job of the United Nations to harass such supply and communication activities with all possible fervor. Not only were American planes blasting the Axis forces, but the British had called into action many of their navy planes to fight against the land based enemy.

Meanwhile on the ground British Imperial and Axis land forces battled back and forth for new footholds on the barren wastes near El Alamein. Tanks and truck-borne infantry tangled day in and day out in the non-ending fury of desert warfare that is Egypt in mid-summer, 1942.

General Brereton had been in command of American air forces in India and came to the western desert area with large numbers of big four-motored high-altitude bombers. He described these as being more than suitable for action on the Egyptian front because of the cloudless skies. An announcement from his headquarters indicated that the U. S. bombing units were depending on RAF facilities and ground crews to keep their ships flying. He spoke of splendid "RAF co-operation" and said that "we also depend on the RAF for intelligence . . ."

RUSSIAN FRONT:
Bloodiest Battles

When Russian troops evacuated Voroshilovgrad, largest city in the Don basin, it was plain that the German drive southeastward along the Donetz river was threatening to join Nazi troops striking near Millerovo along the railway leading to Rostov, 100 miles to the south.

A Soviet communique said that, aside from the loss of Voroshilovgrad, the Russian army still was inflicting heavy blows on the Germans in two other areas. At Voronezh, from where the Nazis were thrusting eastward toward the Volga river, the Russians killed 1,000 more Germans and blasted a path into another town which the Germans had captured in their initial break-through. The main Nazi drive south of Millerovo also was slowed up.

The Russians now are defending an east-west line situated north of the Pervozvanovka-Likhaya-Stalingrad railway, which is approximately 75 miles north of Rostov.

A Russian dispatch stated that American and British built tanks as well as planes were bolstering the Red lines in the imperiled south. A second war bulletin said that the Nazis lost 211 planes in the previous week's fighting. Russian losses were placed at 136 planes.

Reports indicate that the battles in the lower Don basin are as bloody as the world has ever known. The extreme southern section was the scene of the most furious fighting, placing Rostov in grave danger.

ALEUTIAN:
Blind Man's Buff

For more than a thousand miles through the fog-shrouded waters of the Aleutian islands, a mammoth game of blind man's buff is being played between American air and naval forces and the Japanese invaders who may be preparing a major push against continental North America.

Bad as well as good news concerning the fortunes of this grim game was contained in reports from the Aleutian sector. On the debit side was the navy's announcement that at the same time they landed at Attu and Kiska, the Japs also occupied a third island—Aggatu, 750 miles west and slightly north of the United States base at Dutch Harbor, on Unalaska.

On the credit side was a communique revealing that the landings on the three small islands had cost the Japanese 13 ships sunk or damaged. This total included one heavy cruiser, three destroyers and a troop-laden transport sunk and an aircraft carrier, four cruisers and three destroyers damaged.

The communique disclosed that the Dutch Harbor base was attacked twice on June 3 and 4, instead of once, and that in the second raid an old United States station ship, the Northwestern, which had been beached and converted to use as a barracks, had been destroyed.

High Honors

DENVER. — Dr. Margaret Hie Ding Lin, born in Foochow, China, distinguished as the eighth woman in the history of that country to have a medical degree, and now practicing in Chicago, has now been elected the degree of a Fellow of the International College of Surgeons. She is the only woman to ever have received this coveted honor.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER:

The synthetic rubber situation was at least partially clarified when Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones reported that private industry is producing rubber at the rate of 25,000 tons a year, and that two government plants, with an annual capacity of 30,000 tons, are in production.

Jones indicated that the country will have a production capacity of approximately 100,000 tons by the end of 1942, a capacity of 300,000 tons by August, 1943, and the entire 800,000 tons by the end of 1943.

Aids War Effort

LONDON. — British parliament members now have the opportunity to make munitions in their spare time and so far five members make up the vanguard of these volunteers who are given instructions at a London center. Here Miss Thelma Cazalet, MP, works at her machine learning a new art for beating the Axis.

SELECTIVE SERVICE:
Line-Up

Local draft boards were authorized to consider registrants for selection on the basis of a new memorandum released by national headquarters of selective service.

Following is the order in which such registrants will now be called under the new plan: (1) single men with no dependents; (2) single men who do not contribute to the war effort but who have dependents; (3) single men with dependents and who contribute to the war effort; (4) married men who are not engaged in the war effort but who maintain a bona fide family relationship with a wife only; (5) married men who are engaged in the war effort and who maintain a bona fide relationship with a wife only; (6) married men who are not engaged in the war effort and who maintain a bona fide relationship with wife and children or with children only; (7) married men who are engaged in the war effort and who maintain a bona fide family relationship with wife and children or children only.

"In all cases the dependency status must have been acquired prior to December 8, 1941, and at a time when induction was not imminent," the announcement said.

ALIENS:
More Arrests

As the Washington military commission trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs drew to its close the FBI arrested 14 persons in New York and Chicago charging them with acting as contacts and assisting the eight on trial.

Formal charges had been filed against six Chicago persons alleged to have aided the saboteur Herbert Haupt. Four others will also be charged with unlawfully and knowingly assisting the Nazis; three with being dangerous alien enemies; and one is being held in custody pending further investigation.

During the saboteur trial it was revealed that they had been surprised by John C. Cullen, 21-year-old coast guardsman, when they landed from a submarine on the coast of Long Island in June. Cullen was on a six-mile coastal patrol at the time. When he discovered them they threatened him and he pretended to accept a bribe but rushed immediatey to his headquarters to spread the alarm.

MAC ARTHUR ON WAR:
'Off the Record'

In an "extremely frank" two-hour off-the-record talk to more than 100 newspaper editors and correspondents, Gen. Douglas MacArthur outlined his views of the entire World war picture and the southwest Pacific area in particular.

The conference was MacArthur's second since his arrival in Australia. The first was held March 23.

MacArthur answered all questions with surprising freeness after being assured that everything he might say was strictly off the record. As usual, MacArthur used sports terminology in illustrating his points, making reference to prize fighting and baseball in his explanations. He also made frequent references to his experiences in World War I, when he was chief of staff of the 42nd division in France.

BRIEFS:

OFFICIAL — Although congress had several weeks earlier passed joint resolutions of war against Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, President Roosevelt has now formally proclaimed a state of war with these Balkan countries.

DISOBEYS—Although he had received orders to change his course, British submarine commander Anthony Miers, continued to trail an Axis convoy into a heavily guarded harbor. Without damage to his sub or its crew he torpedoed two ships, ran a gantlet of enemy planes and warships and later for his act of "disobedience" he was awarded the Victoria Cross.

RATIONS—A London news report says that fish is now being rationed in Norway and that the food situation in that country is growing "progressively acute."

One Buck out of Every Ten you earn should be going into U.S. War Bonds-Stamps!

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Hitler found out that his high powered mechanized and motorized army bogged down in the snow and mud of the Russian Winter. Although our Army is largely mechanized the cavalry horse is still a highly essential factor in this mounted division and in the Field Artillery. The Army also maintains remount farms where many cavalry horses are bred and raised.

These select horses cost from $100 to $165 and our crack cavalrymen are expert riders and carry on the traditions which have followed the cavalry from the earliest days of the Army. Purchase of War Savings Bonds will insure good mounts for the Cavalry. You and your neighbors buying War Bonds and Stamps regularly every pay day can help buy these horses for the U. S. Cavalry. Invest at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds.

Heat Sickness

The Minnesota Public Health Association gives some terse and accurate advise on what to do in case of heat sickness in this week's bulletin. It advises that the first thing to do for the person overcome by the heat is to call the doctor.

Heat Stroke — Symptoms - headache, dizziness, nausea. The victim may appear flushed or may have a bluish color about the face and lips. He may be unconcious. The body temperature is elevated. The skin is hot and dry.

Treatment — While waiting for the doctor to arrive place the patient in a cool place. Apply cold applications immediately to the head, using ice, or cloths wrung out of ice water. Using water directly from the tap, bathe the feet and back, as you would in giving a sponge bath. Cloths wrung out of cold water applied to the chest and back are effective. If the patient reacts favorably to the cold appltcations cold water may be poured over the body. If the patient is outside, use of the hose in making cold water applications is advised

Heat Exhaustion — This is a form of shock resulting from exposure to heat. It occurs more frequently when the humidity is high. It is a serious condition requiring prompt first aid treatment.

Symptoms: The face is pale, cold clammy sweat, weak and rapid pulse, slow respiration.

Do not confuse this condition with heat or sun stroke; the treatment is exactly opposite.

Treatment: 1. Lay the patient flat, with head low and feet raised.

2. Put blankets and wraps under and over victim.

3. Keep warm with hot water bottles.

4. Do not give alcoholic drinks.

5. Give warm and sweetened drinks, if the patient is conscious.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my many friends and relatives for the party and cash purse given me Monday evening.

Our fighting men are doing their share. Here at home the least we can do is put 10% of our income in War Bonds for our share in America.

Johnsons Express Their Thanks

We wish to take this means of expressing our heartfelt thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for the fine Golden Wedding given in our honor on Sunday. Especially do we thank Rev. Hanson, the Ladies Aid and the others who brought flowers, those on the program and Circle three for their help, and to all for the cash purse. Again we say thanks, and may God Bless you all.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole B. Johnson.

Rev. Hansons Have Vacation

Rev. and Mrs. Hanson and children left on Monday morning on a vacation trip. Mrs. Hanson and children will spend most of their time at Camp Nidaros on Ottertail Lake, near Battle Lake. Rev. Hanson left from there on Wednesday for Milan where he will spend most of his time with his parents. Mrs. O. J. Backlund accompanied them as far as Kensington where she will visit her mother who is ill.

Changes in Tax Value

General increases ranging from 5 to 70 per cent in valuations of unplatted real estate in 33 Marshall county townships and villages were ordered made by the county board of equalization during their session in July a review of the special proceedings reveals.

While increases were ordered in the real estate valuations in 33 townships, two township assessment figures were reduced from their local boards of review returns, the proceedings show. Reductions of 10 per cent were made in Agdar and 20 per cent in Viking township.

Unplatted real estate was increased by percentage as follows in the following townships:

Holt 45; Newfolden 60; Excel 15; East Valley 15; Cedar 10 and New Solum 45.

Numerous changes were also made in the personal property valuations in practically every township and municipality in livestock valuations. Increases were made ranging from five to 250 per cent while decreases were ordered from 5 to 40 per cent in certain instances in the various townships.

Clerks in the county auditor's office are busy at work figuring the changes which are being inserted in the assessment books and abstract which will be submitted to the state board of review for final consideration before the tax levy is figured for the individuals.

Harvest is now in full swing on many good farms in this community.

83rd Minnesota Fair

Uncle Sam's fighting sailors will officially open the 83rd Minnesota State Fair, Saturday, August 29. The day has been designated Navy Day and the blue jackets will present a stirring spectacle in front of the grandstand Saturday afternoon, augmenting the Fair's regular entertainment thrills.

This sparkling program will inaugurate the Fair's 10-day Exposition which is dedicated to aid every wartime effort and is built around a "Food for Victory" theme. The Fair will close Labor Day, September 7.

Navy officers are planning a celebration that will show the sailors who man the ships and airplanes at work and play. Martial music, dress parade, firing of a giant anti-aircraft gun, floats and other activities similating the Navy in action will highlight the afternoon program.

A Naval exhibit on the ground floor of the grandstand will prove a magnet for visitors during the entire 10 days. On display, with Navy personel on hand to explain the exhibits, will be a lethal torpedo, most deadly of weapons, with shell cut-away to show the working of the delicate mechanicism. A mine of the type used to protect our harbors and sea lanes, a gyro compass, a magnetic compass, a range keeper which "puts the finger" on a fleeing ship, projectiles for guns of various sizes and scientific instruments that guide our warships at sea will make up Naval display. The Army, Marine Corps, Red Cross, Civilian Defense asd other organizations will have exhibits stressing war activities.

The Fair's "Food for Victory" program has stimulated farm production with the result that the greatest entry list in history is assured. All of the livestock divisions will stage records shows while the agricultural, horticultural, boys and girls and womans departments will emphasize the war effort.

Admission to the 1942 Exposition will be 35 cents including the Federal tax.

Mr. Mayer-Oakes of Thief River Falls was a Holt caller here Monday.

Kill The Cabbage Worm

That velvet-green cabbage worm is hard at work in cabbage cauliflower and broccoli. Derris dust is the best attack, but it may be hard to get. Arsenical dust is satisfactory for cabbage, since the plant grows out from the center, lessening the danger from eating it after such treatment. For cauliflower and broccoli, with their bud clusters, use pyrocide dust.

Years ago we heard a lot about "Go West Young man". Now men both young and old as well as women and children are going west.

The crowd that attended the Pennington County Fair at Thief River Falls this year was smaller than any we have ever seen go there. This was probably due to the fact that the fair was not advertised here and people did not think Thief River Falls was having any fair this year.

Use V-Mail for Writing

Use V-mail when writing to our armed forces in the British Isles, Egypt, the Middle and Far East, Hawaii, Australia and other points in the Pacific.

V-mail letters in their original form, or on micro-film, occupy considerably less space than correspondence of the usual type and Army planes carrying mail outside the United States give V-mail preferences over all other classes.

The space saved by using V-mail makes more space available for shipping war materials.

V-mail letter sheets may be obtained at the local post office.

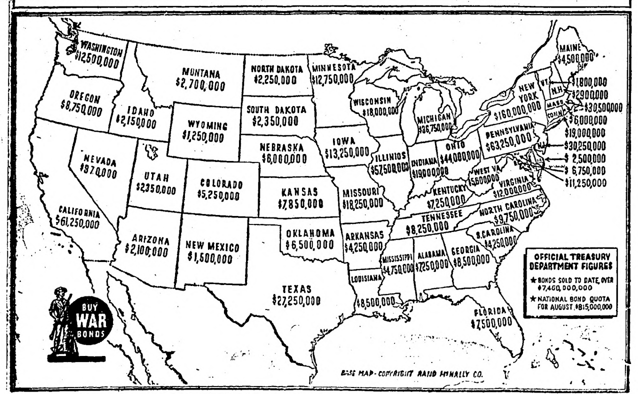
Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for August



Washington, D. C., August 5.—While maintaining a tentative annual level of twelve billion dollars as its goal, the Treasury Department today fixed the August quota for the sale of War Bonds at $815,000,000 as shown by the accompanying map by states.

In lowering the quota from a billion dollars in July to $815,000,000 in August, the Treasury has given recognition to certain factors which may be expected to result in variations in sales over the 12-month period, such as the seasonal character of farm income.

These factors have been taken into account in determining each state's share for the national quota for August and will be given consideration in fixing quotas for subsequent months.

In addition to the state quotas as set out in the map there is a federal payroll allotment quota of $9,750,000 and territorial quotas as follows: Alaska, $760,000; Canal Zone, $213,000; Hawaii, $1,800,000; Puerto Rico, $440,000 and the Virgin Islands, $17,000.

ON THE HOME FRONT with RUTH WYETH SPEARS

IF IT ever seemed to you that the walls and ceiling of an attic room were coming down on your head you know how the owner of this room felt before she began to experiment a bit with wallpaper and furnishings.

Large samples of wallpaper were thumbtacked in place to test them. Stripes only accented the slant of the walls. Plain papers brought out angles with sharp shadows. Large designs made the room seem smaller. Wide borders made the ceiling appear to be even lower. But when a paper with tiny evenly spaced pattern and narrow border was tried all these defects seemed to melt away. The long curtains with ruffles on three sides also helped to make the ceiling seem higher. Pink and white striped material to repeat the wallpaper color was used for the chair cover and dressing table skirt. The chair is a remodeled rocker and the orange crate dressing table has hinged arms. Directions for them may be found on pages 4 and 19 of SEWING, Book 5.

That Nagging Backache
May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

German Spearheads Across Don River Are Established After Heavy Losses; Nazis 'Dig In' Along Egyptian Front; Gandhi to Japs: 'You're Not Welcome'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

In answer to a call from President Roosevelt, representatives of labor and capital meet in Washington to discuss anti-inflation measures. Front row, left to right: W. Witherow, president, National Association of Manufacturers; Philip Murray, president of the CIO; Erik Johnson, president of the chamber of commerce; William Green, president of the AFL; and George Heany of the AFL. Back row, left to right: Walter Weisenburger, National Association of Manufacturers; James B. Carey of the CIO; and Joyce O'Hara of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

RUSSIA:
Desperate Battles

Bridging the lower Don river, Nazi troops continued to press on in their steady drive into the Caucasus. Russian infantrymen, battling desperately from the southern bank of the Don, 120 miles east of Rostov, threw tons of explosives at the Nazis, but two German spearheads were established.

A Soviet bulletin announced that nine pontoon bridges were smashed, throwing Nazi troops and equipment into the Don. But new reserves were ready to take the place of the drowned men, whose bodies were left to float down the river.

Despite German successes at Rostov, Soviet troops made the Nazis pay dearly for their gains. In part, a Russian communique announced that "One small group of Soviet infantry alone in one day with antitank guns, machine guns and incendiary bottles destroyed nine German tanks and killed hundreds of Hitlerites."

The communique said that the Red army still was fighting stubbornly at Novocherkassk and at Tsimlyansk.

Soviet airmen were credited with destroying 299 German planes during the week. Russian losses for the same period were placed at 137.

In one sector of the front Russian soldiers were said to have wiped out more than four Nazi regiments in three weeks' fighting, capturing large military stores, including 400 machine guns, 560 automatic rifles, 46 mortars and 20,000 shells. In addition, they destroyed 328 tanks.

EGYPT'S WAR:
Nazis Dig In

A lull in the desert war saw German troops digging in on the front 75 miles west of Alexandria, from El Alamein to the Quattara depression.

A communique from Cairo announced that heavy British and United States bombers continued to sweep across the Mediterranean to attack Crete and that another force struck at Tobruk again.

Light bombers continued to hammer Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's sea and air bases, troop and vehicle concentrations. Additional information said that fires and explosions occurred when the big bombers struck at airdromes in Canada and Tympakion in Crete.

BOMBS:
On Wide Fronts

On several widespread battlefronts the thud of United Nations' bombs and shells jarred the Axis into realizing that all offensives in this war were not necessarily theirs.

Six times in ten days warships of the British navy bombarded Matruh, the enemy's most advanced sea base in Egypt. British reports said that the Axis held city had been knocked "flatter than a pancake" as a result of the some 2,000 shells blasted into the vital harbor facilities. Use of the harbor by the Axis was believed to be out of the question for practically every shore building had been blown into debris.

Meanwhile from Cairo came word that the Germans and Italians based at El Daba, west of El Alamein, had been heavily bombed from the air and U. S. planes were reported to have caused immense damage to the Axis ports of Bengasi and Tobruk, still further to the west.

Allied ground forces were kept busy consolidating their positions as a dispatch out of London said that while the Axis appeared to be on the defensive in Africa, the safe arrival of a single enemy convoy might swing the balance the other way.

OPEN LETTER:
To the Japs

"Tokyo papers please copy" . . . It didn't actually read that way but the idea was the same, for the open letter by Mohandas K. Gandhi which appeared in his magazine, Harijan, was aimed directly at the Japanese. And if Tokyo bothered to read it, this is what they learned:

"Make no mistake about the fact that you (meaning Japan) will be sadly disillusioned if you believe you will receive a willing welcome from India."

Further, the Japs were told that they had "been gravely misinformed that we have chosen this particular moment to embarrass the Allies when your attack is imminent. If we wanted to turn Britain's difficulty into our opportunity, we should have done it as soon as the war broke out."

Also for the benefit of the Japanese, the Indian leader outlined the aims of his All-India Congress party with respect to their objective of independence, as preparation "to resist all militarist and imperialist ambition, whether it be British imperialism, German Naziism, or your pattern."

CASUALTIES:
In U. S. Forces

From the Office of War Information came the latest check-up of total casualties in the U. S. armed forces to date.

This report showed these casualties to be 44,143, including killed, wounded, and missing of the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard and Philippine Scouts, exclusive of 1,022 known navy prisoners of and casualties of the Philippine Commonwealth army.

Here is the breakdown by the various branches of the service:

(1) U. S. army—killed, 902; wounded, 1,413; missing, 17,452.

(2) Philippine Scouts—killed, 479; wounded, 754; missing, 11,000.

(3) U. S. navy—killed, 3,420; wounded, 11,501; missing, 7,672.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER:
Congress Takes a Hand

In a congressional effort to solve the synthetic rubber production tangle, members of the house and senate passed the Gillette bill creating the Rubber Supply agency, which would control that portion of the program dealing with agricultural or forest products.

Rubber production from petroleum would remain under direction of the War Production board. Under provisions of the bill all authority over synthetic rubber plants using agricultural commodities as raw material would be taken away from Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman.

In its final form, the bill requires WPB, the army, navy or any other agency to deliver critical materials for use in constructing or operating alcohol rubber plants upon certification from the director of the Rubber Supply agency, and grants the agency blanket priority "over all deliveries of similar articles or materials for private account."

WAGES:
Show Increase

Figures released by Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, disclosed that the average hourly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries rose 1.5 per cent from April to May, and the May average of 83.1 cents per hour was 14.5 per cent higher than a year ago. The increase was held due to overtime, expansion of working forces in high wage scale industries and to wage-rate increases.

On New York Front

Senator James M. Mead, President Roosevelt's choice in the New York gubernatorial race, as he addressed an outdoor second-front rally in New York city. Mead opposes Attorney General John J. Bennett, who is backed by James A. Farley.

NEXT JAP MOVE:
'Fool's Paradise'

". . . I say we are living in a fool's paradise. It is only absolute fear that will awaken the people to a realization of what they must face in the immediate future."

With those words Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario emphasized the peril which faces the United Nations—particularly Great Britain and the United States.

Hepburn predicted that Japan's next major move would be an attack on Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian islands. From Dutch Harbor long range bombers could attack the United States production centers on the West coast and a considerable distance inland.

"Untold difficulties" may be in store for Britain because of the desperate situation of the Russian army, the premier said. Nazi subjugation of the entire Mediterranean area "will mean Germany will occupy the whole of France and take the French fleet."

SHIPPING:
Highest Level

One week last month merchant ship sinkings rose to the highest level since the beginning of the war and also "greatly exceeded new construction."

This brought from the War Shipping administration a limit on shipping space to "cargo essential to the prosecution of the war." This action was expected to increase substantially the cargo space for the United Nations' military requirements.

WSA also reported "the several different fleets of the United Nations are combining their operations as complements to each other for war purposes" with the Combined Shipping Adjustment board directing shipping in the various pools.

A definite shortage of trained seamen is reported because of the "tremendous wartime expansion of our merchant shipping."

PRODUCTION:
Greater Increases

While the Joint War Production Committee of the U. S. and Canada was reporting that the annual rate of munitions production in the U. S. for the second quarter of 1942 was nearly four times that of 1941, it was also announced that Canadian production was almost three times the 1941 rate, and even greater increases are scheduled.

A report covering the first half year of the board's activity in coordinating joint production outlined steps taken to increase war output by eliminating duplications, increasing the number of common type weapons, arranging more rapid exchange of supplies, breaking transportation bottlenecks, eliminating tariff and other barriers and promoting full exchange of information on production methods and designs.

Technical subcommittees maintain constant contacts with those in charge of production in each country.

BRIEFS:

REPAIRS: Whether flown by the Royal Air force or by their own crews, American planes in England will be maintained and repaired by the United States air force from now on. The move is designed to increase efficiency and speed.

INCREASE: The Australian government has decided to increase the pay of service men in the new budget. The increase is expected to consist of additional allowance for dependents.

CONFISCATED: The government has confiscated 29 Italian and German ships, including a German vessel caught in the Caribbean last year masquerading as an American ship. Included also are those ships damaged by their crews while in American ports in March, 1941, as part of a general sabotage plan.

WEDDING: Dark-haired Diana Barrymore, actress-daughter of the late John Barrymore, and Bramwell Fletcher, stage star, have applied for a marriage license and announced they would be married within a few weeks.

Death In the Desert
By Quentin Reynolds

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Collier's Weekly.)

We huddled in our very shallow trenches. We knew that we were in for a taste of the most horrible attack that modern warfare has as yet devised—dive bombing. It was just 5 a. m.

I had come to this plateau in the desert with a colonel, and he had parked our car six feet from the small trench we had found in the center of the plateau. I looked at our car and saw that it had jagged holes in it, and then I heard the planes returning, and it was time to fall face downward in the loose sand at the bottom of the trench.

All five of them dove at once. The bombs dropped all around, and time stood still, and nothing was real except the horrible cacophony of warfare at its worst.

Soon we were beyond wincing when blasts swept around us and bullets and hunks of steel tore into the sides of our trench six inches above us.

Only the noise and death which we by now expected any moment were real, and of the two death was the more welcome, even though death had sent his most hideous messenger, the dive bomber, to summon us.

There were occasional three or four minute intervals, when the Huns became bored with their sport. Then we breathed again and talked, although we talked disjointedly.

Memories of Home.

I felt a strange nostalgia and a strange indifference to what the dive bombers would do next. I knew quite well that there was little chance of any of us surviving the next half-hour, because we were fish in a barrel. But it bothered me that I would have to die with this regiment of British infantry.

They were magnificent, and I admired them terrifically, but they were British. I have never made any secret of my love for them and my admiration for the way the British have fought and suffered in this war, but if you are born in the Bronx and brought up in Brooklyn and have worked in New York most of your life, you have but one loyalty, one allegiance.

I felt annoyed that I was not to die with my own mob, with men from Fifty-second street and from Flatbush and from Harlem, with men I'd grown up with, with men I'd worked on papers with in New York, with taxicab drivers and lawyers and bartenders and priests who have been my friends.

More of the Same.

"Dig in, chum," the colonel yelled, and then I realized that for three minutes my thoughts had been 6,000 miles away. They were jerked back quickly enough.

Stark, real terror is an anesthetic. I have been frightened in France and Britain a hundred times and that was bad. This was something different. The feeling we had here transcended ordinary fear.

Then all conscious thought was banished by the hellish noise that came to us from above as the planes dove, releasing more bombs. They kept this up for 45 minutes that was an eternity. Then in the east a turquoise strip appeared on the horizon, merciful heralder of the dawn.

One more attack remained before the dawn banished these malignant creatures of the night. This was perhaps the worst. When a plane dive-bombs it cannot drop the very heavy bombs because it would itself be caught in the upward blast.

And then came the screams of the big bombs they had been saving for last. These were the bombs I'd heard in London a hundred times, and in Moscow, too. They sounded as though some celestial giant were tearing a piece of heavy silk, they sounded like the screaming of a thousand shrill-voiced tortured demons—and then they landed.

Again the world rocked around us and the blast swept through the trench and we embraced the earth automatically because by now our consciousness had been entirely dulled by the noise and the terror of it all. The world rocked and then suddenly the dawn came to blast the darkness from the desert.

I lay there for a while, too dazed and exhausted to know or care whether I had been hit. Then, unsteadily, I climbed out of the trench and fell twice before I could stand. Others around me were doing the same thing.

The smell of destruction hung heavily in the air; it is a burnt odor that always follows bombing. I found that one of my hands was bleeding, and then noticed blood soaking through my uniform at the knee. They were small cuts from bomb fragments and they seemed very unimportant.

We Come Through Alive!

Everything seemed unimportant compared to the unaccountable miracle of our being alive. We had no right to be alive. The ground, pockmarked with ugly, gaping holes, the bomb splinters that could have been raked up like autumn leaves, had told us that.

Now ambulance drivers appeared in the half-light asking anxiously "Anybody hit?" They went from trench to trench. In his official report of the dive bombing an hour later the general merely wrote, "The casualties were few."

Telling time in the Navy is on the 24-hour system. Morning hours are from one to twelve, but afternoon hours are from 1300 to 2400 (midnight). So if you ask a sailor the time and he says "seventeen," subtract 12 and you get five o'clock in the afternoon. It's simpler if you ask him what cigarette he smokes. Chances are he'll say: "Camel," for Camel is the favorite cigarette among Navy men as well as among men in the Army, Marines, Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) Local dealers are featuring Camel cartons as gifts for men in the service from the folks back home.—Adv.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

- In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.
- It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.
- When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

Buried Hangars

The type "C" hangars of the RAF in England even defy detection by strangers walking around them, says Collier's. They are vast storage rooms about 50 feet underground, connected by an elevator to a roomless farmhouse on the surface.

As the building has no runways for the planes, the incoming ships are towed from the nearest airport into an attached shed, while the outgoing ones are catapulted from another on the opposite side of the house.

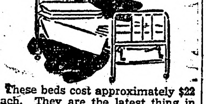
What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.



These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Bonds every pay day. Invest ten percent of your income. U. S. Treasury Department

Solving The Rubber Problem

"The tightest, grimmest war shortage facing the U. S. is rubber," says Time. "It need not have been. For five months after Pearl Harbor the U. S. Government did practically nothing to get a synthetic rubber industry to fill the gap caused by Japan's conquests. That failure is the worst scandal in the U. S. war effort."

There has been an enormous waste of time in coming to grips with the rubber problem. There has been endless confusion, and excessive division of responsibility. At last, however, it looks as if something definite and constructive is about to be done.

On July 17, Donald Nelson announced that he had assumed personal direction of the government's rubber program. On the same day, the 4th Corps Area Quartermaster Headquarters said that tires made of buna, a petroleum derivative, will be use as replacements on all army vehicles throughout the nation. And on July 15, President W. S. Farish of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, gave a House subcommittee some exceedingly interesting information on the progress that is being made.

New and faster processes, said Mr. Farish, will produce, before the end of 1943, 34,000,000 more automobile tires than were expected. Further, synthetic rubber will be better on the whole than natural rubber, and its cost will not be materially greater.

This does not mean that any motorist can afford to "burn up" his rubber, on the theory that replacements will soon be available. Military needs will absorb most and perhaps all the synthetic rubber produced for a long time to come. Rigid conservation of rubber, as a result, remains an absolute necessity. Private industry is doing everything in its power to produce an adequate supply of synthetic rubber in the shortest possible time. There are, at last, grounds for believing that government rubber red-tape is cut, and that there can be action, not continued political talk, in dealing with the rubber problem.

Mrs. C. Vogen visited her daughter at Minneapolis last week.

Not Enough Steel

Henry J. Kaiser, the famous shipbuilder, recently said that ship production has been hampered by a steel shortage. In Oregon yards alone, he added, five more ships could have been delivered during a late 50-day period if more steel had been available.

Insufficient steel is also slowing the production of other basic war needs. And that is the compelling reason why every pound of steel should be conserved. Not one pound of steel should be used for any construction which is not immediately necessary.

The St. Lawrence power project and similar uncalled-for political schemes are cases in point. If Congress should approve them gigangantic quantity of steel would have to be diverted to thier construction. These projects would not come into service for four years and perhaps more. And in the meantime, industries upon which our fighting forces depend for supplies Now would have to do with less.

On top of that, the St. Lawrence and kindred experiments would require an enormous amount of labor, much of it highly skilled. Paul McNutt has been pointing out that we are definitely on the verge of a manpower shortage in a number of basic war industries. The more labor we use on non-essentials, the less labor we will have available for essentials.

In any period, these experiments in state socialism are of a highly-debatable character. In this period, their construction would amount to criminal waste of our resources -- materials, men and money alike.

We are fighting a war to save ourselves from the Hitler state socialism idea. Why plant more seeds of it here?

Butter Oil To Widen Trade For Dairymen

Washington—Solution of a dairy industry problem that has baffled scientists for years has opened a war-time market to sweet cream area butter producers and promises them a new export market after the war.

The problem is the extraction and packaging of pure butter oil in such a way it will stay fresh in tropical heat without refrigeration.

Dr. George E. Holm, in charge of fat-spoilage research at the bureau of dairy industry in the department of agriculture, has perfected a method of preparing and packaging butter oil so it will keep indefinitely under extreme conditions.

He has also worked out improvements in a process of turning pure butter oil and dried skim milk powder back into a good grade of butter. Dried skim milk, he says, presents no storage problems.

The new process, perfected at the insistence of the American armed forces, now makes it possible to supply butter to the army and navy at distant and tropical posts that cannot be served by refrigerated ships.

It also opens the way for shipment of butter in lend-lease. This has heretofore been blocked by lack of refrigerated ships, although England has frequently sought a way of getting butter supplies.

Dr. Holm added to these immediate marketing possibilities for pure butter oil the chance of developing a large, post-war tropical market for butter produced in the Amercian sweet cream area.

"Production of butter oil is strictly a sweet cream proposition" Dr. Holm said Saturday. "The acidity in butter oils made from sour cream unsatisfactory. Basic raw material for good butter oil must be high score, sweet cream butter."

Dr. Holm, born at Cokato, Minn. and educated at the University of Minnesota college of agriculture, said the Minnesota-Wisconsin sweet cream area is the "natural producer" of butter oil.

Manufacture of butter oil, Dr. Holm said, is not new. A good market for oil once existed, but was killed by butter oil producers who attempted to sell low-score butter which became rancid and lost consumers approval.

But even butter oil made from top-score butter was not a satisfactory product because it did not keep fresh.

Dr. Holm, who was 1942 winner of the Borden prize, for his work on the oxidization of animal fats, discovered several years ago it is the oxygen left in animal oils that causes them to spoil.

His butter oil process employs close temperature controls, agitation, pressure and canning under a vacuum.

So far tin and metal containers have been used for the deoxgenized butter oil. Experiments on special wooden kegs show promise, however.

The process leaves all the valuable nutritive properties of butter fat in the oil. Charles S. Trimble, butter-making specialist of the bureau of dairy industry has worked out a process of turning the butter oil back into butter with powdered skim milk water and salt.

Machinery for producing the butter oil and for turning it back into butter does not involve serious problems of critical materials Dr. Dr. Holm says.

He said that butter oil production will depend on what lend-lease and army and navy demand develops, but that he forsees no production difficulties.

—Nat S. Finney in the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune..

Life Of Andrew Bjerk

Funeral services were conducted here on Sunday afternoon from the Nazareth Lntheran church for Andrew Bjerk, early pioneer of this community who passed away at Grand Forks on Wednesday evening, August 6, 1942 at the age of 86 years.

Rev. G. S. Thompson, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church in Thief River Falls, officiated in the absence of Rev. T. C. L. Hanson who is on vacation.

Andrew Bjerk was born Oct. 7, 1856 in Dane County, Wisconsin, came with his parents to Buffalo County at age 7 years.

He came to Mtrshall County in 1876 and homesteaded two miles east of Holt. He lived on his farm here until in the year 1919 when he moved into the Village of Holt where he resided until in 1932, after which he spent most of his time in Grand Forks, N.D.

He leaves eight children: Mrs. Bertha Kautz of Grand Forks; Ed Bjerk and Mrs. Wm. Henney of McIntosh; Albert, Archie and Omer of Madison, Wisconsin; Hardy of Thief River Falls and Melvin Bjerk of Nielsville, Minn.

His wife preceeded him in death 18 years ago and a daughter 36 years ago. He had ten grand children and one great grand child. He also leaves three brothers, Henry and Carl Bjerk of Strathcona and Martin Bjerk of St. Hilaire, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs L. Lubitz visited relatives at Thief River Falls on Sunday.

O. B. Johnson Died Suddenly

The people of this community and village were shocked on Friday morning to hear of the sudden death of O. B. Johnson, pioneer farmer and resident of this community for many years.

Mr. Johnson had gone out in the morning to fix a fence and came in complaining that he was not feeling so well, and his wife and son Myron took him to the St. Lukes hospital at Thief River Falls where he passed away as soon as he had entered the building. Funeral services were conducted from the Nazareth Lutheran church here yesterday after noon. A complete obituary will be published next week.

Olaf, Theodore and John Ness made a business trip to Fergus Falls on Monday returning here Tuesday. On their return they left John Ness at the St. Lukes hospital at Thief River Falls for medical care.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Duran of Plummer spent Sunday at the Lynn Miller home.

M. Sgt. Theo Munson of Maryland, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Simmons and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Monson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Inman and Larry, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Garthus and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Nelson were supper guests at the L. Monson home Sunday.

In a small town -- and this a small town-people know each other, relations are intimate.

If Jones loses a cow, if Green's mare has a colt, if Johnson's barn burns or McGrath's dog has pups, we all know about it. The cares and joys of people are shared commonly.

If our institution wants to become a part of a small town it must become a part of the people or it will never succeed.

We try to make ours that kind of a bank. Let us assist you in your problems and also advise you as to the various service we may be able to do for you and this community.

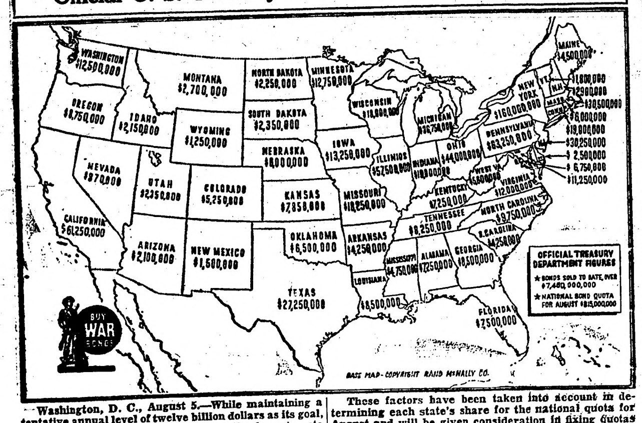
Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for August



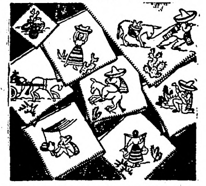
Washington, D. C., August 5.—While maintaining a tentative annual level of twelve billion dollars as its goal, the Treasury Department today fixed the August quota for the sale of War Bonds at $815,000,000 as shown by the accompanying map by states.

In lowering the quota from a billion dollars in July to $815,000,000 in August, the Treasury has given recognition to certain factors which may be expected to result in variations in sales over the 12-month period, such as the seasonal character of farm income.

These factors have been taken into account in determining each state's share for the national quota for August and will be given consideration in fixing quotas for subsequent months.

In addition to the state quotas as set out in the map there is a federal payroll allotment quota of $9,750,000 and territorial quotas as follows: Alaska, $760,000; Canal Zone, $213,000; Hawaii, $4,800,000; Puerto Rico, $440,000 and the Virgin Islands, $17,000. U. S. Treasury Department.

Mexican Tea Towels In Brilliant Colors



OUR good neighbors south of the border provide these picturesque tea towel motifs. So get out your most brilliant floss and do these bits of embroidery. Finished, they will give a cheerful note to your towel rack and thus to your entire kitchen.

Pancho's serapes and Ramona's skirts, the fruits, and the awning should all be done in vivid colors. To complete the set, there is a panholder motif of bright-colored Mexican pottery.

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good heath is to endure.
When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

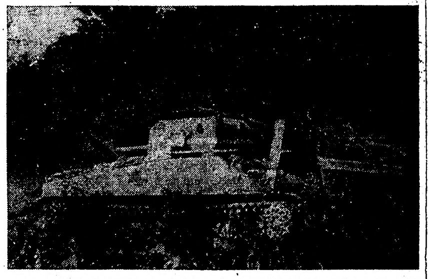
Red Communiques Admit Grave Peril As New Flank Attacks Harass Nazis; CIO President Proposes Peace Plan; Cargo Planes Get Qualified Approval

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union



One of Uncle Sam's newest weapons for the armored force, the M4 tank, is shown on special demonstration at Fort Knox, Ky. Here the 28-ton tank plows through a barn to demonstrate its ability to negotiate obstacles. It has a 75-mm. cannon in a revolving turret and a completely welded hull.

RUSSIA:
Flank Tactics

While Moscow's official radio was telling the Germans in their own language that the United States and Russia had come to their agreement on the creation of the second front in 1942, Soviet troops were busy with flank attacks on the Nazi forces all along the 300-mile Don river front.

German drives had pushed far beyond Rostov, toward the Caucasus, but the Russians were claiming that their new flank attacks were netting a terrific toll of Nazi tanks and men. At Voronezh, northern anchor of the Don front, the Russians had been holding out doggedly while their columns were being pushed back in the other sectors.

If Germans in the homeland had been listening to the Russian radio tell of the coming of the second front, they heard too that their country would be confronted with 15,000,000 men, 85,000 tanks, 100,000 guns, and 50,000 airplanes. But this was brave talk for even the official Russian communiques admitted the gravity of their nation's peril. Most feared was a Nazi break-through in the center of the Caucasus front. This would more than likely mean that the so-far orderly Russian retreat would stand a chance of being turned into a rout—a result that would be disastrous for the cause of the United Nations.

Soviet officials had other troubles, too. There were reports out of the Don valley that large rings of fifth columnists had been uncovered. Many of the spies in these groups were quickly executed as they were caught trying to co-operate with Nazi parachute troops who were dropping behind the Soviet main lines.

Meanwhile, through England and the United States the cry was getting louder for military officials to establish the much-discussed second front. From widely diversified groups and sections came the urging. There was considerable agitation for this move for many people feared the United Nations would suffer a most severe blow should Russia fail to last the year on the European side of the Ural mountains.

ALEUTIANS:
10,000 Japs

Breaking an official silence, a navy spokesman officially estimated that the Japanese have succeeded in putting "not more than 10,000" troops into the Aleutian island area and at the same time announced there was no evidence that the Pribilof island to the north had been occupied by the Nipponese.

The statement came in answer to a report made by the Alaskan delegate to congress, Anthony J. Dimond, that between 20,000 and 25,000 Jap troops were on the Aleutians and that the Pribilofs had been occupied.

Questioned about Dimond's reports, the spokesman said that "we believe that not more than 10,000 Japanese are in the Aleutians, probably one-half ashore and one-half afloat."

The Japs gained a foothold in the Aleutians on June 3. So far, the navy has confirmed the presence of Japs only on three of the islands: Attu, Agattu and Kiska, at the western end of the chain. The Pribilofs are in the Bering sea, and consist of four islands: St. Paul, St. George, Otter and Waldrus. The latter two are small and uninhabited.

PETRILLO SAYS 'NO':
To Davis Plea

"I cannot grant your request to cancel the notice that the AFM members will not play for transcriptions or records."

With those words, James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, refused a request by Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, to rescind his ban against the making of new phonograph records or radio transcriptions for commercial purposes by union members.

PEACE PLAN:
For CIO-AFL

A proposal that the Congress for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor "initiate discussions regarding possible establishment of organic unity" was made by Philip Murray, CIO president, in a letter to William Green, AFL chief.

Peace proposals between the two organizations have been discussed for several months as a step toward speeding war production. In his letter, Murray proposed the establishment of a committee composed of representatives of both organizations, with an impartial arbitrator, to settle all jurisdictional disputes between the two groups.

Murray named a committee of three to discuss the problem of "organic unity." He named himself, R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, and Julius Emspak, secretary of the United Radio and Machine Workers union.

BEEF:
Two Varieties

In butchershops from the Bronx to Boise there was considerable beefing about beef. Beef was high. Beef was hard to get. What was the trouble?

President Roosevelt told his press conference there were three main reasons for the current meat shortage: (1) this is the off-season for beef; (2) people have more purchasing power now, with which to buy better cuts of meat; and (3) around 4,000,000 men under arms are now eating much more meat than they ever ate on their own dinner tables at home.

Meanwhile Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard reported that there may be some relief in the temporary beef shortage this fall when more cattle are brought in off the range. But other sources looked with disfavor on what effect this would have on the normal spring beef market.

GIANT PLANES:
From Shipyards

There was a new answer to the shipping problems of the United Nations looming on the horizon. It was an unofficial agreement from the War Production board to give the "green light" to plans of Henry K. Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilder, to build giant cargo and troop transport planes in nine of the nation's shipyards.

First hitch to be overcome in the suggested set-up was the granting of authority by military officials to release engines and other parts needed in the building of aircraft for the army and navy.

Donald Nelson, WPB head, appeared to be willing to proceed with the plan if these materials could be obtained without hampering the war effort. This came as a surprise as WPB first voiced skepticism on the plan.

Kaiser's idea calls for the conversion of three shipyards on each coast to produce 5,000 flying boats a year. The ships would be of 100-ton design fashioned after the 70-ton flying boat Mars, now in active use. Support of Glenn Martin, Baltimore bomber builder, Tom Girdler, steel magnate and all others with knowledge of production problems of plane building would be sought, according to Kaiser.

After Kaiser had discussed the idea with Nelson he appeared before a senate military subcommittee to testify and Nelson later issued a statement stating that the WPB was willing to "co-operate to the limit in any practical way for increasing the effectiveness of our . . . transportation systems."

At the same time, James H. R. Cromwell, former U. S. minister to Canada, was proposing that Kaiser be made "czar of air transportation." He said: "If we can't get supplies to the fronts by air transport we are going to lose this war."

AIR MONSTERS:
Things to Come

Reading like a tale from the pen of Jules Verne, the story of two super-gigantic cargo planes was unfolded in Washington by aviation engineers. Senate committees heard the stories.

Details of a huge plywood plane were disclosed by Dr. W. W. Christmas, technical aviation engineer. The plywood carrier, weighing 1,120,000 pounds, would be both a cargo and battle plane. It would be a 60,000 horsepower, two hull plane with 400 foot wingspread and with wings 16 feet thick, with a speed of about 350 miles an hour. It would carry 3,000 men. It would carry a rack of torpedoes weighing 20,000 pounds. Dr. Christmas pointed out that the torpedoes would have a striking force of 19,000,000 pounds when dropped. "A battleship deck would be like wet paper when one of these bombs hit it," he said.

The second plane was a revolutionary type of amphibian flying cargo plane, which would be lifted and propelled by a combination of engines, helium gas and air tunnels. The engineers are Horace Chapman Young and Eric Langlands of the Aerodynamics Research corporation.

A single wing combination cargo-fighter-carrier, the plane would have a flying deck of approximately 200 feet, from which 12 fighter planes could take off. It would carry enough helium gas to lift 36 tons and with its engines could lift 70 tons. Four tunnels would run through the wing. Engineers in these tunnels would create a semi-vacuum, whose suction would supply pulling power while the propellers gave it thrusting power. Its speed would be about 200 miles an hour.

LADIES:
Of the Navy

"Waves" is not a new word to U. S. navy men but in the future sailors will have to think twice before using it. For this is the name being given to the Navy's woman's auxiliary, counter-part of the army's WAAC.

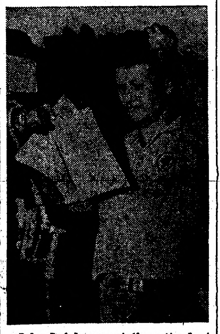
Now officially organized, the Waves plan to enlist 10,000. First call was for 1,000 women, preferably bachelor girls, to volunteer as officer candidates.

Miss Mildred McAfee, 42, president of Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass., is being chosen head of the feminine navy unit and will hold the rank of lieutenant commander.

While there appeared to be a preference for single girls, married women are not prohibited from volunteering. Unmarried women will have to agree not to marry while in training—a one-month period.

Waves will be assigned to desk or administrative jobs to release men for active sea duty.

Rationing Student



John Leigh, gas station attendant in Washington, is pictured studying rationing rules. When Price Administrator Leon Henderson ran out of gas, Leigh refused to fill a can for him. Henderson later proved that such an act would not be a violation of the regulations, but his proof came too late. He already had been forced to take a taxi.

MARKETING: U. S. farmers in the first half of 1942 marketed products totaling $5,773,000,000, according to a department of agriculture estimate. This compares with $4,012,000,000 for the same period in 1941.

FATS: The Office of Price Administration has set a ceiling of four cents a pound on waste kitchen fats now being sold by housewives to retail meat markets in the national salvage campaign.

GASLESS: Pleasure driving is practically a thing of the past in Britain. As of August 1, gasoline is sold only to business and professional automobiles.

DEATH: Maj. Gen. Julius von Bernauth, German tank expert, was killed in action on the Russian front, it was announced on a Nazi broadcast.

BLUE AND WHITE CABINET WITH CUT-OUT SCALLOPS
BLUE MORNING GLORIES IN APPLIQUE DESIGN FOR CURTAINS AND TOWELS

WHATEVER the limitations that priorities may place on new bathroom fixtures there is no limit to the gay color and good cheer that you may have with brightly painted cupboards and towels decorated with pieces from your scrap bag. In this bathroom a morning glory applique design is used for towels of two sizes and for curtains.

The handy towel and lotion cupboard is painted white outside and morning glory blue inside. The sides, top and bottom are screwed together at the corners. Use half-inch metal angles as shelf supports, or make grooves for a neater job. As shown in the sketch, the cupboard is trimmed and made rigid with plywood scallops secured with half-inch screws.

Household Hints

To keep bread in the best condition, store it when cool in a clean, well-aired, covered, ventilated container and keep in a cool, dry place.

* * *

To protect garden shoes keep them well greased or oiled with neat's-foot oil or cod or castor oil, tallow or wool grease. Let dry in a warm place.

* * *

That fish may be scaled much easier by first dipping them into boiling water for a minute.

* * *

Sheets and other linens should be ironed in different folds each week so the creases will not break through.

* * *

Sweet corn, green string beans, green peas, pumpkins, squash, celery and greens are best vegetables for home drying. Apples and berries are adapted to drying in the home among fruits.

* * *

Food bought in season will help to keep that part of the budget within reason.

* * *

Onion juice should be added after a mixture is cooked rather than cooked with the mixture if the best flavor is desired.

* * *

Rancidity in lard can be prevented by keeping it away from air, light and warmth. Store in tin or crockery containers in a cool place.

Funeral for Living

Sometimes in the Orient, a wealthy man who fears he might lose "face" by being deprived of a funeral commensurate with his prestige holds the ceremony while alive so he can superintend it, reports Collier's. On the big day, he rides in a sedan chair behind the casket in the funeral procession as it proceeds about the city, accompanied by hundreds of hired attendants and several bands. In the rear are the wailing relatives, dressed in mourning.

From an old French word "mes" derived from the Latin word "missus" meaning a course at a meal, comes the Army's name "mess" for its breakfast, dinner, and supper. Favorite meal with the soldier is chicken dinner—his favorite cigarette, Camel. (Based on actual sales records from Post Exchanges.) A carton of Camels, by the way, is the gift he prefers first of all from the folks back home. He's said so. Local tobacco dealers are featuring Camel cartons to send anywhere to men in the armed forces. —Adv.

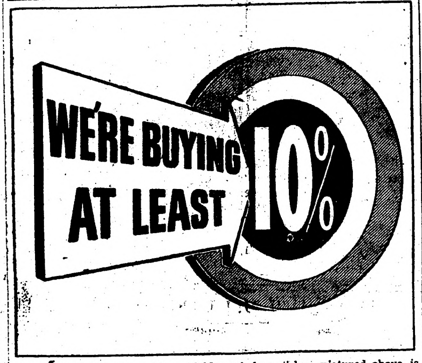
Let Everybody Know You're Investing 10 Percent of Your Income in War Bonds



The attractive red, white and blue window sticker, pictured above, is the new yardstick of patriotism in the War Bond drive throughout the nation. With the slogan, "Everybody every pay day, ten percent," sweeping the country, patriotic Americans on the home front are rallying to their Government's appeal for funds with which to help finance the war. The home which displays the "ten percent" sticker is doing its share toward Victory for America and the United Nations. The stickers are being distributed through local War Savings Chairmen. *U. S. Usa V-Mail for Writing

Use V-mail when writing to our armed forces in the British Isles, Egypt, the Middle and Far East, Hawaii, Australia and other points in the Pacific.

V-mail letters in their original form, or on micro-film, occupy considerably less space than correspondence of the usual type and Army planes carrying mail outside the United States give V-mail preferences over all other classes.

The space saved by using V-mail makes more space available for shipping war materials.

V-mail letter sheets may be obtained at the local post office.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Bonds every pay day. Invest ten percent of your income.

The Fairs Go On

For the Record, here are figures from Business Week magazine on the response of secretaries and managing boards of America's fairs to the official suggestion that the expositions be cancelled this year:

Normally the country has 2,200 fairs. So far about 20 have been called off—mostly, the magazine says, "those in weak financial status or state fairs whose big grounds have been occupied by the military."

The nation's state, county and other fair represent an investment in plant of some half a billion dollars. This year 65 million persons will attend them. To entertain, amuse and instruct the people who go, there will be jobs for:

70,000 people working for 350 carnivals.

10,000 pitch men.

1,000 employes of commercial exhibitors.

20,000 persons with racing stables.

Actually, fair operator say, the fair play a useful part in the war by presenting messages from the army, navy, treasury department, department of agricultnre, the Red Cross and public health groups. And the entertainment features of fairs have as much right to go on as the movies, circuses, dance bands and ball games.

The Minnesota fair, opening Aug. 29, is one of 2,180.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonand Peterson and daughter, Mrs. C. F. Birkeland, Mrs. O. B. Johnson and Avis and Myron were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Ness on Friday evening.

Three-Car Smashup Aug. 8

About 10:30 Saturday night three cars smashed together on Highway 32, one mile south of Middle River.

Frank Blazek of Thief River Falls, who was driving a 1937 Dodge coupe and coming from the north did not see a model A coupe parked on the side of the road until he was too near to prevent hitting it As he turned to the left to try to miss it, he smashed head-on into a 1941 V-8 coming from the south and driven by Mr. Casper Viken of Roseau, a farmer. The Model A coupe belonged to Stanley Robinson of Newfolden and he had just gotten into it after patching a tire. The Dodge coupe was thrown into the ditch while the other two cars were crossways on the road.

Mr. Viken had his arm broken while his wife and children, father and other friends, who were with him, received minor injuries. Two of the children had to stay at the hospital for observation.

Mrs. Blazek was taken to the St. Lukes Hospital Thief River Falls and received medical care for an injured leg while Mr. Blazek and Herman Meesembrik, formerly of Rosea, also riding with Mr. Blazek, received minor cuts and injuries.

Stanley Robinson was thrown out of his car and into the ditch and knocked unconscious, otherwise receiving only slight cuts and bruises

The Model A was only slightly damaged while the Dodge coupe and V-8 had to be hauled to a garage in Thief River Falls. The V8 was entirely smashed in on the whole front end and windshield broken. The Dodge coupe was badly smashed on the front left side one wheel being torn off. Both cars are probably beyond repair.

Robison was haled before Judge McDowell of Middle River, where he paid a fine of $100.00 on a charge of drunken driving. His car was illegally parked on the highway.

Life Of O. B. Johnson

Funeral services were conducted from the Nazareth Lutheran church here on Thursday afternoon of last week for Mr. O. B. Johnson, aged pioneer of this community. Rev. T. C. L. Hanson officiated.

Ole B. Johnson was born in Ness, Aadalen, Norway, on July 29, 1866. There, in the Lutheran Church, he was bapaised and confirmed. He grew to manhood in Norway and in the year 1888, at the age of 22, he imigrated to America and settled at St. Thomas, North Dakota. In 1891, he moved from there to a farm near Thief River Falls. On March 3, 1892, he was united in marriage to Miss Karen Anderson, and to this union 10 children were born.

In 1905 he moved with his family to Mud Lake where he homesteaded. A few years ago, he together with his family, moved to Holt which was his home until his death. On July 26th, he together with his wife and children, other relatives and friends celebrated their golden wedding. Prior to moving to Mud Lake, he was a member of the Silver Creek Lutheran Church. He had been a member of Nazareth Lutheran Church for many years.

He passed away suddenly on Friday, Ausust 7, at the age of 76 years and 10 days.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Karen Johnson, and the following 9 children:

Thora, Mrs. Christ F. Birkeland, Seattle, Wash. Inga, Mrs. Olaf T. Ness. George. Julia, Mrs. Anton Peterson. Thea, Mrs. Herman Peterson, all of Holt. Olga, Mrs. Leonard Peterson of Pontiac, Mich. Murnet and Orris, in the Armed Services in the Hawian Island. Myron at home.

One daughter, Myrtle, preceded him in death in 1914.

Surviving him are also 16 grand-children and 2 great-grand children. A sister, Mrs. Arthur Lokker of Grafton, N. D. Two brothers, Gilbert Johnson and Thorval Johnson of Grand Forks N. Dak.

Out of town relatives who attended the funeral were: Mrs. C. F. Birkeland of Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Peterson and daughter and Miss Avis Johnson of Pontiac, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lardy, Ole Anderson and Emil Ensrud of St. Hilaire and Mr. and Mrs. Anton Anderson of Wylie.

Carlson Funeral home had charge of arrangements and interment was made in the Ridge cemetery.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express sincere thanks to all who assisted us during our bereavement. Especially do we thank Rev. Hanson for his words of comfort, Mrs. Nohre and Mr. and Mrs. Sandberg for their songs, Circle one for serving lunch, those who gave memoriam and floral gifts. Thank you, and may God richly bless you all.

Mrs. O. B. Johnson and family.

Mr. and Bil. Borg and Mrs. Adolph Johnson of Fargo, N. D. Mrs. Sam Brown and son Ken of Mayville, N. Dak., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zeigler of Sioux Falls, S. D., Mr. and Mrs. Olaus Offerdal and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Offerdal of Thief River Falls were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Engen on Saturday. On Sunday all these people spent the day at Middle River where they helped Mrs. Jens Offerdal celebrate her 82nd birthday.

Asks your vote as
"The Full Term Candidate" for Republican Nomination for Governor

The Republican Party in peace or war, has always presented a candidate for the full two year term. Voters demand that this inherent and traditional right shall not now be taken away from them, as advocated by the present Governor, candidate for a "four months term." Do not waste your vote--defend your constitutional right to a full term Governor.

If elected, Martin A. Nelson will:

Clean up the Conservation mess.

Urge more iron ore taxes for the tax relief of agriculture and local business.

Be a fighting Governor for the farmer, not big business. (He was raised on a farm.)

Stop reckless spending. (This administration has spent most in the history of the state for salaries in the Governor's own office).

Guarantee fair treatment to our Armed Forces, in service and after their return. (He was a World War aviator).

"Fuller," says Aunt Netty, the other day. "Folks are like wine. Some sour with age, and some, like you, get better!"

"Mebbe," says I, pickin' up that little compliment, "that's because I feel so good most of the time." For, you know, folks, when you feel good your disposition's apt to be good, too. But to do that, you got to eat right, which includes gettin' all your vitamins. And KELLOGG'S PEP is extra-rich in the two most often short in ordinary meals—vitamins B₁ and D. Mighty fine-tastin', too. Try it!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allies Take Offensive in Pacific Area With Naval Attack on Solomon Islands; British Thwart Sabotage Plan in India; Nazis Reap Profits From Russian Drive

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

OFFENSIVE:
In Southwest Pacific

Exactly eight months after the bombing of Pearl Harbor—eight months of gloom-laden defensive warfare—Allied air, sea and land forces carried the battle to the enemy in the Southwest Pacific theater of war.

In a fierce battle for the Solomon islands, the United States fleet and warships of the Pacific flotilla struck heavy, continuing blows at Japanese bases in America's first great offensive of the war.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, U. S. naval commander in the Pacific, stressed the force of enemy resistance. The fight was at the northern boundary of the Coral sea, where a U. S. task force in May inflicted the first great naval defeat in history upon Japan.

Although not discussed in official communiques, navy spokesmen made it clear that the assault on the Solomons was the first major attempt to regain Japanese-seized territory. Equally clear was the fact that all possible fire power was being brought to bear upon the enemy. This would include army and navy bombing planes, shelling from big guns of naval surface ships and possibly strong land action.

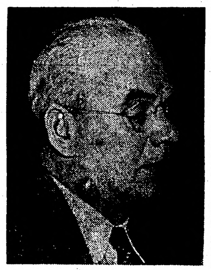
Some thousands of miles north a Pacific fleet task force had bombarded Jap ships and installations at Kiska, one of three Aleutian islands upon which an estimated 10,000 Japanese have entrenched themselves.

LABOR:
Another Crossroads

As "peace" committees of both AFL and CIO begin preparations for their meeting to bring about labor peace both Philip Murray, CIO president, and William Green, head of AFL, issued public statements indicating that they favored the objective.

There were definite signs, however, that the method of reaching the objective might encounter some difficulty along the way. For in one of his statements on the subject President Green urged that CIO: "come back to the AFL, the House of Labor."

Later in a speech to the important CIO United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, meeting in their convention in Chicago, Philip Murray avoided all reference to this statement. But he did say: ". . . I hope, I pray, that their (the AFL's) attitude will have changed, that experience has taught the need for giving recognition to the aspirations and objectives of those organizations which make up the Congress of Industrial Organizations."



PHILIP MURRAY
". . . hoped and prayed."

Biggest stumbling blocks in labor peace talks for the seven years that the two groups had gone their own way had been personalities and the refusal or inability of AFL to recognize CIO's organization of unions by grouping all workers in an industry into one union.

As far as personalities were concerned, Philip Murray had bypassed John L. Lewis by appointing to the CIO peace committee members not necessarily committed to the head of potent United Mine Workers. Lewis and Green had constantly differed on peace terms in the past and with the former out of the front trenches (but still very much in the fight) some observers were forecasting an outside chance for a united labor front—united for U. S. victory.

INDIA:
Action

As the crisis in the latest drive for India's independence approached, Britain acted with speed and surprise. By official decree, Mohandas K. Gandhi and almost 200 other All-India Congress party leaders were arrested as they prepared to launch their nation-wide nonviolent civil disobedience movement as a protest against Britain's refusal to grant India immediate freedom.

Some sources reported that the British acted because it was learned that an extensive sabotage campaign against the war effort was about to get under way.

Rank and file of Gandhi's party did not take their rebuke quietly. Dispatches from New Delhi reported rioting in Bombay and Ahmedabad. In addition government grain stores were looted in protest against the British action.

It was the sixth time that Gandhi had handed himself over to government officials in his life-long fight for Indian independence. As he gave himself up he called upon his followers to remember the slogan: "Either we get freedom or die." Technically Gandhi was not being imprisoned but he was to be kept under "strict surveillance."

Britain's attitude seemed to be summed up in the thought that while India's independence was important, the most vital problem of the United Nations at present was the winning of a war.

GRAIN AND OIL:
To the Nazis

Though the cost in men and machines has been terrific, the Nazis are already reaping the benefits of their 1942 drive for the oil and grain riches of the Caucasus.

This was evidenced by an admission on the part of Red Star, official Russian army newspaper, that already the Germans were shipping trainloads of foodstuffs from the Kuban area. Kuban is one of Russia's finest farm sectors but now has been practically cut off from Soviet control.

However, the Nazis were not harvesting all the grain nor pumping all the oil that the Russians were forced to abandon. For as they retreated, the Cossack defenders were employing the "scorched earth" policy to the best of their ability. Grain fields and granaries crammed with wheat were blazing as the Germans advanced to them. Oil wells in the Maikop field were blown up by Soviet troops. Yet experts were forced to admit that the Nazi prize that remained was worth the battle losses. For these are the things Germany needs to continue fighting —oil and grain.

GRIM ENDING:
For Saboteurs

The greatest execution in the history of the nation's capital took place when six of eight Nazi saboteurs who came to this country by submarine to cripple the war effort were electrocuted in the District of Columbia jail's electric chair.

It was an hour and a half after the first of the plotters was pronounced dead that the White House made its official announcement. The six were Herbert Hans Haupt, Heinrich Harm Heinck, Edward John Kerling, Hermann Otto Neubauer, Richard Quirin and Werner Thiel. Two other saboteurs escaped death by aiding the prosecution. One of them, Ernest Peter Burger, was sentenced to life in prison at hard labor. The other, George John Dasch, was sentenced to 30 years at hard labor.

Meanwhile, the nation's first important sedition trial since the outbreak of the war came to a close when a federal court jury in Indianapolis found William Dudley Pelley, founder of the Fascist Silver Shirts, guilty of criminal sedition.

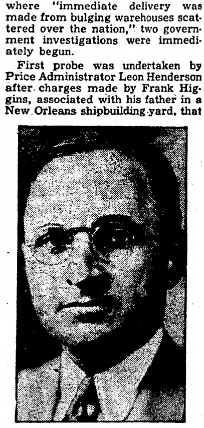
Pelley's co - defendants, Agnes Marion Henderson, his secretary, and Lawrence Brown, were found guilty only of conspiracy. Pelley was found guilty on all 11 counts in the indictment.

Even as the erstwhile dictator of the Silver Shirts braced himself for the penalties ahead, the American public demonstrated again its stern temper when Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle pronounced a death sentence for treason upon Max Stephan, Detroit restaurant owner, for betraying his adopted country by befriending an escaped Nazi prisoner.

STEEL:
Probe 'Black Market'

In answer to charges that a "black market" in steel existed, where "immediate delivery was made from bulging warehouses scattered over the nation," two government investigations were immediately begun.

First probe was undertaken by Price Administrator Leon Henderson after charges made by Frank Higgins, associated with his father in a New Orleans shipbuilding yard, that his company had bought steel from such markets at higher premiums.



SENATOR HARRY S. TRUMAN
". . . negligence or willful misconduct."

The second investigation was undertaken by Congressman Carl Peterson, chairman of the house subcommittee investigating the maritime commission's cancellation last month of the Higgins' company's contract to build 200 liberty ships because of an alleged steel shortage.

Meanwhile, Chairman Harry S. Truman of the senate committee investigating national defense charged the navy department's bureau of ships with "negligence or willful misconduct" in connection with the construction of tank-landing boats. Senator Truman's charges contained in a letter to Navy Secretary Frank Knox referred to the navy's insistence on substituting its own models of tank-landing boats for ships of proved value built for this purpose by the Higgins company in New Orleans.

HOUSEWIVES:
Face Job 'Draft'

Spokesmen for the manpower commission intimated that one out of every four American housewives between the ages of 18 and 44 may be needed in munitions jobs for this country to attain full war production.

It was indicated that a nationwide occupational registration of women might be undertaken as a means of cataloguing the country's total feminine adult resources.

Paul V. McNutt, manpower chief, has estimated that about 5,000,000 more women must be placed in war jobs by the end of 1943.

CARGO PLANES:
Get Green Light

A "go-ahead green light" for the construction of vast cargo planes in months to come was given by both the army and navy.

Speaking for the army, Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the army air forces, told a senate military affairs committee that 21 per cent of all multiple-engine bomber planes to be produced for the remainder of 1942 will be cargo or transport carriers. Including all planes of comparable flying range, he added, 30 per cent of the total output will be essentially for cargo purposes.

General Arnold revealed that cargo and transport carriers now being produced are used to move paratroops and airborne infantry, to tow gliders and to carry supplies to combat zones. Planes are moving about 2,500,000 tons of material a week, he said.

Speaking for the navy, Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, disclosed that the navy is speeding a huge program for building cargo planes.

SUBMARINES:
Lull Near U. S.

That American coastal waters are no longer a soft spot for German submarines was the view expressed by British officials in a communique from London. Consequently it was believed that Axis U-boats had been forced to seek other waters in which to prey on United Nations' commerce.

Adoption of the convoy system in the Panama and Caribbean areas plus increased air defenses were cited as coinciding with a decreased scale of submarine attacks.

American military authorities commenting on the recent drop in submarine sinkings, warned, however, that the Nazis might now be preparing to bring the full brunt of their underseas attack against the heavily convoyed supply lines across the North Atlantic.

Increasing Allied effectiveness against submarines was said to be due to the fact that the "bottleneck regarding engines for submarine chasers, defensive craft and dirigibles has been broken and defensive craft are coming forward in greater numbers."

GENEVA: Guglielmo Ferrero, noted Italian historian and foe of the Fascists, died here at the age of 71. Seven years ago his books were seized by the Mussolini government and he was forced to flee Italy. He had taught history at the University of Geneva ever since. Among his most noted books was "The Grandeur and Decadence of Rome."

WASHINGTON: Manufacture of typewriters, except for a small quantity to be produced for the government by one factory, will end October 31, it was announced by the War Production board in an order released here. The order likewise limited the production of most typewriter companies between July 1 and October 1 to 12½ per cent of the machines sold by them last year.

Second Front Draws Near

By Quentin Reynolds

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Collier's Weekly)

Here in London it is evident that the RAF is slapping Germany silly. They are doing it with quick daring thrusts in which airmen and commandos work in co-operation with the navy.

And today 80 per cent of the people here on Churchill's island, and a great part of Russia and America, are screaming to Britain: "Stop boxing the enemy! Go in and slug him!"

In other words, Britain is being urged on all sides to establish a second front, regardless of the German strength in France and other occupied countries.

Superiority of Armanent.

The thousands who are mounting soap boxes and platforms in Britain, the hundreds who pen cutting editorials asking why the government does not start an immediate second front, the impatient Russians here in London and in Moscow, quite understandably crying for vengeance against those who have killed some two million of their countrymen, the British civilian start-second-front-at-any-price brigade—forget that though the walls of Jericho crumbled at the blast of a trumpet, there is no reason to believe that the defensive walls of German Europe will fall at the blast of anything except superior guns, airplanes and tanks.

Loud insistence upon the immediate opening of a second front has seemed to imply that Prime Minister Churchill and his government were not over-anxious to join with their Russian allies in an all-out effort on the Continent.

Churchill Never Lukewarm.

Nothing could be further from the truth, of course, and the Molotoff agreements made in Washington have formally spiked that idea. Churchill talks privately as he does publicly, and no one who has heard his vituperative private comment in regard to the Germans, no one who has ever heard him express his admiration for the way the Russians have fought, would for a moment consider that Churchill is lukewarm on the subject of a second front.

No one in Britain more earnestly desires to establish and maintain a bridgehead on the continent than does Mr. Churchill.

Nor would Churchill's worst enemies ever ccuse him of cowardice or lack of decision when it comes to offensive action.

He has shown himself willing to gamble on any occasion when there was a chance of winning the gamble. It is no secret that when Wavell attacked the Italians in the desert back in December, 1940, he bit off a little more than he could chew. He asked Churchill for more tanks. At that time there was a serious threat of invasion in Britain, yet Churchill without hesitating sent Wavell the one armored division that Britain had, and with it the general smashed the Italian army thoroughly. This was typical of the chances which Churchill is willing to take.

Not so long ago, he actually took weapons from the hands of British soldiers and sent them to Russia. These were not surplus weapons, they were the only weapons the men had. Admittedly, Britain's army was weakened, but Churchill had shown more than once that he is committed wholly to the policy of putting weapons in the hands of those who are killing Germans.

Today's Big Problem.

Why, then, has not this bold leader ordered that a second front be opened? The answer is very simple. Such an undertaking is still a gamble. It may continue to be a gamble for at least another six months.

Any attempt to invade the continent now might easily result in another and more costly Dunkirk. If those who have been leading the clamor for a second front knew what resources the Germans have in France, Norway and other possible invasion points, if they knew the vast amount of so-called special-assault equipment required, they would realize that their agitation is very, very premature.

Maginot Guns Waiting.

There was once a little toy called the Maginot line. It stretched 700 miles and it bristled with guns. Very few of these guns were ever shot except in practice. The Germans captured all those guns. Today they are on guard against a British invasion. The whole coastal area is manned by these excellent guns.

There is the problem, then—300,000 men, well equipped, well entrenched, and with a rather large body of water protecting them. It is a military problem which has never been solved.

There is, of course, one hopeful aspect. That is that the RAF has already established a second front. Ever since the RAF began its monster raids on May 30, the Germans have felt the brunt of this second front.

Whether the RAF can conquer Germany alone is a much-debated question. Two months ago we laughed at the idea of an airforce being anything but a supplementary striking force. Perhaps air raids of ever-increasing severeity may be the substitute for the second front!

We Can All Be
EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

Cut Your Fuel Wood During Slack Periods

Release Transportation, Improve Forests That Way

By J. E. DAVIS
(Extension Forester, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.)

Woodland owners can release transportation for war purposes by burning their own wood and supplying wood for similar use in towns and cities.

Fuel-wood cutting according to a definite plan to correct poor forest conditions resulting from mistakes of the past is suggested.

Fuel wood can be obtained from misshapen trees, dead and insect-ridden trees, other cull trees, from tops of trees cut for saw logs and from suppressed or unthrifty trees cut in thinning or woodland improvement operations.

Trees suitable for lumber, veneer logs, box bolts or other special products should not be taken for fuel. Large quantities of oak are needed for ships, hickory and ash for handles and lumber and pulpwood for other war industries..

These products can be obtained only from well-formed trees, and cutting them for fuel is a waste of valuable resources.

During Slack Periods.

Fuel wood can be harvested during slack periods on the farm, but some time must be allowed for seasoning. Cutting should also be planned to promote a better stand of thrifty growing timber by removing "wolf" and "weed" trees.

For seasoning, the wood should be stacked, not heaped, on bed pieces over dry ground, and preferably in an open yard to get greatest air circulation. Fuel wood burns more efficiently and yields much more heat when it has dried at least six months.

Labor-Saving Device

Farmers will have to work more hours to reach their 1942 production goals unless they adopt electricity as a labor-saving device, just as tractors are being used to speed up field work.

It has already been demonstrated that much labor can be saved at a little expense in the use of electricity for lights, for putting water under pressure, for processing and handling feeds, for electric fencing and for operating milking machines and brooding pigs and chicks.

Electricity will play an important part in making the development of rural industries possible. On farms where secondary agricultural production is not practiced, the extra time resulting from the present system of mechanized farming may be used to advantage in the shop operating a wood lathe or other woodworking equipment, or on an electric welder making some part or a complete item of commercial value.

Vegetable Insect Control 'Is Not a Difficult Task

Follow a few simple rules and control of vegetable insects is not difficult.

A duster may be obtained for a dollar up, but one may be made at home with a tin can, a stick and a piece of cheese cloth. Ask the county extension agents how it's done. Next, have ready a supply of insecticides for use at the first sign of insect injury. These are cryolite for control of bean beetles, cucumber beetles, cabbage worms and other insects which feed upon the fruit and foliage of the plants; rotenone and sulphur to control tomato fruit worm, flea beetles, plant lice and leaf hoppers; and concentrated pyrethrum dust for squash bugs, stink bugs, and harlequin cabbage bugs. Watch the garden for the first sign of injury and dust both sides of leaves.

Apply poison bait late in the afternoon for control of cut worms, grasshoppers and adult wingless May beetle, or June bug. Poison bait also will control mole crickets which frequent sandy soils.

A bait made of cryolite, finely chopped carrots or turnips and wheat bran will control the adult weevil.

Cherokee Rose

An old Indian legend recounts the love of a young Seminole warrior for the daughter of an enemy Cherokee chieftain. When the girl fled with her lover to live among the Seminoles she took along as a souvenir of her native country only a sprig of rose, which she planted in her new home. This is the Cherokee Rose, which came to be regarded as a symbol of the land of Georgia. It is the state of Georgia's official bloom.

In the barnyards and gullies of farms and in the basements and attics of homes is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example.

Even in peacetime, scrap provided about 50% of the raw material for steel. It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel—with most impurities removed, and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

The production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined. But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead and tin.

The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help?

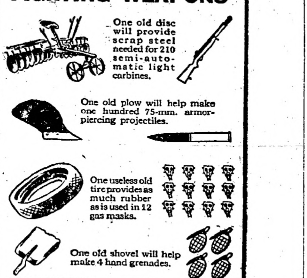
First—collect all of your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

JUNK MAKES FIGHTING WEAPONS



One old disc will provide scrap steel needed for 210 semi-automatic light carbines.
One old plow will help make one hundred 75-mm. armor-piercing projectiles.
One useless old tire provides as much rubber as is used in 12 gas masks.
One old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades.

MATERIALS NEEDED

Scrap Iron and steel.
Other metals of all kinds.
Old rubber.
Rags, Manila rope, burlap bags.
Waste Cooking Fats—When you get a pound or more, strain into a large tin can and sell to your meat dealer.

Johnson-Wilson Wedding

Against a lovely background of gladioli and tall white tapers, Verna Murriel Johnson, granddaughter of Mr. Otto Johnson, and Pvt. Vern Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas Wilson spoke their marriage vows, Sunday afternoon, August 9th at 2 o'clock at a chapel wedding at Camp San Luis Obispo, California with Chaplain Gillmor prompting the single-ring ceremony.

The brides gown was of a white sugar-mist chiffon, fashioned with a full floor-length skirt. She wore a halo of white roses in her hair. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift of the groom. She carried a French bouquet of pink carnations and buvordia.

Miss Norma Ortloff, a friend of the bride served as bridesmaid. Her gown was a floor length model of pale blue marquisette. She also wore white roses in her hair and a shoulder corsage of pink carnations and buvordia.

The groom was attended by Pvt. Wallace Sorenson, a friend. Both gentlemen were in full Army dress uniform.

Prenuptial music included "I Love You Truly" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," played by Pvt. Arthur Priest, Chapel Organist.

The bridal party entered the chapel to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" Mendelssohns Recessional March was also used with Pvt. Priest at the organ.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal party and immediate friends were entertained at a luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Warren, friends of the couple.

The table was very pretty, decorated with gladoli and fern. The center piece was a large beautifully decorated wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The groom is a graduate of the Agricultural College at Crookston. He entered the Army six months ago.

Mrs. Anna Gavere and daughter of Minneapolis came Wednesday for a visit with friends and relatives.

Continue Marketing Quotas

Washington — Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard announced a proposal to continue marketing quotas for the 1943 wheat crop would be submitted to a referendum of growers next spring before harvest time.

Quotas have been in effect on wheat since 1941. Their continuance must be approved by at least two-thirds of the farmers voting.

The secretary said he proposed quotas at this time because he wished to get the word out early to farmers now planning their fall wheat seeding operations.

Emphasizing that present stocks of wheat were abundant, Wickard said that every farmer, in order to make his best contribution to the war food program, should divert just as much wheat land as practicable to crops more urgently needed.

Hayloft Jamboree At Warren

Northwestern Minnesota resident will have an opportunity to see and hear their favorite radio stars in person on Saturday night, Sept. 5, when the ever popular WDAY Hayloft Jamboree will present their new program in front of the grandstand at the Marshall County Fairgrounds in Warren.

The Marshall County Agricultural association is sponsoring the appearance of the popular Hayloft Jamboree at the Fairgrounds as one means of reducing their outstanding indebtedness, said R. B. Taralseth, president of the board of directors.

"While the association enjoyed staging a sucessful fair in July, the board feels it would like to further reduce its old indebtedness this year in order to be better prepared in case the county fair is not operated in 1943:" Mr. Taralseth reported.

The Fargo radio station will bring a company of from 30 to 40 entertainers to participate in the 1942 edition of the Hayloft Jamboree at their only Northwest appearance in Warren. Such favorites as Curly Parsons and His Prairie Pardners, Jack Lockhart, the Three Notes, Ole Anderson, Bill Dean, Ken Kennedy and dozens of others will be featured in the hour and a half program.

Relatives and friends gave Mrs. Orris Johnson a parcel shower at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Olson, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sorter, Mr. and Mrs. Christ Engen, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Maijala and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ingvald Johnson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Elef Sorter and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sorter, Mrs. Waagedahl and son Elling spent Sunday evening at a house warming party for Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Sorter. A sum of money was presented to the couple and lunch was served by the self invited guests.

Confirmants Enroll Sept. 4

The 1942-1943 Confirmation classes of the Nazareth Lutheran Church will be enrolled on Friday, Sept. 4, at 10:20 a. m. As in the previous years, the age limit will be that the Junior or first year confirmants must be 12 years of age on or before Aug. 1. Exceptions to this rule will be granted only where circumstances warrant. The Junior class will be started out with a new confirmation book which has recently come off the press and is edited by Dr. Jacob Tanner. It will be used experimentally for 4 - 6 weeks. It is a book that comes in harmony with the new Sunday School books that have been used for a number of years. We invite all the young people of the community and congregation who may wish this instruction in the Christian faith which lead to Confirmation in the Lutheran Church.

Rev. and Mrs. H. O. Peterson and girls and Miss Clarice Olson of Viking visited with Rev. and Mrs. Hanson on Monday evening. The Petersons, accompanied by Miss Olson, moved to Edmore N. D., on Wednesday. Miss Olson will remain there until they are settled.

Japanese Rule in Korea

By Younghill Kang

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with American Magazine.)

Korea today is an object lesson to the world of what can happen to a nation that is conquered by Japan. Koreans, during the years of Japanese occupation, have been enslaved as no other people in the modern world.

During the long years of peace since Japan conquered Korea, she has had every opportunity to show to this prostrate, disarmed and helpless people some glimmer of justice, fairness and common humanity. She has shown none. With every passing year of her rule of torture, she has ground the Korean people into a deeper humiliation.

Yet she has not broken the spirit of the Koreans, and she knows it. Japan knows that in Korea, at her very doorstep in Asia, she has 22,000,000 deadly enemies who would fight her tomorrow if they had arms in their hands.

Rule by Armed Force.

The Japanese government in Korea is an army-police dictatorship. The dictator is the Japanese governor-general, responsible to no one except to the emperor of Japan—which means, in practice, the military clique around the emperor. The governor - general rules through swarms of Jap police and secret police—spies—backed up by an army of occupation.

Under this rule the Korean has no rights which the Japanese must respect. Suppose you are a Korean living in Korea today. If you walk down the street you can be slapped, spat upon, or kicked by any Jap who does not happen to like your looks, or who thinks you did not jump off the sidewalk quickly enough as he approached. Theoretically, you can sue the Jap in court for redress. In practice, if you make any protest, the Jap police will mark you as a trouble maker and then you are in for it.

The police can search your home at any moment, without notice. They can arrest you without a warrant. Once arrested, you cannot see a lawyer, or even send word to your relatives where you are. You are presumed guilty. You can be flogged or tortured without trial and without appeal. You may be held for months or for years; you may be beaten to death or crippled for life. If, as occasionally happens, the police desire the formality of a trial, you are tortured with fire and the rack until you sign a fake confession.

"But surely," you may say, "such cruelties are unusual." They are not unusual, they are the rule. They happen to hundreds of ordinary people in Korea every day.

Every year tens of thousands of Koreans are flogged and tortured without trial. It can happen at any time to any Korean, man, woman or child.

Japan's Peace Terms.

What Japan has done in Korea she will do in the Philippines, in Burma, in the East Indies, in China and in India, if she wins this war. She will do it in the United States if she makes good the boast of the Jap admirals who say they will "dictate the peace terms in the White House in Washington."

Japan's most effective slogan in this war is that she is fighting for the freedom and prosperity of her Asiatic neighbors—"Asia for the Asiatics." Millions of people in India, Burma and the East Indies may have believed this slogan. I bid them look at Korea. Japan's true purpose is "Slavery for Asiatics Under Japanese Masters," and of that Korea is the living proof.

This will give some idea of how Koreans, of every class and business, exist under the brutal heel of Japanese rule.

Most Koreans are farmers. If you own a farm on land so barren that you can hardly scratch a miserable living off it, the Japs may let you keep it—though they will seize any crop at starvation prices for the Japanese army. If your farm has fertile land, the Japs grab it under legal pretext, then take you back on the land as a tenant or laborer, but actually as a slave.

America in Korea.

Today in Korea, key point of Asia, 22 million people stir again and dream of freedom. But when Korea is first set free, she will be almost as helpless as a man who has been bound up for many years in chains. That is what Jap rule has done.

Americans were their good friends in earlier days. Americans built the first railroad, the first electric light plant, the first water works in Korea. They constructed the first large Korean steamboats, and taught Koreans modern mining methods.

More than that, America signed a treaty of perpetual peace and friendship with Korea, which said: "If other powers deal unjustly or oppressively with either government, the other will exert their good offices."

All Koreans believe that the American people, if they had known the true facts, would have reached out their strong arm to save the country. That was long years ago—years of humiliation and darkness and torture.

The darkness lingers, but there is a new light in the sky: America.

Abashless Mahomet

Mahomet made the people believe that he would call a hill to him, and from the top of it offer up his prayers for the observers of his law. The people assembled; Mahomet called the hill to come to him, again and again; and when the hill stood still, he was never a whit abashed, but said: "If the hill will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet will go to the hill."—Bacon.

STRETCH CHINTZ OVER CARDBOARD THEN FRAME
OLD WASHSTAND WITH SIDE SHELVES, NEW TOP AND 4" BASE BOARD MAY BE USED IN LIVING ROOM, DINING ROOM OR ENTRANCE HALL

ALMOST any plain washstand or dresser may be given long smart lines by adding open shelves at the ends. Here, a top of plywood with a plain moulding around the edges extends across the top of the stand and shelves. By adding a plain baseboard and a coat of paint the piece is finished with a modern air. The paint should match the woodwork and if old hardware is removed to make way for simple new drawer pulls the screw holes should be filled with plastic wood and sandpapered before painting.

The diagram at the upper right shows how to make the wall decoration from a remnant of flowered chintz. If you use an old frame, the chintz picture may be given the appearance of an oil painting by applying several coats of varnish, allowing plenty of time for each coat to dry thoroughly.

What Causes Your Constipation?

The super-refined foods we eat these days too often do not give us enough "bulk food." And medical science tells us that lack of sufficient "bulk" is one of the commonest causes of constipation!

If that is your trouble, harsh cathartics and violent purges are, at best, only temporary remedies. How much better to get at the cause and correct it!

Why not make sure that you are getting the "bulk" you need by eating Kellogg's All-Bran? All-Bran is a delicious, crispy cereal that millions of folks rely on. Eat All-Bran yourself—eat it daily—and drink plenty of water—not only to get regular but to keep regular. All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, it's wise to see a doctor.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Experts Call U. S. Attacks on Solomons 'Upset' to All Jap Strategy in Pacific; Nazis Pay Dearly for New Advances As Russ Succeed in Blasting Oil Wells

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

UPSET:
To Jap Strategy

Aerial support from captured land based airdromes was aiding the U. S. marines as they extended their footholds gained in the Solomon islands. This important step marked the second major phase of U. S. military and naval activity aimed at driving the Japs forever from the southwest Pacific.

When this first American offensive of the Pacific war opened, planes from General MacArthur's forces in Australia were the only land based craft which could aid the operation. Now, however, the marines had pushed far enough forward to operate seized airfields.

Chief objective of the long-planned and complicated offensive in the Solomons was Tulagi, where the Japs had been profitably using a large harbor for raids on United Nations shipping lanes to Australia. That this menace had been overcome to some degree was indicated by the lack of Jap reports on such shipping. This looked too as if Jap reinforcements for their Solomon forces had either been swept out of the sector or had been pushed near to Australia and thus subjected to attack from that direction.

Another objective for the United Nations in the Solomons had been Guadacanal, one of the few islands suitable for a good-sized airfield.

Even as the marines blasted forward to these targets, warplanes under the command of General MacArthur were pounding unmercifully at Jap-held points nearer Australia. On New Britain, Rabaul, junction of the Jap aerial lifeline to the Coral sea and New Guinea, was pounded constantly. Likewise on New Guinea, Salamaua was a prize objective of the bombings.

RUSSIAN OIL:
Proves Hard to Get

The loss of another Caucasus oil city to the Germans was admitted in a Russian communique which stated that Maikop had fallen, but only after "equipment . . . and all supplies of oil were evacuated in time and the oil establishments themselves were made completely unusable."

The application of Russia's famous scorched earth policy was told in the communique. "The German Fascists who expected with the capture of Maikop to enrich themselves at the expense of Soviet oil have miscalculated. They did not get the Soviet oil and will not get it."

TIMOSHENKO
Set for new tactics.

Evidence that huge air battles were being waged along the Russian front from the Caucasus to the north came with the official report that during the previous week the Nazis had lost 369 planes against 241 Soviet planes lost.

New tactics were being employed by the Germans in the battle for Stalingrad. Self-propelled artillery was coupled with tanks and motorized infantry to crack Soviet lines. But Marshal Simeon Timoshenko had had time to mass artillery to oppose the enemy.

The report admitted that the Nazis had made a minor gain by hammering a wedge into the advance defense positions of one infantry regiment on the Kletskaya front. However, a Russian infantry unit reported fighting northeast of Kotelnikovo was said to have repulsed several Nazi attacks and then routed a Rumanian regiment.

SECOND FRONT:
Time Is Short

Those thousands of people all over the world who have been clamoring for a "second front" to aid the hard-pressed Russians and overthrow Hitler, received a hint of the urgency of preparations going on for such a program when Lieut. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commander of U. S. army forces in the European theater told a press conference that "the time is short."

Said the general:

"Training in all its phases must be intensive. This is true first because time is short, second because the problems we have demand the ultimate in trained personnel, and third because our men must be toughened and hardened physically to stand the most rigorous operations."

This, coupled with his "time is short" statement, indicated to observers that General Eisenhower's attitude reflected the feeling in many unofficial circles to the effect that a second front is needed at the earliest possible moment and also that the British have found the Germans to be a tough and hardy foe.

LIEUT. GEN. DWIGHT EISENHOWER
"Time is short."

MOSLEMS SPEAK:
On Cooperation

If the British continue to sacrifice Moslems' interests in seeking peace with the Hindu-dominated All-India Congress party, it will mean the end of co-operation between 80,000,000 Moslems and the British empire.

That warning was uttered by Mohammed Ali Jinnah, leader of the All-India Moslem league, which has not participated in Mohandas K. Gandhi's passive resistance campaign for immediate Indian independence.

Although the Moslems are a minority in the Indian population, they have contributed far more than their share of men to the 1,000,000 guarding against an expected attack by the Japanese.

Jinnah, in a press conference, explained his position thus:

In his capacity as leader of the Moslem league, he offered at the beginning of the war to co-operate with the British. This assurance has been given many times. But, he said, the Congress party, consisting mostly of Hindu political elements (and a minority of Moslem representation) consistently has refused to co-operate. Because of this, the British have attempted to satisfy the Hindus with more and more offers of a part in the government. Each concession, he pointed out, weakens the Moslems' strength while building that of the Hindus.

JAP NAVAL LOSSES:
'Five Times Ours'

In face of ridiculous Japanese claims in the southwestern Pacific, Adm. Arthur J. Hepburn, new chairman of the navy's general board, announced that Jap naval losses since the start of the war have been possibly five times as great as those of the United States, including losses at Pearl Harbor.

"Their losses in tonnage have been several times ours, perhaps as great as five times as much," Hepburn stated. That includes Pearl Harbor. Most of the damage done there has been repaired.

"And one thing you want to remember is that we are very conservative in our claims. When we say a ship is sunk, she's sunk."

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

DISEMBARKED: Nazi radio reports claimed that a number of U. S. ships disembarked American troops at "various ports throughout Iraq." This was unconfirmed by official U. S. dispatches.

* * *

NOISELESS: A noiseless propeller which eliminates the hum that submarines use to detect ships has been perfected by a Scottish scientist.

HOT WATER: Hot water rationing for New York was the word from the office of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, who said that some sort of plan must be worked out to conserve fuel. Under a suggested plan hot water would be available only between certain hours. "And even during those hours tenants should be willing to accept only warm water," he said.

Two More to Go

"It's getting late," remarked the first fisherman, "and we haven't caught a single fish."

"Well," replied his companion, "let's let two more big ones get away and then go home."

When you hear a Marine called a "Leatherneck," it has nothing to do with the epidermis of his neck. Years ago the Marine uniform was equipped with a high stiff leather collar supposed to give a more military carriage. From that time on, "Leatherneck" has been the word for a Marine. The word for his favorite cigarette is "Camel"—the favorite cigarette also of men in the Army, Navy, and Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) So if you want to make a hit with your friends or relatives in the service, send a carton of Camels. Your local dealer is featuring Camel cartons for service men.—Adv.

Hayloft Jamboree At Warren

Northwestern Minnesota resident will have an opportunity to see and hear their favorite radio stars in person on Saturday night, Sept. 5, when the ever popular WDAY Hayloft Jamboree will present their new program in front of the grandstand at the Marshall County Fairgrounds in Warren.

The Marshall County Agricultural association is sponsoring the appearance of the popular Hayloft Jamboree at the Fairgrounds as one means of reducing their outstanding indebtedness, said R. B. Taralseth, president of the board of directors.

"While the association enjoyed staging a sucessful fair in July, the board feels it would like to further reduce its old indebtedness this year in order to be better prepared in case the county fair is not operated in 1943:" Mr. Taralseth reported.

The Fargo radio station will bring a company of from 30 to 40 entertainers to participate in the 1942 edition of the Hayloft Jamboree at their only Northwest appearance in Warren. Such favorites as Curly Parsons and His Prairie Pardners, Jack Lockhart, the Three Notes, Ole Anderson, Bill Dean, Ken Kennedy and dozens of others will be featured in the hour and a half program starting at 8:30 p. m.

Life Of John Ness

Funeral services were conducted from the Nazareth Lutheran Church on Wednesday for John Ness, who passed away Saturday. He had been ailing for some time but death came much sooner than anyone expected.

John Ness was born in Nesdal, Norway, on June 9, 1882, of the parents Mr. and Mrs. Torger Ness. He was baptised and confirmed in the Lutheran Church in Norway.

In the spring of 1899, he, together with his parents and other members of the family, emigrated from Norway to America. He has made his home at various places in this country but for the last few years much of his time has been spent at Holt.

He passed away at St. Luke's hospital at Thief River Falls on Saturday, August 29th, at the age of 60 years, 2 months and 20 days.

He leaves to mourn one son Marshall Ness, whose last address was Buffalo, New York. One daughter, Thelma, preceded him in death. His parents died in 1934.

Other survivors are two sisters and four brothers as follows: Mrs. Gust Williamson of Greenbush, Mrs. Oscar Moline of Crookston, Ralph, Hans, Theodore and Olaf all of Holt.

Pall bearers were Anton Peterson, Herman Peterson, Lars Ring, Ingvald Fosholm, Henry Fosholm and George Johnson.

Rev. T. C. L. Hanson attended a meeting of the Program Committee for the Thief River Falls Circuit Luther League at Middle River on Monday evening. Rev. Hanson is president of the organization.

Life of Mrs. Emma Swartz

Funeral services were conducted Monday for Mrs. Emma Swartz at the Nazareth Lutheran church with Rev. T. C. L. Hanson officiating. She had been in poor health the past years and had recently spent much time at a hospital after having broken a hip. She passed away Friday, August 28.

Mrs. Emma Swartz was born September 16, 1871 in Germany. She came to Renville County at the age of 16. In 1896 she was united in marriage to Emil Sauter. To this union was born five children, two of whom preceeded her in death. Later she moved to Grygla, Minnesota, where her husband died.

Two years later she married Charley Schwartz. To this union were born three children, two of whom preceeded her in death.

She leaves to mourn four sons: Willie of Anamoose, N. D., John of Vancouver, Washington, Robert and Henry at home and twelve grandchildren.

She was at the time of her death 71 years, 11 months and 12 days.

Pall bearers were: Wm. Stienhauer, Arno Stienhauer, Fred Stienhauer, Wm. Holst, Fred Voth and J. P. Augustine.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved mother and grandmother. The beautiful floral offerings, the memorial contributions and the expressions of sympathy are deeply appreciated.

Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Hanson for his comforting words.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swartz and fanily, Mr. and Mrs. William Sauter and family, Robert Sauter, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Baker and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. Parma.

Karen Elizabeth, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton W. Carlson was baptised at the morning worship in Nazareth Lutheran Church on Sunday. She was born on July 30, 1942 and her sponsors were Miss Edith Herseth, John Herseth and Miss Ruth Sylvester all of Bertha. Others in attendance at the service were the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Herseth of Bertha Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Carlson of Middle River.

The Nazateth Luther League has purchased new drapes for the church parlors. These were hung on Monday by Missess Evelyn Larson, Beatrice Larson, Eileen Larson, Sylvia Sandberg, Geraldine Larson and Marian Backlund. This makes the church parlors completely redecorated. The sidewalks around the church and parsonage are now completed.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Brazil's Declaration of War on Axis Aids Western Hemisphere Solidarity; 'Largest' U. S. Convoy Reaches Britain; Marines Score Again in Pacific Drive

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

U. S. fliers in London celebrate after the first raid on Hitler's European arsenals. Target of the first raid was Rouen, France, which was left in flames. Center: Holding the wire from the first bomb dropped by a Flying Fortress is Capt. William Musselwhite of Jackson, Miss.

LARGEST CONVOY:
Arrives in England

Shape of things to come in Europe was clearly etched by the announcement that the largest U. S. troop convoy ever attempted in this war had landed safely in Great Britain. Military experts quickly viewed this move as a speed-up gesture in United Nations' second front plans.

Included in the convoy were "many thousands" of soldiers and airmen plus vast quantities of war materials. Troops were swiftly disembarked and scattered to the interior of England, there to join other units already in training for the attack on German held Europe. "Special units" and "task forces" in the convoy added weight to the theory that U. S. troops will play an increasing role in future Commando raids or other action on the continent.

MORE ACTION:
In the Pacific

As U. S. forces were continuing their mopping up activities in the Solomon islands word from another sector of the Pacific indicated that the marines had done it again. This time it was the Gilbert islands that felt the power of a marine detachment as it smashed a Jap seaplane base, radio installations and stores on the island of Makin, island in the Gilbert group. This action came in the form of a hit and run attack.

Caught entirely by surprise, the Japs were so confused that bombers from other bases actually destroyed their Jap planes on the ground.

Meanwhile all was not quiet in the Solomons, scene of the earlier and more extensive action by the U. S. forces. Here the marines were busy cleaning out the Japs that retreated to the hills after initial successes were scored by the American attackers.

Trouble for the marines came from another source but an official communique from Pearl Harbor revealed that it had been treated with typical marine thoroughness. This was a night attack by fast boats of 700 Japs who stormed the marine-held positions from the sea. After a night and day of fighting, 670 Japs were dead and the other 30 were captured. Marine losses were 28 killed and 72 injured.

WAR PRODUCTION:
An Important Date

Straight from the source that should know—the War Production board—the nation learned how it was doing in the battle of the assembly lines. Donald Nelson, WPB chief, told the U. S. frankly where it stood. It amounted to this: War production is ahead in some categories, behind schedule in others. Biggest problems are shortages of materials and balancing of output among various agencies and service branches. These, he said, are getting vigorous attention.

Such production also now has a date objective. Nelson said that U. S. war production is being planned to provide the maximum impact on the enemy by July 1, 1943. This does not mean that our offensive will necessarily reach its peak by that date but this is the definite strategic goal of production and all production will be gauged by the one question: "How much will it contribute to the war effort by July 1, 1943?"

ELECTRIC POWER:
Less for Civilians

In a move to readjust its wartime power expansion program the War Production board has halted or suspended work on 85 public and private power projects. In addition, the WPB assigned such low priority ratings to 28 federal projects that completion probably will be postponed until after the war, unless new demands arise. The WPB said that "civilian inconvenience and sacrifice must be expected."

BRAZIL AT WAR:
First in South America

Angered by months of Axis aggression, Brazil became the first South American nation to declare war upon Germany and Italy, thus swelling the ranks of the United Nations to 29. Brazil's declaration of a state of war climaxed a week filled with mass demonstrations against the Axis sinking of five Brazilian ships with the loss of approximately 600 lives.

The state of war did not include Japan, although Brazil broke diplomatic relations with all three Axis nations last January.

The declaration of war cleared the way for immediate measures to secure the protection of what has been termed the most vulnerable land area on the Atlantic side of the Western hemisphere—the Natal bulge only 1,600 miles from Dakar in Africa. Military men long have pointed to this sector as the place where Axis forces would strike first if they were able to consolidate their African and European positions.

Brig. Gen. Amaro Soares Bittencourt, Brazilian military attache to the United States, said that Brazil "is defending the continent," and that "we must congregate and reunite all our military elements for the defense of the northeast, the strategical point on the bulge of Brazil for invasion by the Axis."

RUSSIA:
Bloody Battle

Good news resulting from Allied offensives in the Pacific was offset by continued reversals on the Russian front. As the Nazi pincer movement drove relentlessly toward Stalingrad, the official Soviet communique admitted new crossings of the Don river.

"In the area northeast of Kotelnikovo," the communique said, "our troops fought intensive battles with large tank and infantry forces. On various sectors the Germans, at the cost of tremendous losses, managed to advance."

Fresh Nazi reinforcements, brought out of the reserve pool or shifted from other sectors, were thrown into the bloody battle for Stalingrad. The reckless disregard of losses gave evidence of Nazi desperation for a knockout blow to the Red army.

Stalingrad is a rich prize. Its prime importance is in its location on the Volga river, along which the oil of Baku and Allied supplies shipped through the Persian gulf reach central Russia. In addition, the city's huge plants produce tanks and war supplies, and its oil refineries add to its strategic value.

COMMANDO RAID:
'Official Success'

As Allied service chiefs studied the results of the Commando raid on Dieppe, official sources declared that the operation fulfilled its objective. Valuable information on Nazi defenses was secured.

The raid, employing British and Canadian Commandos supported by American Rangers, was a nine-hour battle on the Nazi-fortified coastal defenses at Dieppe, midway between Calais and Le Havre. Initial German estimates placed the invader force at 15,000, but the exact number remained an Allied secret. The force carried tanks and artillery with them.

"As the result of heavy fighting . . . our casualties were high but not unduly so in view of the operation," the British communique said. "The navy lost a fairly large number of landing craft because naval craft did not leave the French coast until it was known that every possible man had been taken off."

The raiders were reported to have destroyed ammunition dumps, a six-gun shore artillery battery, a large anti-aircraft battery and a radio location station.

Reports from Vichy placed British dead at 500.

ALLOTMENT:
Speed-Up

Dependents of enlisted men in the U. S. armed forces will be getting their allotments earlier than November 1 under the terms of a bill passed by congress and now signed by the President.

After the President had affixed his signature the navy said it would issue such allotment checks "very soon" and the army announced that their payments would start early in September.

Originally these payments would have started November 1, although applications filed early would be retroactive to June 1. Basic payment to dependents is $50 per month, servicemen contributing $22 and the army or navy $28.

It could not be determined how many applications for such payments had been made to the army or navy. It was estimated however that about half the men in the service would have dependents receiving the allotments.

YOUR DRAFT STATUS:
May Change Soon

Married men and men now deferred because they work in essential industry will be called in the draft in the not distant future. That was the statement of Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, before a well-packed forum at a Chicago university.

In respect to men deferred because of war work, Gen. Hershey said: "You just can't go on deferring a man for work reasons alone if you can find an older man, a woman, or a physically handicapped person to take that man's place. It's going to be necessary to reclassify those 2A's and 2B's (war-work deferments) — and necessary means just that, necessary. Just because they are in war industry is no reason for permanent deferment. The industrialists will simply have to train substitutes."

BRIG. GEN. LEWIS B. HERSHEY
Work reasons alone aren't enough.

He was also asked about the prospects for 3A's—deferred because of dependencies.

"The first in order are the so-called "grandmother cases," the men with second-class dependents—grandparents, mothers, brothers, step-brothers and so on. I think they're under the light right now. As sure as September 1 comes around—well, obviously, those fellows are next.

"And the men with wives only are just as obviously next after that. Then would come the men with wives and children, and the question there seems to be what is the degree of dependency?"

COFFEE, OVERALLS:
One Down; the Other Up

The possibilities of coffee rationing appeared more imminent with the government's order to restrict deliveries to dealers to 65 per cent of last year's deliveries as compared with the present monthly quota of 75 per cent.

The decrease in coffee deliveries was but one of several actions which will bring the war ever closer to Mr. and Mrs. John Public.

Increased employment has resulted in steps by the War Production board to make cotton looms turn out more rugged fabrics needed for serviceable work clothes.

The theater-going public may have reduced fare in the not so distant future. Operators of movie and stage theaters were warned by WPB that shortages of materials would make it increasingly difficult to keep all show houses open.

MISCELLANY:

COMMANDER: An ace of World War I, Brig. Gen. Clayton L. Bissell, was appointed commander of U. S. army air forces in China, Burma and India.

IMPROVED: Returning from an official tour of Alaska, Sen. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington announced himself "much improved by the improved military situation" in the Aleutians.

SUNK: American submarines, hammering at Japan's extended Pacific communication lines, sank four and damaged two more enemy ships. Two cargo ships and a large transport were sunk in the western Pacific. A large merchant ship was sunk off the Aleutians.

TEAM: Henry Kaiser, western shipbuilding wizard, and Howard Hughes, noted round-the-world flier, have announced they are joining in a program to build a fleet of 500 "flying freighters" to carry important war supplies to the fighting fronts in all parts of the world.

Sportlight
By GRANTLAND RICE

"YOU brought out an important point in connection with Carl Hubbell," writes Old Timer, "that I don't think you stressed enough. This was about Hubbell after 20 years of pitching, 15 years as a big leaguer, still trying to learn something new or something better.

"I always knew that Carl Hubbell was one of the smartest pitchers in baseball. This proves that he is even smarter than I thought he was. For the great majority, especially those who are above the average in skill, think they know most of it. They are no longer interested in learning something new and something better.

Carl Hubbell

"This is a great human weakness. Too many think they know enough when no one knows much. Especially in these days no one knows nearly enough.

"What a fine thing it would be to have many more people adopting Carl Hubbell's method of still trying to learn after so many years at the top."

The Meager Minority

This happens to be 100 per cent true. We'll take the argument back to sport.

Those who happen to lack certain qualifications in the way of skill or knack, get discouraged too easily and give up.

They either lack the determination to keep trying or they fail to understand how much they might learn from others that would carry them out of the rut.

Many of those who happen to be rigged out with speed or skill or the winning knack take it for granted they are approaching the superman class and so need no further instruction or improvement.

There never was a human being who knew it all, or anything even approaching the ultimate.

You'll find that Cobb and Tilden were still experimenting, studying, working on new angles after more than twenty years of championship competition.

We could also name a number of others who stopped learning quickly and showed no particular improvement in later years.

They had nothing to learn from coaches or trainers.

Old timers were jokes. They already had the answers.

Sarazen Speaks

"One of the big thrills I've gotten out of golf," Gene Sarazen says, "is this—I've learned something every year I've played.

"I've found out that things I thought were important 20 years ago are not so important after all. I've found other things I payed little attention to meant a lot.

"Hagen was always a great guy in this respect. He was always trying to learn something that might improve his game. After he had been Open champion, I saw him one day taking a lesson, or at least friendly advice, from Harry Vardon on how to play a certain type of shot. Walter never thought he knew it all, or any big part of it.

Walter Hagen

"I've tried to learn something that would help my play for the last ten or fifteen years. I thought as a kid I knew most of it.

"It was only when I began to find out how little I really knew that I started winning again after a lapse. You get a lot of foolish and useless advice. But here and there you can pick up something that will help a lot."

Walter Camp and Pudge

Years ago Walter Camp told me an interesting experience he had had with Pudge Heffelfinger, a football star who lasted over 30 years.

"Pudge was so good," Camp said, "that I was afraid he would be another know-it-all. In place of that he kept coming to me for more advice on guard play. I showed him three new variations. Later on he came back and told me he had learned four new angles. One of these was the possibility of the running guard. How many people know that Pudge Heffelfinger had worked out and developed the correct method of the running guard around 1889 or 1890?"

All I know is that as late as 1921 or 1922 Heffelfinger, then 53 years old, kept telling Bo McMillin, then 22, to speed up his start and give him a chance to lead that interference. Ask Bo.

"The more you know, the easier any game is," an old-time trainer said recently. "You can save yourself so much and last so much longer. You can often handle superior physical power and even greater natural skill by knowing more than your rival does. But this can only come from trying to learn everything you can as you go along.

HOOKED RUG 29"X52"
13"
CUT PATTERNS FROM FOLDED PAPER
BLUE-GREEN-BLACK AND GREY USED TO REPEAT COLORS OF CHAIR COVER

THIS is another design in the series planned to use up odds and ends of woolen materials to make lasting floor coverings. The design is very old and was made by other women during other wars. Dimensions are given in the sketch for making your own patterns for the links and the fleur de lis. The shaded parts of the diagrams show a half and a quarter of the design drawn on folded paper. The dotted lines show how the pattern will appear when the paper has been cut. The design is outlined on the burlap by drawing around the cut-out pattern with wax crayon.

The rug colorings have been planned to repeat tones in the room color schemes.

NOTE: There are suggestions for preparing hooked rug materials and for making original designs in BOOK 5 of the series which Mrs. Spears has prepared for readers. Book 6 contains directions for a hooked rug that any beginner can make easily and quickly. Booklets are 10 cents each. If you order both booklets you will receive a pattern and directions for the Add-A-Square Rug. Be sure to request it with your order. Address:

ASK ME ANOTHER ?
A General Quiz

The Questions

1. What mythical creature was half horse and half man?
2. In what city is Threadneedle street?
3. During a race, how much of the time has a horse all four feet off the ground?
4. Is it unlawful to destroy U. S. coins?
5. Who was the first and only President to be buried at Arlington National cemetery?

The Answers

1. The centaur.
2. London.
3. A race horse has all four feet off the ground one-fourth of the time during a race.
4. No. There is no law against it. The law is against mutilating, lightening or defacing.
5. William Howard Taft.

In the Navy a floor is a "deck," doors are "bulkheads," downstairs is "below," and a cigarette is a "Camel." At least, Camel is the favorite cigarette among Navy men as it is among men in the Army, Marines and Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) And a carton of Camels is their favorite gift. Your local dealer is featuring Camel cartons for service men, now. And now is the time to send that carton.—Adv.

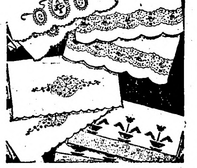
THINGS for You TO MAKE



BEAUTY comes to the linen closet in fascinating pairs when pillow slips are embroidered with these new motifs. At top, there is a picture treatment, unusual and interesting. Next—a scalloped band of dainty flowers in all white is effectively relieved by pastel center flowers. For the third pair, the perennial butterfly emerges in a new and lovely design; lastly, pots of tulips furnish distinctive embroidery in cross stitch.

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

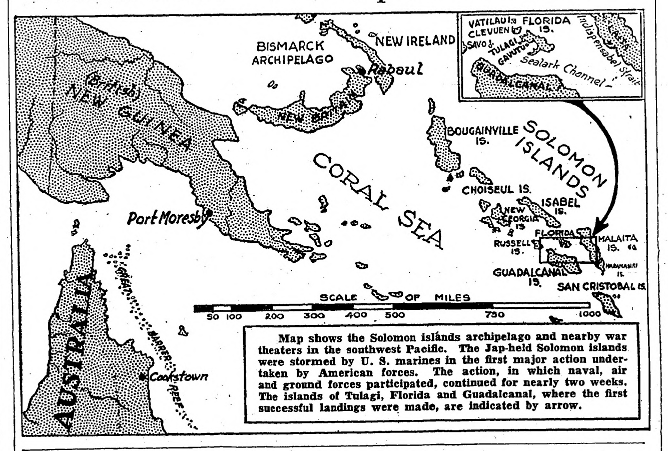
Solomon Islands—Where Japs Were Driven Out



Map shows the Solomon islands archipelago and nearby war theaters in the southwest Pacific. The Jap-held Solomon islands were stormed by U. S. marines in the first major action undertaken by American forces. The action, in which naval, air and ground forces participated, continued for nearly two weeks. The islands of Tulagi, Florida and Guadalcanal, where the first successful landings were made, are indicated by arrow.

Gun Girls of the RAF Are Doing Grand Job

A notable organization in Britain is the Women's Auxiliary Air Force service, which is attached to the Royal Air force. They do all kinds of jobs short of piloting combat ships in action. Shown above (left) two WAAF girls load machine gun bullets into magazines that are installed in the planes. Center: Repairing a gun turret demounted from a bomber. Right: Girls of the RAF armory—angels of death—never give a thought to the grim implications of their job as they service the machine guns and cannon used in the daily fights over the English channel and France.

Trains for Double Revenge on Japs

C. R. Baker of St. Louis, machinist's mate first class (left), learns to use a tommy-gun at a Seabee base near Norfolk, Va., from which point he will soon depart to seek revenge for the death of two sons in the Pacific. One was killed with the army when Manila fell. The other is missing from the aircraft carrier Lexington, which went down in the Coral sea.

Plans 'Ranger' Raids

Lieut. Douglas Fairbanks, one of the American officers who have been serving as planners and advisers on the staff of Lord Mountbatten, head of Britain's Commando troops. U. 'Jungle Mudders' in Caribbean Outpost

This picture shows one of the phases in the life of U. S. troops stationed in the deep jungles of the Caribbean area. Stepping "out of character," these coast artillery "jungle mudders" now adopt the weapons and methods of the infantrymen, and are seen here charging through knee-deep mud. They take to mud and swampy terrain like ducks to water.

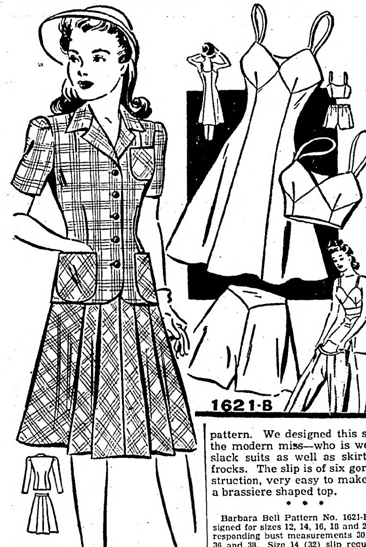
PATTERNS
SEWING CIRCLE



WHAT will look prettier or fresher on the summer landscape than you in this trim, slim "two-piecer" made up in a cool linen, a rayon weave or a crisp cotton? Pattern No. 1629-B presents that all-time love, the dress which looks like a suit, in a spick-and-span tailored version. Brisk turn-down collar and lapels, patch pockets and darts at the waist give the top a precisely tailored air; the skirt has front and back pleats.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1629-B is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19. Corresponding bust measurements 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37. Size 13 (31) with short sleeves requires 4½ yards 35-inch material.

Slip, Pantie, Bra

HERE'S the answer to the problem of "what to wear under slacks" — the pantie and bra shaped topper, which, with a slip, complete this useful underwear pattern. We designed this set for the modern miss—who is wearing slack suits as well as skirts and frocks. The slip is of six gore construction, very easy to make, with a brassiere shaped top.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1621-B is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 (32) slip requires 2½ yards 35 or 39-inch material, brassiere topper, ⅝ yard and panties 1⅛ yards.

Outlined Big Salvage Drive

An intensive salvage drive will get under way in Marshall county during the fall, plans for which were outlined at a meeting of community captains held in Newfolden recently, with Mr. Arvid Carlson, Middle River, County Chairman in charge.

Community salvage days will be designated throughout the county during September and October, while an intensive effort will be launched to salvage every bit of valuable scrap during the nation-wide fall campaign. Each community will designate its own Salvage day.

O. T. Ness, local captain of the salvage committee attended the meeting.

The scrap harvest, directed at getting in large quantities of metals from rural areas, has been under way in Minnesota since August 15.

In Minnesota the scrap harvest is well underway with all kinds of old metal from broken and unused agricultural implements coming in off the farms. Aiding in the harvest, through the work of the local salvage committees, are implement, automobile, rubber and petroleum industries.

Scrap harvest depots have been set up in many communities to receive scrap which harvesters want to donate in the war program. In cases where the scrap is offered for sale, arrangements are made with scrap dealers for its collection. Arrangements also have been made by local salvage committees for the moving of large and heavy pieces of scrap.

Before the harvest is concluded, salvage officials say that every farm in the three northstates will have been visited with requests for scrap. The metal is a vital necessity in America's war program.

The primary election around here was a quiet affair. At the Village polls only 41 votes were were cast and in Holt Township only 29 voters turned out to do their duty.

For Sale—Purebred Hamshire Sheep Bucks for sale by Carlsons 4-H Club of Middle River. Contact them or see Arvid Carlson, Middle River, Minnesota. p-22

Harvest Festival Sept. 20

The Lutheran Church through the pages of history has been a church filled with the missionary spirit. Lutheran Missions, spreading the the Gospel of Jesus Christ, has reached into almost every nook and corner of the World. Nearly every congregation in the Lutheran Church is mission-minded and set aside one or more Sundays each year for special emphasis upon this of their work.

So Nazareth Lutheran Church is fully planned to save its Mission-Harvest Festival on Sunday September 20th. After an abundant harvest, it seems proper to gather in the House of God and have a Mission Festival. The local pastor, Rev. T. C. L. Hanson, will deliver a sermon on Missions at the morning worship at 11:00 a. m. At this service, an offering will be received for the Foreign Mission of the Norwegian Lutheran Church for its mission work in China, Africa and Madagascar.

The Ladies Aid will serve a bountiful dinner at noon. Then the afternoon service will begin at 2:00 p. m. At this time, the Rev. E. B. Kluver, of Halma, will speak. Rev. Kluver spent many years in the Inner Mission work of our church by serving as Seaman's Missionary in Galveston, Texas, and New York City. Prior to his entrance into the ministry, Rev. Kluver was a seaman and has sailed the seven seas with the Norwegian Merchant Marine. Rev. Kluver's message will deal much with salty seamen turning to Christianity and the presentation of the work that the N. L. C. A. has done with the men of the sea. He gives a good picture of this work by citing personal experiences and case histories in this work.

In prior years, this festival has also served one more purpose. It has been a "Homecoming" for the many former residents of this community and members of the congregation. Last year, a large number was present to visit the congregation and renew former acquaintances. In spite of travel restrictions, it is expected that many from the immediate communities will be present As stated above, the Ladies Aid will serve dinner at noon and the menu is as follows:

Romme Grot
Fried Chicken — Brown Gravy
Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Carrots
Sliced Tomatoes
Jelly Pickles
Dark and Light Bread
Ice Cream Cookies Coffee
Price 35c and 20c

All are invited to attend these festivities on Sunday, Sept. 20th.

Pheasant and Deer Season

A 23-day state-wide pheasant season. from October 17 to November 8, inclusive, and an 11-day deer season opening November 15 were announced today by Verne Joslin, acting director of the Division of Game and Fish.

Research studies by Department of Conservation biologists indicate that the population is equal to or better than the 1940 population, which was the highest in history. The 23-day season is the maximum allowed by state law.

The upland game regulations provide for a 23-day staggered season on ruffed grouse. Surveys reveal that ruffed grouse are due to reach the peak of their population cycle next year, hence Department biologists explain that the season has been staggered so as to allow as large a harvest as possible.

Sharp-tailed grouse are reported more numerous than last year. The pinnated grouse has not done so well, however, and a considesable portion of its major range will be closed to hunting. Hungarian partridge are slightly more abundant than last year. The quail population shows little indication of an increase.

A considerable new area has been opened to deer hunting this year. Department officials state that the intention is to reduce the deer population in the areas in which it has become a nuisance to agriculture. Hunting in these more populated regions is restricted to a shotgun with a single slug or a bow and arrow.

Corn Growers Field Day

A field day for Red River Valley corn growers has been set for Saturday, Sept. 19, at the Northwest School and Experiment station at Crookston. The Corn Field Day, according to Superintendent T. M. McCall, will be of special interest this year in that comparison between twenty-six of the leading corn hybrids will be made with standard varities such as Northwestern Dent and Minnesota 13. R. S. Dunham, agronomist at the Northwest Station, incorporated into the tests this year all of the corn hybrids from commercial seed companies that have been offered for sale in the Red River Valley including five of the Minnesota hybrids which show greatest promise for Northwestern Minnesota.

The Corn Field program will start at 1:30 p. m. Dr. H. K. Hayes, chief of the Division of Agronomy and Plant Genetics and pioneer corn breeder from the Minnesota Experiment Station, will give the main address of the day. Other speakers on the program will include Mr. Ralph Crim of the Agricultural Extension Division and Mr. E. H. Rinke of the Division of Agronomy, both of the University Farm, St. Paul, and R. S. Dunham of the Northwest Station staff.

An excellent opportunity will be afforded corn growers to study the performance of the new hybrids in a year that has not been too favorable for corn production.

Russel Sanoden, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Sanoden, arrived home on Tuesday from Los Angeles, California, where he has been employed the past few months. He expects to enter Concordia College at Moorhead for the coming year.

School Opens Here Sept. 21

The local school will open on Monday, September 21st. The late date has been set to allow many of the farm boys to help with the Fall harvest before starting school. It is hoped that this will encourage better attendance.

The faculty for this year will be as follows: Miss Gordon of Greenbush in the primary room; Miss Lee will again be in the intermediate room; Mr. Julien Meyer of White Rock, South Dakota will be in the upper grade room; Miss Larson of Battle Lake and Mr. Karvonen will teach the high school. Miss Gordon is a graduate of St. Cloud State Teachers' College. Miss Larson is a graduate of Concordia College. Mr. Meyer is a graduate of Moorhead State Teachers College and has had previous experience.

The transportation will be about the same as last year with buses following the same routes. There will be but a few minor changes in the routes. Any nonresident high school pupils who have not already been contacted are urged to contact Mr. Karvonen as soon as possible so that arrangements for transportation can be completed in the near future.

Village Tax Levy Reduced

Village Council reduces 1943 Tax Levy over fifty percent.

At a regular meeting of the Village Council which was held on Sept. 1st, the Council reduced the annual tax levy of the Village from $1500.00 to $700.00.

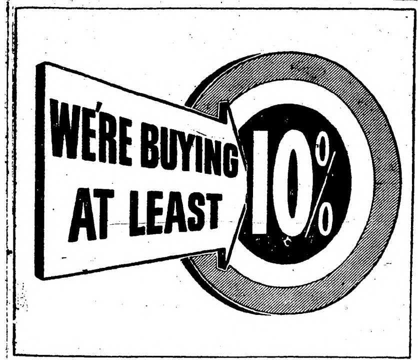
The Council was able to reduce the levy, due to the funds received the past few years whereby Village bonds are now paid in advance to April 1st, 1945 and with the present cash on hand and the fall tax settlement still to be paid, the council hopes to retire another bond due April 1st, 1946. This is the lowest tax levy in the history of the village and the members of the Council feel that with the proper cooperation of the local taxpayers, the village should be able to take up their outstanding bonds as they come due, without increasing the tax levy.

Lets try to keep local expenses down and pull together in this matter.

Mr. A. P. Thompson was appointed a member of the council until the next election to complete the term of Sam Lorentson who resigned.

Misses Hilda and Esther Shirley of Minneapolis called on Mrs. T. C. L. Hanson on Monday. Miss Shirley is a member of the Thief River Falls High School Faculty for the coming year.

Let Everybody Know You're Investing 10 Percent of Your Income in War Bonds



The attractive red, white and blue window sticker, pictured above, is the new yardstick of patriotism in the War Bond drive throughout the nation. With the slogan, "Everybody every pay day, ten percent," sweeping the country, patriotic Americans on the home front are rallying to their Government's appeal for funds with which to help finance the war. The home which displays the "ten percent" sticker is doing its share toward Victory for America and the United Nations. The stickers are being distributed through local War Savings Chairmen. *U. S. NEW EFFECTIVE HAY FEVER RELIEF

Hay fever, which annually causes more sneezes, more inflamed noses and more red, streaming eyes than any other scourge, may have its final big fling this September, all because a Pennsylvania electrical engineer was served a dish of corn meal mush which was entirely too salty.

The engineer, sneezing, and with all other hay fever manifestations, stopped at a hotel where he was served a dish of mush which he considered sending back as it was much too salty. Finally he ate it, however; the hay fever attack lessened, ultimately ceased. Next day he had three meals, all oversalted, and experienced his most comfortable time in years in the "hay fever season."

His analytical mind quickly grasped the possibility that the saline substance in his food was responsible for his relief.

About this time, Dr. E. E. Selleck, a graduate of Columbia University, met the engineer, made notes, and when he returned to his home, began experiments. Today Dr. Selleck declares he has found a certain means of relief for hay fever and is supported in his contention by other medical experts, and a nationally known chemical manufacturing concern, the Hollings-Smith Company, at Orangeburg, New York, has taken over making the remedy, which is called Nakamo Bell.

Describing the experiments, Dr. Selleck said, "After I was sure I had found a means of quickly relieving hay fever through the chloride group, I tested it in the most practical way I knew. I held a three day clinic, to which many hay fever sufferers responded, from ages ranging from 10 to 60 years. Each person was given two tablets with a little water. Some relief came to all within ten minutes. Reports on these cases during the ensuing weeks showed practically a complete cessation of symptoms."

Constipation! Why Not Get and Keep "Regular"?

One of the commonest causes of constipation is simply this: Modern diets, superrefined, too often give us too little "bulk food." In such cases, dosing with cathartics and purges gives only temporary relief — the trouble comes back again and again. The way to more lasting relief is to get at the underlying cause and correct it.

You can do this by eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily. This delicious, toasty cereal supplies the needed "bulk." It acts pleasantly; works principally on the contents of the colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. In many cases, eating ALL-BRAN regularly and drinking plenty of water brings lasting freedom from constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not benefited by this simple treatment, see your doctor.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

United Nations Rout Japanese Forces To Score Major Milne Bay Victory; Soviet Bombers Blast German Cities; Offensive Nets Air Bases for Chinese

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

These Italian prisoners were captured on the North African front by New Zealand and Indian forces. Almost all prisoners taken were from Pavia and Brescia footslogger divisions. Reports from the front indicate a mutual feeling of dislike between the Italian and German troops and officers. German troops are said to have refused to salute Italian officers.

TRAPPED JAPS:
Outguessed, Outfought

"Milne bay area is rapidly being cleared of the enemy . . . His losses have been heavy . . . All his heavy supplies and equipment, including tanks, were lost."

This happy communique from General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia made it clear that the Japanese were smashed in their Milne bay thrust and that Port Moresby was saved for the fourth time. The Japs were outguessed and were caught in a carefully prepared trap.

The communique said, in part: "The operation represents another phase in the pattern of the enemy's plans to capture Port Moresby . . . His latest effort was to turn the right flank by a surprise attack at Milne bay. The move was anticipated, however, and prepared for with great care. With complete secrecy the position was occupied by our forces and converted into a strong point.

Solomons

American forces in the Solomons continued to consolidate their positions in the newly won outpost in preparation for their next move, which may be a blow at Jap bases in the northwest Solomons, or, if the enemy renews land and sea attacks, defensive action.

Two waves of Jap planes attacked U. S. troops and installations on Guadalcanal island, where a large enemy airport fell to invading American marines. The position of the marines has grown strong enough for the navy to announce that only "mopping up" operations were in progress. The navy also announced further strengthening of positions on six Solomon islands in American hands—Guadalcanal, Tulagi, Florida, Tanambogo, Makambo, and Gavutu.

THE GOOD EARTH:
Recaptured by China

The recapture of Chuhsien and Lishui, the two most important airport cities in eastern China, marked one of the greatest victories of the war for Chinese soldiers. In a few weeks of fighting the Chinese counterattack virtually wiped out Japanese gains of the May and June campaign in the Chekiang and Kiangsi sector.

Best news to America is the fact that both towns are within 700 miles of the Japanese mainland, and may soon base United States bombers for attacks on the enemy at home.

Among Chinese officials there was little tendency to look upon recent gains as a clear cut victory resulting from superior offensive power. Belief was expressed that the Japs had overextended themselves.

WARNING:
Attention, Nazis

Something new had been added to Moscow's reports of the war with Nazi Germany. It was the story of increasing air raids by the Red bombers on German cities. Even Berlin was the victim of these attacks. And Berlin admitted it, too. But the Nazis claimed that the Russians had come in high and scattered their bombs at random with little regard for military objectives. This was old stuff from the Nazis, and the world wondered.

In addition to Berlin, the Moscow radio announced that Koenigsberg, Danzig, Stettin, plus many other cities had been bombed in the stepped-up air program. German citizens were warned that as the nights grew longer, the bombings would increase.

See-Saw

All this helped to divert attention from the bitter land fighting along the eastern front. Around Stalingrad the battle had see-sawed for days. German forces had admitted that Soviet troops had pushed through counter-attacks with terrific pressure but claimed at the same time that these had been crushed after heavy battling.

In the fighting northwest of Moscow, Marshal Gregory Zhukov's Soviet forces were reported to be continuing their large scale counter-offensive by hurling the Nazis across a "strategic water barrier" at one point, recapturing several villages and following the foe westward.

MEATLESS DAYS:
And Shipping Space

When President Roosevelt issued his statement on "meatless days" he brought the effect of war on the home front closer than it had ever been to the nation's dining table. For while sugar rationing had come, coffee was scarce, food prices were up, there was really no actual shortage of any food commodity for the housewife to worry about. But "meatless days" were something else again.

It wasn't about a meat shortage though that the President talked about in his statement on the subject. He said that conservation of meat through a meatless day each week would be calculated to save shipping space in overseas hauls rather than to alleviate any U. S. shortage.

In such a system U. S. meat would largely replace Argentine, Australian and New Zealand beef and mutton as food for fighters and civilians in Great Britain and on other fighting fronts. Ships now hauling supplies from Buenos Aires, Wellington and Sydney would be replaced by ones traveling the shorter route.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

TRAINING: Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell, commanding general of the Services of Supply, U. S. army, called upon schools and colleges to become pre-induction training centers for the armed services. His prediction was that some colleges may be required to devote all facilities for such purpose.

OBDURATE: Despite British broadcasts to the contrary, the German high command in a recent communique claimed that an Allied operational order seized during the raid on Dieppe showed the raid was intended to be the opening of a second front in Europe.

ACTION: Back to Washington came Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war. He had been wounded three times in Pacific naval action. He had been assigned to get supplies through the Jap blockade when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was in the Philippines.

ESCAPE: Of the more than 1,000 officers and men interned when the German pocket battleship Graf Spee was scuttled in Montevideo, more than 100 have escaped internment in Argentina, Juan Antonio Solari, chairman of a senate committee investgating anti-Argentine activities, said.

DEATH: Dr. Belisario Porras, 85, three times president of the Republic of Panama, is dead of a chronic respiratory ailment. He was one-time minister to the United States and represented his country at The Hague conference and in the League of Nations.

POTATOES: Germany's 1942 potato crop, according to Nazi spokesmen, is a record one. Admitting that there were no potatoes to be had in Berlin last winter, authorities are promising the population nine pounds of potatoes per person, per week.

'Mechanical' Chess Player

One of the greatest chess players was Kempelen's Mechanical Man, a midget who, disguised as an automaton, toured Europe during the late 18th century and defeated all leading players of the time, says Collier's. He and his partner Kempelen were able to fool the public because he was very small and legless, played with mechanical movements and wore a costume having little doors that, when opened, revealed only turning wheels.

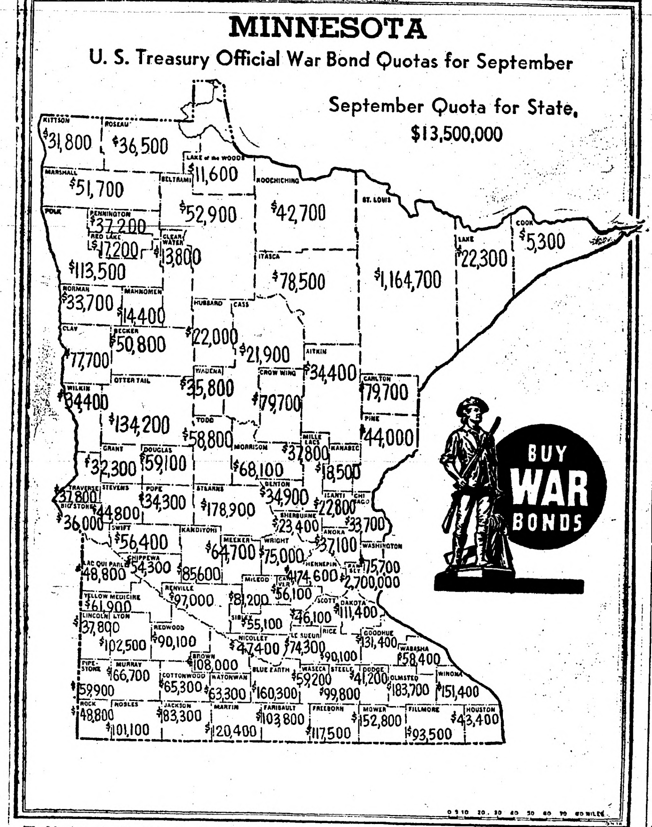
WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR SEPTEMBER

COPYRIGHT BY RAND McNALLY & CO. CHICAGO



Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—September War Bond Quotas for the 3,070 counties in the nation were announced today by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, to make up the national September total of $775,000,000.

The September quota for the State of Minnesota is $13,500,000.

In fixing the county quotas, the Treasury has continued its announced policy of setting the monthly quotas in line with the seasonal distribution of income with the billion-dollar monthly national average as the annual goal.

The national quota for May, when the nation went on the billion-a-month annual basis, was $600,000,000. For June the quota was $800,000,000 and for July it jumped to $1,000,000,000. The August quota was $815,000,000, so to maintain the billion-dollar annual monthly average, the quotas for the Fall and Winter months must necessarily be stepped up considerably to reach the objective set.

State Fair Well Attended

The "Food For Victory" Minnesota State Fair came to a successful conclusion with 585,334 persons praising the competition in three national livestock shows, the war effort of the 4-H boys and girls and the greatest war exhibit in the northwest.

This was the report today of Raymond A. Lee, fair secretary, who termed as outstanding the cooperation of the United States Navy, Army, Marines, Civilian Defense, Treasury department and Red Cross who participated in the opening and closing programs and arranged the huge war exhibit.

Whetting the morale to the highest pitch since Pearl Harbor, the Minnesota State Fair has accomplished the true role that it has been fulfilling through its 83 years of history. The 1942 exposition marks the fourth war that this great state institution has cooperated with our armed forces.

President Henry A. Derenthal pointed out that the livestock shows, including the National Percheron, the National Red Polled cattle, and the National Shropshire Sheep show brought the greatest assembly of fine stock ever shown at any state fair. With more than 2,000 4-H club boys and girls enrolled in "Food For Victory" projects, the fair this year raached a new high in team and individual competition where Minnesota youth demonstrated its part in the war effort.

"The hearty response of Minnesota's Fighting Farmers, thruout the rural areas of the state, was a revelation and surprise to the fair management. They have demonstrated by their participation in the livestack and agricultural competition and by their unprecedented attendance that the Minnesota State Fair is the great display window for the entire state," Mr. Lee said.

The local school will open on Monday, September 21st. The late date has been set to allow many of the farm boys to help with the Fall harvest before starting school. It is hoped that this will encourage better attendance.

The faculty for this year will be as follows: Miss Gordon of Greenbush in the primary room; Miss Lee will again be in the intermediate room; Mr. Julien Meyer of White Rock, South Dakota will be in the upper grade room; Miss Larson of Battle Lake and Mr. Karvonen will teach the high school. Miss Gordon is a graduate of St. Cloud State Teachers' College. Miss Larson is a graduate of Concordia College. Mr. Meyer is a graduate of Moorhead State Teachers College and has had previous experience.

The transportation will be about the same as last year with buses following the same routes. There will be but a few minor changes in the routes. Any non-resident high school pupils who have not already been contacted are urged to contact Mr. Karvonen as soon as possible so that arrangements for transportation can be completed in the near future.

Harvest Festival Sept. 20

The Lutheran Church through the pages of history has been a church filled with the missionary spirit. Lutheran Missions, spreading the the Gospel of Jesus Christ, has reached into almost every nook and corner of the World. Nearly every congregation in the Lutheran Church is mission-minded and set aside one or more Sundays each year for special emphasis upon this of their work.

So Nazareth Lutheran Church is fully planned to save its Mission-Harvest Festival on Sunday September 20th. After an abundant harvest, it seems proper to gather in the House of God and have a Mission Festival. The local pastor, Rev. T. C. L. Hanson, will deliver a sermon on Missions at the morning worship at 11:00 a. m. At this service, an offering will be received for the Foreign Mission of the Norwegian Lutheran Church for its mission work in China, Africa and Madagascar.

The Ladies Aid will serve a bountiful dinner at noon. Then the afternoon service will begin at 2:00 p. m. At this time, the Rev. E. B. Kluver, of Halma, will speak. Rev. Kluver spent many years in the Inner Mission work of our church by serving as Seaman's Missionary in Galveston, Texas, and New York City. Prior to his entrance into the ministry, Rev. Kluver was a seaman and has sailed the seven seas with the Norwegian Merchant Marine. Rev. Kluver's message will deal much with salty seamen turning to Christianity and the presentation of the work that the N. L. C. A. has done with the men of the sea. He gives a good picture of this work by citing personal experiences and case histories in this work.

In prior years, this festival has also served one more purpose. It has been a "Homecoming" for the many former residents of this community and members of the congregation. Last year, a large number was present to visit the congregation and renew former acquaintances. In spite of travel restrictions, it is expected that many from the immediate communities will be present As stated above, the Ladies Aid will serve dinner at noon and the menu is as follows:

Romme Grot
Fried Chicken Brown Gravy
Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Carrots
Sliced Tomatoes
Jelly Pickles
Dark and Light Bread
Ice Cream Cookies Coffee
Price 35c and 20c

All are invited to attend these festivities on Sunday, Sept. 20th.

On a tour through Germany, Hitler was scheduled to visit an insane asylum. The inmates were taught to salute and say, "Heil, Hitler". The great day came; the entire population of the asylum were in formation as the great man passed; and they all saluted except one man. Immediately Hitler's aides pounced upon the poor fellow, and asked for an explanation, "Well, you see," the man explained "I'm not insane".

How To Fatten Livestock

Livestock men looking for answers to their questions on cattle fattening this fall will find useful information in the feeding cost records or the Southwest Farm Management Service, says County Agent R. A. Reierson.

Ross Huntsinger, fieldman for the southwest group, call attention to figures on what it actually cost Minnesota farmers to produce 100 pounds of net gain last year.

The averages from 75 farms which fed about 50 cattle each indicated the following quantities of feed to make 100 pounds of net gain: corn, 11.2 bushels; oats, 3.6 bushels; commercial feed, largely oil meal, 25 pounds; alfalfa, other hay and fodder, 325 pouuds; silage, 444 pounds.

Figuring corn at 80 cents, oats 40 cents, oil meal $42 a ton, alfalfa $7.50, wild hay and fodder $4, and silage $3.50 per ton, the feed cost would be $12.73 per 100 pounds gain.

Although cattle are relatively high now, any statement as to their position at market time can hardly be more than a guess. These feed cost figures, which are not the whole cost, indicate there may be a small margin at present price if the first cost of the feeders is not too high.

Huntsinger points out, however, that some feeders who kept records were able to produce the same gain on less feed. Sixteen farms averaged 2.5 bushels of corn and 2 bushels of oats less per hundred. The main average difference seemed to lie in the use of less silage and more legume hay in proportion. He states further that feed cost of gain depends a great deal on the age of cattle, calves being most efficient.

Individual feed records showed very satisfactory gain on rations where the liberal use of alfalfa hay furnished both roughage and protein supplement, and would result in finish amply high for present markets. Where silage was used as main roughage, more oil meal or other supplement was required.

Sell or Donate Scrap Now

Our government in Washington has demanded that another salvage drive for scrap iron and rubber must be put on this fall before the snow covers the valuable meterial. Orders from Washington state that each person in every village and city must sell or donate ten pounds of this precious material, also each farmer must sell at least one-half ton of scrap iron.

This drive is very important as reports show that some of our steel mills have scrap iron enough to keep them going for only about one weeks time. Why should we as American citizens living here in Marshall county not be willing to help these mills running by supplying them with our scrap iron? We know that this country has sent hundreds of men to the army, some of them already reported missing or dead, some wounded. Perhaps some of these men would have been spared their lives if everyone would cooperate in a drive of this type. It is our patriotic duty to either sell or donate to some ogranization all the old material we have around. Remember, Marshall County led the nation in the scrap drive this spring and I know that you will do a good job again.

The people in the cities and villages must be just as patriotic in this drive as the farmers were in the last drive. This fall drive is going to include every city, village and rural school in the county. All teachers and superintendents must organize their school in such a way that every child may help to collect this scrap. Each school must report the results their local captain.

I, Arvid Carlson, Marshall County Salvage Chairman, beg of you all that you sell all the scrap iron and rubber you have. Let us all do our part to make this war come to an end before to many of our dear ones have given their lives to protect us and ours and our country, perhaps because we at home, living in luxury and peace, have not done our share.

Let Us All Get Our Share In Now.

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good heath is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Dogs of War

Long a figure of speech, "dogs of war" has a real meaning, for Uncle Sam is drafting a K-9 corps for war duty. The army has called for two hundred dogs to be trained as the nucleus of a much larger corps, which will be used to guard food depots and other war establishments, accompanied, of course, by the usual human sentries.

Why a dog, you may ask, if there is already a sentry on the job? Well, a saboteur, for instance, might easily succeed in hiding himself from the human sentry in an isolated spot. But he would have a more difficult time fooling the keen sense of smell possessed by a dog.

Dogs for Defense, Inc., is the organization recruiting dogs for Uncle Sam. Rigid requirements are laid down for canine candidates for the corps. Such dogs as Dalmatians, Dobermanns, Afghans, and German or Belgian shepherds are the ideal types.

These photos show you the training of the first few dogs to be drafted for service in this war. Photos were made in New Jersey, where soldiers from Fort Hancock gave them their first taste of army life.

In other countries dogs have been used in war for years. Russia has an army of 50,000 dogs; Germany is believed to have a canine corps numbering 100,000; France used to have a big dog army, employing dogs even for hauling light guns.

At left, "Hans" learns to look where the finger points. If he misses anything with his eyes his nose will pick it up.

Victory Parade

ON PARADE . . . The dogs are exercised and walked many times over the "beat" they are expected to patrol, as shown in the picture above. They learn that men in uniform have a right to be on this "beat," but others have not. So when on night duty the dogs are right on their toes for unauthorized prowlers.

Right: An Afghan and a German shepherd are learning to stand fast under fire here. The soldiers blaze away with their pistols while the dogs are kept in leash.

ROOKIE SQUAD . . . A captain and three military policemen are shown with four canine recruits. The dog second from the right is unfamiliar to most Americans. It is an Afghan, a real aristocrat of dogdom.

Thinking of Ourselves

I've been a great deal happier since I have given up thinking about what is easy and pleasant, and being discontented because I couldn't have my own will. Our life is determined for us; and it makes the mind very free when we give up wishing, and only think of bearing what is laid upon us, and doing what is given us to do.—George Eliot.

Potatoes?
A nourishing food, Mr. Hitler!

WE HAVE potatoes in America. We also have fruits, meats and green and yellow vegetables. For every crop you harvest with forced labor, we have a larger crop grown by men who work hard from dawn until dark because it's their land, their country. You've never met an American farmer—or his wife—have you, Mr. Hitler? Too bad. Otherwise you might have thought twice before you started this war.

Our cellars are used to store foods, not as bomb shelters. But our boys know the meaning of bombs. How did you like that first air raid, with not a single U. S. plane lost? Those boys didn't live on potatoes—they had meat, milk, fruits, vegetables . . . all the things we have at home. American food follows them to the corners of the earth.

How can we do it? American women are doing it—home-canning for the home front and saving money for War Bonds at the same time! Do you know how much of it they're doing? Well . . . what would you give for FOUR BILLION JARS of home-canned foods, Mr. Hitler?

Finland's Value to the Axis

By Quentin Reynolds

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Collier's Weekly)

Many people in Washington, London and Moscow are greatly concerned over a small strip of land in northern Finland called Petsamo. It may well be that this bit of barren land, on which you couldn't raise a decent crop of weeds, may be the means by which the Axis powers can prolong the war.

Although neither potatoes, radishes nor sunflowers can be grown in this land, just beneath the surface there is ore which produces what the scientists call NI, a metallic element with a specific gravity of 8.85 and a melting point of 1452 degrees Centigrade—a little thing which you and I call nickel.

Fighting a war without nickel is like playing poker without chips, or for that matter, without cards.

You need nickel to produce many alloy steels, and you can't build battleships, tanks, armored cars and airplanes, nor can you make guns, shells or machine tools without alloy steel.

Back in 1938, word seeped through the world of science that large quantities of nickel-bearing ore had been discovered in Finland. There were many who nodded wisely the following year and said that the Russian-Finnish tea party was the immediate outgrowth of that discovery.

Those who made a business of analyzing and interpreting international imbroglios ventured the opinion that Stalin was after that nickel, because he knew that eventually Germany was going to march into Finland to grab the nice shiny stuff. But this is all in the field of speculation.

Shortages Everywhere.

So, incidentally, is the story of what happened to the nickel in that section of northern Finland. No word has come from either Germany or Finland as to the richness of the yield in the ore found there. But it is no secret that Germany is still producing plenty of tanks, some battleships and ever so many guns and shells. It seems reasonable to assume that much of the nickel used to produce Germany's alloy steel came from that hidden spot in Finland.

It is no secret, either, that there is a shortage of nickel in this country, although the shortage is not nearly as desperate as it is in Germany, even assuming that the Finnish ore was loaded with the romantic substance. Tonight, after you've read the baseball scores, put out the cat and brushed your teeth, you might take an hour off and invent something to take the place of nickel.

Nickel Is Precious.

Let the man down the street find a substitute for rubber. You find something with all the properties of nickel and you'll never have to worry about where your next dish of cereal is coming from. Efficient and high-pressure work by the various departments presided over by Messrs. Knudsen, Nelson, et al., in co-operation with private industry, has worked wonders in the transportation of nickel-bearing ore, the production of alloy steel and the eventual transformation of this steel into the implements of war, but not even these herculean efforts have increased the amount of nickel available for war use to the amount desired.

About 85 per cent of the world's supply of nickel comes from Canada, and we get nearly all of that. We used to get some from New Caledonia, but a cursory glance at the map will tell you that there is very little commuting done between the U. S. and New Caledonia this season.

Nickel is so precious that in the last war Germany sent the submarine Deutschland over here just to pick up a cargo of it. Even so small a ship as a submarine could carry enough nickel to win a major naval battle.

There is steel—and there is alloy steel. By adding only 5 per cent nickel, plus a few other spices to ordinary steel and mixing well, you get an amazing hard, tough, alloy steel which will not rust or corrode, and which will stand more heat than you ever saw in your life.

Nickel is the elusive glamour girl in the story of big steel. One of the mysteries of the war is how the Axis powers are fighting it almost without nickel—unless Finland is the secret.

Steel in itself cannot win a war, but a shortage of steel quite definitely can lose a war. There was once a country called France where you could buy almost anything within a week of the fall of Paris.

French manufacturers never bothered to convert their plants to war use. France never knew the meaning of "total war" until too late.

The weak government, not wanting to antagonize big business, never clamped down on manufacturers who were wasting precious nickel and other alloys. And the shells and tanks and aircraft so vitally needed in the war effort never arrived at the front.

It's different here. When war came, our government didn't have to clamp down. From the beginning, industry has been 100 per cent behind our war effort. The best men in the iron and steel industry are at the helm, treating steel as though it were platinum or iridium.

All Out FOR VICTORY AT Firestone

To the men and women of the Firestone organization, whose loyalty, skill, and efficiency have won the nation's highest industrial tribute, we extend our sincere appreciation of the fine spirit and whole-hearted cooperation which merited these Army-Navy Production Awards.

To our fellow Americans, we of the Firestone organization affirm that we regard this high honor as a challenge for the future as well as a reward for the past. It shall serve as a continuing inspiration to all of us to strive for increased quality and quantity of production in further contribution to the war effort and to final victory.

Mr. Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., President
Firestone Tire & Rubber Company
Firestone Park Plant
Akron, Ohio

Dear Mr. Firestone:

This is to inform you that the Army and Navy are conferring upon the Firestone Park Plant of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company the Army-Navy Production Award for high achievement in the production of war equipment.

This award is the nation's tribute to the spirit of patriotism and production effort of the Firestone Park Plant and its employees. The men and women of that plant have every reason to be proud of their great work in backing up our soldiers on the fighting fronts.

In conferring this award the Army and Navy will present a flag to be flown above the plant, and will give to every member of that organization a pin which they may wear as a symbol of their permanent contribution to human freedom. This symbol is accorded only to those plants which are exceeding all production expectations in view of the facilities at their command.

I have full confidence that your present high achievement is indicative of what you and your employees will do in the future.

Sincerely yours,

Robert P. Patterson

Dear Mr. Firestone:

This is to inform you that the Army and Navy are conferring upon your organization the Army-Navy Production Award for high achievement in the production of war equipment.

The award consists of a flag to be flown above your plant, and a lapel pin which every member of the Firestone Rubber and Latex Products Company may wear as a mark of their inspiring contribution to the future of our country.

The accomplishment of the men and women of your organization during the past year has set a high standard of practical patriotism. The Army and Navy are confident that their record of accomplishment in the future will raise that standard even higher.

Sincerely yours,

Robert P. Patterson

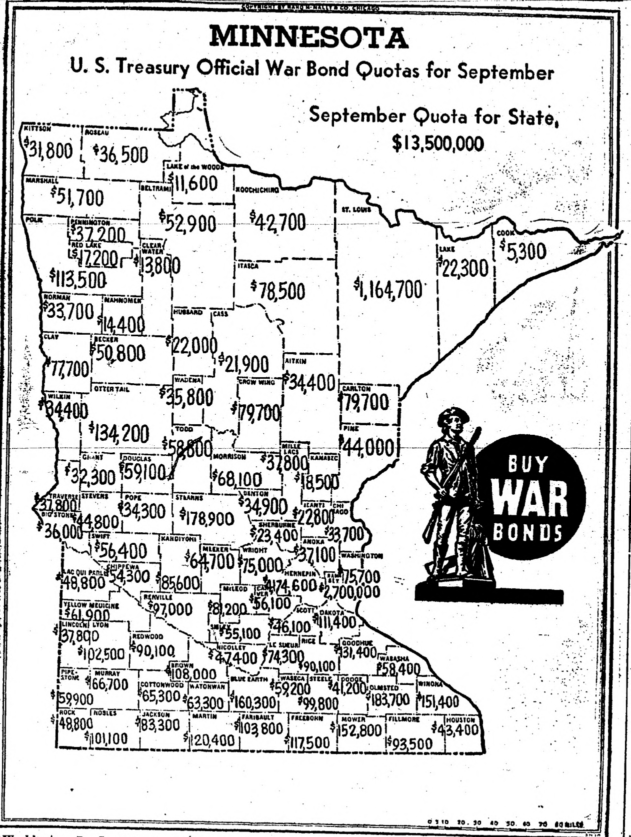
WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR SEPTEMBER



Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—September War Bond Quotas for the 3,070 counties in the nation were announced today by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, to make up the national September total of $775,000,000.

The September quota for the State of Minnesota is $13,500,000.

In fixing the county quotas, the Treasury has continued its announced policy of setting the monthly quotas in line with the seasonal distribution of income with the billion-dollar monthly national average as the annual goal.

The national quota for May, when the nation went on the billion-a-month annual basis, was $600,000,000. For June the quota was $800,000,000 and for July it jumped to $1,000,000,000. The August quota was $815,000,000, so to maintain the billion-dollar annual monthly average, the quotas for the Fall and Winter months must necessarily be stepped up considerably to reach the objective set.

Harvest Festival Well Attended

The Nazareth Mission-Harvest Festival held Sunday was a grand success. Besides the fine response by the people of the congregation and community, there were also many visitors from the neighboring towns, especially Thief River Falls.

A fine Mission offering was received at the morning services, when the local pastor, Rev. T. C. L. Hanson, preached a Mission sermon on the "Unsearchable Riches in Christ". A delicious chicken dinner was served by the Ladies Aid which amounted to over $93.00 in gross proceeds. In the afternoon, Rev. E. B. Kluver of Halma preached a stirring sermon on the theme: "The Master Calleth for Thee", with interesting incidents relating to his work as a Seaman's Mission Pastor in Galveston, Texas, The story of "Fighting Jensen" and many other similiar experiences shows again the Word as the power of God unto Salvation. Following the afternoon session, lunch was served by the Ladies Aid which netted over $17.00. The congregation and its pastor wishes to thank all the ladies for the hard and fine work they did in making this one of the most sussessful Mission Harvest Festivals in the histsry of the congregation.

On Saturday there will be the talks and musical numbers by the young people of the circuit. Dr. Jacob Tanner, Professor Emeritus of Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul, is the convention speaker. He will give the Rally Address on Saturday evening. Divine worship will be held on Sunday morning in the High School Auditorium with Dr. Tanner preaching. In the afternoon, the Choral Union Concert will be given with Dr. Tanner speaking during the intermission. There will be no Sunday evening meeting. Those taking part in the convention from here are: Clayton Larson speaking on "The Recreational Side of the Bible" on Friday evening; Miss Eileen Larson will speak on Saturday afternoon on the theme: "This is the Victory That Overcomes a World of Sickness, Sorrow and Death." On Saturday evening, Ray, Edna and Lindy Gusa will play a Clarinet Trio. The Theme of the Convention is: "This Is The Victory" Rev. T. C. L. Hanson is serving as president and Mr. Marlan Augustine as Treasurer of the organization.

Several hunters from other parts of the state spent Saturday and Sunday here hunting prairie chickens.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sorum and family of Grand Forks visited relatives here Sunday.

Otto Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Gusa, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Smith and family and Delores Sandberg spent Sunday at the Nels Johnson home at St. Hilaire.

Jnne Oen, daughter of Mrs. Anna Oen and Clifford Nelson, son of Christ Nelson were united in marriage on Wednesday after noon with Rev. T. C. L. Hanson officiating. Attending them were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, brother of the groom and sister of the bride. They will make their home on the groom's farm.

Sell or Donate Scrap Now

Our government in Washington has demanded that another salvage drive for scrap iron and rubber must be put on this fall before the snow covers the valuable meterial. Orders from Washington state that each person in every village and city must sell or donate ten pounds of this precious material, also each farmer must sell at least one-half ton of scrap iron.

This drive is very important as reports show that some of our steel mills have scrap iron enough to keep them going for only about one weeks time. Why should we as American citizens living here in Marshall county not be willing to help these mills running by supplying them with our scrap iron? We know that this country has sent hundreds of men to the army, some of them already reported missing or dead, some wounded. Perhaps some of these men would have been spared their lives if everyone would cooperate in a drive of this type. It is our patriotic duty to either sell or donate to some ogranization all the old material we have around. Remember, Marshall County led the nation in the scrap drive this spring and I know that you will do a good job again.

The people in the cities and villages must be just as patriotic in this drive as the farmers were in the last drive. This fall drive is going to include every city, village and rural school in the county. All teachers and superintendents must organize their school in such a way that every child may help to collect this scrap. Each school must report the results their local captain.

I, Arvid Carlson, Marshall County Salvage Chairman, beg of you all that you sell all the scrap iron and rubber you have. Let us all do our part to make this war come to an end before to many of our dear ones have given their lives to protect us and ours and our country, perhaps because we at home, living in luxury and peace, have not done our share.

Let Us All Get Our Share In Now.

There Is Plenty of Electricity

But See Us Before You Build, Move Or Change Wiring

There is no shortage of electricity in the territory we serve, but there is a serious nation-wide shortage of such critical items as copper, steel and rubber. These materials, normally used in building power lines, are now being used in planes, guns, tanks, ships and other implements of war. This has necessitated a limitation on electric wiring.

In order to conserve critical materials, the War Production Board has been forced to limit electrical connections and line extensions. The WPB has also made a number of other important electrical restrictions . . . therefore, before you contemplate any building, remodeling, or make any plans requiring additional electrical equipment or any new connections, please get in touch with us at our nearest office.

The restrictions on new electrical connections will undoubtedly cause some inconvenience . . . but it is a war requirement . . . and it is necessary to beat Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito.

My Creed

I BELIEVE in nationally advertised brands. They are trusted friends in my house, for national advertising is a pledge of quality . . . a guarantee of the maker's good faith.

I believe that manufacturers who win millions of friends through advertising will never betray these friends by lessening quality . . . demanding unfair prices . . . or by substituting inferior ingredients.

I am going to show my approval by observing Nationally Advertised Brands Week*. I urge you all to join me in asking for nationally advertised brands that week . . . and every time you go into a drug store. It is the surest way to safeguard the health and happiness of your family.

Senator in Egypt

It would be a blessing if every American could visit one of our battle fronts. After you've been in action, you clearly see the mortal peril in which America stands today.

And you shed, once and for all, the comfortable illusions of invincibility which threaten, more than Nazi agents, to sabotage our war effort.

With other tank men, I was under fire on the Libyan front recently. We were on the receiving end of practically everything they had to throw at us.

We were shelled, bombed and machine-gunned. We took it, but we gave it back, too. Our American tanks, manned by American crews, swung into action alongside their British Allies. When the smoke cleared away, they had knocked out at least eight German tanks.

Our boys were quick, cagey, courageous, and they did justice to the magnificent training they had received back in the States.

But we all acquired a healthy respect for the Nazi fighting machine. We saw it in action, saw it sweep back British forces, saw it operate with watchlike precision and effective leadership.

We Can Lose This War.

My own experiences convinced me that we can lose this war—unless we Americans gear our whole nation to the monumental task of winning.

Make no mistake. We have inherited World War II. We are the ones who will win it or lose it.

We must be careful not to indulge in a dangerous over-emphasis on our weapons of war. Some of us seem to feel that our guns, tanks and planes are so infinitely superior to those of the enemy that they can almost win battles by themselves.

Nobody has a greater respect than I for American ingenuity and productive genius. But the grim fact, as I learned in Libya, is that the Nazis have some pretty fine equipment themselves, and they use it like professional soldiers.

On the Libyan desert, as the Nazis smashed forward under Rommel, I studied the magnificent organization, drive and timing of their fighting machine. Most of my observations are military secrets, which I reported to the army authorities and to the senate military affairs committee. But I can say openly that their equipment was on a par with this aggressiveness.

Even where our equipment was better, the margin wasn't enough to allow us any complacency.

A Word About Our Tanks.

Take our famous M-3 tanks, for example. They're the medium job that the British call General Grants. Well, the armor plate of these machines is top-rank. Although it will be pierced by the German 88s, it will turn back the German tank guns. And its own 77 mm. isn't outranged by any German tank gun.

In our new M-4 tanks, already in production, the gun is in the turret. The silhouette is lower, making it harder to hit. And the hull is welded instead of riveted, eliminating the possible danger of rivets buckling or popping out under the impact of shells.

A man would have to be blind not to see that the German soldiers were superbly equipped for the peculiar rigors of desert fighting. German civilians have had to content themselves with ersatz materials, but not their fighting men.

German engineers carried extra parts for British and American tanks, and they were past-masters at "cannibalizing"—tearing apart a captured tank and using its innards to repair another.

When one of our machines fell into their hands, it often turned up later on their side.

Germans Confident of Victory.

One afternoon I talked with a German prisoner who was calmly confident that his side would win. Not because he felt that Hitler was an infallible fuehrer, or because he regarded his generals as superior to the British. His optimism seemed to him extremely realistic. "We will win," he said, "because our equipment and organization are better."

Today, that boy's words ring in my ears whenever I hear an American make the same observation. Personally, my bet is that every firm that is manufacturing equipment for our soldiers will keep abreast or ahead of the Axis. But it isn't safe to count on any margin of superiority to hand us victory on a silver platter.

America has always been a land of big figures. We can produce, and always have produced, more of everything than anybody else in the world. But large numbers alone don't win wars.

Along with quantity, we must have quality, and supply systems, and organization.

And above all, we must have brilliant military leadership on the battle field.

Both our soldiers and our equipment are entitled to the cleverest tactics and ablest leadership which our professional soldiers can produce.

We must have, not only the most, but the best. To achieve this, everybody must be constantly alert to the reality of this war and its grim life-or-death danger.
